MR FOSTER AS LEADER.

Sir Charles Tupper has wisely refrained from suggesting a leader for the Conservative party. This is a question which the representatives of the party must settle in conference. The names of Mr. Clark, Dr. Borden, and Sir Hibbert Tupper have been mentioned in the connection. We repeat that the only man at present in the party who can lead it to victory, is the Hon. George Foster. In every respect in which he may be considered he is the man for leader. His merits are unquestioned. His ability is of the highest order. His experience is wide and varied. He knows men and what men think about. He understands the motives which influence conduct. We grant that he may be a trifle cold and distant; but Parnell was bloodless, and yet a most triumphant leader. Mr. Foster has great strength of mind, and can grasp questions and measures in detail. Seats should be found for Mr. Foster and Mr. Bergeron, who would make an able lieutenant. These two men if loyally supported, could rally the scattered forces, inspire fresh hope and confidence, and with the aid of the younger men of the party, retrieve the defeat of yesterday.

"Hanging in the window of a barber shop are the long and flowing whiskers worn for many years by Dr. T. A. Stevens, of Independence," says the Kansas City Journal. And now a German professor of surgery comes to the front with an announcement that appendicitis can be cured without the use of the knife, and asserts that he can always reduce the obstreperous membrane by external application and medicine. This discovery will probably do much to lessen the popularity of the appendicitis fad. If a man can't count on an operation there's really no use in his having appendicitis.

In many parts of the United States the clergy are protesting against the divorce laws. They make no protest against the marriage, probably partly on account of the fees. This is where the protest should be put in. Make marriage more difficult, and the divorce evil will cure itself. Divorces should be made easy to obtain, as no people should live together when one or both are out of harmony. Love cannot be retained by legal barriers.

Even Quebec Liberals are disconcerted at the possibilities of the provincial situation. With a weak and crestfallen Opposition, a triumphant party, firmly seated in power, might feel that it had a free hand. It is easy to foresee the birth of faction, a scramble for place and power and patronage, a recrudescence of the orgies which disgraced the province during Mercierism—orgies for which the province is still paying, and which will be a burden upon the back of the oncoming generations.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The Great Events Transpiring in the World at That Time

At Hohenlinden, Bavaria, the Austrians, commanded by Archduke John, were defeated with great loss by the French under General Moreau. It was a hard fought battle, the imperialists killed and wounded amounting to 10,000 men and their loss in prisoners to 10,000 more. The forces were nearly equal in number.

The other great battle of the year was at Marengo, in north Italy, June 14, shortly after Napoleon had made his memorable passage of the Alps. The French army was commanded by Bonaparte himself. The Austrians outnumbered the French three to one and the latter were at first driven back, but the obstinate resistance of Desaix, who had just arrived from Egypt, and the charge of the brave Kellerman changed the result. The battle ended in a complete overthrow of the Austrian army.

The very day of the battle of Marengo, Kleber, whom Napoleon had left in charge of the army in Egypt, was assassinated by a Turkish fanatic, and shortly afterward the entire French force was obliged to surrender to the English. The French reverses in Egypt, however, were soon made up by fresh victories in Europe, Moreau's success at Hohenlinden was not the first of the year, although the most important, as it opened the way to Vienna. His army of 130,000 had invaded Germany and defeated the Austrians three times in May—at Engen, Moeskirch and Biberach. At Hochstadt, a city on the Danube in Bavaria, he won again in June. A few days after the battle of Marengo the city of Genoa, in Northern Italy, was surrendered to the French. During May and half of June it had been blockaded by a British fleet and Austrian army until, literally starved, it was evacuated by capitulation.

The battle of Hohenlinden was the result of the termination of the armistice between France and Austria, the negotiation for peace between France and England having failed. This victory and that of Marengo broke the power of Austria, so that nothing remained for the Emperor but to accept such terms as France chose to dictate. The peace of Luneville followed, which confirmed the concessions made by the treaty of Campo Formio; stipulated that the Rhine to the Dutch territories should form the boundary of France, and recognized the Bavarian, Helvetic, Ligurian and Cisalpine Republics. England now was the only country that remained at war with France.

Another crowned head bowed to the scepter of the grim reaper. Ernest Frederick I, Duke of Saxe-Cobourg, died, having reigned thirty-six years, during which the land was plunged into bankruptcy so that an imperial commission was appointed on his death to manage the finances. Just a century before Albert, the second son of Ernest the Pious, who founded the elder line of Saxe-Cobourg, died childless and it was not until now that his possessions, the subject of vehement contentions amongst the other Saxon houses one hundred years, were finally distributed.

Confession of Crime By Hypnotism

Public interest has been aroused recently on this question by the exortion of a confession from a thief by means of hypnotism.

A confession of crime obtained in this way may or may not be a valid one. It is not necessarily infallible, any more than a voluntary confession would be. It would have to be verified by other evidence before it could be seriously considered.

Hypnotism will not make a liar instantaneously veracious. It is a very common opinion that a hypnotist can completely capture the mind of his patient without his consent, and discover all the secrets of his past life.

Hypnotism only gives us a means whereby we can the more readily get at the divine man within. It is not so much a key to the door of a man's mind as a more effectual way of ringing the door-bell and conversing with the occupant.

Generally speaking, a strong-willed man may still keep his criminal secret in spite of all influences, hypnotic or otherwise. As a rule criminals are very hard to hypnotize because they set their whole nature against the hypnotist, and when a man is under the influence of liquor it is impossible to do anything with him.

There is no doubt that hypnotism can and will be used to detect crime. But we are only on the threshold of knowledge in this direction, and no one can set limits to the future of hypnotism in overcoming the obstinacy of criminals. The time may come when the old, ineffectual methods of regenerating the moral nature will be superseded by hypnotic treatment. The astonishing results already attained prove this beyond question.

By hypnotism we can reach people who are moral imbeciles, and by no other power known to man can you do this.

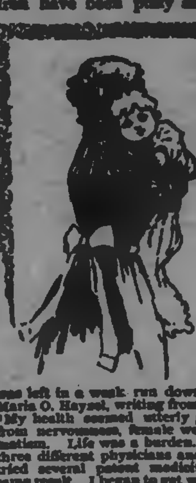
We can discover the sense of right and wrong where none seemed to exist. We can overcome evil habits and awaken the higher self which never completely dies in any man or woman.

Where every other influence has failed to restore a man to moral sanity, hypnotism has succeeded. So I would say that if it fails to extract a confession from a criminal no other means can be used with success.

There is such a thing as compulsory hypnotism, which can be applied to any person without his consent. It is possible to shatter a human will as you might break a china vase against a rock. But this is a new and almost undeveloped field, about which little can be said at present.

A Fine Baby

Makes any mother proud. There are a great many proud mothers whose children have been puny and sickly until they began the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. That medicine which "makes weak women strong" has given them the strength to bear hearty, and healthy children for the first time.



"Six years ago after the birth of one of my children I was left in a weak run down condition," says Maria O. Haysel, writing from Brookland, D. C. "My health seemed utterly gone. I suffered from nervousness, female weakness and rheumatism. Life was a burden. I doctored with three different physicians and got no relief. I tried several patent medicines, all with the same result. I began to get worse and to add to the complications I suffered terribly from constipation. I chanced to see one of your advertisements and I commenced to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Pleasant Pellets' and began to improve right away, and continued improving and gaining in strength. I cannot express the relief, it was so great. Seven months later my little daughter was born without much trouble. I feel that I would never have been able to endure my confinement only by the help due solely to Dr. Pierce's medicines. She was a fine healthy child and the only one I have ever been able to nurse. She is now two years old and I have never had to take any medicine since, so I feel that your medicine has made a lasting cure with me."

and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. LIVES ON $1 A WEEK

Mr. Morse of Chicago, Ill., Says that is His Average Cost for Food.

William A. Morse, sixty-eight years old, retired mechanic, living at 181 West Madison street, Chicago, says that for the last five years the average cost of his food has been $1 a week; that he gets everything he needs for health and comfort; that his health was never better, and that he enjoys every day of his life.

Mr. Morse is alone in the world and "boards himself." He does not drink alcoholic liquors and spends no money for luxuries except tobacco, which he smokes moderately. For recreation he walks to the park, to the lake front or to church. He was a soldier of the Union in the civil war and has never been sick a whole day in his life. He cooks his frugal meals on an oil stove and wastes nothing. Coffee is the only stimulant in his bill of fare and he puts condensed milk into it. Tea is barred from his table, but he uses butter as his appetite directs.

In the week beginning Dec. 10 last his living expenses reached the minimum, the total cost of his food supplies having been 48 cents, itemized as follows:

Dec. 11—Bread, 2 cents; oil, 5 cents	.07
Dec. 12—Bread, 2 cents; sugar, 6 cents; oatmeal, 5 cents	.13
Dec. 13—Oil, 9 cents; milk, 9 cents	.18
Dec. 15—Oil, 5 cents; oatmeal, 3 cents	.08
Dec. 16—Bread, 2 cents	.02
Total	.48

His most extravagant week ended last Christmas eve, when his week's expenditures reached $1.21, his food purchases including holiday luxuries in the shape of cranberries, pork chops, pie, doughnuts and cake. Here is his expense account for that week:

Dec. 17—Sugar, 6 cents; oil, 5 cents	.11
Dec. 18—Oatmeal, 5 cents	.05
Dec. 19—Potatoes, 18 cents; oil, 10 cents	.28
Dec. 20—Bread, 3 cents; pie, 4 cents; doughnuts, 4 cents	.11
Dec. 21—Oil, 10 cents; coffee, 8 cents	.18
Dec. 22—Sugar, 6 cents; bread, 2 cents	.08
Dec. 23—Pork chops	.15
Dec. 24—Cranberries, 7 cents; doughnuts, 4 cents; cake, 5 cents; butter, 14 cents	.30
Total	$1.21

In proof of his claims Mr. Morse, who is a well-preserved, bright-eyed and cheerful man, exhibited a card of his culinary expenses for twenty weeks. He said:

"I have been boarding myself the last five years, and I like it better than most boarding-houses. I get all I want to eat of plain food and it agrees with my health. Dr. Harper is right. A healthy couple could live on $300 a year if they went about it in the right manner and with cheerful spirits. 'He who hath a merry heart hath a continual feast!'"

A Surprise Pumpkin.

When your little brother or sister has a birthday party and you want a novelty as a centerpiece for the table, try the "enchanted pumpkin" and see what fun it will make for the guests.

It ought to be a prize pumpkin and a big one. Scoop out all the inside. That will do well enough to make pies. Then stuff it full of small presents, tied up in mysterious looking bundles.

To each package tie a bright ribbon, letting the loose ends fall out over the sides of the pumpkin. Then carefully replace the cap or stem part, which you cut off, so that it will look as if it was still whole, and place it on your tea table. Surrounded by ferns and colored autumn leaves, and decorated with the drooping ends of the ribbons, it will make a very pretty centerpiece.

When the feast is over let all present guess how many seeds are in the pumpkin. When all have guessed tell each to take hold of one of the ribbons, and when you say "three," they must pull on the ribbons, and in that way they will see how many seeds are in the pumpkin.

Of course, each guest secures a gift.

Almonds Food for Brain Workers.

Blanched almonds are the highest kind of nerve or brain and muscle food, having no heat or waste, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. Walnuts give nerve or brain food, muscle, heat and waste.

Green water grapes are blood purifying, but of little food value. Blue grapes are feeding and blood purifying, but too rich for those who suffer from the liver. Tomatoes have higher nerve or brain food qualities; they are thinning and stimulating. Juicy fruits give more or less nerve or brain nutriment, and some few muscle food and waste.

Apples supply the higher nerve and muscle food, but do not give staying qualities. Prunes afford the highest nerve or brain food, supply heat and waste, but are not muscle feeding. Oranges are refreshing and feeding. Green figs are excellent food. Dried figs contain nerve and muscle food, heat and waste.

The great majority of small fresh seed fruits are laxative. Lemons and tomatoes should not be used daily in cold weather; they have a thinning and cooling effect. Raisins are stimulating in proportion to their quality.

The people of the United States use more meat than the people of any other nation. England ranks second, and the other countries come far below. A person may eat meat perhaps to advantage once a day. It is not necessary, however, that meat should be on the table three times a day; in fact, it is quite an objectionable custom.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Christmas Plum Cake.

The plum cake is a favorite Christmas dish. Here is a receipt for a cake warranted to promote all the indigestion on the part of the gourmands of the family: Cream one pound of butter and one pound of sugar together; add the beaten yolks of eighteen eggs, one gill of molasses, one pound of sifted flour, six tablespoonfuls of coarse flour and one wineglass of brandy; beat all together for five minutes. Add three pounds of seeded raisins, one pound of dried currants, half a pound each of almonds and sliced citron, well floured, two ounces of grated cocoanut, one tablespoonful each of ground allspice, mace and cloves, and two grated nutmegs; lastly, add the beaten whites of the eggs. Mix well, pour in one large or two smaller cake moulds and bake in a moderate oven for six hours; ornament when cold with fancy sugar-plums and a wreath of holly.

Irving and Dickens.

The modern observance of Christmas was largely due to the writings of Washington Irving and Charles Dickens. Both described at length the ancient English observances, which had fallen into disuse in all but a few rural neighborhoods in England, and so revived popular knowledge of the quaint and hearty customs of the forefathers.

"I see that Russia talks of dividing the year into thirteen months of twenty eight days each, and every month to begin on Monday."

"Whew, think of the hard luck it would be to be born on the thirteenth day of the thirteenth month of the thirteenth year of the new style, at thirteen minutes after thirteen o'clock!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever, which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous elements, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. [illegible], and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Charity Board

The Charity Board met last night and passed a number of accounts. There was also some routine business transacted.

Non-Coms. Smoker

The non-coms have arranged to give another of their popular smokers on next Thursday night, when a choice program will be presented. A large attendance is assured.

No Coasting Allowed

Yesterday five young boys appeared before Police Magistrate Dumble, charged with coasting down the sidewalk within the town of Peterborough. They pleaded not guilty, through their counsel, Mr. Stone. After hearing a witness for the prosecution, the Magistrate discharged the boys with a warning.

The Municipal Elections

The late Dominion elections in Peterborough was pure and free from virulence and slander. We hope the municipal election will be the same. Nothing is to be gained in a campaign such as this by mere abuse of the other side, but on the other hand, nothing is easier or more tempting to campaign speakers and journalists. What the public is really interested in, and what will sway its vote, is the record on municipal questions of the men who come before it. Is this one consistent, self respecting? What has the other done for economy and for progress? And when these are satisfactorily answered—is he large-minded, tactful, polished, strong enough to be mayor? Will the candidate for municipal honors agree to put an end to the senseless manner of street management, and put a responsible man in charge?

A Good Suggestion

The Kingston News dealing with the question of the registration of births, observes: "It has been suggested that all physicians attending on cases of childbirth should be charged with the duty of registering these births. The suggestion is a good one. If every physician were by the law compelled to give a weekly return of the cases of accouchement which he had attended or suffer the penalty of a fine then we should have complete returns. It is useless to expect parents to attend to this matter. Until something like the above plan has been adopted, it is wasting time to make any statements as to the birth rate in Ontario."

No Herrings.

Fenelon Falls Gazette: As far as we can learn, no herrings have made their appearance, this season, either here or at Rosedale. A few years ago they were so plentiful that good wages could be earned by catching them and selling them at 25 cents per pailful; but they have gradually decreased in number, and this year there are none. They used to come up the river just after the first fall of snow, and generally "ran" for a week or even a fortnight, though occasionally for only two or three days. As they are delicious eating, it is to be hoped that they have not been exterminated, and that next season there will be plenty of them.

Escaped with His Life.

The genial proprietor and a number of knights of the grip were chatting about some of the perils of hunting in these days of stricter game law enforcement in the back parlor of the Snowden House yesterday, while waiting for a buttermilk order. One of them had a novel experience this season. He was a young man from up near London, and went out a few days before the season opened with "dogs and ammunition," which, as all hunters know, is contrary to the law "in such cases made and provided." He got four deer before the time. He also got arrested. Cost of the expedition, $125, fine for killing deer out of season, and $25 for allowing dogs to run. His gun was confiscated and his dogs taken from him. The young hunter thinks he was lucky to escape with his life.

—It is highly significant that when a farmer wants to know the price of hogs he looks up the Toronto markets.

—Mr. W. H. Morrey, of the Ontario Publishing Co., Ingersoll, is canvassing the town for a Provincial directory, to be published by the above firm.

—Mr. Dan Foley picked up a hymn book on Sunday evening. The owner can have same by calling at the Times Bookstore.

—At the police court yesterday morning George Chambers was charged with using abusive language towards Edward Kimble. He was found guilty and fined $1.00

—Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons on Saturday morning shipped to England, via Portland, ten cases of camping supplies. This speaks well for the J. J. Turner firm that goods should be sent from Peterborough to the old country.

Side by side stood Canada's noble sons with the best brawn of Ceylon and India in the recent unpleasantness. The slogan was "help one another," and no one forgot the watchword. AS TO MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—If municipal ownership of public utilities—street railways, for instance—is such a bad scheme, how do you explain inclosed from a recent London paper?

"Since the London County Council has taken over the tramways in South London, it has arranged to give one day's rest in seven to every person employed, and has established a sixty hours' week. It has improved the service, extended the system of halfpenny fares, and at the same time has earned £42,000 to go toward the relief of the ratepayers.

This refers to one section of Lodnon only. Two hundred thousand dollars profit! The reports for the whole city are I believe just as favorable. At the last Mayoralty election all three parties pronounced for municipal ownership. Do you expect us to travel backward?

CITIZEN.

ELECTION CONTESTS IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that the elections have passed over, and people, especially the candidates, are counting the cost, it might be well to let the readers of the Times know what elections cost in the days gone by. I take the following from the Wiltshire Times, England, which tells the story of one of the most extravagant elections on record:

"As much was spent on a single contest in the old days as is over the whole General Elections now. One of the most unique, and certainly the most expensive Parliamentary contest in history is the "Spendthrift Election" of Northampton in 1768. The candidates were Sir George Osburne, Sir George Brides Rodney and the Hon. Thomas Howe. But these gentlemen were of no account. The struggle really lay between their nominators, the Earls of Halifax, Northampton and Spencer. These were the actual combatants, and the commoners merely their lay figures. Party and personal spleen roused each nobleman to make the most strenuous endeavors to get their candidates returned at the head of the poll. For this end neither money nor effort was spared. The canvassing extended over a long period; the polling lasted 14 days. During the whole of the lengthy campaign the earls kept "open house" at their mansions. The historical seats of Horton, Castle Ashby, and Althrop were flung open to all comers. Sumptuous banquets, with the costliest wines, were provided for the motely hordes of voters. The mansions were thronged for weeks with gorging and swelling crowds. Lord Halifax's bright hope of winning the election was destroyed when his supply of fine old port gave out. In its place the rabble rout were given choice claret, but they mutinied against drinking such "sour stuff," and went over in a body to the Opposition. Thus Lord Halifax's nominee was not at the head of the poll. He demanded a scrutiny, however, and after a trial lasting three weeks it was decided that the voting was equal. To settle the point the Earls agreed to toss for the seat. Earl Spencer won, and nominated a man out in India, who came home to take the seat. The election and scrutiny cost Earl Spencer £100,000 while his opponents squandered £300,000 between them—a total of £400,000 for the election. The contest ruined Lord Halifax. The best method of election in those days was to buy up a borough or parish, and thus terrorize the occupiers into voting for you or your nominees. Men invested in constituencies as they now invest in consols. Lord Chesterfield, writing to his son, says he has been endeavoring to buy a seat in the House of Commons for him. But his offer of £500 for a seat had been laughed to scorn. None could be obtained at less than £1,500 and for some £5,000 was asked. Lord Chesterfield was greatly surprised and shocked at the sums. It was just then, indeed, that Parliamentary honors were rising in value. As much as £60,000 was spent in buying up whole boroughs and parishes by Sir Shafto Adair. For Gatton a hamlet of 25 houses and 100 inhabitants, Lord Monson paid £100,000. But it was a comfortable little constituency, absolutely comfortable to its owner's will.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for inserting above, I am, etc., MARK CURTIS.

A BIG SCHEME

What the Peterborough Navigation Co. Intend Doing for the Town Next Summer

It will be noticed by the Toronto papers that Alderman Lamb is advocating an electric road to run five hundred miles out of Toronto, each way, as feeders for trade to the city. The Peterborough Navigation Co. on the same principle are making arrangements to buy all kinds of grain, cattle, hogs and other farm produce from the farmers near Rice Lake, Otonabee and the Trent Rivers, to be taken aboard their boats at all landings where they can be loaded and to pay Peterborough prices for them in cash, which will materially assist in building up a large trade with Peterborough. The company intend having a boat exclusively for freight to ply between Healey's Falls and Peterborough, and also a passenger boat to run between Hastings and Peterborough.

The company are making extensive improvements on their steamer, "City of Peterborough," which will greatly increase her speed and add materially to her passenger capacity. They are also making arrangements with the G.T.R. and C.P.R. to carry excursion parties on both lines at reduced rates from all stations so as to give parties an opportunity of visiting Rice Lake at a cheap rate.

MISS TIVEY HONORED

Her Friends in Ottawa Present Her with an Address and Clock

Ottawa Citizen.

Last evening the residence of Mrs. Milton, 212 Slater street, was the scene of a pleasant gathering of friends of Miss Eva V. Tivey, on the occasion of her approaching marriage to a city chemist. On the invitation of Mrs. Milton, a large number of ladies and gentlemen assembled to partake of supper in honour of the bride-elect and to present her with an address and a handsome eight-day clock. Mr. James Carruthers made the presentation and read the address, to which Miss Tivey very feelingly replied, thanking her friends for their very tangible expressions of good will. She will leave Ottawa to-day for her home in Peterborough, Ont., where the nuptial ceremony will take place on the 17th inst. During her residence in the city Miss Tivey made friends by her charming and pleasing manner and clever musical attainments, and she will, on her return to Ottawa from her bridal tour, receive a hearty welcome from all. After supper, Mr. Carruthers ably filled the chair, with the guest of the evening in the seat of honour on his right and Mr. J. N. Ferguson on his left. A number of toasts were proposed and responded to, the first on the list being The Bride Elect. Then followed The Married Men and Women; Our Military Representative, Mr. J. D. Coleman; The ladies; The Youthful Bachelors; Our Hostess and Her Fair Daughters, Maud and Minnie, and The Queen. God Save the Queen and Auld Lang Syne were sung by the entire company, when an adjournment was made to the drawing room. Music, songs and recitations added much to the pleasure of the evening, the party breaking up at midnight.

Mr. Coleman, of the Royal Canadian regiment, who recetnly returned from South Africa, was unavoidably absent thereby occassioning much regret.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them God-speed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.60; 100 for $11.60. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. TESTING A NEW STREET LIGHT

The Chicago Hydro-Carbon Lamp Favorably Regarded by Our Citizens.

Lindsay Post: "What do you think of the new street light?" has been the question on the lips of our citizens since Saturday evening, and in almost every instance the reply has been couched in terms of unequivocal praise.

Mr. C. S. Cody, of Chicago, cousin of Mr. C. G. Cody, general agent for the Massey-Harris Company, arrived in town Saturday with two hydro-carbon street lamps of 1,500 candle power capacity, such as are coming into general use in Chicago and other American cities. One of the lamps was placed opposite Lennon's store, the other being suspended beneath the Benson house balcony.

People were amazed at the volume of bright light thrown, and the mildness of the beams as compared with the steely glitter of the arc rays. The light was widely diffused and constant, there being an entire absence of the flicker peculiar to the electric lamp. Mr. Cody says the light from one of his lamps is serviceable at a distance of 400 feet, and we may add that last evening, when no other lights were showing, a gentleman standing in front of this office had no trouble in tracing the movements of the small second hand on his watch by the light thrown by the lamp near Lennon's.

Gasolene is the fuel, and is fed to the mantle from a tank under air pressure, the fluid passing through a hollow wire. Five gallons of gasolene will last 100 hours, the air pressure being renewed twice by a few simple movements. The light can be operated six or seven hours per night at a cost from $1 to $1.25 per month. New mantles or burners will cost 35c per pair.

The new light is exciting a great deal of attention, and Mr. Cody will remain until Thursday or Friday in order to explain everything in connection with it. He also handles similar lamps of less capacity for stores and dwellings.

Blew His House to Atoms

Huntsville, Ala., Dec. 11.—Whitecaps blew the residence of A. J. Thomas, near the little town of Cluttsville, into atoms last night with dynamite. Thomas was about 40 years old and unmarried. His offense against the moral little community in which he lived was that seven women lived with him. Several warnings to send the women away were sent to him. Only one woman is known to have been seriously burt in the explosion. Thomas and the others have fled.

LORD ROBERTS AT CAPE TOWN

He is Given a Magnificent Reception.

IT IS HIS PROUDEST BOAST

To Have Done Nothing Not Demanded by Stress of War.

Cape Town, Dec. 11.—At the reception in honor of Lord Roberts yesterday, when the British commander rose to respond after the presentation to him of the sword and casket, all present rose to their feet, cheering and waving handkerchiefs. The demonstration continued for some minutes. At its conclusion, Lord Roberts made an eloquent address. After expressing deep thanks for the honor accorded him he said the war in South Africa had peculiar interest for him, inasmuch as it enabled him to bring to want he hoped was a successful conclusion of the work entrusted to him twenty years ago—that of dispelling, by force of arms if necessary, the aspirations of the Boers to render themselves independent of British control.

Referring to his abortive visit to the Cape in 1881, he said:

"The wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. The guiding hand of the omnipotent will bring good out of what to our finite understanding was the most unfortunate war of 1881, for that war could not have consolidated the whole British Empire as firmly together as this had done, because it was brought by regulars alone, whereas the present war fought by the militia, the Yeomanry and the volunteers, the admirable and workmanlike colonial contingents all fighting as brothers in arms under the dear old flag of the Queen."

In this respect Lord Roberts said he held the unique position of the first Field Marshal having the honor to command such an Imperial outburst. He was convinced, he declared, that this spontaneous outburst of patriotism was not ephemeral. England had only to give the signal and her sons would again flock to her banner from the ends of the world. Never had a mother had more reason to be proud of her sons than had England to-day. God had brought them out of what in the dark days of December had appeared to them the valley of the shadow of death, and they could now remember the days of tribulation with deep gratitude for the mercy vouchsafed them.

Lord Roberts then paid a deeply moving tribute of gratitude to all who had worked with him. He added that his interest in South Africa would not cease in leaving its shores, but that he should watch its settlement with the utmost eagerness. Dwelling upon the necessity for co-operation between the Dutch and English, he said it would be his proudest boast if he could claim to have done nothing but what stress of war had compelled to hinder the friendly fusion of the two races in the Republics. They must try to forgive and forget all that tended to bitterness of feeling, leaving the idea that nothin remained to be atoned for on either side.

"God has given into our hands," said the Field Marshal, "a great heritage for which a heavy prive has been paid in the blood of the best and bravest; and we must not be neglectful of the trust as we have been in the past, but must be able to give a good account of our stewardship, and must remember there are other duties than national glorifications."

He declared he could not better conclude his speech than by quoting the first verse of Kipling's Recessional:

> God of our Fathers, known of old;
> Lord of our far-flung battle line,
> Beneath whose awful hand we hold
> Dominion over palm and pine;
> Lord God of hosts be with us yet,
> Lest we forget, lest we forget.

COUNTY COURT

County Court Opened Yesterday Before His Honor Judge Weller

The December Sittings of the General Sessions of the Peace and County Court opened yesterday at one o'clock before His Honor Judge Weller.

The following gentlemen were sworn in as comprising the Grand Jury:—Messrs. R. B. McKee (foreman); John Allen, Wm. Faint, Adam Hall, Geo. Mathers, A. C. McCallum, Hugh McCallum, G. W. Read, W. D. Robertson, Alex. Rutherford, Samuel Scott and Wm. Salisbury.

In addressing the Grand Jury Judge Weller made reference to the one criminal case to be considered, that of the Queen vs. Wildford, a charge of larceny. The Judge also referred to the duty of the jury in inspecting the gaol and also to their liberty to visit any of the other charitable institutions in town in receipt of public monies. One matter he also dwelt upon as quite within the province of the jury. An industry of an important character had made application to the town to be allowed to come hither and purchase the Dickson property for the purpose of establishing a large industrial concern. The American Cereal Company in making such application to the town had asked some advantage or consideration to be bestowed upon them. Should they buy the property for the purpose of developing this industry, they ask that it remain assessed at the same figure as it now is for a considerable number of years. The Town Council had agreed to this, but the law does not give the Council power to conclude any such arrangement. It is to be ratified by legislation in Toronto. The industry, it cannot be denied, is one that will afford a market in Peterborough for the grain of the surrounding country, and although it would be beneficial to the town, the advantages created in the market would also be most desirable to the farmer. A report from the jury would therefore, not only strengthen the hands of the Council in their application for confirmation of their action, but might also conduce to the favorable consideration of the Legislature.

Carton V. Turner.

This was a case in which Mr. George Carton sued for damages for the breaking of a plate glass window by Mr. Turner's employees while putting up an awning last spring. Case settled.

Platt V. Church.

J. A. Platt, a labourer residing in the township of Burleigh seeks to recover from Wm. M. Church, of the same township, the sum of $157 and interest thereon from the 6th day of June, 1900, and the costs of the action, being the amount plaintiff claims for 202 days work at $1.00 per day less $45 paid from time to time with cash and goods.

The defendant in his statement of defence claims that he is not indebted to the plaintiff but on the contrary, that the plaintiff is indebted to him for board, washing, lodging, mending, horse hire and for goods sold and delivered to plaintiff. Accordingly a counter claim of $100 is entered by defendant.

Messrs. Kerr & Kerr for plaintiff; D. W. Dumble for defendant.

Six Months' Sentence.

James Wildford who was charged with stealing a watch from Mr. J. Carew, of the Carew House, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to gaol for six months.

TOWN POLICE TO ENFORCE BY-LAW

A Hot Time Expected When the First Fall of Snow Comes.

ALL CITIZENS TO BE PROSECUTED

A Monstrous Piece of Local Legislation that Cannot be Enforced—Police Instructed to Prosecute All Offenders.

There is a good deal of feeling throughout the town in regard to the new snow By-law, and it will probably go hard with any old Councillors who offer themselves for re-election. The Times published a letter the other day, which points out many defects in the present By-law.

It is argued by many persons that the old system is good enough; that it will be impossible to comply with the conditions of the new By-law; that when the new walks have been, as a rule, built so low, there is no way of keeping ice from forming and no way of removing it when it has formed; that it is unfair to expect a man to shovel snow from his own door when his neighbor, who lives across the street, and who happens to be just outside the prescribed limits, is under no obligation to do so; that it is contrary to all reason to compel one citizen to remove the snow and at the same time pay his share towards running the snow plow to keep his neighbor's premises clear; that it will be next to impossible to keep proper account, under the By-law, of work done by absentees; that if such a system were adopted it would probably require, besides the high-priced Town Engineer, a number of overseers and bookkeepers and that the granolithic walks cannot be made available for winter use on account of having been built so low.

In London the same trouble exists, and the City Council proposes to have proper and efficient plows brought into use, and guided by the man as a land plow is, making a straight and clean path, while laborers follow, later with spades, in case of thaw, to clear passages for the water into the gullies. There need not be many slushy footpaths, if this were done. It is not in the central or business portion of the town that the plow is mostly required, but in outlying districts, where working people largely reside, and between whose dwellings there are many vacant spaces.

It is monstrous to require men and women who have to get to their work before sunrise in the snow-months, to make paths for themselves before starting down town, on pain of a police court trial. The work having been done for a quarter of a century by the present method, the people would regard it as a going backwards in being required to do manual labor on the streets, as proposed. They would rebel against it, and such a regulation could not be enforced or, if it were to be enforced, would be felt as a hardship.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS FOR A SETTLEMENT

The Allies Seem Willing to Deal With Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching.

Pekin, Dec. 10 -- Via Taku — At today's meeting of the Ministers, called to consider whether or not Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching had power from the court to conduct negotiations for a settlement on behalf of China, some of the Ministers stated that they were authorized to treat with them as representatives of China, while others, including the German Minister, had not received instructions in the matter. All decided, however, that as soon as Sir Ernest Mason Satow, the British Minister, shall receive word to agree to the joint note they will commence negotiations with Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching unless otherwise instructed by their home Governments.

There is every prospect that definite steps will be taken for the arrangement of a preliminary settlement within a measurable distance; and this greatly relieves those who realized the danger of prolonged delay in opening negotiations.

Pekin, Dec. 10 — Via Taku — At the meeting of the Provisional Government held to-day the United States was represented by Captain Dodd, of the 9th Infantry. All of the Governments have entered into the plan except France, whose representatives insist that the French territory shall be excluded from the rule of the commission appointed. A number of sub-committees were appointed.

Several high Chinese officials, on being asked, expressed a desire to assist. Though army officers have been appointed members of the commission, it is the desire of the generals to make the rule civil as far as possible. Japan was placed on the Charity Committee, on account of the amount of rice she commandeered in August, most of which she has now.

THE CHARITY OF THE BRITISH.

Pekin, Dec. 10 — Via Taku — The railway between this city and Tien Tsin is now open, and a train, consisting of four carriages, arrived here without accident yesterday. Regular traffic will be resumed on December 15.

Count Von Waldersee has turned over $63,000 as the British share of the result of the Pao Ting Fu expedition to Gen. Gaselee, who in turn gave the money to Minister Satow to be used for the benefit of Chinese who may need help during the winter.

Li Hung Chang visited Gen. Chaffee today. He says that his powers to negotiate with foreign envoys, though conferred by telegraph, are absolute and complete.

GEN. CHAFFEE WAS A BIT WARM.

Berlin, Dec. 11—The German Foreign Office authorizes the Associated Press to make the following statement regarding the Waldersee-Chaffee incident, based upon a cable despatch just received from Field Marshal Von Waldersee.

Gen. Chaffee wrote Field Marshal Von Waldersee a letter in a rough tone. Field Marshal Von Waldersee refused to receive it, returning the same to Gen. Chaffee. The latter then wrote a second letter, apologizing for his objectionable expressions, whereupon Field Marshal Von Waldersee invited Gen. Chaffee to breakfast, and the incident was amicably closed.

ELECTRIC CONSOLIDATION

The Manufacturing Business of the Royal Now Absorbed

As the result of negotiations which have been in progress for some time past the Canadian General Electric Company has acquired all the manufacturing interests of the Royal Electric Company, whose factories are at Montreal. Speaking to a reporter, Mr. Frederick Nicolls, manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, stated that the company would continue to manufacture at Montreal with the acquired plant. The Royal Electric Company had manufactured a distinct type of apparatus to that turned out by his own company. The result of the acquirement of the plant, therefore, would be the manufacture by the Canadian General Electric Company of a greater diversity of electrical apparatus than had heretofore been the case. For the present no addition was contemplated in regard to the Royal Electric Company's plant, which is thoroughly up-to-date.

DOG SAVES CHILD FROM EAGLE

Engages the Bird in Combat Until Help Arrives

Topeka, Kan., Dec. 10—Marie Lyman, the 3-year-old daughter of J. C. Lyman, a farmer of Stanton county, would probably have been killed by an eagle last week had it not been for her faithful dog. The little one had wandered away from the farmhouse and had fallen asleep by an old haystack. Her big dog Nero was with her.

Mr. Lyman missed his little one within a short time after her disappearance and set out to hunt her. He had hardly commenced to search before his attention was attracted by a commotion in the direction of the hay stack. He picked up a heavy club and ran to the stack, where he found the dog struggling with an enormous eagle.

Lyman hurried to the assistance of the dog, and was none too soon, as with a stroke of his wing the big bird knocked the dog senseless just as the father reached a point where he could render assistance. He killed the eagle, which measured six feet nine inches from tip to tip of its wings. It was evidently a young bird, and had attempted to carry off the child.

SIGHT RESTORED BY A MIRACLE

Scranton Editor Cured of Blindness After Specialists Had Failed.

Binghamton, N. Y., Dec. 11—After eye specialists in New York and Philadelphia failed, and an operation proved useless, John McDonough, associate editor of the Scranton Free Press, was remarkably and miraculously cured at St. Thomas monastery in Hoboken.

McDonough's eyes had gradually turned in his head until specialists told him there was no hope and he would be totally blind. He went to Hoboken last week and called at the monastery to see a friend. The friend was out, and the priest asked if there was anything he could do.

"Yes, straighten these eyes," McDonough said.

The priest took it seriously and directed him to the altar, telling him to recite the Act of Contrition, and to say it sincerely. This McDonough did, and the pirest then passed before his eyes the relics of St. Paul. McDonough instantly felt relief, and when he looked in a glass he found his eyes were straightened. He has again assumed his desk, and his eyesight is as perfect as ever.

STORY OF THE DISPUTE OF TWO SMALL STATES

The Hague, Dec. 11—Replying to-day in the Second Chamber to the interpellation of Count Von Bylandt on the subject of the tension between the Netherlands and Portugal, Foreign Minister De Beufort sketched the history of the misunderstanding, which he declared had been exaggerated.

He said the Dutch Minister at Lisbon, Baron Van Heeckeren, announced November 17 that Portugal desired to withdraw the exequatur of Herr Pott as consul to the Netherlands at Lorenzo Marquez, unless the Government of the Netherlands would obviate the necessity by dismissing or recalling Herr Pott.

As the Netherlands Government had no official information that Herr Pott had permitted, as alleged, the importation of contraband of war, it could not accede to the demand for his recall without a fuller inquiry, and it therefore instructed the Minister at Lisbon to cable to Herr Pott asking him to clear up the matter.

Herr Pott then applied for leave to come to Europe, which was granted, and the Netherlands proposed to Portugal that an investigation be made during the consul's visit, and that three months be allowed for the rendering of a report on the subject.

The Government of the Netherlands supposed Portugal approved of this proposal and was surprised to learn shortly afterwards that Portugal insisted on withdrawing the exequatur of Herr Pott.

The Forcing Minister explained that he was not aware that fresh complaints against Herr Pott were the cause of this, but a notification sent to the Netherlands Minister of the withdrawal of the exequatur now would illy accord with the very friendly relations between the Netherlands and Portugal. Immediately after the exequatur was withdrawn, however, the Dutch Minister was summoned to give information, and Herr Pott was expected at the Hague within a month.

After Count Van Bylandt had expressed the hope that the difficulties would be speedily settled, the subject was dropped.

DEWET AND KNOX STILL FIGHTING

The Boer General is Fighting For his Life.

STILL BLINDING THE BOERS

Dr. Leyds Spreads Rumor of Intervention by the Dutch.

London, Dec. 11.—General De Wet is apparently making the fight of his life against the never-ceasing flying attack of General Knox. He is now enclosed in a great triangle the base of which is formed by the mountainous border of Basutoland and the sides by the rivers Caledon and Orange, both so flooded as to make their passage extremely difficult even if every bridge and drift were not held by a strong force of mounted infantry. It is quite possible that another day or two may bring news that a second Paardeberg has been fought and that De Wet, surrounded and cut off from supplies and succor, has been compelled to follow the example of Cronje and succumb to the inevitable. It will be little short of a miracle if De Wet withdraws himself from his present predicament, which is the most difficult he has yet been in. His capture will terminate the campaign in the Orange River Colony and will undoubtedly be quickly followed by the surrender of Botha, who still holds the field in the Transvaal.

BATTLE IS STILL RAGING.

London, Dec. 11.—The Evening Standard says the battle between Gen Knox and Gen De Wet continues, and that the forces change ground incessantly. Lack of definite information on the subject is said to be due to the absence of telegraphic communication with the scene of action.

BRITISH SUCCESS REPORTED.

London, Dec. 11.—While the War Office is most reticent on the subject, there are indications that the officials have received news suggesting considerable British success against De Wet.

DE WET CANNOT ESCAPE.

Pretoria, Dec. 11.—The Boer commander, Gen. Christian De Wet, is cornered between the Caledon and Orange River, on the boarders of Basutoland. As the rivers are in flood, it is considered that his capture is certain, even if he should manage to recross the Caledon. British columns have been sent to hold all the passes and roads to the north, to prevent his escape.

STILL BLINDING THE BOERS.

London, Dec. 11.—Dr. Leyds, and his friends are spreading a report, says the Amsteram correspondent of The Daily Mail, "that Queen Wilhelmina will intervene after her marriage. This is meant to blind the public to the real facts, which are that she wrote personally to every European ruler on Mr. Kruger's arrival in Europe, and from two countries at least, France and Russia, received conditional promises of help in the direction of intervention, but the plan failed in Berlin.

CANADAINS DELAYED.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—The Star's special cable to-day says the Canadians will not sail until Wednesday, and that "the Canadian contingent was given a magnificent reception at Liverpool to-day. Lieut.-Col. Buchan, who was in command of the force, was welcomed by General Swaine. An immense crowd had gathered infront of the Lime street station, and there were great outbursts of enthusiasm and singing of patriotic songs. The Canadians were much admired by the thousands on the streets, and were wildly cheered all the way to the Town Hall. After a visit to St George Hall, the Lord Mayor received the officers. After the Queen's toast had been honored, the Lord Mayor proposed a toast to the regiment—in an elequent and appreciative speech, recognizing the services of the Canadian troops. Lieut.-Col. Buchan responded in a soldier-like speech. After luncheon the enthusiasm was unbounded. Everybody was singing patriotic songs or cheering. At the Royal Exchange there was an unparalleled outburst. Among others, the chief song heard was "The Mapel Leaf." The men afterwards were taken for a trip along the docks. The Elder-Dempster Company entertain the officers and men on the steamship Ems to-night."

IBSEN IS VERY SENSIBLE.

Christiania, Dec. 11.—Henrik Ibsen, the dramatist, in the Orebladet reiterates the statements he previously made against the Boers, claiming that they themselves formerly oppressed weaker peoples. He says he thinks the Boers' sympathy, manifested in so many countries, is unwarranted and rather ridiculous.

SIR ALFRED IS NOT WORRIED.

Durban, Natal, Dec. 11.—Replying to a resolution recently adopted by a mass meeting here protesting against the attacks on Sir Alfred Milner, Governor of Cape Colony, by the speakers of the Afrikander Congress, Sir Alfred has telegraphed that while he retains the confidence of the loyalists, he can afford at disregard such attacks. He added that there was no fear of the Afrikanders deflecting the policy of annexation for the conquered territories.

DUTCH WILL NOT ACT.

The Hague, Dec. 11.—The Dutch Government to-day finally and definitely refused to take the initative in behalf of arbitration between the Transvaal and Great Britain.

KRUGER'S VISIT TO ROME.

Rome, Dec. 11.—It is rumored that the Minister of Foreign Affairs, Marquis Visconti di Venosta, has written a letter to Dr. Leyds stating that if Mr. Kruger comes to Rome his presence may cause a tumult among the people and do no possible good to the Transvaal cause. The letter also says that it is unlikely that the King would receive them.

A HERO IN KHAKI.

A Boer Bullet Deprived Him of the Sight of Both Eyes.

Montreal, Dec. 11.—A pathetic incident occurred this morning at the C.P.R. Windsor Street Station shortly before the departure of the Ottawa express. A couple of khaki-clad figures entered the rotunda leading another by the hands. The latter wore massive green goggles, and it was at once apparent that he was blind, and that the glasses were being used to hide some facial disfigurement. The injured man was Pte. Milloy, of Ottawa, who had both of his eyes destroyed by a Boer bullet in South Africa. The gallant lad was on his way home, having reached the city yesterday from England, where he was an inmate of one of the military hospitals. As he was led along the platform to the train the glories of war were forgotten in the general sympathy which went out to the young man in his affliction.

A BRILLIANT FUTURE FOR THE GRAND TRUNK

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson Tells the Directors What has Been Done and What will be Done.

London, Dec. 11—At a special meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railroad to-day the purchase of the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railroad was ratified.

Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson, President of the Grand Trunk Railroad, maintained that the new arrangement would reduce the obligations $60,000 a year, enable the whole length of the line to be double-tracked, and within a short time make a magnificent system, equal to any coming out of Chicago.

He paid a glowing tribute to the former general manager of the Grand Trunk Railroad, Mr. Charles M. Hays (now president of the Southern Pacific), saying it was impossible to find a second Hays, but he believed Mr. George Bell Reeve (the former traffic manager of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and now the general manager), was the best man whose services could possibly be secured. He dilated on the sacrifice Mr. Reeve had made in giving up his retirement to take on the onerous duties of general manager.

The shareholders congratulated the directors on the action taken and gratefully bid farewell to Mr. Hays.

It was announced at the meeting that Mr. Hays' staff would remain with Mr. Reeve.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 12, 1900

MERCIER'S OUTBREAK

Had it been some other man than Mercier who had suggested to the French Senate that immediate preparations should be taken for an invasion of England, there might have been some slight consequence in the proposition. Coming from Mercier it had the wight and worth that any similar scheme from Michael Davitt would have in the Imperial Parliament. Of all men in France, Mercier is best qualified not to express himself. His conduct in the Dreyfus affair was deplorable—detestable. He proved himself a narrow partisan, a conspirator, a liar and a coward. His present outbreak may have for its motive the hope of restoring public confidence in his courage. Were that confidence given it would mark the French as a nation too puerile to make its threat the cause of the least uneasiness. Mercier's reliance is on the army, which, he says, could be rapidly mobilized, and which he believes would be especially effective, now that England's troops have been discredited by the Transvaal war. His sight is short. The very rebuffs which England received in Africa have made her stronger. Moreover, Mercier overlooks the fact that in spite of delays and failures in the Transvaal, the purpose of England was accomplished.

Mercier's allegation that the English navy was unreliable because mutinies had occurred in it at the moment of battle is too absurd. His remark that it had many coasts to defend is better worthy of thought. But it has not occurred to this remarkable strategist that England might use her navy as an aggressive arm, and assail the coast of France, thus compelling the retention on French soil of several of those unconquerable legions that would otherwise depredate through the English villages. France has a considerable coast line of her own. England, at Gibraltar, could block the exit of her Mediterranean fleet, and with her own ships could smite the channel ports. Moreover, England's ports are fairly protected already by forts and mines, and much of her coast is safe from even the approach of transports by reason of its cliffs and its shallows.

In an immediate trial of strength England would seem to be the weaker, for France has an effective army of 540,000 men, 25,600 more in the gendarmerie and Garde Republicans, about 70,000 others in reach in Algeria and Tunis, while England's standing army at home is but 100,000. Apart from the levies for Africa, however, there are 122,000 in the colonies, with a reserve militia, yeomanry and volunteer force that raises the total figure to 742,000. This is no mean army, especially as France is to allow it to fight on its own ground, behind its own defences, and under guard of the strongest navy in the world.

A few little facts, however, are to be taken into General Mercier's reckoning. England is a solidarity. France is not. All England would arise in arms. France would have to pacify its sections and take counsel of its bitterly antagonistic parties before she could trust herself to an aggressive attitude. England has colonies that would contribute men and money without stint. France has not a colony that she could trust. Indeed, she would possibly lose such colonies as she has. France, indeed, should take example from another Latin nation, a neighbor of its own, and refrain from undertaking feats of arms until she can be more certain of the world's sympathy.

CLOTHESPIN FACTS.

A log Costing $2 Cuts Up Into 12,000 Clothespins, Worth Nearly $100.

"The longer you lif," as a philosophic German once remarked, "the more you findt, by chimineddy oudt!" For instance, there's the common, every-day clothespin, on which no man has ever been able to improve, any more than he has improved upon the wheelbarrow or the old-fashioned wooden rolling-pin. Who would imagine that there was anything about the clothespin that was worth finding out? The writer was passing a little grocery where a box of clothespins was among the things displayed outside.

"How much for clothespins?" he asked of the grocer.

"Four cents," was the reply.

"Four cents apiece?"

"Apiece! Great hickory, no! Four cents a dozen!"

"Ah-h-h! Are you a good judge of clothespins?"

"I should say so! I've made more than a million of 'em!" replied the storekeeper. "I've followed the clothespin, sir, in all the processes of its evolution, from the growing tree to the polishing box. Say!" exclaimed the dealer, "to look at that pin you'd scarcely believe that the manufacturer could make and sell twelve of them for a cent, and have a profit of more than fifty per cent. at that, would you?

"But he can do it. He can whittle out clothespins at the rate of eighty a minute. How? Easy enough. All he's got to do is to take his maple or birch log and go to work. Say his log is ten feet long and a foot through. He won't have to pay more than $2 for it. If he pays any more than that he don't know his business. That log will whittle up into 12,000 clothespins. It will take the man two hours and a half to chew that log up into clothespins, which is at the rate of 4,800 an hour. But when they are all cut out they are worth $96.40 to the maker. He will work ten hours a day if he is smart, and will get away with four of these logs. It's easy figuring to find out that he will then have on hand 48,000 clothespins, worth $385.50, if they're worth a cent.

"The lumber for those pins has cost only $8, providing the man wasn't stuck in buying it. Now, if that was all the expense, a man with a clothespin factory would be a blamed sight better off than if he owned a coal mine. But those logs have to run the gauntlet of a good deal of machinery before they are full-fledged clothespins. A saw separates the log into lengths of sixteen inches, another one saws these blocks into boards three-quarters of an inch thick a third saw reduces the boards to strips three-quarters of an inch square. These little strips are pushed to a big wheel, which hurries them to a gang of other saws, where they are chopped into clothespin lengths quicker than a sausage machine can chop up a pound of meat. These lengths are carried by a swift-moving belt to a machine that grabs them and sets them in a lathe. The lathe gives them their shape in the twinkling of an eye and throws them to the man who feeds them to still another saw, which moves backward and forward as if it were madder than a snake. This saw chews out the slot that the washerwoman is to shove down over the clothes on the line one of these days, and the clothespin is ready, all except kiln drying and polishing. Kiln drying knocks the sap out of the wood and the polishing is done by letting the clothespin rub against themselves in a revolving iron cylinder.

"All these processes cost money, and when the manufacturer comes to put up his goods for sale he finds that his profit on the 48,000 pins, or a day's hard work, is only about $123. I pay the manufacturer one cent a dozen, or about 84 cents a thousand, and, really, I am compelled in these tight times to sell them for four cents a dozen, or $3.36 a thousand, which wouldn't be so bad if I sold a thousand every hour or so. But with care, a thousand clothespins will stay by me for a month or two, and I even have had them with me a whole year. Chinese cheap labor is pelting the life out of the clothespin trade, for Ling Sing and Wun Lung don't use clothespins in their laundries, and they're washing about all the clothes that are washed, it seems to me, nowadays."—Chicago Tribune.

Famines of Modern Times.

The worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1846-7, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine of 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine of 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 died.

Sahara is Not a Barren Waste.

The Sahara is not a barren waste, as is popularly supposed. Not long ago 2,000,000 goats and 260,000 camels in the Algerian Sahara alone, and the oases furnished 1,500,000 date palms.

What Makes Beauty?

Beauty is made or marred by the blood. When the blood is impure, the cheeks grow sallow, the eyes dull, the hair loses its luster. When the blood flows through the veins in a pure, rich current, the eyes sparkle, the skin is clear, the complexion beautiful. Women who use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, find that it is a genuine beautifier. By purifying and enriching the blood it puts a bloom on the cheek and a brightness in the eye, which tell the story of perfect health.

"Having been left weak from fever last October, I was under the doctor's care here," writes Mrs. Alice E. Casebier, of Crawford, Dawes Co., Neb. "I took medicine, but did not seem to gain very much. I was tired all the time, had no appetite, had wandering pains all over me more or less, and was very nervous, as I had been sick all the summer. I was all run-down and didn't know what ailed me. I got advice from Dr. Pierce, telling me my symptoms better than I could describe them myself, and also telling me that I would have to take care of myself, and how to take the medicines. I took four bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and five of 'Favorite Prescription,' and gained strength right along. I took one bottle of the 'Pleasant Pellets,' also. I know that these medicines will do all that they are recommended to do."

Use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for sluggish liver.

Chatham, Ont.
and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.
Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

THE "WHITE DEATH"

The Terrible Frozen Fog of the Rocky Mountains

Of all the natural phenomena peculiar to the Rocky Mountain region none is more strange or terrible than the mysterious storm known to the Indians as "the white death." Scientific men have never yet had an opportunity of investigating it, because it comes at the most unexpected times and may keep away from a certain locality for years. Well-read men who have been through it say that it is really a frozen fog. But where the fog comes from is more than any one can say. This phenomenon occurs most frequently in the northern part of Colorado, in Wyoming, and occasionally in Montana.

Will Sparks, writing in Ainslie's Magazine of this singular phenomenon, tells this authentic story of it:

"About two years ago a party of three women and two men were crossing North Park in a wagon in February. The air was bitterly cold, but dry as a bone and motionless. The sun shone with almost startling brilliancy. As the five people drove along over the crisp snow they did not experience the least cold, but really felt most comfortable, and rather enjoyed the trip. Mountain peaks fifty miles away could be seen as distinctly as the pine trees by the roadside.

"Suddenly one of the women put her hand up to her face and remarked that something had stung her. Then other members of the party did the same thing, although not a sign of an insect could be seen. All marveled greatly at this. A moment later they noticed that the distant mountains were disappearing behind a cloud of mist. Mist in Colorado in February! Surely there must be some mistake. But there was no mistake, because within ten minutes a gentle wind began to blow and the air became filled with fine particles of something that scintillated like diamond dust in the sunshine. Still the people drove on until they came to a cabin where a man signaled to them to stop. With his head tied up in a bundle of mufflers, he rushed out and handed the driver a piece of paper on which was written: 'Come into the house quick, or this storm will kill all of you. Don't talk outside here.'

"Of course no time was lost in getting under cover and putting the horses in the stables. But they were a little late, for in less than an hour the whole party was sick with violent coughs and fever. Before the next morning one of the women died with all the symptoms of pneumonia. The others were violently ill of it, but managed to pull through after long sickness.

"'I seen you people driving along the road long before you got to my house, and I knowed you didn't know what you were drivin' through,' said the man, as soon as the surviving members of the party were able to talk. 'That stuff ye seen in the air is small pieces of ice froze so cold it goes clear down into your lungs without melting. If any man stayed out a few hours without his head covered up he would be sure to die. One winter about eight years ago it cleaned out a whole Indian tribe across the Wyoming line. They are more afraid of it than they are of rattlesnakes. That's the reason they call it the "white death."'"

Everybody's Girl.

There is a type of girl that everybody likes. Nobody can tell exactly why, but after you have met her you turn away to some other woman, and you say, "Don't you like Miss So-and-so?" Now, the reason you like her is a subtle one; without knowing all about her, you feel just the sort of girl she is.

She is the girl who is not "too bright and good" to be able to find joy and pleasure all over the world.

She is the girl who appreciates the fact that she cannot always have the first choice of everything in the world.

She is the girl who is not aggressive and does not find joy in inciting aggressive people.

She is the girl who has tact enough not to say the very thing that will cause the skeleton in her friend's closet to rattle his bones.

She is the girl who, whether it is warm or cold, clear, or stormy, finds no fault with the weather.

She is the girl who, when you invite her anywhere, compliments you by looking her best.

She is the girl who is sweet and womanly to look at and listen to, and who doesn't strike you as a poor imitation of a vulgar boy.

She is the girl who makes this world a pleasant place because she is so pleasant herself.

And by the by, when you come to think of it, isn't she the girl who makes you feel she likes you, and therefore, you like her?

Where the Turtle is Worshipped.

At a place called Kotorn, on the French Ivory Coast, the natives believe that to eat or destroy a turtle would mean death to the guilty one or sickness among the family. The fetish men, of which there are plenty, declare that years ago a man went to sea fishing. In the night his canoe was thrown up on the beach empty. Three days afterward a turtle came ashore at the same place with the man on its back alive and well. Since that time they have never eaten or destroyed one of that species, although they enjoy other species.

If one now happens to be washed ashore there is a great commotion in the town. First, the women sit down and start singing and beating sticks; next a small piece of white cloth is placed on the turtle's back; food is then prepared and placed on the cloth, generally plantains, rice and palm oil; then, amid a lot more singing, dancing and antics of the fetish people, it is carried back into the sea, and goes on its way rejoicing.

First and Foremost

In the field of medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses actual and unequalled merit by which it cures all diseases caused or promoted by impure or impoverished blood. If you have rheumatism, dyspepsia, scrofula or catarrh you may take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured. If you are run down and feel weak and tired, you may be sure it will do you good.

The favorite family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

A Big Luminous Tree.

Every one has heard of luminous plants and shrubs, but comparatively few people are aware of the existence in Nevada of a luminous tree of large proportions. The Indians have always entertained a wholesome dread of this tree, and have a number of legends connected with it, some of which are clearly founded on the Biblical story of Moses and the burning bush. As a result of their superstition the tree has come to be known as the "witch tree," and is quite a source of interest among people for miles around. It is a valuable landmark at night, as it can be seen half a mile away, and the phosphorous substance which exudes from it is so powerful that it is possible to read a few words of print held close to it. Several botanists and tree scientists have made journeys to inspect and report on the tree, but we have never seen a really intelligent explanation of what seems to be quite a unique phenomenon.

Sleeping to Death.

One of the most curious and fatal diseases on record is termed "the sleeping sickness of West Africa." The malady has never been known to attack anyone except negroes. As the disease progresses the victim sleeps constantly and finally dies from starvation. The first symptoms are shown when the victim gradually gives way to a feeling of listlessness, which becomes at last a profound and lethargic sleep, the first noticeable signs of which are a visible and persistent drooping of the eyelids in the daytime and while at work. In spite of all efforts to arouse him, the patient lapses into slumber. The periods of sleep increase in number and the intervals between them lessen. Soon the negro appears to be always asleep. Death occurs at the end of from six to twelve months.—New York Sun.

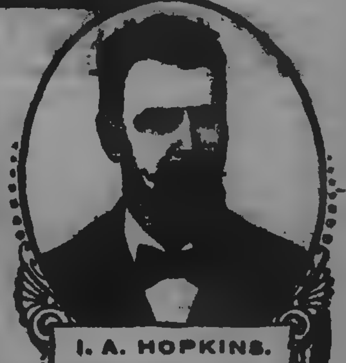
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, urates of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

his Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

Wonderly Gold Mining Co.

We again call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the Wonderly Gold Mining Company, which appears in this issue. It is a rare chance for a good, safe and profitable investment.

The Engineering Club

The Engineering Club met last night in the Y.M.C.A. Mr. J. B. McWilliams read an interesting and instructive paper on "Forestry," after which there was a general discussion of the same subject.

A Correction

In our brief report of the concert given under the auspices of All Saints' church, yesterday, our compositor got it in "St. Luke's." This, of course, is a mistake, the whole course of entertainments are to be given under the auspices of All Saints' and its esteemed rector, Rev. Mr. Armitage.

Expert Tailoring

The Custom Tailoring department of H. LeBrun & Co., under the superintendence of Mr. King Houston, is largely increased. Mr. Houston allows no garments to go out of his hands unless satisfactory in every respect. Gentlemen can always depend on getting first-class garments fashionably correct, as their cutter is an expert in the art of high-class tailoring.

By Candle Light.

According to the Post, Lindsay lighted itself to bed on Sunday night with candles "stuck in the necks of bottles." By this it is inferred that bottles are plentiful in Lindsay. In Peterborough those who were fortunate enough to possess candles during the darkness of Sunday night, fastened them in their own grease, and went to bed after the manner of their greatgrandfathers in olden times.

Leaving for New York

Many of our readers will regret to learn that Mr. C. A. Barton, who has held the important position of manager of the Canadian General Electric Works here, has accepted a position in New York, and will leave at once to assume his new and responsible duties.

Mr. and Mrs. Barton, during their residence in Peterborough have made hosts of friends, who will exceedingly regret their departure from town.

Difficult Surgical Operation

On Monday last Master Norton Chambers, an employee of the Stanley Piano Works, was taken to the hospital, suffering from the effects of a peculiar accident, which necessitated an operation, which was successfully performed yesterday by Dr. McClelland, assisted by Dr. Greer. It appears that Norton, while at play during dinner hour, received a kick (purely by accident) from a companion, causing serious injury. The blow caused an abscess to form on the groin. The operation was difficult, because the trouble was deep-seated and hard to get at. We are pleased to say the young man is doing nicely, and will no doubt soon be all right again.

A North Monaghan Wedding

Rev. D. O. Crossley, of Charlotte street church, officiated on Monday afternoon at a pleasant event, the wedding of Miss Emma Goodwin, daughter of Mr. James Goodwin, of North Monaghan, to Mr. Melville Stephens, of St. Paul, Minnesota. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Harriet Goodwin, while her brother, Mr. Alf. Goodwin, was groomsman. A large party of friends and relatives were present, and after the ceremony an excellent wedding dinner was served. The many presents to the bride were most superb and evidenced her great popularity. Mr. and Mrs. Stephens left by the 4.45 C.P.R. train en route to their western home, and are accompanied by the congratulations of their many friends in this vicinity.

NOTICE

The incandescent light will be shut off to-day during the day time for repairs.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN

—We omitted to mention yesterday that the piano used at the Patricolo concert in the opera house Monday evening was a Stanley, and gave, as usual, the most complete satisfaction.

Miss Alexandrina Ramsay, the great elocutionist, will appear at the Halpany Testimonial Concert at Bradburn's Opera House, Friday, December 14th.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—Rev. R. A. Lundy is visiting at the home of Mr. James Lundy this week.

—Mr. J. White, the venerable and efficient treasurer of Dummer, was in town yesterday and gave the Times a friendly call.

—Mrs. Fred. English, of Ottawa, and her little son, Master George, spent Monday night at the home of Mrs. G. Learmouth, town, on her way to Keene, to visit friends there for a short time.

Died at St Joseph's

On Monday evening the death occurred at St. Joseph's hospital of Rose Anna Lawder, widow of the late H. W. Watson. The deceased had been a sufferer for some time, and a few weeks ago underwent an operation for cancer. She was a native of Northumberland, England, where she was born sixty years ago. She was married in the Old Country, and came to Canada with her husband about forty years ago, and during a greater part of that time she has resided in Peterborough. She was known and esteemed in a wide circle of friends, who will regret to learn of her demise. She leaves three sons and five daughters to mourn her loss. The sons are John, Ocean and William, and the daughters are Mrs. J. P. Shevlin, and Misses Charlotte, Admadell, Annie and Elizabeth. The funeral will take place to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, from the family residence, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

A Distinguished Lecturer

Sir John Bournot, Clerk of the House of Commons, one of Canada's most distinguished public speakers, will lecture before the Fortnightly Club in the Y.M. C.A. Hall on the evening of Tuesday, December 18th. His subject will be one that he is specially fitted to deal with in the most interesting and profitable manner, "Canada's debt to the United Empire Loyalists."

The lecturer appears in Peterborough under the joint auspices of the Peterborough Horticultural Society and the Fortnightly Club, and these organizations are to be congratulated on securing his services for an evening. He has lectured on "The Loyalists" in many places, covering a wide range of country. This month he is at Kingston, Queen's College, on the 13th, when he lectures on "The Government of Canada." On the 14th he lectures in Belleville. On the 18th he is here, and on the 27th and 28th he will appear before the American Historical Association of Michigan University, whom he will lecture on "Canada Under British Rule." The date of his visit to Peterborough should be kept clear for the evening lecture.

Shorter School Hours

Some people in Oshawa are agitating to have the hours of school shortened half an hour in the morning and the same in the afternoon. It is hard to see any good reason for this, as the hours are not too long, and nobody is likely to say that the holidays are too few. But what really is needed is a change in the amount of lessons given to the children, which crowd upon them to such an extent that to do justice to their studies they have no time left for anything else. There is too much home work assigned them, and too many subjects. Home work to a large extent should be abolished, and only one-half the subjects assigned in the same length of time now allowed for their preparation. Is it any wonder that children complain of failing eyesight and headache when they are required to study five or six subjects in one evening, and go to school to recite them the next day? The school is the place for study, and teachers should be reminded in this stage that their duty is to teach the children. There is need of a great reformation in the school system of to-day.

THE FRUITS

Of Coffee Drinking.

"The fruits or results, in my case, of coffee drinking, were sallow complexion, almost total loss of appetite, as well as sleeplessness and sluggish circulation.

"I was also very bilious and constipated most of the time for eight years, and became so nervous that I was unable to do any mental labor and was fast approaching a condition where there would have been no help for me.

"I am convinced that if I had continued using coffee much longer the result would have been a total mental and physical wreck.

"I sometimes think the all-wise providence looks after us in trouble, at any rate, when I was in despair a friend urged me to give up coffee entirely and use Postum, giving the reason why. It was hard for me to believe that so common a beverage as coffee was the cause of my trouble, but I made the change, and from the first trial experienced a benefit and improvement. My complexion has improved, the nervousness gone, as well as the bilious trouble and sleeplessness, and I am completely cured of sluggish circulation. In fact, I am well, and the return to my health has been directly traced, to leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee. I recommend Postum to all coffee wrecks without a single reservation."—James D. Kimball, Isabella Street, Northampton, Mass.

POOR SHIPPING FACILITIES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like to point out a few of the difficulties to be overcome in shipping to some points close by. It will be seen that there is not much done for Peterborough; it is rather the other way about.

In shipping our ale and porter to Cobourg, for instance, the goods on leaving Peterborough are taken to Omemee, where they usually lie over night, and subject to heat in summer and frost in winter. They are then taken to Port Hope, where another delay takes place, after which they are sent to their destination.

Contrast this with the advantages afforded Toronto shippers, whose goods are sent direct. Is there a Board of Trade in Peterborough, and if so, would it not be their province to shake up the railways with a view to getting a better service?

H. CALCUTT,
President Calcutt Brewing & M. Co.

APATHY IN THE CHURCHES .

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have read in a Toronto paper some letters on the decreasing attendance at our churches. My observations have led me to a different conclusion, for the churches attended have been uniformly well filled, often crowded, and the preaching helpful, inspiring, up to date, and fresh as an after-dinner speech. But on every hand there is apathy. It is difficult to get men to take responsible positions in churches or Bible schools or do church work. As one religious journal expresses it, men need to be "almost dragooned into service," and preachers everywhere lament apathy and cry, 'What can we do? Why is this? With churches filled by intelligent worshippers, and with an army of noble preachers, why should there be apathy?

It has occurred to a layman that apathy in our churches may be due to a destructive invasion that has been made in doctrines, which, over a long period of time, have been deemed fundamental. Regard a single instance. It was only the other day that theological schools and preachers taught that our sinful nature is a legacy of Adam. This was taught to be as fundamental as recovery through Christ or His resurrection. No minister who denied the doctrine could have been admitted into an orthodox pulpit. No doctrine was more fundamental than the fall of Adam. Now we are asked to abandon it, and word comes from an advanced thinker of an orthodox theological seminary that our Lord had no pre-existence. This appears to be logical enough, for if man has not fallen, why should man need a Saviour? But laymen ask, What next?

Is it any wonder that laymen lose heart and begin to doubt the dictum of the preacher, and to question if sin, after all, be not merely an arrest of development? Who knows? The preacher? Only the other day he assured us that sin was an inheritance of Adam. Is the dictum of to-day any more certain than his dictum of yesterday? The preacher has made laymen question, has raised doubts which the preacher is unable to set aside, and the atmosphere of doubt is hardly the atmosphere of zeal and self-sacrificing toil. Hence laymen are not merely apathetic and evade calls of duty, but are silent and sad and know not what to believe or what to do.

We do not hear of apathy among Catholic churches or of waning attendance on the part of Catholics. Why? The Catholic thinks the doctrines of his Church are worthy of belief, has unhesitating faith in them, hence his unswerving fidelity and matchless zeal.

Laymen have not given up the Church or the Bible. They know that the Bible has made large contributions to industry and thrift and led intelligence to sit by the fireside; that it has elevated woman, created and fostered the home; that no civilization has been so worn out as to be able to neutralize its influence; that always and everywhere it has gone the Bible has made for the well-being of mankind; that no book or set of books can take its place, and that one who takes the Bible for his guide is not likely to come to much harm. But theologians have made it a book of mistakes and delusions till we wonder whether, with all its beneficial influence, it is any more inspired than "Paradise Lost."

Let preachers give laymen something to stand on, a sure foothold, if they would change our spirit of apathy into a spirit of puissant zeal. PILGRIM.

Miss Richardson, Canada's greatest Cellist, will appear at the Halpany Testimonial Concert at Bradburn's Opera House, Friday, December 14th.

Female Diseases

Powley's
Liquified Ozone
CURES THESE TERRIBLE DISEASES PERMANENTLY.

The peculiar construction of woman makes her liable to suffer from many disorders which are especially painful and wearing. Many a woman bears these troubles in silence, rather than consult a physician. Powley's Liquified Ozone, the new system of treatment, will give prompt relief and a permanent cure for any of these afflictions. A special booklet will give you all information. You should write for the pamphlet on women's diseases. This is what one sufferer says, "I have much pleasure in testifying to the superior qualities of Powley's Liquified Ozone, for the troubles I was afflicted with. A few months ago I left my country home to go to the hospital as the doctors said I must go there to get rid of my trouble, which was female kidney trouble and general run down system. I had my doubts, as I had tried so many [so-called] patent medicines, and they had proved of no avail. I had not used Ozone for two weeks until I knew I was on the right track. It just took four months' treatment, and in that time I used five large bottles and now I am thankful to say that I am as well as I ever was in my life. The best part of it is that you have not got to keep on taking it, as I have not had occasion to take any for months. I have been the means of getting others to use Ozone and will always speak a good word for it. With great thankfulness, yours.

"Durability is Better Than Show."

The wealth of the multi-millionaires is not equal to good health. Riches without health are a curse, and yet the rich, the middle classes and the poor alike have, in Hood's Sarsaparilla, a valuable assistant in getting and maintaining perfect health. It never disappoints.

Scrofula—"Three years ago our son, now eleven, had a serious case of scrofula and erysipelas with dreadful sores, discharging and itching constantly. He could not walk. Several physicians did not help for sixteen months. Three months' treatment with Hood's Sarsaparilla made him perfectly well. We are glad to tell others of it." MRS. DAVID LAIRD, Ottawa, Kansas.

Nausea—"Vomiting spells, dizziness and prostration troubled me for years. Had neuralgia, grew weak and could not sleep. My age was against me, but Hood's Sarsaparilla cured me thoroughly. My weight increased from 125 to 143 pounds. I am the mother of nine children. Never felt so well and strong since I was married as I do now." MRS. M. A. WATERS, 1529 33d St., Washington, D. C.

Eczema—"We had to tie the hands of our two year old son on account of eczema on face and limbs. No medicine even helped until we used Hood's Sarsaparilla, which soon cured." MRS. A. VAN WYCK, 128 Montgomery Street, Paterson, N. J.

FILIPINOS FALLING BACK.

Gradually Deserting Contested Points Leaving Possessions Behind.

Manila, Dec. 10.—While the captures of supplies and the occupation of new points are quite numerous, those involving actual fighting are comparatively few. Apparently the insurgents are falling back at all contested points, sacrificing their possessions in most cases and satisfied to save themselves.

A detachment of the Forty-Seventh United States volunteer infantry from the island of Catanduanes, off the southeast coast of Luzon, relinquished an attempt to land near Pandan. On anchoring the Americans were fired upon by sixty riflemen, and after a short engagement they cut the anchor chain and sailed for Catanduanes, with two killed and two wounded. The names have not yet been received here.

Captain Richard T. Ellis of the Thirty-Third volunteer infantry, captured in the mountains near Barbar a large quantity of Krag, Mauser and Remington ammunition, together with a signal outfit, a printing press, and other equipment. All of this was destroyed.

Thirty rifles and several hundred cartridges were secured at Victoria.

A detachment of the Fourth infantry captured Major Garion and three officers of lower rank in the town of Pasay. Another detachment destroyed General Ugaud's camp. The enemy had fled, but the Americans subsequently rounded up twenty-five insurgents.

General McArthur has approved the death sentences passed upon several additional persons convicted of murder, arson, and pillage. In a few other instances he has committed the death sentences to imprisonment.

DENIAL BY PORTUGAL.

Relations with the Government of The Netherlands Continue Friendly.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 11.—The Viscount de Santo Thyrso, Minister of Portugal to the United States, has been authorized by his government to announce that there is no truth in the report that Portugal and Holland are again on the point of severance of friendly relations. The Minister cabled to the Foreign Office at Lisbon that this report has been published in the American newspapers, and asked if it were true. A telegram received by the Minister to-day contained the denial.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANAdians at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of these gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army, these are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold [illegible] one day. Sample and terms 25 cts [illegible] free); four for 80 cts; $1.35 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. THE CEREAL COMPANY

The Grand Jury Uphold the Attitude of the Town.

And Make a Strong Presentment—Other Matters Touched on—The Judge's Remarks

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning the Grand Jury brought in the following presentment.

To His Honour, Judge Weller.

The Grand Jury at the County Court and General Sessions, beg leave to present as follows:

It is a subject of congratulation to yourself and the county that our duties have been so light—a circumstance that shows a gratifying absence of crime, of even a petty character, and an entire absence of crime of a serious nature.

We are quite in sympathy with your honour's suggestion that the Ontario Legislature should be urged to pass an Act ratifying the town bylaw, giving certain privileges to the company which we understand has come into possession of the water power of the Dickson Company, and would recommend that proper steps be taken to procure the necessary legislation, which we believe will largely promote the advancement of the town, village of Ashburnham, and the county at large.

We visited the jail and found the premises throughout well kept and in good condition in every respect. The comfort of those inmates forced to seek the jail as a home, is well looked after, and these persons seem to be contented. We were pleased to find, at the time of our visit, only two inmates classed as criminals, though in reality not criminals, for they were simply detained for trial on comparatively light charges.

We would recommend that the system of electric lighting, now employed in the Court House, be extended to the jail as it would be more convenient, more suitable, and safer than the portable oil lamps now in use.

In conclusion we would thank your honour for the advice and instruction which has made our light duties even lighter, and in view of the near approach of the Christmas tide, would beg leave to tender your honour the compliments of the season.

His Honour Judge Weller in reply congratulated the Grand Jury upon the lightness of their duties, but reminded them that all they had before them did not exactly indicate all the crime that was from time to time committed throughout the county. The police magistrate disposed of considerable of this work, whilst again a criminal in certain cases can have a speedy trial without a jury before the county judge, providing he so elects. His Honour thanked the Grand Jury for their references to the proposed location here of the Cereal Co., and said he would see that copies of the presentment were sent to the Hon. Provincial Secretary, the leader of the Opposition, and other interested persons. It would show them that the entire community was anxious that the town council's action regarding the assessment of this company should be ratified.

Referring to that portion of the presentment which extended to His Honour the compliments of the season, he thanked them for their good wishes and trusted that all might enjoy the blessings of a bountiful Christmas.

There being no more work for the Grand Jury to do, they were accordingly discharged.

Mr Roger Davidson Leaving

The many friends of Mr. Roger Davidson will be exceedingly sorry to learn that he has decided to leave town. Mr. Davidson has accepted a position at Keewatin with the Lake of the Woods Milling Company. The concern is the only rival of the big Ogilvie Syndicate in Canada, and the consumption of wheat in the Keewatin Mill is about 3,500 or 4,000 bushels per diem. Mr. Davidson, who is universally popular, will be greatly missed, particularly in athletic circles. The Times joins his host of friends in wishing Mr. Davidson all kinds of good luck.

CANADA TO SHOW AT GLASGOW FAIR

W. D. Scott will be Appointed the Dominion Commissioner.

SAYS HON. MR. FISHER

And the Government Will do Something for the Pan-American at Buffalo.

Toronto Dec. 12.—Hon. Sidney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture, who was in attendance at the Sifton banquet last night, has just returned from Buffalo, where he has been in conference with the officials of the Pan-American Exposition. Speaking to a reporter this morning, Mr. Fisher said he had just been over to see what kind of a show they were going to have, and he had concluded that it would be worth taking notice of. He could not say definitely that the Dominion would make an exhibit independent of the Provincial displays, but some action would be taken, perhaps, if not independently, by assisting the individual Provincial exhibits.

"The space is getting limited," he said, "and we will be handicapped on that account, but the officials are very anxious for us to show, and will make a special effort for us."

Regarding the Glasgow Fair, Mr. Fisher said that it would be officially announced shortly that Mr. W. D. Scott would be Canada's commissioner. Arrangements for Canada's exhibit there are well advanced as nearly all the displays from Paris have been already taken across the Channel. All exhibits of perishable stuff will of course be replaced.

GLOOMY PICTURE OF SOUTH AFRICA

Conditions in South Africa Excite a Warm Debate in Parliament.

London. Dec. 12.—Considerable irritation was aroused during to-day's debate on supply in the House of Commons. Sir Robert T. Reid, Q.C., Liberal, painted a gloomy picture of the conditions in South Africa. He said that after a fourteen months' war costing £5,000,000 per month anarchy was prevalent and famine was threatened and this might be followed by a native rising. An attempt to place the colonies under military rule, he added, would imperil the very existance of the empire. He thought the time had arrived for offering the Boers terms not inconsistent with British dominion. All ideas of unconditional surrender should be discarded.

Mr. James Bryce, Liberal, suggested granting general amnesty to the Boers now in arms as legitimate combatants. The Government had no right to treat the Boers as rebels. The negotiations should not be entrusted to Sir Alfred Milner, the British High Commissioner, who was an object of almost universal distrust, including at least half the Queen's subjects in South Africa.

Mr. William St John Brodrick, the Secretary for War, hotly challenged the statements anent Sir Alfred Milner. He declared that whatever else it might do the Government would never weaken the power or the responsibility possessed by Sir Alfred Milner.

Sir Robert Reid's speech, Mr. Broderick asserted, was impracticable, unwise, and mischievous. He had gone out of his way to gratify the Queen's enemies. The Government was perfectly willing to offer terms for surrender, so long as it could not be interpreted as proof of weakness and thereby causing a prolongation of the guerilla warfare.

London, Dec. 11.—General Roberts speeches at Cape Town have given heart to and caused enthusiasm among the people there, and Governor Sir Alfred Milner has consented as a conciliatory step to the Afrikander Bond to send the resolutions adopted at the recent Afrikander congress at Worcester, Cape Colony, to the House Government. He told a deputation from the congress, however, that he would append a strong expression of personal dissent on the ground that the tone of the resolutions was aggressive and exaggerated. He added that it was not morally justifiable for the Boers to continue the war, and for themselves to encourage a resistance involving the loss of many lives and immense destruction of property, when the object of the resistance could not possibly be obtained.

WHERE IS THE POSTAL CORPS?

Ottawa, Dec. 11.—Some curiosity is expressed as to the whereabouts of the Canadian Postal Corps, under Captain Ecclestone, in South Africa, as nothing has been heard from them recently. It is stated in some quarters that the corps is on its way back with Colonel Otter's command, but this is not believed at the Post Office Department. The officials here think that the corps will not return until it has been notified by the Imperial authorities that its services are no longer required.

DEFENDS FARM BURNING.

London, Dec. 11.—In a memorandum to the Premier of Cape Colony, Sir John Gordon Sprigg, Lord Roberts explains that farm burning has been ordered strictly in accordance with the usages of war. He says in part:

"Whether the people whose houses are burned are actual accessories to the cutting of railways and other damage must be left to the general officers commanding to decide. They must be trusted to make a full enquiry before having recourse to extreme measures; but as this is essentially police work, I anticipate that when the police are established we shall find the necessity for burning gradually disappear, with less danger of the innocent suffering, and that my successor will eventually be able to abolish altogether a distasteful task."

Statehood of Arizona.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 13.—A strong fight is to be made in Congress for the admission of Arizona as a state. It has been the understanding with politicians that when the territory would elect a Republican Delegate to Congress, thereby showing that there was little likelihood of adding two Democrats to the Senate, that Statehood would be conferred on the territory. That has now been done by a large majority. The citizens of Arizona no longer go about the towns loaded down with shooting-irons and all the implements which marked the semi-barbarism of the territory a dozen years ago have been relegated to the past. The increase in population has been remarkable, while its agricultural, mining and stock industries all seem to warrant the placing of the territory on a footing of equality with other portions of the country where civilization has been permanently established.

SIR ARTHUR SULLIVAN BEQUEATHED $250,000

Eminent Composer of Light Opera Left this Sum as the Result of the Labors of a Lifetime.

London, Dec. 12.—The late Sir Arthur Sullivan left an estate of about $250,000 nearly all of which goes to his nephew, H. Sullivan. He made small bequests to his two other nephews and to Mrs. Stephens, a niece, who resides at Los Angeles, California, and bequeathed £1,000 each to his housekeeper and valet. The deceased also left a number of mementoes from his silver and china to personal friends, men and women, among them being Mrs. Beach Grant, mother of Lady Essex; Mrs. Ronalds, Mrs. D'Oyley Carte and Mrs. Crutchley, and also left a number of his original scores to musical institutions and friends, Mrs. Ronalds getting the score of "The Lost Chord."

THE APSLEY RAILWAY

Steps Should be Taken to Have the Road Run From Peterborough

The Times has frequently called attention to the fact that Peterborough is likely to be cut off from the entire back country by the construction of the Norwood and Apsley Railway, which is soon to be built. The road will run from Norwood to Upper Stony Lake, passing a short distance east of Norwood. It will touch the western side of Jack's Lake, and thence to Apsley. Now, we think Peterborough should take the matter up with a view to having the road built from Peterborough. A good route would be to Warsaw, and thence over the proposed Norwood and Apsley route.

It is important that Peterborough shall have a good Council next year, with a strong and capable presiding officer, so that Peterborough should not be cut off in this way. The ratepayers should make this question of a railway to the north a paramount issue in the present municipal campaign.

POWERS AGREE UPON DEMANDS

They Have Decided Upon Their Policy in China

INSIST ON DEATH PENALTY

Indemnity and the Razing of the Taku Forts Provided For.

London, Dec. 12—An important stage has been reached in the Chinese question. It is announced that the powers, after weeks of negotiating, are at last agreed upon the demands they are to make upon China, so that something may at last be accomplished in the far East and that the powers can present a united front to the Orientals. The demands of the powers are drastic and will scarcely be complied with by China unless she is awed by force, and it is consequently likely that a renewal of hostilities may take place so soon as they they are formally presented.

LIST OF EUROPEAN DEMANDS.

London, Dec. 12—The negotiations of the powers in regard to the joint China note were concluded satisfactorily yesterday, all agreeing to the conditions identically as outlined by Count Von Buelow, the Imperial Chancellor of Germany, Nov. 19, with the exception of the introductory clause saying the demands are irrevocable, which is eliminated.

The conditions of Count Von Buelow are as follows:

China shall erect a monument to Baron Von Ketteler on the site where he was murdered, and send an Imperial Prince to Germany to convey an apology. She shall inflict the death penalty on eleven Princes and officials already named and suspend provincial examinations for five years where the outrages occurred.

In future all officials failing to prevent anti-foreign outrages within their jurisdiction shall be dismissed and punished.

Indemnity shall be paid to States, corporations and individuals. The Tsung Li Yamen shall be abolished and its functions vested in a foreign Minister. Rational intercourse shall be permitted with the Emperor, as in civilized countries. The forts at Taku and the other forts on the coasts of Chili shall be razed, and the importation of arms and war material prohibited.

Permanent legation guards shall be maintained, and also guards of communication between Pekin and the sea.

Imperial proclamations shall be posted for two years throughout the Empire suppressing the Boxers.

Indemnity is to include compensation for Chinese who suffered through being employed by foreigners, but not compensation for native Christians.

China shall erect expiatory monuments in every foreign or international burial ground where graves have been profaned.

The Chinese Government shall undertake to enter upon negotiations for such changes in existing treaties regarding trade and navigation as the foreign Governments deem advisable, and with reference to other matters, having in view the facilitation of commercial relations.

TORTURED BY FRENCHMEN.

Roasted Natives for Pleasure in Madagascar and Sudan.

Paris, Dec. 12.—Sensational developments were made in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday regarding French barbarities in Madagascar and the Sudan.

Deputy Vigue, who interrogated the Government, brought to light an array of facts, corroborated in each instance by the testimony of French army officers and civil officials which showed that the French conquest of Madagascar has been marked by all the horrors which characterized the Spanish conquest of Mexico.

It was shown that, at the orders of French officers, natives have been inhumanely tortured in their presence. A favorite torture was to pour coal oil upon the hair and set fire to it. Their hands and feet were cut off. Each officer was allowed to take as many native men as he liked for slaves and as many women as he liked for concubines. This condition is still existent.

M. Vigue, in conclusion, said: "If these things are not true, prosecute me; if they are true, hold an inquiry and let us know the truth."

WINTER NAVIGATION DESIRABLE

Strong Letter from Commodore Calcutt on the Subject.

The following letter, by Mr. Calcutt, appeared in a late issue of the Monetary Times:

I notice an article in your issue of the 30th November on the export trade closing on the stoppage of navigation. I fail to see why navigation should be closed at all. On referring to the Strand Magazine of February, 1900, I see an article there of a steamer built and used for breaking up the ice in the Baltic, and keeping the ports open, which answered the purpose very successfully in very thick ice. I do not see why a vessel of that kind could not be used to keep open the St. Lawrence River to Montreal, and lighter draught vessels built on the same principle for the lakes and canals. Instead of draining the canals as they do now, if they were kept full, such a vessel as decribed in the Magazine referred to could easily break up the ice and keep them open. Instead of vessels and canal boats lying idle all the winter as they do now, they could be kept busy all the year round. By the channels in the lakes being kept open I cannot see why the passenger boats could not be kept running all winter, as they could be kept warm and comfortable with steam pipes the same as the ocean vessels; once the ice was broken in the channels vessels could not get off their course, as the ice would form a wall on both sides. Hoping in the near future to see this system adopted.

H. CALCUTT.

President Peterboro' Navigation Co.

Peterborough, Ont., 4th Dec., 1900.

Mark all Your Baggage

"Mark all your baggage," that is the injunction of every man in any way connected with the baggage department of railroads. It means so little to the passenger and yet its fulfilment would relieve much care on the part of the little army of men who toil hard from one end of the day to the other, and in hundreds of instances assist very materially in facilitating matters when it comes to making close connections, as is often the case in these days of railroading.

A man who has made the handling of baggage a study, said:

"Why is it so many people do not have some initial, name or other identifying mark put on their trunks and valises? Simply because they have the greatest of faith in the railway baggage men. That is a compliment, but if they had any idea how greatly this would assist us in preventing baggage going astray they might all possibly be induced to have some mark on their baggage.

"Telescopes, dress suit cases and trunks in these days nearly all look alike to the baggage clerks and handlers, and, it may be said, also to the owners. Hundreds of instances could be cited of where two and often as many as five persons claimed the same piece of baggage before the checks were put on. This generally results in a search through the boxes, which is an annoying procedure to the men as well as to the passenger. My advice is: Mark your baggage."

AMERICAN TENDER WAS THE LOWEST

Parliamentary Secretary Replies to a Charge of Favoritism.

London, Dec. 11. In the House of Commons to-day Sir Alfred Hickman, Conservative, brought up the subject of the contract for the Uganda bridges, insinuating that favoritism had been shown the American firms.

Lord Cranborne, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, repudiated the suggestion. Tenders had been invited in the United Kingdom on exactly the same conditions, but the American tender had been considerably the lowest. The Government could only give contracts when consistent with public interests.

Another question elicited the statement that there had been 13,625 cases of typhoid fever among the British troops in South Africa, and that of this number 3,642 had proved fatal.

In Committee of Supply Mr. William St. John Brodrick, the Secretary of State for War, introduced the supplementary estimates of £16,000,000 for the army. He admitted the Government's expectations had been over-sanguine, and it was now anticipated that the expenditure to March 31 would be little short of the outlay the Government had been incurring during the whole financial year. He added that the Government's policy was to pursue the war with the strongest possible force, and a continuous stream of supplies, so that peace might be more quickly achieved.

WEATHER NOTES.

Probably strong winds and gales, southwesterly to southerly, snow last night at most places, the fall being generally light.

A depression of importance which has developed during the night, is now situated in the Lake Superior District, and another cold wave is apparently following in its immediate rear. Strong winds and gales are indicated for the Lakes and the chances of a fall of snow are also favorable, especially in more Northern localities.

GENERAL KNOX IS STILL PURSUING DE WET

Kitchener Reports That Knox Is Forcing the Wily Boer Back--The Circle Gets Smaller.

London, Dec. 13—General Dewet, with the British under Knox in hot pursuit, is still struggling towards the north, but there are indications that he is about to reach the end of his tether. General Knox is slowly but surely driving the Boer guerilla into the net which is being spread for him by other British forces. General Knox has performed rather a clever feat. Dewet was evidently making directly northward with the intention of joining the commandoes operating in the Harrismith district among the mountains. For this reason he was following the road which leads almost due north from Smithfield to Winburg, leaving Bloemfontein to his left. But Knox proved too quick to the Boer leader, as Lord Kitchener's despatch plainly shows. The British general succeeded in placing a force at Helvetia, through which Dewet and his men would have to pass, with the result that the Boers were obliged to turn sharply off to the left along the road leading to Reddersburg and Bloemfontein. At Reddersburg there is another British force co-operating with Knox, and unless Dewet makes another double he will be caught between the upper and the nether millstone. The chase now going on in the southeasterly corner of the Orange River Colony will prove historical, for unless all signs prove false it is the last desperate fight of Dewet which is taking place. The circle around him is growing narrower and narrower, and in whatever direction he turns he encounters a stronger hostile force than his own, and is obliged to turn hurriedly in some other direction like a hunted hare.

London, Dec. 12—Lord Kitchener cables the War Office from Pretoria, under date of December 12, that General Knox reports from Helvetia that he is engaged in a running fight with Gen. Dewet, and that the enemy is moving towards Reddersburg, where there is a column ready to co-operate with the other British forces.

Lord Kitchener, in another despatch, reports that the Boers attacked the post near Barberton. The British casualties were three killed, five wounded, and thirteen taken prisoners. The captured men have since been released.

The Boers raided the Riverton road station December 11. They are being followed up.

CANADIANS LEAVE.

Liverpool, Dec. 12—The British steamer Lake Champlain, which sailed hence this morning for Halifax, had on board Companies A, D, and I of the Royal Canadian Regiment, forming the contingent which has been in England for about a fortnight on its way home from South Africa.

A WORD FROM COL. OTTER.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 12—The Militia Department received a cable from Col. Otter to-day stating that he was sailing to-day with fourteen officers and two hundred and sixty men, including details, by the Lake Champlain.

ON THE CANADA.

A cable has been received at Ottawa from Capt. J. A. Benyon, of the Strathcona Horse, informing the authorities that he was sailing from Cape Town for Southampton on board the transport Canada.

MISHAP TO BRITISH.

London, Dec. 11—A fresh mishap to the British is reported to have occurred near Barberton, where the Boers, taking advantage of a fog, got to close quarters with the British post, which lost three killed, five wounded, and thirteen missing.

RAIDING NEAR KIMBERLEY.

Fourteen Streams, Dec. 10—A party of ten Boers, under Paul Martin, a Transvaal Boer on parole, surprised the inhabitants of Border Siding yesterday, and seized two of the Cape Mounted Police, who were sitting in Barnes' store, took their horses, and after completely rifling the men, ordered them to proceed to Fourteen Streams and tell the British that 1,000 Boers were awaiting them. They took a store, and the mail-bag, and made Barnes himself prisoner, subsequently releasing him on condition that he would remain at the siding. From Coolles' store they also commandeered a large quantity of goods, for which they gave a promissory note. Two shots were fired by the party at the ganger's wife, but they missed.

Mr. McCra, a Phokwani farmer, who was proceeding to Fourteen Streams, was taken prisoner, but was immediately released. The Boers subsequently evacuated the siding. Natives state that the Boers fired upon a passenger train, and that two shots passed through a little girl's hand, afterwards wounding a man and a woman.

Neither railways nor telegraphs have been injured. To-day armored passenger trains proceeded south. A patrol of ten men, under Lieut. Fitzgerald, visited the siding, but found no signs of the Boers, although two had already visited the stores of provisions.

CZAR DENIES THE STATEMENT.

The Hague, Dec. 13 — The Transvaal legation says it is authorized to contradict the report that Emperor Nicholas has telegraphed to Mr. Kruger an intimation that he will not receive him.

CANADIANS KEEPING AHEAD

Pierce and McEachern Leading in the Big Bicycle Race

New York, Dec. 12.—The third day of the six day bicycle race at Madison Square Garden opened with eight teams still in the contest. Aucoutrier gave up at 7 o'clock this morning, saying he was completely exhausted. His partner, Muller, was heart-broken, and said he would never forget Aucoutrier for the disgrace he had brought upon them.

As the series stood at 8 o'clock there were only seven laps, or a trifle less than three-quarters of a mile between the leaders, Elkes-McFarland and Pierce-McEachern, and the tail-enders, Kaser-Ryser.

The riders were some three and a half miles behind last year's record with the commencement of the forenoon, and it was expected that the pace to-day and tomorrow would fall considerably behind that of the first two days. The remarkable way in which the three leading teams have maintained a practical equality from the start, except for the loss of a lap by Simar-Gougoultz, would seem to indicate that there will be a close finish, culminating in a tremendous dash Saturday night. The clever way in which Kaser and Ryser made up a lap last night, and the brilliant whirl round the boards, by which Aaronson, unaided, ran away with an extra lap before the whole field, shows that the men in the latter half of the column are by no means to be cleared out of the race.

The score at 11 o'clock was as follows: Elkes and McFarland, Pierce and McEachern, 1161 miles; Simar and Gougoultz, 1160 miles 9 laps; Turville and Gimm, Waller and Stinson, Babcock and Aaronson, 1160 miles 7 laps; Fisher and Fredrick, 1160 miles 6 laps; Kaser and Ryser, 1160 miles 3 laps.

A Social Evening

On Tuesday the members of the C. G. E. Angling Club, to the number of between 35 and 40, with their wives and sweethearts, assembled in the dining hall of Mr. H. Long's restaurant to do justice to the menu prepared for the occasion. The chair was taken by the Commodore of the club, Mr. W. J. Johnston, who in his usual happy style performed the duties pertaining to the position. A delightful evening was spent with songs, speeches, etc.

Died at Bensfort

Mr. Robert McClelland, father of Dr. McClelland, town, passed away on Monday at his home in Bensfort. The deceased had been a sufferer for some years from Bright's disease. He was an expert stone cutter and lived for many years in Peterborough. In religion he was a Presbyterian and in politics a life-long Reformer. A wife and nine children survive. The funeral took place yesterday from the family residence, Bensfort.

A Disgraceful Job

Many persons do not understand why a board walk has been placed on the top of the pavement in front of the old post office corner of Brock and Hunter streets. It might be explained that the Town Engineer built the new pavement so low that Mr. R. A. Morrow and other property owners interested made claim for damages against the town. The case against the town was so clear and so straight that, in order to avoid litigation that could only end in disaster to the Corporation, the Council agreed to rebuild the pavement next spring. In the meantime a temporary "platform" was constructed to satisfy Mr. Morrow and the other interested parties. This deplorable business will cost the town several hundreds of dollars. It is time for a change.

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 13, 1900

THE RULES OF WAR

Fears are being expressed that the measures, which Lord Kitchener is expected to adopt in order to crush, once and for ever, rebellion against British rule in South Africa, will be barbarous and culpable. Those who condemn Lord Kitchener in advance are apparently unaware of the customs which precedent has sanctioned in civilized warfare. Lord Roberts cannot be justly blamed for having first tried lenient and humane measures. It was only right that such measures should be first be tried in order to pacify the Boers, but leniency has proved of no avail and sterner measures must now be enforced if hostilities are to be brought to an end within reasonable time. Lord Kitchener is expected to enforce these measures, and for the course which he is expected to pursue, he has ample justification in precedent. There are certain rules of civilized warfare which can only be contravened at the peril of the culprit. Only regularly enlisted soldiers are entitled to fight, and one who has laid down his arms and sworn to observe neutrality can only at great risk again take part in hostilities. If such a one is captured by the enemy he has merited and should receive exemplary punishment. In South Africa bands of Boers who are carrying on guerilla warfare continually attack British garrisons and are joined by other Boers who are professedly non-combatants. After the raid is over these non-combatants hide their arms and return to their farms, after supplying the raiders with provisions and fodder. This state of things is palpably unbearable and the rules of war warrant a general in making reprisals on the district in which such raids occurr and in taking any steps which may be necessary to render such tactics impossible. In the Franco-German war the Franctireurs were sternly repressed by the German troops and the punishment of the people of any locality which did not observe neutrality was most severe. The people of the village of Bazeilles, for instance, attacked and destroyed a German detachment and, in retaliation, the village was surrounded by a German force, the village was fired and many of the inhabitants perished by shot or in the flames, and, even such a severe punishment as this as not been declared contrary to the rules of war. In the American civil war the Northern generals finally found that extreme measures were necessary to prevent aid being given by the inhabitants of various districts to the enemy. As an instance of the destruction and devastation then enforced the following report of General Phil. Sheridan may be quoted:

Woodstock, W. Va., Oct. 7, 1864.

Lieut.-Gen. U. S. Grant: I have the honor to report my command at this point to-night. I commenced moving back from Port Republic, Mount Crawford, Bridgewater and Harrisonburg yesterday morning.

The grain and forage in advance of these points had been previously destroyed. In moving back to this point the whole country, from the Blue Ridge to the North Mountain, has been rendered untenable for a rebel army.

I have destroyed over two thousand barns filled with wheat and hay and farming implements, over seventy mills filled with flour and wheat, have driven in front of this army four heards of stock, and have killed and issued to the troops not less than three thousand sheep.

This destruction embraces the Luray Valley and Little Fort Valley, as well as the Main Valley.

A large number of horses have been obtained.

Lieut. John R. Meigs, my engineer officer, was murdered beyond Harrisonburg, near Dayton. For this atrocious act all the houses within an area of five miles were burned.

P. H. SHERIDAN, Major General.

If Lord Kitchener finds it necessary to pursue a somewhat similar course in order to procure peace and order in South Africa he cannot be blamed. The Boers must be taught that if they wish to enjoy the privileges of cambatants they must observe the rules of war. The present state of affairs in South Africa is unendurable.

"War is hell," said Sheridan, but by permitting the Boers to continue their irregular and illegal tactics the dire effects of warfare and likely to be unnecessarily protracted. Stern measures are now, after all, the kindest.

This is What They Say.

Those who take Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism or dyspepsia, say it cures promptly and permanently, even after all other preparations fail. You may take this medicine with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. What it has done for others you have every reason to believe it will do for you.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills. 25c.

JUST IN FUN

"I could save more money," the young man admitted, "but I find it so hard to break away from my friends. A fellow can't be a boor and cut all his acquaintances without reason, you know."

"I will tell you what to do," said the man with the brindle moustache. "Buy a dog."

"And then what?"

"Then, when you meet your friends, you will find yourself telling them stories of his wonderful intelligence. You just can't help it. In this manner you may soon be alone."—Indianapolis Press.

The Layman—Candidly, do you expect your prayer in behalf of the Boers to be answered?

The Pastor—I flatter myself it is unanswerable, sir. Three or four cranks have tried to answer it, through the press, but it seems to me they have failed agregiously.—Detroit Journal.

Collector—I'm sorry, M. Slowpay, but your tailor has put his account against you into my hands for collection.

Mr. Slowpay—He has, eh? Do you work on a commission basis?

Collector—Yes, sir.

Mr. Slowpay—Then I'm sorry for you.—Chicago News.

Bachelor—I am told that a married man can live on half the income that a single man requires.

Married Man—Yes. He has to.—Tit-Bits.

"Your lawyer made some pretty severe charges against the other fellow, didn't he?"

"Y-e-e-s; but you ought to see how he charged me."—Green Bag.

Peddler—I have a most valuable book to sell, madam. It tells one how to do anything.

Lady (sarcastically)—Does it tell one how to get rid of a pestering peddler?

"There is a suit, my friend," said the dealer, "that will wear like iron."

"I guess that fellow was no liar," said the victim, two weeks after. "The suit is rusty already."—Indianapolis Press.

"Brethren," said the repentant man at the revival meeting, "mine is a sad story. I was born in Brooklyn, but soon went from bad to worse."

"How long did you stay in New York?" asked the long-whiskered man near the organ.—Baltimore American.

Testimony of a Babylonian Brick

It is marvellous what a mass of detailed information has come down to us from the perishable brick tablets inscribed, or rather stamped before firing, with minute and complicated inscriptions and preserved in the buried libraries beneath the mounds of the Tigris and Euphrates Valley. Prof. Sayce is able, for instance, to tell us from one of these tablets how "a widow brought action before he royal judges to recover her husband's property. She stated that after their marriage she and Ben-Hadad-Nathan had traded together and that a house had been purchased with a portion of her dowery. This house, the value of which was as much as 110 manehs, 50 shekels, or £62 10s., had been assigned to her in perpetuity. The half-brother now claimed everything, including he house. The case was tried at Babylon before six judges in the ninth year of Nabonidus, and they decided in favor of the plaintiff," for a woman's dowry was her own property. This might be an extract from the law reports of the Times, and other details of ancient Babylonian and Assyrian life are not less precise. "In the reign of Ammizadok three man rented a field for three years on terms of partnership, agreeing to give the owner during the first two years one gur of grain upon each acre. The whole of the third harvest was to go to the lessess and the partners were to divide the crop in equal shares on the day of the harvest." This seems a pleasant kind of agreement, worthy of imitation. The third year free of rent must have been delightful.

—The day for receiving nominations of candidates for the office of county counmouth, town, on their way to Keene, to year, be Monday, Dec. 24th.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 345 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 65 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (post free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. Indiana's Lost River.

Lost River, a curious freak of nature in Southern Indiana, is a stream which rises near Orangeville, Orleans county, Indiana, and after flowing about eight miles disappears into a cavern. Where it comes from or where it goes is a mystery unfathomed up to date, although the State geologist of Indiana has spent considerable time and money in exploring the cavern. Local tradition says that Lost River reappears in the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, nearly one hundred miles distant, and that persons drowned in this stream reappear as the eyeless fish of the famous cavern. Needless to say this latter is a "fish story" pure and simple, but it doubtless serves its purpose in saving many a small boy from a watery grave by adding a special terror to drowning.

Lost River has folk lore and history, too, ranging from romance of the rustic type to real tragedy. During the war this region was the headquarters of the Knights of the Golden Circle. They caused the Federal government considerable worry and anxiety, since sharp measures were taken to suppress them. Subsequently the caves along Lost River were the haunts of the infamous Reno band of outlaws, and also the Archer gang, most of whom met with summary justice at the hands of Judge Lynch.

The widow's veil isn't always a vale of tears.

"I see that Russia talks of dividing the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, and every month to begin on Monday."

"Whew, think of the hard luck it would be to be born on the thirteenth day of the thirteenth month of the thirteenth year of the new style, at thirteen minutes after thirteen o'clock!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Advising the Bachelors.

"Why do you not tell the bachelors how to choose wives?" asked one of them, after reading the professor's advice to the girls on the question of choosing husbands. This query is easily answered. In the first place, to label the girls who would make the best wives would be to give away state secrets. One may laugh at the follies and foibles of the sex, when, by pointing out the same, good may be done; but it would be unpardonable to give the man inside information about the sisterhood of such a grave character as that requested. A man contemplating marriage should be able to settle the question for himself. One who cannot distinguish the difference between the false and the true should remain a bachelor. Boys should not marry.

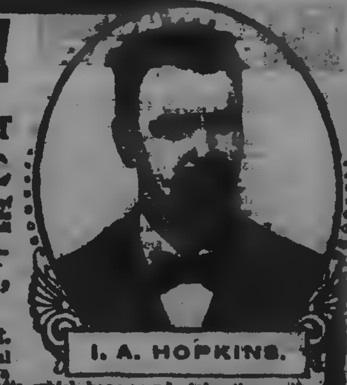
A WONDERFUL KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY, And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 409 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

A Car Load Secured.

Mr. W. J. Pearson yesterday secured a car load of fine stock for his stable of horses in Montreal. The animals will be shipped east to-morrow.

A Loss.

The retirement of Warden Forster from the county council is to be regretted. Mr. Forster is one of the shrewdest men in the county, and the loss of his services to the county will be deeply felt.

Peterborough Should Wake Up.

Aylmer, Ont., has voted to purchase the local electric lighting plant. A good many of the small Ontario municipalities are going that way. These Ontario municipalities do not go into things blindfolded either. It is time Peterborough bestirred itself and took over both the electric light and water works.

A New Business.

Mr. W. A. Redfern has begun the manufacture of sausage, headcheese, English cured hams, rolls, etc., at 191 Rubidge street, opposite the Electric Works. Mr. Redfern is an experienced pork packer and curer, and makes a very superior article, which is guaranteed to be perfectly pure and clean. A trial order solicited.

Mr. White's Lecture.

Mr. H. S. White, special war correspondent of the Montreal Star, gave a very interesting lecture last night in the Opera House, to a fair audience. He plunged at once into his subject, aided by projected pictures of the scenes, describing in eloquent terms the incidents of the campaign, and gave vivid and thrilling descriptions of the trying marches and memorable engagements of our sons, that were listened to with an intensity of interest rarely manifested.

The County Council.

Hastings Star: There is quite a campaign for the County Council now going on in this district. In addition to the councillors, Messrs. J. B. Pearce and Wm. Buck, of Norwood, Mr. Robt. Anderson, of Round Lake, is in the field he says, and Mr. Jno. Brown, the Rockdale veteran, will also be a candidate. Mr. S. S. Joyce, of town and Mr. Porter Preston, of Cordova, are also mentioned as probable candidates.

A Special Meeting

He will also conduct a special service for children at 6.30 of the same evening. A very pleasant and profitable time is expected at both these meetings, and a hearty invitation is extended to all to attend.

A WINNING BOY.

Ear a Six Medals by the Use of Good Food

A Vicksburg, Miss., boy, J. B. Smith, corner Grove and Third streets, says: "I had been studying very hard to try and beat my room in examination. I have been eating oatmeal and cream for breakfast all my life. Lately when the hard study began I did not feel well enough to go to school, and there was an examination ahead of me and an exhibition, too.

"I was determined to get through this examination, but felt so sick all the time that I didn't know how to accomplish it. Well, mother saw the Grape-Nuts food advertised, so she bought some and gave it to me for breakfast every morning, and you just ought to see what this food did for me.

"I began to get well at once and grow hearty and fat, in spite of my hard work. Above all that I did beat my school at examination, making a general average that was the highest mark in the room. I am also able to take part at the military drill tomorrow night at the exhibition and will try for the gold medal for general excellence. If you think there is any question about this you can write to Bro. Garbrial, our principal, and he will tell you that it is true."

It is of the greatest importance that parents feed their growing children, during study, on the most nourishing food possible to obtain, and there is no question on this score regarding Grape-Nuts, for the food is compounded of the elements selected from the grains which go to quickly make and rebuild the brain and nerve centers. Any parent can prove this statement by feeding the children on Grape-Nuts. Obtained from any first-class grocer.

FRENCH INVASION OF ENGLAND.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—The French Government, of course, will never make the attempt because it knows that a humiliating disaster would be the inevitable outcome. Mercier talks of the coast line of England as if there were no French coast line to be defended. The British fleet, overwhelming in its numbers, its equipment and in the skill of its seamen, would not wait for the attack, but would pound away at every French port. It would drive the French navy from channel and ocean, cripple and destroy it. And while it was doing this there would be no anxiety about British merchantmen. England has the greater reserves in every part of the world. She could spare ships for distant service. France would need all hers at home.

AN OLD SOLDIER.

THE SNOW BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—The snow-clearing problem is taxing the minds of many in the town in addition to the municipal fathers, and it is a question worthy of serious consideration, as all know, who have experienced the discomfort of walking on our poor-kept streets in former winters.

It may be taken for granted that what we all desire is that the sidewalks of the town should be well cleared of snow at a sufficiently early hour to permit all pedestrians to travel with comfort in any part of the town.

The objections to the snow-shovel scheme appear to be two; the burden which will necessarily fall on many who are unable to do the work themselves, and perhaps are not very able to secure its being done; this is a serious objection, and is one that calls for the exercise of a too-often forgotten law, "Ye that are strong ought to bear the burdens of the weak," and this is a law to which the principle of co-operation secures at least an external obedience; in addition to this however, it must be remembered that the very conditions which make Peterborough so desirable a place to live in, render the work of individual snow clearing almost an impossibility; these conditions are the open spaces which exist in such numbers and the large properties which surround many of the homes of the town, and these not only the wealthy ones. While in the central part of the town effective work might be done by everyone clearing in front of his own property, in the parts behind the immediate center the work would not only be poorly done but it would be practically impossible to do it by a reasonable hour in the morning. And it is not simply the "poor widow" on whom this method would rest heavily, but on the workman who has to rise as it is, before daylight to reach his work in time, and who, if the individual method were followed would often have an hour's work before leaving home.

There is another objection that has not had the attention drawn to it that it deserves, that is, that where every man does his own work it will unavoidably be done with a different degree of efficiency. Already we have had experience of this where one person cleans his walks closer to the stone or the boards than his neighbor, the result is that when a thaw comes the sidewalk of the most zealous person has been impassible, the water running from the higher lands to the lower.

But, in a word, why should we advocate municipal ownership and municipal control and the application of the co-operative system in so many other directions and still cling to individualism in this? In Chicago and other large cities even the watering of the boulevards is done by the city, with the result that there is uniformity and excellence throughout the city.

Do we ask then that the walks shall be cleared as previously? By no means; let proper appliances be secured and let the Town Engineer demand that the work be done in all parts of the town promptly and well; not a return to old and abandoned methods, but an improvement of present methods is what is needed.

MANY ELECTIONS TO BE PROTESTED

The Fiat Has Gone Forth by the Liberals to "Redeem" Ontario.

EAST AND WEST PETERBOROUGH OUT OF IT

No Protest Likely to be Entered in East or West Peterborough—All Close Ridings to be Protested, However.

A few days ago the Times announced that a protest was to be entered in West Peterborough. We did it on the authority of a gentleman high up in the councils of the party, who assured us that the papers were all made out and ready to serve. It now appears that there will be no protest, the matter having been arranged so that no proceedings will be taken against the return of Mr. Lang in the east.

But while we thus escape the consequences of an election trial, and possibly another bitter campaign, other constituencies are not so fortunate. Both Victorias, as are also many other ridings where Conservatives have been elected by close majorities. This will call for counter protests, so that the courts will be kept busy for months to come.

It is said that the Liberals have decided to wipe out the Conservative majority of 78 in Ontario, and in order to do so the fiat has gone forth to protest wherever possible. There is no doubt that nine out of ten of the by-elections go with the Government, for the simple reason that the people are corrupt. The Tories haven't the money nor the patronage, and therefore are practically out of the race.

The Popular Present.

The book stores show that reading matter will once again be quite a factor with the present-making masses. It was a wise innovation, and should be encouraged by all with the least pretense to literary taste. A well-known citizen has for several years subscribed to several magazines. He sends the names of about half a dozen friends, and each gets for the year the magazine he thinks best adapted to each friend's taste and style. Every month with its coming there is a reminder of the friend's. How much better than a pound of carmels or a bottle of perfumery? Royal Baking Powder has not its counterpart at home or abroad. Its qualities, which make the bread more healthful and the cake of finer appearance and flavor, are peculiar to itself and are not constituent in other leavening agents.

Great efforts are made to sell alum baking powders under the plea that they are so many cents a pound cheaper than Royal. The admission that they are cheaper made is an admission that they are inferior. But alum powders contain a corrosive poison and should not be used in food, no matter how cheap.

A Missing Horse

Mr. Charles Westlake is anxious concerning the whereabouts of a horse and buggy belonging to his livery. On Wednesday afternoon a young American who has been working in this district at various jobs, got a livery outfit, stating that he wished to go out to Middleton's, in Smith, and would be back again in the course of an hour or two. He was with a Peterborough young man of good character whom he induced to get out of the buggy at a certain establishment on some pretence and then drove of. Nothing more has been seen or heard of him. Mr. Westlake yesterday communicated with the police of the various villages and an effort is being made to hunt the horse thief down. The animal is a brown mare about foutreen hands high and the buggy and end spring vehicle with a wine coloured gear. There was with the outfit a light grey robe and a dark checked blanket. The man appeared to be of about 21 years of age, five feet six inches in height, clean shaven and wore a light overcoat. Up to a late hour last night no word of the missing horse was received.

GERMANY SERIOUSLY THOUGHT OF WAR

But the Reception of her Telegram to Kruger Showed She Stood Alone.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—In the Reichstag to-day Dr. Hasse, the pan-German leader, sharply critized the failure of the Government to receive Mr. Kruger. While admitting that Germany could not adopt any other position than that of the strictest neutrality, he thought the Government should avoid the appearance of breaking neutrality in favor of England. He referred to the services done England by a German ship in South African waters, and complained further that the manner of the refusal to see Mr. Kruger had wounded German sentiment. He added that the English thought they could give Germany a treatment different to that extended to other nations, claiming England officers had treated Germans scandalously in South Africa, saying of them: 'They are only Germans,' whereas they treated Frenchmen, and even Greeks, well.

WE DID NOT INVITE YOU.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—In the Reichstag today Baron von Richthofen, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, referring to the expulsion of Germans from the Transvaal and the Orange Free State territories, said:

"It has appeared to me that the expulsions in many cases have been unjustifiable, both as to cause and manner, and contrary to the principles of international law, and an expression of this view has been made in London. "On the other hand, the Germans who have been fighting side by side with the Boers have met with a happy lot. They have been dismissed without pay and told, 'We did not invite you.'"

GERMANY CONTEMPLATED WAR.

Berlin, Dec 12—Replying to renewed attacks from the Government for the Emperor's refusal to meet ex-President Kruger, Chancellor von Buelow, in the Reichstag to-day, repudiated a suggestion that the Emperor's relationship with England really affected the German policy. It would seem from Count von Buelow's subsequent remarks that Germany seriously contemplated the possibility of a war with Great Britain at the time of the Jameson raid. He said there was no idea of repudiating the telegram sent to President Kruger in 1896, in which the Emperor correctly expressed righteous indignation because of the breach of international law by filibusters. His Majesty never meant, however, to determine the German policy forever by this despatch.

A LIBERAL FOR WELLAND

Mr. Gross the Liberal Candidate, Elected by a Good Majority.

Welland, Dec. 13.—At the by-election held here to-day to fill the vacancy in the Ontario Legislature, Mr. Gross, the Liberal candidate, was elected by a handsome majority. There was a great deal of interest taken in this election and all the forces of the Government were used to carry the riding.

TYRRELL'S TRIP OF 5,000 MILES

Explorer Has an Eventful Journey Through the Barren Lands.

HIS VESSEL WAS WRECKED

Driven Ashore on Stoney Island While Proceeding to Fort Resolution—Trip to Artillery Lake.

Edmonton, Dec. 13.—J. W. Tyrell has arrived here, returning from a trip across the Great Barren Grounds of the Far North between Great Slave Lake and Hudson's Bay. He is accompanied by a party consisting of C. C. Fairchild, Ven. Archdeacon Lofthouse and five canoemen. The members of the party are all in good health, nothwithstanding their hard travelling, and had neither illness nor accident throughout the trip. Two of the canoemen are Iriquois Indians from Caughnawaga, two are half breeds from St. Peter's reserve, Manitoba. The fifth is a white man, Percy Acres, of Hamilton. This is the second trip made by Mr. Tyrell through the Barren Grounds, the former trip being in 1893 under the leadership of his brother, J. W. Tyrell, then of the geological survey. The present expedition was undertaken by the Interior Department for the purpose of obtaining accurate geographical knowledge of the region lying between the head of the Chesterfield Inlet and Hudson's Bay, the former trip by the Tyrell brothers being from Lake Athabasca to Chesterfield Inlet. Pete. French, one of the Iroquois canoemen who accompanied Mr. Tyrell on his recent trip, also accompanied the Tyrell brothers on the trip from Lake Athabathaska to Hudson's bay.

The party left Edmonton on Feb. 16 last, going by team to Lac La Biche. From Lac La Biche they went by dog train to McMurray, Chypewyan, Smith, and Resolution, to the site of Fort Reliance at the northeastern extremity of Great Slave Lake, a distance of 1,100 miles, reaching there on May 8th. Fort Reliance was built by the expeditions of Sir George Buck during their search for Sir John Franklin, and were occupied during the winters of 1833 and 1834. Five large chimneys are still standing. Three years ago Buffalo Jones built a shanty around one of the chimneys. Mr. Tyrell had expected to be able to reach Artillery Lake with his dog teams, but found spring so much further advanced than he had expected that he was compelled to send his dogs back to Resolution and portage some 25 miles by land. The snow was all gone, but the ice was still firm on the lakes. A chain of small lakes connected Great Slave and Artillery lakes, and hand sleds were used in portaging across them. The party were held up at the last of the woods on Artillery Lake until June 14th. At that time there was sufficient open water along the shore of the lakes to permit of canoe travel.

EXPLORED THE LAKE.

The interval was employed in exploring the lake and the region around. Artillery Lake is about 50 miles in length. Kasba River was ascended from Artillery Lake and Clinton Golden Lake entered, then the height of land was crossed by a chain of small lakes with short passages between Hanbury River which flows eastward to Hudson's bay. From Clinton Golden Lake to Hanbury River is about 30 miles. Decended Hanbury River 160 miles to Thelon River. This is a fine river which put into Hudson's bay at the east of Chesterfield Inlet. It is probably the largest river in Canada east of the Mackenzie and north of the St. Lawrence. Decended Thelon River 250 miles to Aberdeen Lake, and there made connection with the survey of Tyrell brothers of 1893. From that point Messrs. Fairchild and Lofthouse with two of the canoemen, were sent on to complete the survey of Aberdeen, Schultz and Baker Lakes, partially surveyed in 1893, and to resurvey Chester Inlet. This work was completed in good time. The party reached Hudson's Bay on July 31st, and returned to Artillery Lake on Sept. 5.

TOO HARD TO NAVIGATE.

Mr. Tyrell and two canoemen returned up the river intending to explore it to its head, which he supposed to be in the vicinity of the eastern end of Lake Athabasca. But about 150 miles above where he had first entered it by the mouth of Hanbury River it became too difficult for further canoe navigation. He returned down the river 75 miles to the mouth of a west branch, up which he went, hoping to find a new route across the divide to Artillery Lake, but after ascending about 70 miles he found that it also became unsuitable for canoe navigation. Sending the canoes back, Mr. Tyrell started across country to Artillery Lake, to make the exploration on foot. The direct distance was about 65 miles, and the time expected to be occupied about six days. But the weather, which had been very fine up to that time, turned very bad, making travelling difficult, and owing to the broken nature of the country the distance actually travelled was about 105 miles, and the time occupied 16 days. Muskegs were ankle and knee deep with water, rivers were swollen and rain or snow fell every day. As there was no wood there was no means of getting dry or warm, and the only bedding and shelter was half a blanket.

SHOT HIS OWN FOOD.

For food Mr. Tyrell depended on the country. He carried a rifle, and as deer were numerous he was never hungry. He cooked the meat with fires of moss and heather. After a terrible trip he reached the canoe party at the party's spring camp on Artillery Lake on August 25th. He was joined by the rest of the party on September 5th, and reached Fort Reliance on September 15th. There the little steamer Argo from Fort Resolution met the party on September 15th. On the way to Resolution the steamer was driven ashore on Stoney Island during a storm, and badly damaged. Three days delay were occasioned by the necessary repairs, and subsequent progress was slow. In consequence Fort Smith was reached six days later than had been calculated on. Had it not been for the accident to the Argo the party would have been able to get out by open water.

From Smith they took canoes to Chipewyan, reaching there on October 16th. The weather was still fine, but as it was impossible to reach the Landing before the river froze it was decided to remain until the ice formed, and travel with dogs became possible. They left Chipewyan with dogs on October 28th, and reached Lac la Biche on November 30th.

LOCAL LEGAL

Re Metcalfe: Metcalfe v. Metcalfe.—J. L. Smith for defendants, executors, appealed from order of Ferguson, J. (32 O. R., 103), upon an appeal of the certificate of the Master at Peterborough in an administration action, in so far as it declares that the cost of the appeal of defendant, Mary Metcalfe, from part of the certificate should be paid out of the estate of Philip Metcalfe, deceased. The question upon that appeal was as to the proper construction of a clause in the testator's will, and the learned judge reversed the Master and held that Robert Metcalfe, deceased, a brother of the testator, was entitled to one-half of the estate, and that the one-half passed by Robert's will to his widow, the defendant, Mary Metcalfe. The appellants now contend that the whole of the estate of Philip Metcalfe was not before the court, but only the question as to whether one-half had vested under the devise in Robert Metcalfe during his lifetime, so as to pass by his will to defendant, Mary Metcalfe, and that therefore the costs should be ordered to be paid out of that half and not out of the general estate. W. H. Blake for defendant I. Hughes. W. A. F. Campbell, Norwood, for plaintiff and children of Robert Metcalf. Stratton, Q.C., for defendant, Mary Metcalfe, contra. Appeal dismissed with costs.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Social Re-Union—Election of Officers Etc., Last Night.

The Wholesome Influence of the Association is Extending—Growth in Every Department

The annual meeting and social reunion of the Y.M.C.A. took place last night. At the business meeting reports were submitted from the Ladies' Auxiliary, the Boys' Department, the Physical Department, and the Educational Department, besides the Secretary and Treasurer. All the departments showed marked progress during the year. The report of the Physical Committee showed an average daily attendance of 27 at the gymnasium. An important step was the formation of a tennis club and the building a court. The boys' camp was another feature. This fall a ladies' class and a business men's evening class in gymnastics have been formed. The report of the Boys' Department showed an increase in membership of 47 per cent.

The Treasurer submitted the following statement for the year ending Oct. 1st:

RECEIPTS.

Balance on hand	$ 2 0[illegible]
Subscriptions	1524 00
Membership fees	1382 [illegible]
Total	$2908 33

Leaving a balance on hand of $[illegible].

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, R. M. Ackerman; 1st vice-president, G. M. Roger; 2nd vice-president, Frank Adams; treasurer, James Connal; rec.-sec., T. A. Martin; directors, H. P. Kennedy, Peter Hamilton, Hugh Waddell, R. E. Harding, R. M. Dennistoun, A. E. Dixon.

The Secretary's annual report pointed out that the year had been a notable one in the history of the work for young men because of the part taken by the Association in the war in South Africa—particularly because the Peterborough Association had the honor to be represented by one of its best members, the late Dan Spence, whose noble life and heroic death will ever be remembered.

The aim of the Association is by all round work to develop all round men and boys. The plan of giving visitors' tickets to young men, allowing them full privileges during the first month in town, has worked admirably. During the year 153 visitors' tickets were issued, 82 strangers were directed to boarding houses, and 14 were assisted in securing employment.

The membership roll has rapidly increased. At present it is as follows:

Honorary	9
Senior full	288
Senior limited	75
Intermediate	111
Boys	62
Total	538

After the business meeting, a pleasant social hour was spent, music, refreshments, etc., being provided with the usual kindly hospitality of the Association.

KITCHENER WANTS THE AUSTRALIANS

He Asks That the Bushmen Prepare to Return to South Africa—Canadians Start For Home

London, Dec. 13.—Another contingent of Canadian troops started on their way home to-day on board the Roslin Castle. They received an enthusiastic send off.

A MAGNIFICENT SEND-OFF.

London, Dec. 13.—The Canadians got a magnificent send-off to-day at Liverpool, as they were embarking on the Lake Champlain. Thousands of people were on the landing stage, and the cheering was continuous. Bands played "Soldiers of the Queen" and "The Maple Leaf." The Lord Mayor, the Bishop of Liverpool and many distinguished citizens were present. The Lord Mayor delivered a stirring speech, and was followed by the Bishop. Col. Otter responded amid rousing cheering, and as the steamer left, speaking from the deck. It was a fitting climax to Liverpool's series of magnificent demonstrations.

CABLE FROM COL. OTTER.

Ottawa Dec 13.—The following cable was received at the Militia Department to-day "Queenstown, Dec. 13, 1900.—All well; 10 officers, 237 duty men, 25 invalided of regiment, 3 artillery, 5 mounted, 1 Strathcona, 1 artificer. War Office extends pay to December 31. Otter." This indicates that there are 274 non-commission officers and men returning under his command. The department has the names of 246 only.

HAD POOR ACCOMMODATION.

Ottawa, Dec. 13.—In a report received yesterday, Col. Otter says that the transport accommodation from Pretoria to Cape Town was very poor and scanty, dirty, open cattle trucks being furnished. The trains only ran by day owing to the possible danger of the track being disturbed by the Boers. "A" Company turned out twice on the way down to the drive the enemy away. Capt. Ogilvie remained behind at Gen. Smith-Dorrien's request, to act as D.A.A.G. Col. Otter regards Capt. Ogilvie's appointment as a great compliment to the regiment, as well as recognition of his able services. Capt. Weeks is ill at Kroonstadt with fever. Pte. Wilkins had his foot crushed by the wheel of a 4.7 gun, amputation being necessary.

The following officers obtained employment, and remain in South Africa: Capt. Stuart, civil employment; Lieut. Hodgins and Lieut. Armstrong, Imperial Military railway, and Lieut. Boyd, as adjutant to the convalescent camp.

KITCHENER WANTS THE BUSHMEN

Cape Town, Dec. 13.—General Kitchener has cabled to the authorities of South Australia asking that the wounded Imperial Bushmen to return to South Africa.

MILNER BECOMES ADMINISTRATOR

Cape Town, Dec. 13.—Sir Alfred Milner has been gazetted Administrator of the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal.

Berlin, Dec. 13.—As the result of a mass meeting at Hamburg the friends of the Boers at that place have sent the Imperial Chancellor, Count Von Buelow, a strongly-worded disavowal of the German Government Transvaal policy.

BOER ARMY REORGANIZED.

London, Dec. 13.—The South African correspondent of the British press gives many evidences of continued activity on the part of the Boers. Their renewed activity is attributed in great part to the reorganization of their army, which was put into effect September 4, the day after the publication of Lord Roberts' proclamation declaring the Transvaal annexed. The details of the new army are published in The Amsterdam Handelsblad, being taken from The Staatscourant, of the South African Republic.

Comparing them with those of the old plan, we note the following changes:

There were formerly no binding rules as to the size of companies and regiments, each man following the leader he best liked. Now, a commandantschap (regiment) must be at least 300 strong, and not over 600, and a veldcornetschap (company) not less than 100 and not more than 200. Formerly all officers were appointed by vote of the men. Now, all assistant, vechtgenerals and commandanten (lieutenant-generals, brigadiers, and colonels) must be appointed by the commander-in-chief, the subalterns alterns; but all subject to the ratification of the commander-in-chief. All appointments must have the final consent of the President or his substitute. Officers are held more responsible for their inferiors, and discipline takes the place of free-will obedience. Formerly no pay was given; now $1.25 per day will be the pay of a private, with corresponding increase to officers. Only one half of this, however, will be paid during the war; the rest is to be collected after the war. Most offenses will be punished with fines, but desertion can in the future, at the discretion of the court-martial, be punished with death, and certain crimes and misdemeanors may be punished with imprisonment at hard labor not more than twelve months.

To the introduction of stricter discipline is attributed the greater efficiency. The Handelsblad thinks the reforms of great importance. The old system, it says, which so well suited the Boers, had to give way to more stringent rules in the midst of war, [illegible] ists and [illegible] in [illegible] might be elected.

WHERE IS FRENCH.

London, Dec. 13.—Military men here are commenting upon the fact that Gen. French, the best cavalry man on the British side, is not employed against De Wet, but the probable explanation is that his command includes a [illegible] small flying column. French was last reported at Johannesburg, but has not been mentioned in despatches from the front for several weeks.

London, Dec. 12.—The information drawn from Mr. Brodrick in the House of Commons yesterday that the powers of Lord Roberts as commander-in-chief would be the same as those of Lord Wolseley calls out from The Daily Mail a strong protest. The Daily Mail contends that it would make him a lay figure, liable to be over-ruled by the Minister of War, and army reforms are quite impossible. The Daily Chronicle says, "We cannot but regret that Lord Roberts has not improved the shining moments of his popularity to put the position of commander-in-chief on a sounder basis, although we have no fear that Lord Roberts will be flouted as Lord Wolseley is represented to have been."

Pretoria, Dec. 12.—A train proceeding from Natal to Johannesburg was held up early Saturday morning by 150 Boers near Vlakeangte. The Boers used oxen to pull up two lengths of rails, and the train, which contained remounts for the troops, was necessarily compelled to stop. The burghers made the horses jump out of the trucks and captured of them. A second train, conveying provisions, was fired on, and the engineer was wounded. The locomotive was slightly damaged. The men in charge of the train were compelled to alight and watch the Boers getting the horses off the train ahead. While this was being done a third train, with a few soldiers aboard, came up. As soon as the soldiers saw what was going on, they opened fire on the Boers, who, having secured the horses, galloped away on them, leaving the other two trucks untouched. Later the rails were relaid and the trains proceeded.

SOME HOT CRITICISM BY A COUNTY JUDGE

Parents Responsible for Their Daughters "Running to the Devil."

St Thomas, Dec. 13.—At the December sessions of the County of Elgin, which were opened on Wednesday, Judge Hughes made some very interesting comments on various topics. One of the cases before the court was that a man had sold on the market a cow that had been slaughtered when dying.

Judge Hughes said that a friend of his who dealt in swine told him that he has known that diseased pork had been offered for sale, and the owners not being able to sell it in the ordinary way had cut the hog up and sold it on the market. The jurors knew, as well as he did, that people came to the market and sold all sorts of stuff. The small potatoes and the small apples were at the bottom of the bag, and the big ones at the top, so as to impose upon the poor people who could not purchase more than a week's supply at a time. There were too many swindles being perpetrated without unwholesome food being offered for sale.

PARENTS TO BLAME.

He expressed his abhorrence and sorrow that several young men had gone or were going to the gallows because of their conduct with young girls. He referred to the Pearson case in Hamilton, and said that the reasons for these cases were the desires of such young men and the carrying of firearms. He said the parents of girls were to blame. They allowed their daughters to "take their heads like young colts and run to the devil." Anyone, he said who travelled the road to Port Stanley would see things he otherwise could not believe. He deplored the fact that the Bible was not made a text book in the public schools. If the Bible was not read and taught in the homes and the public schools where would it be taught? Not in the Sunday school, nor the church. The fact that the Bible was not taught in the public schools was because of the mean jealousy of the [illegible]. The Roman Catholics insist upon teaching their children religion according to their system, and he thought they were right, though he would like to see no Separate schools. And the Protestants stand by and see the Bible excluded from the schools because of their jealousies. The great panacea for bringing up happy here and happy hereafter was to be found in the Bible and to be found nowhere else. Some might think he was preaching a sermon, but he was propounding ideas which men could live by and without which they were afraid to die.

ENGLAND AND FRANCE

If any incident were needed to convince the British of the bitter hatred of the French nation, the action of General Mercier in the French Senate last Tuesday supplied it. This fire-eating Frenchman of military fame thought proper, in open Senate, to invite the French Cabinet to "introduce plans for the mobilisation of the army, the navy methods for the rapid embarkation and debarkation of an expeditionary corps," ostensibly for an invasion of the shores of England. Were the two countries engaged in actual warfare the action of Gen. Mercier might be tolerated; but, at a period of profound peace, with no existing cause for war on the surface, his address to the Senate is all the more atrocious. The general wished, in spite of the protests raised against the discussion of his scheme, to explain the entire proposal, and was only deterred by the objections of his listeners; finally he replied that the scheme could "be held over the head of England." This daring hope, the invasion of England, has been subject for comment since the days of Queen Elizabeth, when the Spanish Armada attempted its subjugation. When, in the early years of the century, the great Napoleon matures plans with the same end in view, which were frustrated by the heroism of Lord Nelson's fleet at Trafalgar Bay, 21st October, 1805. Since then the proposal has constantly been under discussion in French military and naval circles, and as constantly dropped.

When the difficulties in the way of such an enterprise are examined it seems surprising that General Mercier or anyone else in France would seriously take up the project. In the first place, no force of less than 150,000 well-trained French soldiers, safely landed on the Southern English coast, would be of any use as an invading power. To take over such a force, with the necessary gun-batteries, ammunition horses and food would require at least 300 steamships. The assembling of such a flotilla would be quickly known to the British, and instant measures would be taken to disperse them wherever found. Then, there is the great British channel fleet ever ready, day and night, with steam up, to guard the shore approaches. Such a fleet could be doubled or trebled at a few days' notice at the first note of danger. In order to have any hope of success, it must first be premised that the British fleets had been destroyed, that the arsenals and shipyards were in the enemy's hands, that the way was open, the coast clear. Possibly, French imagination assumes that they have the requisite strength at sea to accomplish these projects. The whole design was planned out by Napoleon in 1805, when he prepared 18,000 flat-bottomed boats for the transportation of his army, and yet they dared not attempt crossing the narrow channel.

Admitting, for argument's sake, the plausibility of an invasion proposal, France would have to consider what Germany, Russia and Italy would have to say to such a monstrous act. Would these countries quietly stand by and witness the political destruction of the British Empire that France might again intrigue to become the mistress of the European continent, as she was in the great Napoleon's time? Great Britain overwhelmed, liberty destroyed, and French militarism triumphant, how could the general peace of Europe be preserved? Such considerations would weigh deeply with those nations who had in the past groaned under the iron heel of French despotism. The more that General's Mercier's proposal is canvassed the more absurd does it appear. Looking at the proposition from every standpoint, one is driven to the conclusion that French politics underlie General Mercier's invasion scheme. This person was mixed up with the celebrated Dreyfus case, and was one of those generals who endeavored to brow-beat the government of the day, and claimed the right of the leading generals to set the army over the government, even to the destruction of the French Republic. The French army desires to be a law unto itself, to treat the civil power as its creature, to dictate the policy of France whether it shall continue Republican, restore the Bourbons to the French throne, or welcome General Bonaparte, now in Russia, to attempt a third Empire. Political intrigue permeates the army chiefs, and when the pear is ripe we may hear of frightful convulsions again in France. For the moment the people are satisfied with their Republican institutions, but what do the army chiefs care for "the people?" The army is tired of peace, and would like to be employed in fresh deeds of valor. "La gloria" ever animates the French breast, and no endeavor will be wanting to pick up a quarrel with Great Britain or any other country when the occasion serves. The refusal of the Emperor of Germany and Austria to recognize Mr. Kruger has profoundly irritated French politicians, for they now see that Europe is divided on the South African question. General Mercier and his crew may gnash their teeth in vain; they are powerless to promote a cabal against the British power.

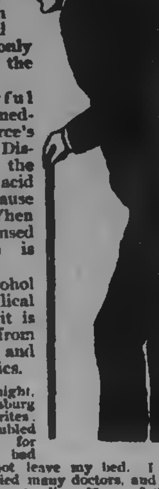
The Cripple



Who is crippled by accident or deformity hardly understands the meaning of the word "crippled" as compared with the victim of rheumatism. He is not only bent and twisted, but also racked with pain so cruel that he envies the cripple who stumps along on a wooden leg, whistling as he goes. Rheumatism is known to-day as a blood disease. It can only be cured through the blood.

That powerful blood-purifying medicine, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, cleanses the blood of the acid poisons which cause rheumatism. When the blood is cleansed the rheumatism is cured.

There is no alcohol in "Golden Medical Discovery" and it is absolutely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Mr. R. J. McKnight, of Cades, Williamsburg County, S. C., writes. "I had been troubled with rheumatism for twelve years, so bad at times I could not leave my bed. I was badly crippled. Tried many doctors, and two of them gave me up to die. None of them did me any good. The pains in my back, hips and legs (and at times in my head), would nearly kill me. My appetite was very bad. Everybody who saw me said I must die. I took five bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of 'Pellets,' and to-day my health is good, after suffering twelve years with rheumatism."

The sluggish liver can be cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

DOES IT NOT PAY TO GO TO The Best.

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the
CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.
and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 22x28, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.25 per dozen: 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $7.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

CHAT WITH A PAWNBROKER

The Oddest Thing Ever Offered to Him—The Business Not All Profit.

"The oddest thing I ever had offered to me," said a pawnbroker, "was a skeleton; and I didn't take it. I hadn't any doubt that it was all right, that the man that offered it owned it and had a right to sell it. I suppose he was a medical student who wanted money just then more than he wanted the skeleton. But I didn't know anything about the value of skeletons, and how much to advance on it, and so I didn't take it. But that will give you some sort of an idea of the variety of things that the pawnbroker has offered to him.

"Of course, you understand that not all pawnbrokers take everything; there are men who advance money on nothing but watches and jewelry and diamonds and pictures and that sort of thing and who wouldn't give anything on the handsomest satin-lined overcoat that ever was, because it isn't in their line. They have no place to put such things; no conveniences for taking care of them. And then there are pawnbrokers doing a general business who take all sorts of things, watches and banjos, boxing gloves and silver spoons, practically anything and every thing that offers. They might occasionally run across something that they wouldn't take, as I did with the skeleton, but not often; there's practically nothing but what they will take, and practically nothing but what is offered at one time and another.

"On some things the amount advanced is very small; but still I've got things in safe that I never should get my money back on if I had to sell them. You'd suppose it would be easy for the pawnbroker to give on a thing no more than he could get for it if he had to sell it, and so it would be; but as a matter of fact he may give more than he could get back. He would be governed by circumstances, and by his judgment of the person offering the goods.

"I might have a customer bring in a diamond ring that I would lend so much on, whatever it was, and that would be a safe loan; the ring would be good for it if it was never reclaimed. But may be the next week the same customer, hard up and needing money, would bring in a pair of trousers, spotted and worn; not worth much if you had to sell them. And very likely I would lend more on those trousers than I could ever get for them; lending that because he's a customer and I want to accommodate him, and want to keep him as a customer and because the chances are that he'll take the trousers out again; but if he doesn't why then I'm out.

"The question of whether a man who wants a loan is likely to redeem what he offers is often taken into account. It is a common thing for the pawnbroker to look at the man, maybe a stranger, and lend on his judgment of the man as well as on his knowledge of the value of the thing the man puts down on the counter. Of course, he makes mistakes in this, but he takes the chances, and I suppose he oftener gets it right than not. There might come in here you, or anybody, needing money, with an old-fashioned key-winding watch that I could not get $1! for, and want to borrow $15, and very likely I'd lend it though I know I never could get my money back if the watch wasn't redeemed. But I know, or I think I know, at a glance, whether he will redeem the watch or not, what sort of a man he is, and how much he values the watch for its associations; and I go according to my judgment.

"No doubt as a general proposition the pawnbroker sets out to lend on things no more than he could sell them for; there are times when instead of making money he loses it; what he tries to do is to get a profit as the net result."

A HANDY ELEPHANT

He Would Rock Babies Asleep With His Trunk.

Stretched on the floor of an annex of the Crystal Palace is all that now remains of Charlie, the performing elephant—a great dusky skin and huge frame, says the London Chronicle. Everything else has been buried, and soon the hide and skeleton, mounted after the most approved taxidermic methods, will be added to the natural history section of the palace.

Although he had two human lives against his record, Charlie was not without friends, and there are at least three men who mourn his inglorious end. One is a black attendant, who declares: "Charlie all right, poor old fellow;" and another Mr. Edgar Shrubsole, who is renovating the "specimens" at the palace, and speaks admiringly of the dead elephant as the best proportioned animal of its kind he has ever seen. But perhaps Charlie's most sincere mourner is Mr. Sanger, with whose circus the creature traveled for close upon forty years. "He was the most docile, affectionate and intelligent animal and the finest performer I have ever known," said Mr. Sanger recently to one of our representatives. "He has been up and down the country with me for thirty-eight years, and has never interfered with the public. Why, he has nursed all my children and my grandchildren, and what better evidence can there be of his docility than that? It sounds surprising, but what I mean is that he took them in his trunk and swung them gently until they fell asleep. Money will not replace him. I don't know where I could get an elephant of his size and quality as a performer." Before the final tragedy of Charlie's life took place Mr. Sanger bade him an affectionate farewell in his stall.

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD

OUR SAVIOUR IN ART.

Cost nearly $100,000 to produce. Contains nearly 100 full-page engravings of our Saviour and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Contains description of the paintings, biography of the painters, the names and locations of the galleries in Europe where the original may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book, matchless in its purity and beauty, appeals to every mother's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. Write for terms quickly and get the management of that territory. You can work on salary or commission, and when you prove your success we will promote you to the position of Manager and correspondent, at a permanent salary, to devote your time to attending to agents and the correspondence. A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the most recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with [illegible] from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain constantly in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I [illegible] better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 66 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, sand and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. Dropsy is conquered, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 488 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the country. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sadalia Extension, the Sadalia Extension No. 1, which property adjoins the great Sadalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

Holiday Goods

Drop into the Times Bookstore and see the array of holiday goods that are now being opened out. Our books are the cheapest in town.

Double Trading Stamps.

The Times Bookstore will give double trading stamps for the balance of the week on all purchases of ten cents or over. New and beautiful Christmas goods now being opened out.

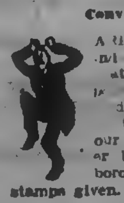
Annual Meeting To-night.

The annual meeting of the W.F.M.S. will be held in St. Paul's Church S. S. this evening at 3.30 o'clock p.m. The meeting will be addressed by Mrs. Goforth, of Honan, one of the band of missionaries who had such a perilous journey to the Coast during the recent trouble in China.

Council To-morrow.

The Town Council will meet to-morrow evening, in order to pass the financial statement, required by law. It is said there will be a heavy shortage although we sincerely hope not. Our taxes have been getting more and more until we feel that a halt must be called. The Councils everywhere throughout Ontario meet to-morrow.

Convincing Arguments



ARE necessary nowadays to induce people to go out of the beaten track in buying Xmas presents. We have just received a splendid lot of books for the holidays. Call and see our holiday goods at prices never before heard of in Peterborough. Double trading stamps given. Times Bookstore.

Newspaper Men Insulted.

Mr. A. H. Ranton, a young man engaged in evangelistic work, who conducted services in Peterborough some few years ago, in the Methodist church, is now conducting services in St. Thomas. Mr. Ranton has sometimes made [illegible] and on Sunday night last he aroused some indignation [illegible] newspaper men as "a lot of whiskey soaks." Mr. Ranton, however said that there was one exception to that rule, and that he was a relative of his own employed on the St. Thomas Journal.

Hard On the County Council.

Campbellford Herald: It has been shown by the Government report that the cost of maintaining prisoners and poor people in the Cobourg Jail is only eleven cents per day, or 77 cents a week, and yet some of the wise legislators of the Counties' Council of Northumberland and Durham object to building a poor house for those counties on the plea that it would be too expensive an institution to maintain. And these very [illegible] minded gentlemen who talk after this matter are the first to vote themselves $10 a day to go out somewhere to "inspect" a bridge!

Why Not All Winter?

The Cobourg Post says that "navigation appears to be open much later this fall than usual. Almost every day this week vessels have passed up or down the lake, laden with freight. On Tuesday the Marie Annette went in to Port Hope and loaded lumber for Ogdensburg. The schooner Jamieson loaded grain at Bowmanville for Kingston and from that port will go to Fairhaven to load coal for Port Hope. The schooner Straubenzie passed up on Tuesday loaded with coal for Toronto. Altogether there are more schooners on the lake later this fall than for many years." The Times believes that the suggestion of Commodore Calcutt in a letter which appeared in the Monetary Times and which was copied into these columns yesterday, that winter navigation not only of the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes is feasable, but also the smaller lakes. The matter certainly is worthy the attention of the Government.

THE POULTRY SHOW.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I am sure the public owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. Wm. Collins, the efficient Secretary of the Poultry Association, and Mr. R. H. Leary, the popular President, for their efforts in the direction of raising perfect poultry.

But I take the liberty of pointing out, through the Times, of one defect in the poultry show as carried on in this country. The prizes are regulated entirely by the appearance and weight of the birds. The birds which take the first prize must weigh so much and must be colored just so, and its comb shaped just so, and its legs just look so—all according to the "standard" set up for each particular breed. This plan secures uniformity of appearance, and consequently purity of breed, and that is a good thing. But the actual use of poultry is the feeding of them, and there is no sort of guarantee that a first prize cock's meat is well flavored and tender, or that a first prize hen will lay eggs enough to pay for her board. As a matter of fact many strains celebrated for the capture of prizes are exceedingly poor layers, while birds that wouldn't score 75 lay abundantly. To find the remedy for this state of affairs ought to be the business of poultry associations.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,

POULTRYMAN.

Ans.—The idea contained in that is just as applicable to horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, and all sorts of live stock shown at our exhibition.

THE BRITISH TROOPS STANDING TO ARMS

They Expect the Boers to Make a Dash Upon Komatipoort--Situation is Serious.

Lorenzo Marques, Dec. 14—The British troops at Koomatipoort are standing to arms, in the expectancy of an attack by a Boer force of 1,500 which is in that vicinity. It is believed to be the intention of this force to make a dash upon the town. The situation is regarded as serious.

A force of 150 infantry, a squadron of cavalry, and two guns, were despatched to the frontier this morning.

BRITISH SUCCESSES

The Boers were Repulsed from Lichtenburg Bethlehem and Brede.

London, Dec. 14 -- Lord Kitchener reports that, after severe fighting at Nooitgedacht, Gen. Clements' force was compelled to retire by Commandant Delarey with a force of 2,500 men. Five British officers were killed. The other casualties were not reported.

Lord Kitchener's official despatch to the War Office is as follows:

Pretoria, Dec. 13 -- Clements' force at Nooitgedacht, on the Magaliesburg, was attacked at dawn to-day by Delarey, reinforced by Byer's commando from Warmbath, making a force estimated at twenty-five hundred. Though the first attack was re-pulsed, the Boers managed to get atop of the Magaliesburg, which was held by four companies of the Northumberland Fusiliers, and were thus able to command Clements' camp. He retired on Kakpoort, and took up a position on a hill in the center of the valley.

"The casualties have not been completely reported, but the fighting was very severe, and I deeply regret that Col. Legge of the 20th Hussars and Captains MacBean, Murdoch and Atkins were killed. Reinforcements have left here.

Lord Kitchener also reports that the Boers made an attack and were repulsed at Lichtenburg, and that Gen. Lemmer was killed. Attacks upon Bethlehem and Brede were also repulsed, the Boers losing 18 killed and 14 wounded. Vryheid was attacked Dec. 11.

FORMENTING REBELLION

An American Arrested in Cape Colony for Stirring up the Dutch

London, Dec. 14 -- The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail reports the arrest at Worcester, Cape Colony, of Harold Darringale, alleged to be an American, on a charge of fomenting an Africander rebellion. "The arrest," says the despatch, "has made a great sensation, and startling disclosures are promised."

REINFORCEMENTS FOR KITCH

All the Mounted Infantry Ordered to the Cape--Botha Meeting the Burghers

London, Dec. 14 -- Orders were issued at Aldershot, Malta, and other military centers this morning to despatch all the available mounted infantry to South Africa.

Standerton, Transvaal, Thursday, Dec. 13—Gen. Louis Botha is reported to be twenty miles from here with fifteen hundred men and one gun. He has called a meeting of the burghers for Saturday.

CROWDS AT THE WAR OFFICE

Fears of a Disaster but the Officials hope That the Boers Have Not Made a Capture

London, Dec. 14--The scenes at the War Office to-day recall those witnessed in the early stages of the war. A constant stream of excited people filled the lobbies, all seeking details of the disaster. The absence of the names of any of the officers of the Northumberland Fusiliers in Gen. Kitchener's despatch leads to the foreboding that the four companies of the Fusiliers mentioned are in the hands of the Boers.

The officials of the War Office evidently expect a heavy casualty list, but they are hopeful, from the fact that the despatch does not mention the capture of the Northumberlands, that such a great catastrophe has been escaped.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated at a largely attended meeting of ratepayers, held last week, for the position of Mayor for 1901, and having been urged to run by a large number of others, I have decided to become a candidate for Mayor at the approaching Municipal elections. I stated at that meeting that I could not say whether I would be a candidate or not till some business arrangements were determined. These have now been settled in such a manner that it will be possible for me to give the necessary attention to the duties of Mayor, but at the same time they will make it impossible for me to make any thorough personal canvass at this season of the year. I must therefore rely largely on the support of my friends for the detailed work, and for this purpose I ask as many of my supporters as can make it convenient to meet at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Monday night next, the 17th inst.

Yours respectfully,

J. B. McWILLIAMS.

CHINESE MISSION FIELD

Annual Meeting of the W. F. M. S. of St. Paul's.

Thrilling Address by Mrs. Goforth—Election of Officers and Reception of Reports

The annual meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society took place yesterday afternoon in St. Paul's church. There was a large attendance, principally to hear Mrs. Goforth, who has only recently returned from Honan, China.

The chair was occupied by the President, Miss Dickson, and reports from the Secretary, the Treasurer, were read and adopted. Also reports from Frazer Mission Band, and the Faithful Workers' Mission Band, were read.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: president, Miss Dickson; 1st vice-president, Mrs. Dennistoun; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. McPherson; secretary, Mrs. A. E. Leck; assistant secretary, Miss Aggie Patterson; treasurer, Miss Kingan; librarian, Miss B. Brown, and nine of an executive committee.

Mrs. Goforth gave an interesting account of the mission work in China, and by request gave a brief description of her journey to the coast during the recent outbreak in China. Instances of terrible sufferings which missionaries were forced to undergo, were given. She saw her husband struck down twice, and covered with blood from the wounds received. Her baby on her knee narrowly escaped death by a sword in the hands of an infuriated native. Her little son, nine years of age, was left behind, and for hours they did not know his fate. When word came for them to fly, her little daughter, 8 years old, was ill with brain fever, and Mr. and Mrs. Goforth decided to remain. A second message came as the little one was breathing her last, and after her death the awful journey to the coast was begun. After days of untold sufferings, they reached a place of safety.

During Mrs. Goforth's remarks, there were many tear-stained eyes amongst those who listened to their thrilling narrative. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to Mrs. Goforth, after which refreshments were served by the ladies.

A PROSPEROUS INSTITUTION

Annual Meeting of the Bank of Ottawa —Gratifying statement

We congratulate the general manager and directors of the Bank of Ottawa on the very satisfactory statement presented at the 26th annual meeting of the shareholders of that popular financial institution, held on Wednesday last. The net profits realized were $341,106, which were appropriated as follows: two dividends at rate of 9 per cent. per annum, took $166,060, $60,000 was carried to Reserve Fund, $12,528 to bank premises account, leaving $1,520 to be added to balance at credit of profit and loss. The Reserve Fund now stands at $1,660,455, which is 83 per cent. of the paid-up capital. The increase of capital by $106,740 during the past year was followed by an increase of the circulation by $250,810, which sum exceeds the capital paid up at the beginning of the year, so the expansion could not have taken place had no additional capital been called up. The deposits were increased from $8,365,250 to $9,699,277, by which $1,334,027 was added to the funds for active use. Out of this sum the increase in discounts took $1,000,546, the increase being from $9,535, 840, to $10, 536,386. The stock of specie and Dominion notes was increased from $664,357 to $1,074,373. The president stated that the lumber produced within a radius of 80 miles around Ottawa was about 600,000,000 feet. The production of square and waney timber has fallen off materially, the quantity wintering in Quebec being the smallest on record. The remarks made by the president and the general manager on various banking and general affairs will be found of much interest. The policy adopted by Mr. Burn, the general manager, of utilizing a portion of the gross profits in wiping out some doubtful accounts is much to be commended.

THE HALPANY CONCERT

Enjoyable Event in the Opera House Last Evening.

A very pretty entertainment to a very large audience was the complimentary concert to Mr. Joseph Halpany in the opera house last evening. The program was short, including only six numbers besides the orchestral selections, but the repeated and imperative encores kept the entertainers busy for full two hours. There were selections by the Philharmonic Orchestra, songs and recitations by Mr. Halpany, recitations by Miss Alexandrina Ramsay, and violoncello solos by Miss Hilda Richardson. Miss Richardson's music was a revelation to the uninitiated who imagine that the chief end of the 'cello is to play a subsidiary part to its brother, the violin. Both of her numbers were enthusiastically encored. Miss Ramsay's Recitations included two timely patriotic selections, which were particularly well received by the audience--"Our Testament," written after the battle of Modder River by the Canadian poet, Phillips Woolley, and "Fighting Bobs," by Kipling. The talented lady's rendering gave a new and vivid meaning to the martial lines of the poets. At the end of the programme Miss Ramsay, by request, recited "The Next Morning," in which she showed with much grace and expressiveness the physical and mental condition of a maiden after the ball.

Mr. Halpany received an ovation when he first appeared, and it was the same thing on his subsequent appearances. He was recalled and recalled. Upon the final recall Mr. Halpany expressed his gratitude for the large attendance and the appreciation shown. The orchestra came in for a large share of applause, their overture to the second part of the programme being imperatively encored. Miss Lillian McNeill Landell was the accomplished accompanist and the piano was a finely toned Stanley provided for the occasion.

AMERICAN SENATE AFFRONTS BRITAIN

The Barefaced Attempt to Burk the Obligations of the United States When Not to its Advantage Denounced by British Journals.

London, Dec. 14.—There is a noticeable absence of comment in the afternoon papers to-day on the action taken by the United States Senate regarding the Nicaragua canal. The St. James' Gazette takes the occasion to lecture the "Jingo Senate," which, it says, "has again roughly rebuffed the President and affronted the generosity of Great Britain." The St. James' Gazette further declares that the action of the Senate in "ordaining that one party shall keep its advantages, but that the other shall not be safeguarded," is imprudent, and if it persists in its ignorantly selfish course, Great Britain must fall back on her rights under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, whereby she is entitled to refuse permission to the United States to build the canal.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "British consent to the amendment is impossible. 'Everything for nothing' is not a working principle."

The Daily Chronicle says: "The news is very serious indeed. It means, in a word, that the jingoes and anglophobes of the United States Senate have triumphed, and we are back again to-day where we were at the time of the Venezuelan imbroglio and provocative speech. The better feeling manifested during the Spanish-American war has been shaken by pro-Boer sympathy, and it is now swamped by self-interest.

"The Americans intend to fortify the canal in spite of the treaty engagement to the contrary. We cannot possibly stand by and allow the Clayton-Bulwer treaty to be thus imperiously set aside. The good relations between the two countries must of necessity be gravely menaced. This is the outcome of Mr. McKinley's re-election. Worse could hardly have happened if Mr. Bryan had been returned.

BOER FOX IS BROUGHT TO BAY

With Co-operation of British at Reddersburg Dewet is Stopped.

London, Dec. 14.--It is reported that General Knox, co-operating with the British column at Reddersburg, has stopped General De Wet, and that a battle is proceeding. The report adds that many of De Wet's followers have been captured.

SALISBURY MAY RECEIVE OOM PAUL

A Story From Vienna Says the Boer Leader Recognizes Hopelessness of Continuing the Struggle and Will Seek for Peace.

New York, Dec. 14.—A despatch to the Herald from Vienna says: In well-informed circles in this city the people are inclined to give credence to private despatches from London to the effect that the conclusion of peace in South Africa is much nearer than the Boer reports would lead people to believe.

It is regarded as quite possible that ex-President Kruger will draw proper conclusions from the course of events in South Africa and the experiences he has had in Europe. This would in no way be a humiliation for him.

Reports have also been received to the effect that Kruger is trying to arrange an interview with Lord Salisbury, in view of the moderation of Mr. Chamberlain's latest speech. It is not considered impossible that such a meeting should take place.

Vallilee, Buckingham; J. G. Whyte.

On motion of Mr. John Mather, seconded by Mr. Alex. Fraser, the president took the chair, and the general manager was requested to act as secretary.

The chairman then asked the secretary to read the

		$1,660,455

Reference was made in the Report of last year to the general improvement in trade and the consequent probable increased demand for money. Your Directors are glad to report that their anticipations in that respect have been realized. Money has continued in good demand throughout the year, and as will be seen from the statements submitted herewith, the Bank has been to some degree, a participant in the prosperity which has characterized the course of business during that period.

Since the last Annual meeting, Branches of the Bank have been opened at Smith's Falls and Winchester, Ontario, and at Shawinigan Falls, Quebec. The business done at these offices since their establishment, has fully justified the Directors in opening them.

In the belief that the Shareholders would approve of such a course, the Directors contributed on behalf of the Bank, $5,000 to the fund for the relief of the sufferers by the Ottawa and Hull fire, and $1,000 to the National Patriotic Fund.

While the disastrous fire referred to was the cause of very serious loss to the residents and owners of property in the burnt districts, it is satisfactory to note that rebuilding with a better class of structure, has been very general.

The usual inspections of the offices of the Bank have been made during the year.

The officers of the Bank have performed their various duties to the satisfaction of your Directors.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHARLES MAGEE,
President.

The President, Mr. Magee, then said:

The report just read records the result of another satisfactory and prosperous year.

A comparison of the statement of assets and liabilities, with last year's, shows large increases. On the liabilities side, circulation has increased by $250,810 and deposits by $1,334,025. On the other side the assets show an increase in specie on hand of $117,960; Dominion notes, $292,057; deposits in the United Kingdom and foreign countries, $577,370. Current loans have increased by $1,000,046 and call loans show a decrease of $371,027. The statement this year shows our holding of railway and other stocks and bonds to be $485,587, while Canadian municipal and other securities, together with the British national war loan bonds (£30,000 sterling) show an increase of $114,116. The net earnings show an increase of $23,215, which is about the same percentage on the average increased amount of paid up capital, as last year. The gross earnings were larger than usual, but the directors, considering it a good time to prepare for years that may not be so prosperous, have made very liberal appropriations for the liquidation of unprofitable or undesirable accounts.

The condition of the lumber trade is sound and healthy and does not vary much from last year. Next season's cut of deal is practically all sold, at the same prices as last year. With regard to the amount of the season's output of lumber in the Ottawa Valley, a newspaper paragraph has lately gone the rounds, giving the quantity of lumber produced within a radius of 80 miles around Ottawa this season a eight or nine hundred million feet. From a reliable authority I learn that that is an overestimate, the total manufacture not greatly exceeding six hundred million feet. The production of square and waney timber has fallen off very materially, the quantity now wintering a Quebec being the smallest on record. In 1899 the quantity of white and red pine held there was 2,284,229 cubic feet and in 1900 the total is only 1,358,223 cubic feet.

The grain crops in Manitoba and the Northwest Territories were below an average last season, but the farmers in these districts have enjoyed a succession of several years of bountiful harvests and are for the most part in such easy circumstances as to be able to view the situation with equanimity and to face the future with hopefulness. The consequence is that trade has not yet suffered to an appreciable extent.

The general outlook for business in the provinces in which we have agencies is good, and I do not anticipate any diminution of profits or difficulty in maintaining the usual dividends.

The reports refer to the opening of three new branches. The development of the water power at Shawinigan Falls has been undertaken in such an energetic and practical way by the Shawinigan Water and Power company that thirty thousand horse-power is already available and leased to metal, carbide, pulp and paper and other industrial companies and firms. The water power can be cheaply developed up to 100,000 horse-power and if necessary to 200,000 horse-power. The board decided to open a branch at that point, where there is already a population of over 2,000, and which is destined to be one of the manufacturing centers of Canada. The increase of business at the branches has called for increased facilities for transacting it. These facilities have to be provided, either by alterations to the present offices, or by building new ones, and the past has been an unusually active year in this respect. It is not always possible to get the needed accommodation at reasonable rentals, so that last year the bank built a new office at Alexandria, which was occupied in October, and a new building is under construction in Hull, which will be ready for occupation in a few weeks. At Shawinigan Falls we purchased a lot on which there was a temporary building, which has been converted into an office. At Rat Portage we are occupying a handsome office, built for the bank by an enterprising citizen of that place. At Lachute and Dauphin new buildings have been leased which are nearly completed and which have been designed to suit our requirements. At Smith's Falls we have taken a long lease of a building on a prominent business stand which is now being remodeled. At Bracebridge and Parry Sound the bank has purchased building sites with the intention of erecting new office buildings this year. All these operations cost money and we have made the business of the year pay for a portion of it, so that the bank premises account is only increased by $10,000.

At the last session of parliament the bank charters were renewed with a few amendments in the director of giving greater security to the public, and conferring upon the Bankers' association power to supervise the enforcement of the clauses of the Bank Act respecting the issue and cancellation of the circulation of all chartered banks, also the power to appoint a curator, in the event of the suspension of any bank, whose duty it will be to control the affairs of such a bank. The general manager is one of the vice-presidents of the association and is in a position to give you some interesting information on the powers conferred on the association.

In December, 1895, the bank appropriated $20,000 as a nucleus for the establishment of a pension fund for the officers of the bank, but for various reasons it has not yet been put into operation. It is the intention, however, to commence it this year and a resolution dealing with the subject will be submitted to-day, when some detailed information as to the working of the scheme will be given by the general manager.

There is only one more subject mentioned in the report which calls for any special remark and that is the subscriptions to the Ottawa and Hull fire relief fund and to the patriotic fund. The directors considered that with regard to the great calamity of the fire it was necessary to act promptly and liberally, and they believed their action in both cases would receive the hearty approval of the shareholders.

Before moving the adoption of the report I will ask the general manager to give the information to which I have alluded.

The general manager said:

The president has referred to the usual revision of the bank charters, which has taken place since the last meeting. The changes in the act are not of so great importance as those made ten years ago, when the plan for strengthening the security of the note issues, which has worked so successfully ever since, was formulated. Some of the amendments in the new bill, are the natural result of the legislation of 1890. It will be remembered that a "circulation redemption fund" was then established, by which each bank became responsible for the circulation of the others, and an amount placed by each bank, pro rata to its circulation, in the hand of the Government for the redemption of the notes of any failed bank, in case of need. I am glad to say that this fund has never been called on, the banks, which have failed since 1890 having redeemed their issues without governmental interference. The new amendments provide that the incorporated Canadian Bankers' association shall make by-laws regulating the checking of the issues of each bank and the by-laws now framed are of such a nature that the danger of an over-issue of bills beyond the limit of the law will be greatly minimized. As a voluntary body, the Canadian Bankers' association had no power of supervision although the individual members, i.e., the banks, were responsible for each others issues. Now, while the responsibility is not lessened, the power given under incorporation, of investigating the state of the circulation of any bank, will, we believe, prove a wholesome deterrent against a repetition of the scandalous over-issues.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 14, 1900

PORTUGAL AND HOLLAND.

It seems as if there would be difficulty between Portugal and Holland. The Dutch representative has left Lisbon, and the Portuguese representative has left The Hague. Co-incident with this are the appearance of a strong British fleet in the Tagus the interchange of congratulations between Queen Victoria and King Carlos, and a banquet on board the British battleship "The Majestic," at which the King, the Queen, and Prince Louis Philippe, not to mention the members of the Cabinet and various other dignitaries, were entertained by the British Vice-Admiral. The toasts at the banquet to closer relations between Portugal and Great Britain were enthusiastically received. The Portuguese premier proposed "Queen Victoria and Great Britain," and "The alliance that has long existed between the two nations and has been confirmed by recent acts," a toast to which the British Minister responded by saying that the confirmation of the alliance which unites us is found in the presence of the Channel Squadron. In return he proposed "The Prosperity of Portugal, and the happiness of the royal family," to which the Portuguese Minister of Marine and Colonies replied by saying "We welcome our allies. There is the British flag. Let us salute it with respect and affection, as the Portuguese flag was saluted at Komatie Poort. These two salutes are a public affirmation of the alliance." The secret of this alliance, which if rather informal, is nevertheless not real, is found, of course, in two things; the welcome shown by Holland to Mr. Kruger, and the fact that Portugal holds the seaboard at Lorenzo Marquez which is the ocean entrance to the Dutch Republics.

As to the former. there can be no doubt that the sympathy of the Hollanders is with the Boers—and naturally so, for the two nations are bound together by ties of blood and lineage. It is true, the Dutch government has observed the letter of neutrality; and the Dutch minister at London has been instructed to disavow the rather indiscreet letter of sympathy written by the President of the First Chamber of the State General to Mr. Kruger. But, notwithstanding this official, the heart of Holland is with the Boers in their struggle against Great Britain. As to the letter, Great Britain has felt the need of the Portuguese coast of Africa, in order to reach the Transvaal by sea, while Portugal has, apparently, been quite willing to stretch neutrality somewhat to allow Great Britain military transportation across her territory. And so the necessities of war bring about strange transformation. Apart from present exigencies, there is no doubt that the sentiments of the British people are with Holland rather with Portugal; for the two nations have stood more than once side by side in defence of the liberties of Europe. It is but a few years ago, moreover, that Britain and Portugal were on the verge of war. As a result of a war between the two little powers, the chances of success are with Holland. She has the larger army, greater population, and the greater national vigor. Both have colonies of importance; Holland especially having in the East Indies possessions of incalculable value. But what changes the whirling of the years bring about. For time was when the King of Portugal ruled the Brazil and disputed with Spain the sovereignty of the world. And time was also, when the heavy Dutch merchantmen scoured the British coasts and sailed up the Thames with a broom at their mast head in token that they would sweep the English warships from the ocean.

A NEW ELECTRIC ROAD.

Proposal to Construct a Line from Cobourg to Campbellford

Mr. R. M. Barbour, of Toledo, the gentleman of electric railroad fame, is now negotiating for the charter of the old Cobourg, Northumberland & Pacific Railroad. He has written to Reeve Smith, Campbellford, stating there is some indication that possibly this may be consummated, in the event of which it would divert the line from Brighton to Cobourg, and run from Campbellford to Havelock, the route of the C. N. & P. having been mapped out for Springbrook, at which point connection would easily be made with the C. P. R. Mr. Barbour says he is waiting to hear from England before deciding the matter.

Very soon Mr. Barbour will ask that a by-law be submitted to the people of Campbellford for a snug little gift of $10,000, and another by-law to the ratepayers of Seymour township for $5,000. If he succeeds in getting these with other bonuses, there may be something done towards the construction of the road. Further developments of this enterprise will be brought to light as they proceed.

THE BROCK STREET BUNGLE.

The Resolution Ordering the Sidewalk to be Built.

A correspondent asks the Times to state who is responsible for the construction of the board walk on Brock street, opposite the old Post Office. We publish the resolution passed by the Town Council, which tells the story:

Moved by Ald. Roger, seconded by Ald. Dawson,—That the engineer be instructed to raise the granolith sidewalks north and east from the corner of George and Brock streets to their original level, and that in the event of it being found impracticable to raise same this present season, that a wooden sidewalk be laid down for the winter at the level of the old sidewalk, and to be replaced as soon as possible by the granolithic structure, and that the town solicitor be instructed to prepare a by-law for this purpose.—Carried.

It ois only fair to Mayor Kendry, Ald. Roger and Ald. Dawson to state that they are not responsible for this and similar jobs of the kind, as the work was done by last year's Council, under the direction of the Town Engineer.

101 Years Ago.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Gen. George Washington, first President of the United States, after a long service in behalf of the nation which he freed from the dominance of Great Britain, died one hundred and one years ago to-day, on the 14th of December, 1799. Appropriate services were held at Mount Vernon, where his body lies buried.

Every Movement Hurts

When you have rheumatism. Muscles feel stiff and sore and joints are painful. It does not pay to suffer long from this disease when it may be cured so promptly and perfectly by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine goes right to the spot, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, which causes rheumatism, and puts an end to the pain and stiffness.

Biliousness is cured by Hood's Pills 25c.

THE LIGHT OF THE WORLD or OUR SAVIOUR IN ART.

Cost nearly $100,000 to produce. Contains nearly 100 full-page engravings of our Saviour and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Contains description of the paintings, biography of the painters, the names and locations of the galleries in Europe where the original may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book, matchless in its purity and beauty, appeals to every mother's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $2,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Beckett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. Write for terms quickly and get the management of that territory. You can work on salary or commission, and when you prove your success we will promote you to the position of Manager and correspondent, at a permanent salary, to devote your time to attending to agents and the correspondence. A Woman's Eyes

Will tell her love, though every other feature be hidden under the oriental Yashmak. A woman's eyes are equally eloquent as to her health. She can teach her lips to laugh in spite of pain, but the eyes will never be partner in that deceit. Deep hollows, dark circles, wrinkles at the corners, tell the story of pain and sleeplessness. Much of the nervousness, sleeplessness and suffering in general, endured by women, is caused by a diseased condition of the womanly organs. When that diseased condition is cured there are no more hollow, dark ringed eyes. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity, inflammation, ulceration, and female weakness, stops enfeebling drains, strengthens the nervous system and gives to the mother health for her duties, and happiness in their performance.

"My niece was troubled with female weakness for about four years before I asked for your advice," writes Mr. J. W. McGregor, of 62d St. and Princeton Ave., Chicago, Ills. "You advised her to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which she did faithfully for nine months, and now we must acknowledge to you that she is a well woman. We cannot thank you enough for the cure. We have recommended your medicine to all our friends, and believe it to be a wonderful discovery."

DOES IT NOT PAY TO GO TO The Best.

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the

CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.

and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 16x22, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave sons and boys speak with an irresistible charm of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are BAD BOY SELLERS. Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 63 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (money free); four for 50 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

DEATH BY HANGING.

It is the Most Exaggerated of All Modes of Execution.

"I have made the subject of death by hanging a long study," said Dr. D. S. Lamb, an ex-surgeon of the United States army. "From my observations during my experience in the army, I feel justified in saying that death by hanging is the most exaggerated of all modes. It may be immediate and without symptoms, but the subject must pass through three stages before death.

"In the first stage the victim passes into a partial stupor lasting from thirty seconds to two minutes, but this is generally governed by the length of the drop, the weight of the body, and the tightness of the construction. There is absolutely no pain in this stage; the feeling is rather one of pleasure. The subjective symptoms described are intense heat in the head, brilliant flashes of light in the eyes, deafening sounds in the ears, and a heavy, numb feeling in the lungs. In the second stage, the subject passes into unconsciousness, and convulsions usually occur. In the third state all is quiet except the beating of the heart. Just before death the agitation is renewed, but in a different way from that in the second state. The feet are raised, the tongue has a peculiar spasm, the chest heaves the eyes protrude, from the orbits and oscillate from side to side, and the pupils dilate. The pulse can, in most cases, be felt ten minutes after the drop.

"I once knew a man who was desirous of ascertaining if there was any suffering by hanging, and in order to find out he placed a rope around his neck and stepped off a bench, intending to step back again, but he became immediately unconscious, and would have died in a few minutes had it not been for the timely arrival of a friend. He said he experienced all the feelings that I mentioned in the first stage."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Thereupon There Was More Light.

"I was sexton of Grace church when the Rev. Mr. —— was rector there. It was a summer night and rather warm, so when the rector commenced his sermon I turned down the gas in the body of the church to make it a little cooler

"The text that night was, if I remember it, 'Let there be light.' I was sitting in the rear part of the church, not paying particularly close attention to the sermon, nor, in fact, to anything else. Suddenly the rector exclaimed loudly:

"'More light; More light!'

"I jumped for the stop-cock in the gas supply pipe and turned on the gas full head all over the church. Well, sir, you ought to have seen those people! Some of them laughed right out, and those that didn't had hard work not to. I found out afterward that when the rector said 'More light!' he was not giving directions to me but quoting the dying words of Goethe."—[illegible]

Advertising by Horses.

When you see a delivery wagon drawn by a fine, strapping well kept pair of horses, don't conclude that the owner is necessarily a humane man. He may be, and he may be merely a shrewd advertiser. Horses are extensively used in New York for advertising purposes. Many a house charges up a 'pair of handsome horses' to advertising." Firms have found that money spent in this way is well invested. Fine harness adds much to the appearance. Almost any kind of a delivery wagon will pass muster under these circumstances.

Women especially admire horse flesh. They like to buy groceries or dry goods from a house that sends around their parcels drawn by a fat, sleek horse.

What "Wife" Means.

Says Ruskin: 'What do you think the beautiful word 'wife' comes from? It is the great word in which the English and Latin languages conquered the French and Greek. I hope the French will some day get a word for it instead of that femme. But what do you think it comes from? The great value of the Saxon words is that they mean something. Wife means 'weaver.' You must be either housewives or housemoths—remember that. In the deep sense, you must either weave men's fortunes and embroider them or feed upon and bring them to decay. Wherever a true wife comes home is always around her. The stars may be over her head the glow worm in the night's cold grass may be the fire at her feet, but home is where she is; and for a noble woman it stretches far around her, better than house ceiled with cedar, or painted with vermilion—shedding its quiet light for those who else are homeless. This, I believe, is the woman's true place and power."

A WONDERFUL KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY, And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nervous system are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 405 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

his Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1500 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2.500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

The New System

Powley's Liquified Ozone kills the Germs of Disease

It Cures Catarrh

It has only been in this century that the great value of Powley's Liquified Ozone, as a germ killer, was recognized by the men of science of the world. It was noticed that every kind of disease was benefited when the patient went to live in mountainous districts. It was later discovered that in the rarer air of high localities there was a great amount of ozone. Now Ozone kills the germs of disease, and this accounts for the health giving properties of the air.

Powley was able to liquify ozone and adapt it for medicinal purposes. Already Powley's Liquified Ozone has made remarkable cures. Read what Mr. McLeod says: "I send you this brief account of my experience with your Ozone remedy. I have been troubled with catarrh, as I have told you, for over forty years. I have been treated by some of the best doctors in the city, and have taken loads of the so-called catarrh remedies, but all times proved a total failure. Over a year ago I was induced to give Ozone a trial and to-day I feel glad and rejoice in being cured of an obstinate attack of Catarrh. My eyesight is much better. My hearing is immensely improved and my lame back, i.e., Lumbago, is all gone. Two years ago I was a physical wreck. To-day I am rugged and healthy. And to you and the Ozone, I am indebted for these blessings. May God bless you in the good work, is the prayer of your much indebted humble servant."

Signed, ALEX McLEOD,
158 Elizabeth st., Toronto

Powley's Liquified Ozone is $1.00 a large bottle, 50c. small size. All druggists, or from the laboratories of the Ozone Co., of Toronto, Limited, 48 Colborne street, Toronto.

WALKED OUT

On Food, After Being Given Up.

Lack of knowledge regarding the kind of food to give to people, particularly invalids, frequently causes much distress, whereas when one known exactly the kind of food to give to quickly rebuild the brain and nerve centers, that knowledge can be made use of.

A young Chicago woman says ... "other instances of the wonderful qualities possessed by Grape-Nuts food are shown in my grandmother's and mother's cases. Grandmother's entire left side became totally paralyzed, from a ruptured capillary of the brain. The doctor said it would be impossible for her to live a week. She could not take ordinary food and we put her on Grape-Nuts, in an effort to do all for her we could.

"To the astonishment of the doctor and the delight of all of us, she slowly rallied and recovered. It was pronounced the first case of the kind on record. The doctor said nothing could have produced this result but food.

"We had been led to use Grape-Nuts because of the effect on mother. She has been troubled with a weak stomach all her life, and the last few years been gradually losing weight and strength. She had tried everything, almost, that has been recommended by good authority, and until she used Grape-Nuts food nothing seemed to do her any good. Since taking up Grape-Nuts she has been constantly improving until now she is free from any of the stomach troubles, and is strong and well. Please do not publish my name. ANNUAL MEETING OF BANK OF OTTAWA which have occurred in the past, and for which in some cases those responsible are now suffering the penalties prescribed in the bank act.

Another function which has been imposed by the government on the association is the appointment of a curator in the case of a suspended bank. It must not be supposed by this that the control of the suspended institution is to be removed altogether from the creditors and shareholders, but as the banks are now so largely interested in each other, and the members of the association are likely to know the suitable man for such an appointment, it will, I think, be admitted that the interests of all concerned are likely to be wisely conserved in the hands of a curator, so appointed. The whole legislation will be found to be in the direction of strengthening our banking and currency system, and is, I consider, a distinct advance.

He then gave some particulars as to the working of the pension fund, after which it was moved by the president, and seconded by the vice-president:—

"That the report of the directors and statement now read be adopted and printed for the information of the shareholders." Carried.

Mr. J. G. Whyte said that the shareholders had surely great reason to be satisfied with the result of the business of the past year. No fault could be found at any time so far as he could see with the management, and it was with much pleasure that he moved the following vote of thanks:—

Moved by Mr. J. G. Whyte, seconded by Mr. John Manuel:—

"That the thanks of the shareholders are due and are hereby tendered to the president, vice-president and directors, for their careful attention to the interests of the bank during the past year."

Mr. Hay, in thanking the shareholders for their vote of thanks, remarked that Mr Whyte had truly said that the supervision and management of such a business requires much care and is necessarily accompanied with a certain amount of anxiety.

The welfare of the bank is a matter of intense personal interest to each member of the board and it is a subject of much congratulation that the bank has been so successful. "There is a Divinity which shapes our ends," and let us hope that there will be a continuance of the same care which has characterized and helped our endeavors in the past.

Mr. Hay then thanked the shareholders for the resolution, after which the Rev. Thomas Garrett, in moving the following resolution, said: I have always made my own observations of the nature of the country in which we live and having had good opportunities of observing the officials of the Bank of Ottawa and the successful manner in which they treat the public, their fairness of dealing has riveted the confidence of all people who wish to deal fairly and uprightly. The shareholders are all aware of the satisfactory way in which they have been served and we can all say that we have an efficient staff who are thoroughly alive to the wants of the country, and as far as my knowledge is concerned the best men have been selected for posts of responsibility in the bank. I am very glad, therefore, to have the opportunity, now afforded me, of proposing the motion.

Mr. W. S. O'Dell in seconding the motion said that from personal observation extending over a long period of years, he was prepared to corroborate the statement that the staff of the bank as a whole were courteous and efficient.

The following motion was then carried:—

Moved by Rev. Thomas Garrett, seconded by W. S. O'Dell:—

"That the thanks of the shareholders be tendered to the general manager and other officers of the bank for the efficient manner in which they have performed their respective duties."

Moved by Mr. John Mather, seconded by Mr. Alexander Fraser.—

"That the directors are hereby authorized to set aside annually from the earnings of the bank such contribution as they may think proper for the pension fund, which they were authorized to establish at the annual meeting held on the 12th of December, 1894."

Moved by Sheriff Sweetland, seconded by Mr. Colin Rankin:—

"That the ballot box be now opened and remain open until five o'clock for the election of seven directors for the ensuing year, and that Messrs. Edmund Scholfield and James F. Cunningham be appointed scrutineers, the poll to be closed whenever five minutes shall have elapsed without a vote being tendered."

The scrutineers presented the following report:—

Ottawa, December 12th, 1900.

To George Burn, Esq.,
General Manager.

Sir,—We, the undersigned scrutineers, appointed at the general meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Ottawa, held this day, hereby declare the following gentlemen duly elected directors for the ensuing year: Hon. Geo. Bryson, jr. Alexander Fraser, Esq. Geo. Hay, Esq., Charles Magee Esq. John Mather, Esq., David Maclaren, Esq., Denis Murphy. Esq.

EDMUND SCHOLFIELD.
JAS. F. CUNNINGHAM
Scrutineers.

At a meeting of the newly elected board, held subsequently, Mr. Charles Magee was re-elected president, and Mr. Geo. Hay, vice-president, for the ensuing year.

"My Kidneys are all Wrong! How shall I insure best results in the shortest time?" It stands to reason that a liquid specific of the unquestionable merit of South American Kidney Cure will go more directly and quickly to the seat of the trouble than the "pill form" treatment, and when it strikes the spot there's healing in an instant.—78

Just so evil in the blood comes out in shape of scrofula, pimples, etc., in children and young people. Taken in time it can be eradicated by using Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the blood, the impure blood, friends, which is the real cause. Purify that with Hood's Sarsaparilla and happiness will reign in your family.

Blood Poison—"I lived in a bed of fire for years owing to blood poisoning that followed small pox. It broke out all over my body, itching intensely. Tried doctors and hospitals in vain. THE TOWN HAS A SURPLUS OF $23.18

As Shown by the Financial Statement Submitted to Council Saturdry Night.

CANADIAN GENERAL'S ASSESSMENT DISCUSSED

Congratulatory Speeches by the Mayor and Aldermen—John McNaughton Kicks Against the Present System of Collecting Taxes Overdue.

At the statutory meeting of our Civic Fathers Saturday night the financial statement of the year's business, carefully prepared by Town Treasurer Brownscombe, and submitted by Ald. Harry Denne, Chairman of Finance, and candidate for the Mayor's chair, showed a surplus of $23.18. Ald. Denne remarked that this makes the fourth year he has had the honor of presenting the town's financial sheets, and he felt much gratification in the surplus, small as it was. In the past year considerable unanticipated expenditure had to be provided for, as, for instance, the damage done to Charlotte and Simcoe street bridges by the spring freshets, necessitating an unlooked for outlay of $1,000, and two or three hundred dollars spent on our volunteer soldiers for South Africa. Had the town been saved these two unexpected items of expenditure, its balance sheet would have shown a surplus of $1,300 or $1,400, instead of only $23.18.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Mayor Kendrey expressed his satisfaction with the statement as submitted, and said that as this would probably be the last night in the chair he would avail himself of the opportunity to thank one and all of the Aldermen for their courtesy extended him on all occasions, and to congratulate them for the promptness and business like manner in which they had conducted the town's affairs. He felt convinced that a careful audit of the Council's business will prove it to have been as good a civic board as any of previous years. He will always remember with pleasure the perfect harmony in which this Council has worked, each and every member at all times consulting the best interests of the town to the best of his ability. In conclusion, Mayor Kendrey thanked the press for the fairness and correctness of its reports, and resumed his seat amid applause.

Ald. Denne expressed his thanks for the courtesy and considerate manner in which Mayor Kendrey had at all times treated himself and his colleagues. During his (Ald. Denne's) six years' membership of the Council he could not name one year in which the town's business had been conducted with less wrangling, less disputes, and a smaller number of meetings.

Ald. Dawson concurred with the previous speaker's remarks, and said that although the Council's labors had not met with the approval of a certain section of citizens he, during his 14 years' experience as Alderman, could not remember one year in which the town's affairs had been more satisfactorily attended to. He did not think a five cent piece had been squandered, and in the matter of securing new industries this Council had been always on the alert for a favorable opportunity of doing so. They had passed a by-law favorable to the Canadian General in consideration of an extension of their business here, and had quickly responded to the wishes of the American Cereal Co. So far as the Cement Works are concerned, they were never looking for a location in Peterborough, but at Lakefield, where material suitable for the manufacture of their cement was at hand. No inducements could have secured that industry for Peterborough.

Ald. Roger, Chairman of the Board of Works, endorsed the above remarks, and thought that whatever the merits and demerits of this Council may be, its work had always been characterized by peace and quietness. Then it was satisfactory to know that a balance was on hand on the right side; particularly so when our streets called for an unusual expenditure this year, on account of having been of late somewhat neglected in favor of granolithic walks. Notwithstanding this, however, this year's appropriation for streets has been less than that of any Council during the past twenty years, and we had in addition to pay out of it $1,000 on last year's account. Our total expenditure so far for 1900 is $40,000 less than that of 1899 on the whole, and $1,000 less on streets, and not a single unpaid account will be left for their successors to settle.

GENERAL BUSINESS

The Canadian General Electric Co.'s Assessment Again in Discussion.

Council convened at nine o'clock, when there were present Mayor Kendrey and Aldermen Denne, Corkery, Dawson, Roger, Robertson and Sawers.

HOW TO VOTE.

In response to enquiry as to whether it would be legal to separate the ballot papers for Mayor from those for Aldermen a communication was received from the Attorney General's Department, Toronto, stating that in the forthcoming elections the names of candidates for Mayor and Alderman must be printed on the same ballot papers. The communication also advised Council that to prevent the danger of people repeating their votes for the Mayor, the Deputy Returning Officers should inform the voters that they are only entitled to vote once in all for Mayor.

EXEMPTION OF TAXES.

A request from the Y. W. C. A. for remission of taxes was referred to the Court of Revision.

H. H. Hillier's request for remission of half his taxes was also referred to the Court of Revision.

ELECTRIC CO.'S ASSESSMENT.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall, representing the Canadian General Electric Co., addressed Council and asked that the town Solicitor be instructed to be present at the aforesaid company's appeal against their assessment before Judge Weller, authorized to consent to assessment being reduced to $100,000 as originally agreed upon.

Mayor Kendrey thought the town under an obligation to carry out its agreement with the company to the letter, assessing for school rates on the sum of $100,000 only, and not on the full value of company's property as provided by the clause inserted in town's by-law by the Provincial Legislature.

Ald. Robertson moved, seconded by Ald. Dawson,—That in order to carry out the town's agreement with the C.G.E. Co., the Town Solicitor be authorized to appear before the County Judge and agree to said assessment being reduced to $100,000.

Ald. Roger took exception to above resolution on the grounds that the Court of Revision's decision in the matter is either legal or illegal, which question the County Judge will be now asked to decide. The Provincial Legislature, he said, demands that we assess for school rate on the full value of the Company's property, and much as I would like to abide by our original agreement, I think it dangerous to infringe the by-law as amended in Toronto. Then we should be establishing an undesirable precedent, which would unsettle the whole of our assessments on Peterborough's manufacturing industries, all of which will be seeking like privileges. Ald. Rogers here wished to correct a speech made by Mr. Poussette at a recent public meeting. That gentleman, he claimed, had, in company with Mr. E. H. D. Hall, represented the C. G. E. Co. at an appeal made to the Court of Revision in this matter, and when he (Ald. Roger) informed Mr. Poussette next morning of the Court's decision to assess on $125,000, he (Mr. Poussette) thought it a very satisfactory decision, and expressed his surprise at the stand taken by the company in question. Now, this legal gentleman's remarks to him and his speech referred to are not at all consistent.

Ald. Sawers concurred with Ald. Roger, and said he could not conscientiously support the resolution. This is, besides, he argued, a very small Council to-night.

Ald. Dawson—"And a very weak-kneed Council, too." (Laughter).

Mayor Kendrey reiterated his former remarks and said he felt bound as Mayor of the town to express himself in favor of carrying out the provisions of the by-law, so far as can legally be done. Still he thought that jealousy of Peterborough in a great many towns had led to the insertion in the town's by-law of the ambiguous clause in question. He eulogized the C.G.E. Co. as an institution of great benefit to the town.

Ald. Denne expressed himself in favor of the resolution and remarked that as the Canadian General had not only filled the agreement, but had erected additional buildings, he feels that if there is any possible way to meet the company, Council should do so.

Ald. Robertson feared that should Peterborough play fast and loose with its manufacturing concerns, it will share the fate of St. Thomas, which by such action lost most of its industries.

Ald. Dawson said he seconded the resolution for two reasons: first, because Council would have carried out their agreement had by-law passed the Legislature, and secondly because so many citizens were buttonholing him on the streets and urging a satisfactory agreement with the Canadian General.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall, here corrected Ald Roger and explained that Mr. Poussette did not appear at the Court of Revision in the interests of the C. G. E. Co., but was present on another appeal. The correction was gracefully accepted.

Ald Roger suggested that the words "whether legal or not" be added to the resolution.

Ald Denne here remarked that in most towns the Council and representatives of manufacturing concerns meet in a friendly spirit and decide on such easement arrangements as are beneficial alike to the municipality and its industries.

A Voter writes: I send four ballots in favor of Mr. J. B. McWilliams for Mayor. He is of all men the one best qualified to manage the town's affairs.

D. F. E. writes: I want to see a complete change in the management of the town's affairs. Let the ratepayers pick out a good Council from the names published in the Times, and pledge them to do away with the present system of managing our streets. I enclose ballots in favor of Harry Winch for Mayor. He is the right man for the position.

"Banker" writes: I enclose 10 ballots for Mr. McHarrie first choice for Mayor, and Mr. W. D. Parker as second choice. I think, Mr. Editor, that as the banks provide the spondulicks to run the various industries and businesses of the town, Mr. McHarrie or Mr. Parker should sit in the Mayor's chair. With either gentleman presiding over the destinies of the town, there would be peace and plenty. No man need worry about how to pay his taxes, as he would only have to go to the Mayor for help. The ladies of the town would be delighted, for both gentlemen are favorites with the fair sex. There would be no snow shovelling by the poor widow, or would the gentle sex be obliged to keep off the sidewalks when wheeling. Hurrah for McHarrie and Parker!

A Writer says: I want to see Mr. Dennistoun in the Mayor's chair. He would make an ideal civic head.

HOW TO VOTE.

Our readers are again reminded that they can vote as often as they like. All that is necessary is to cut out the coupon which is printed every day in the Times, fill it in with the names of the citizens you think should sit around the Council board, sign and send it to the Times office.

The ballot is a perfectly secret one. Everybody can vote—from the youngest to the oldest, men, women and children.

Going to Montreal.

Mr. Hazen Ritchie, Electrical Engineer at the Canadian General Electric Works, has been transferred from town to the newly acquired Royal Electric Works branch at Montreal. This news will be received with regret in town, as Mr. Ritchie has become very popular during his residence in Peterborough and possesses a host of friends who will learn with regret of his intended departure. It is understood that he leaves at once to assume his new duties. Besides being greatly interested in the work of the Engineering Club, Mr. Ritchie was a captain in the 57th Regiment and an office holder in the Golf Club. He will take the position of General Superintendent at the Royal.

KNOX CAPTURES A GUN FROM DE WET

Report that Four Companies of the Northumberlands are Missing.

London, Dec. 16—The following despatch has been received by the War Office from Lord Kitchener,—"Pretoria, Dec. 15—Five officers and 316 men, Magaliesberg prisoners, have been released. The Boers surrounded and captured 120 of Brabant's horse in a defile in the Zeastron district. Col. Blomfield, moving on Vryheid, defeated the Boers with heavy loss, driving them from Schoeper's Nek and capturing a quantity of arms. The Schaeper's Nek movement occurred December 13."

"The Boers who attacked Vryheid Dec. 10 lost 100 killed and wounded before they retired. The fighting lasted all day, the enemy drawing off at 7.30 p.m. The British loss was six killed, 19 wounded and 30 missing. Our casualties include two officers who died of their wounds."

KRUGER NOT DECIDED.

The Hague, Dec. 16—In reply to a despatch from Grand Rapids, Mich., inviting him to the United States, Mr. Kruger has wired that he had not arrived at any decision with regard to visiting America.

London Dec. 15.—Lord Kitchener reports that 18 officers and 553 men are missing from General Clements' force. They consist of four companies of the Northumberland Fusiliers. Judging from the message, they were captured by the Boers. Clement's casualties December 13th amounted to 5 officers and nine men killed and many apparently wounded.

Lord Kitchener's message to the War Office is as follows:

Pretoria, Dec. 14.—Clements brought in his force to Commando Nek unopposed. The casualties were, I regret to say, heavy.

Killed—Five officers and nine of other ranks.

Missing—Eighteen officer sand five hundred and fifty-five of other ranks.

These latter were four companies of the Northumberland Fusiliers, who were stationed on the hill, and some Yeomanry and other details sent up to support them. Names and nature of wounds are being telegraphed from Cape Town.

Broadwood's Brigade took no part in the engagement. The Boers suffered severely. Knox drove De Wet north to the Thabanchu-Ladybrand line, which was held by our troops. De Wet's force, about 3,000 strong, made several attempts to get through during the day, assisted by a force of Boers operating from the north. These attacks were driven back, though some of the Boers from the south were able to get through the line.

Wiring later, December 14th, Lord Kitchener reports that while passing the lines in the neighborhood of Thabanchu, De Wet's force lost considerably, the South African Light Horse and Thorneycroft's Mounted Infantry captured a 15-pounder, taken at De Wetsdorp, a pompom, several wagons, with ammunition, twenty-two prisoners, and some horses and mules. A portion of the enemy has not been able to pass north.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO END THE WAR

British Government Promises to Cordially Co-operate With General Kitchener.

London, Dec. 15.—Parliament was dismissed to-day until the middle of February, with the reading of the shortest of the Queen's speeches. It was as follows:

"My Lords and Gentlemen: I thank you for the liberal provision you have made for the expenses incurred by the operations of my armies in South Africa and China."

The proceedings to-day in the House of Commons were a repetition in miniature of the debates of the brief session. The Ministers were heckled, the war was denounced, and Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was further attacked. But the war funds were finally voted, after the Secretary of States for War, Mr. William St John Brodrick, had given an assurance that the Government during recess would cordially cooperate with General Kitchener in an endeavor to end the war.

Particularly stinging were the remarks of Mr. John Bryn-Roberts, Liberal. He declared that the British treatment of the women of South Africa was an outrage on civilization, and that it was blasphemy to hold Christian services in St. Paul's in connection with the return of Lord Roberts while there were such proceedings in South Africa.

Mr. Brodrick hotly denounced Mr. Bryn-Roberts' charges, asserting that it was criminal to make allegations which could not be proved, but which, however, would be telegraphed to South Africa to increase the discontent existing there. He held up Mr. Bryn-Roberts to the censure and reprobation of nearly every member of the House of Commons. These remarks were greeted with cheers.

Mr. Brodrick then repeated the Government did not desire to pursue a policy which would make it more difficult for the Boers to cease fighting, and that the Government abided by the declarations of Mr. Chamberlain.

The session was suspended until two o'clock in the afternoon, when both Houses met and were prorogued.

A Curlers' Rink.

The proposal to turn the old Bridge Works into a skating rink should enable the curling clubs to utilize the present rink for curling along. By the removal of the barrier dividing the rinks on the inside, so that curlers would be more together, there would be a decided boom in the noble game. We hope the proposed new skating rink will become a reality.

MORE DELAY.

Pekin, Dec. 16—Definite instructions have been received by Sir Ernest Mason Satow, the British Minister, and he now demands a modification of a point in the joint note which the foreign envoys generally regard as important. This means further delay, as all the Ministers must communicate anew with their respective Governments. Just what is the nature of the objection raised by Great Britain the Ministers decline to say, but they admit that the new demand will involve a good deal more diplomatic procedure.

Pekin, Dec. 16—A force under Col. Tulloch encountered a force of Boxers yesterday in the village of Kaoiying. The village was barricaded and the officials were insolent.

A boxer encampment was discovered at Tiehchaying, five miles distant. The fortress was attacked and captured after a sharp engagement, in which forty Chinese were killed. There were no British casualties. The country is reported to be in a general state of anarchy, necessitating the scheme of frequent pacifying expeditions which was drawn up by Count Von Waldersee allotting spheres to the various nationalities, and which was unanimously accepted.

ANNIE LAURIE'S BIRTHDAY.

London, Dec. 15.—Annie Laurie's grave in the glen of Glencairn, five miles from Maxwelton, has lately been given a tombstone, on which is engraved the date of her birth on December 16, 1682. Her name has had so much of romance given it in song and story that many believe sweet Annie Laurie herself was a figment of the poet's imagination, but she was the daughter of Sir Robert Laurie and was born in Maxwelton House, which stands on the "braes" immortalized in the song. Her lover and the author of the original song was young Douglas of Finland, but whether he, as is common with lovers of poetic temperament, did not press his suit sufficiently, or whether she wished a stabler husband, she gave her hand to a prosaic country laird, her cousin, Mr. Alexander Ferguson.

DINGMAN'S DAY IN TRANSVAAL.

New York, Dec. 15.—This is the most important holiday in the calendar of the Transvaal Boers, and is celebrated throughout the South African Republic as "Dingman's Day." Over fifty years ago the Great Trek of the Boers from the Cape Colony Government took place. Few besides Oom Paul, who took part in that exalted movement of an entire people, still survive. Kruger was then a boy of ten years, and followed his father's herds as they were driven across the veldt northward. The leaders of the Boers thought it well to propitiate the Zulu king, Dingman, by endeavoring to obtain from him a grant of land. He pretended to be friendly, but at his signal they were massacred by his followers. The Boer immigrants roused to revenge fought a terrible battle with the Zulus, and though a mere handful vanquished the Zulu army. The Zulus felt so disgraced by the defeat that they drove Dingman out of the country. On Dingman's Day, 1880, the Boers were called to arms and the South African Republic was re-established.

NEARLY 100 YEARS.

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 15.—Joseph Dupuis, 93 years old, died at his home in this city early this morning of general debility resulting from his advanced age. Mr. Dupuis had several titles to distinction. He was only 4 feet 4 inches high, weighed but 100 pounds, and claimed to be the smallest French Canadian in the world. He was married three times and he left eight children, all of ordinary size, including a daughter who weighs over 200 pounds. His father was of average height, but his mother was a dwarf.

Mr. Dupuis was born in Montreal, Dec. 15, 1807. He was a horse jockey in his younger days and amassed a good-sized fortune, which enabled him to pass the remainder of his days in comfort. In 1853 he settled on a farm in Kankakee County, subsequently removing to Kankakee.

Mr. Dupuis married his first wife in Canada. She died in 1880, and he remarried soon after. His second wife died four years ago, and a year afterwards he married again.

Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A christian man or woman can in the community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. Fatherless.

There's something about the little black dress that touches a man in a very tender spot. He pats the little one on the head, puts some pennies in her hand, swallows hard and then—starts out to make his own children fatherless. There is no doubt that many a man is taken from his family by neglect of simple precautions which would preserve his health. Disease generally begins nowadays in "stomach trouble" because the meals are hasty and the food not digested. From that beginning come disorders of the blood, liver, kidneys, heart or nerves. The use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for diseases of the organs of digestion and nutrition will avert the catastrophe of more serious disease. It strengthens the stomach, purifies the blood, nourishes the nerves, and builds men up in both brain and body.

"I can say to you, one bottle of your 'Golden Medical Discovery' has cured me sound and well, after suffering two long years with stomach disease," writes W. H. Braswell, of McAdenville, Gaston Co., N. C. "My health is worth all the world to me. I will praise you as long as I live."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets should be used with "Discovery" where a laxative is required.

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the
CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.
and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.
Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg
The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 22x18, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army, these are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS. Agents coin money by profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 60 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts mono free; four for 60 cts; $1.25 per dozen; 25 for $2.25; 50 for $4.00; 100 for $12.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money. REPARTEE ON DRESS PARADE

An Incident of One of the English Reviews at Aldershot.

During some manouevres at Aldershot to gain practice in the vedette system of employing cavalry to watch and report the movements of an enemy the mounted troops employed on the occasion were extended at intervals in a long line reaching some miles.

The major at one end of the line had occasion to send a message to the captain, who was at the opposite end:

"The enemy are in force in front."

The signal was passed along the line all right till it came to a man stationed about midway, who thought fit to add a private message of his own, intended for the benefit of his neighbor:

"Have you a chaw of tobacco?"

Unluckily, his comrade thought these words were part of the signal message, and they were passed from man to man until they reached the captain.

The latter was somewhat astonished at this request, but sent back this answer:

"I don't use tobacco, but there are two cigars."

The major found the cigars welcome, and as he lighted one, sent back the answer: "Who said you did?"

M. Faure's Irreverence.

Here is a laughable and true little anecdote about President Faure's historic visit to St. Petersburg. It seems that the Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul at St. Petersburg has a remarkable repeating echo, which is nowhere so pronounced as in the passages leading to the subterranean crypt where the famous collection of holy relics is stored. Moreover, as might be expected, the approaches to the crypt are somewhat drafty. Just at the moment when in solemn silence the group of ecclesiastical and other dignitaries in attendance on the president and czar were ushering their illustrious visitors into the hallowed vaults, M. Faure's voice was heard in the half darkness to this effect: "Moillard!"

Immediately and as if by enchantment, innumerable other eerie voices resounded and re-echoed the word on all sides.

"Moillard! Moillard! Mo-oil-a-rd!"

M. Moillard is a diplomatist of parts, but it was distinctly uncanny to hear his homely name thundering away thus in the obscurity of the crypt. The Russian clergy present were scandalized, the laymen were astounded.

But the astonishment became more intense when the president's voice droned out once more:

"My hat!"

And once more the noisy echoes took up the words and bandied them to and fro among the gloomy arches: "My hat! My hat! My ha-at!"

M. Moillard brought the president's hat. And M. Faure immediately and unconsciously did the cause of the third republic much mischief by putting it on while he made his obeisance to the sacred relics of the imperial church of Russia.

The Deception of Sight.

"I'm through trying to prevent crime," exclaimed Brown.

"What's up now?" asked Cumpstead, wiping his fingers on the towel that swung from the counter.

"Well, it was this way," his friend went on. "You see, I went over to the Lyceum theatre the other evening—George Nicolai's a friend of mine, you know—and after the first act I strolled out into the confectionery next door for a package of cigarettes.

"There was a girl waiting on the crowd there. I bought a large package of the brand I smoke and handed the young lady in payment ten cents. She rang up five on the register. 'Ah, ha,' I said to myself, 'knocking down, I see.' Then a man came along and bought three glasses of ginger ale for himself and two friends. He gave the girl fifteen cents. She rang up another nickel. Then a fellow bought a quarter's worth of cigars and she rang up five dollars. Light began to dawn upon me. I understood. 'That girl,' I thought, 'knocks down a while, then rings up a big amount to sorter square her stealings.' I watched her a few moments longer. I saw her ring up three nickels on three purchases of a dime each, and then I made up my mind to tip her off to George. I couldn't see my friend Nicolai done like that, you know. So I went and told him. He listened till I had finished, and then what do you suppose happened?"

"I don't know," replied Cumpstead, "what did?"

"He laughed a loud, hoarse, winter weather laugh and told me the register was busted and had been for three weeks, and that nickels and five dollars were all that it would ring. And I've been buying things for Lyceum employes ever since."

This is what you must do when you have catarrh in the head. The way to cure this disease is to purify the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. Confession of Crime By Hypnotism

Public interest has been aroused recently on this question by the extortion of a confession from a thief by means of hypnotism.

A confession of crime obtained in this way may or may not be a valid one. It is not necessarily infallible any more than a voluntary confession would be. It would have to be verified by other evidence before it could be seriously considered.

Hypnotism will not make a liar instantaneously veracious. It is a very common opinion that a hypnotist can completely capture the mind of his patient without his consent, and discover all the secrets of his past life.

Hypnotism only gives us a means whereby we can the more readily get at the divine man within. It is not so much a key to the door of a man's mind as a more effectual way of ringing the door-bell and conversing with the occupant.

Generally speaking, a strong-willed man may still keep his criminal secret in spite of all influences, hypnotic or otherwise. As a rule criminals are very hard to hypnotize, because they set their whole nature against the hypnotist, and when a man is under the influence of liquor it is impossible to do anything with him.

There is no doubt that hypnotism can and will be used to detect crime. But we are only on the threshold of knowledge in this direction, and no one can set limits to the future of hypnotism in overcoming the obstinacy of criminals. The time may come when the old, ineffectual methods of regenerating the moral nature will be superseded by hypnotic treatment. The astonishing results already attained prove this beyond question.

By hypnotism we can reach people who are moral imbeciles, and by no other power known to man can you do this.

We can discover the sense of right and wrong where none seemed to exist. We can overcome evil habits and awaken the higher self which never completely dies in any man or woman.

Where every other influence has failed to restore a man to moral sanity, hypnotism has succeeded. So I would say that if it fails to extract a confession from a criminal no other means can be used with success.

There is such a thing as compulsory hypnotism, which can be applied to any person without his consent. It is possible to shatter a human will as you might break a china vase against a rock. But this is a new and almost undeveloped field, about which little can be said at present.

Advising the Bachelors.

"Why do you not tell the bachelors how to choose wives?" asked one of them, after reading the professor's advice to the girls on the question of choosing husbands. This query is easily answered. In the first place, to label the girls who would make the best wives would be to give away state secrets. One may laugh at the follies and foibles of the sex, when, by pointing out the same, good may be done; but it would be unpardonable to give the man inside information about the sisterhood of such a grave character as that requested. A man contemplating marriage should be able to settle the question for himself. One who cannot distinguish the difference between the false and the true should remain a bachelor. Boys should not marry.

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

I. A. HOPKINS.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,

I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pain in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrance the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

The Slippery Walks

Yesterday an old lady slipped and fell on Water street, and had to be carried into a house until she recovered from the stun of the fall. There is a great deal of fault being found with the Council for the iniquitous snow by-law, which compels citizens to scrape the snow off the slippery granolithic walks. They are worse to walk on than ice.

A Popular Lecture

Rev. John A. Sinclair, M.A., late Missionary to the Yukon Territory, gave a very interesting lecture on his work in Skaguay. At the conclusion of the lecture many bore personal testimony to the value of the address of the evening. The story of the incidents was very fascinating, and the reference to Jeff Smith, the northern desperado, held the audience spellbound. On Saturday night Mr. Sinclair presented some very fine views of Dawson and Lake Bennet, at St. Andrew's hall.

The Y. W. C. A.

The Y.W.C.A. Sunshine Society will hold a concert next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Young Women's Christian Association rooms, 168 Brock street. A pleasing programme is provided, and at intermission a slight refreshment will be given. The motto of our society is "Good Cheer," and our song is "Scatter Sunshine." A collection will be taken at the door, and this will be spent solely in distributing good cheer and scattering sunshine throughout the holiday season. All are welcome. Come and encourage the young people in their work of love.

Worthy of Note

No better proof of the value of Powley's Liquified Ozone as an antiseptic and germ-destroying preparation can be given than the mortality statements of the last six months in the Dominion. In the centers where Powley's Liquified Ozone has a large sale, such diseases as consumption, Bright's disease of the kidneys, catarrh, scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid fever show a marked decrease in fatal cases. This preparation destroys disease germs by producing a healthy condition of the system in which they cannot live. Three prominent clergymen in the Methodist church in Canada, Rev. Dr. Chown, Rev. Dr. Parker and Rev. Dr. Fawcett, pronounce Powley's Liquified Ozone to be a marvellous preparation. Dr. Fawcett believes it to have saved his life.—From the Toronto Globe.

Great Year for the Miners

Pittsburg, Dec. 17—The auditing committee of the United Mine Workers finds that there are more than 30,000 miners in the Pittsburg district, and more than half of them are organized. This is an extraordinary increase over the previous year. This is ascribed to the hard work of the officials in presenting the advantages of the organization to the workmen in and about the mines. It is estimated that the organization has a paid-up membership of 250,000 members, and that the next national convention, to be held in Indianapolis January 21, will be the largest ever held. Should there be a delegate sent for every 100 members there would be 2,500 delegates, which would leave very little room for spectators. Pennsylvania will have a representation of 100,000 miners more at the national convention than ever before. The number of miners in the anthracite region is estimated at 125,000, of which about 100,000 are organized. Organizers are being sent into the West Virginia field, where the conditions are not as satisfactory as they might be.

Mr Kennedy's success

Mr. H. D. Kennedy, son of our esteemed fellow-townsman, Mr. Dawson Kennedy, is meeting with wonderful success in his evangelistic work in Harriston. Ont. The Globe, in an item from Harriston, says:—The church is thronged every night at the services held by Evangelists Whyte and Kennedy. The town and surrounding country is stirred. During the past two weeks over one hundred have been converted, and each night the meetings increase in interest and power. Meetings are also held in the afternoons for children and in the interest of temperance. The work is thorough and genuine, and in no sense are the methods used sensational. Mr. Whyte's sweet songs and Mr. Kennedy's earnest preaching have been wonderfully successful, and people are looking for even greater things here. Their many friends in Toronto and throughout Ontario will be pleased to learn of their great work here.

VERITAS.

THE TOWN HAS A SURPLUS OF $23.18

Ald Dawson here jumped to his feet and said he would defy any man to prove that there is one single industry in town paying assessment on one-half it is worth. He thought our manufacturers had been used well.

Ald Sawers, emphasized his opinion that the Court of Revision had treated every one squarely, and had not been guilty of evasion in any sense. He took Ald. Denne's remarks as an insult to the court, of which he is a member.

Ald Denne thought it ill become an alderman who stood up at a public meeting and allowed his comrades to be insulted, without speaking one work in their defence, to talk of being insulted himself.

Ald. Sawers replied that he did not think Ald Denne had been of much service to this year's council.

The ayes and nays were here taken in the resolution as follows:

Ayes—Ald. Denne, Corkery, Robertson, Dawson.

Nays—Ald. Roger and Sawers.

The resolution was consequently carried.

Ald. Rogers here moved, seconded by Ald. Dawson:—That in order to carry out the arrangements with the O. G. E. Co., the Town Solicitor be instructed to issue the necessary notices, and take the necessary steps to secure an amendment to the by-law on this question by striking out clause A—Carried.

SNOW PLOUGHING.

A by-law to execute contracts for snow ploughing passed its several readings.

REPORTS.

Ald. Denne's finance reports, recommending that no action be taken on the application of H. W. Wilson for the town to advertise in the Lake Ontario & Bay of Quinte Nav. Co's Guide, and also recommending the payment of a number of accounts was adopted as read.

Owing to limited space the Board of Work's report is left over till tomorrow's edition.

TWO COMPLAINTS.

Mr. Cooney, asked that he be compensated for loss sustained by the water from George street running into his cellar and damaging his goods. He requested the engineer to remedy this nuisance, and has received the reply that he could do nothing for fear of destroying the crossing. Eventually he (Cooney) paid Mr. Moore $2 to fix the water course, thus insuring him against a repetition of the nuisance in future. He estimated his loss at $17, but would be willing to take one half that amount. This matter was referred to the Board of Works.

John McNaughton addressed Council and complained of being charged $1 extra on his arrears of taxes for bailiff's fee. The custom of sending a man to demand arrears of taxes, and charging the delinquent citizen an extra dollar for that man's service he thought akin to corruption. John's complaint was referred to the Town Solicitor.

Council then adjourned.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated at a largely attended meeting of ratepayers, held last week, for the position of Mayor for 1901, and having been urged to run by a large number of others, I have decided to become a candidate for Mayor at the approaching Municipal elections. I stated at that meeting that I could not say whether I would be a candidate or not till some business arrangements were determined. These have now been settled in such a manner that it will be possible for me to give the necessary attention to the duties of Mayor, but at the same time they will make it impossible for me to make any thorough personal canvass at this season of the year. I must therefore rely largely on the support of my friends for the detailed work, and for this purpose I ask as many of my supporters as can make it convenient to meet at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Monday night next, the 17th inst.

Yours respectfully,

J. R. McWILLIAMS.

DE WET MADE THREE DETERMINED ATTACKS

He Led the Third in Person and Pierced British Lines--Story of Another Battle.

London, Dec. 17 — The report contained in the Standard of the reverse suffered by the Northumberland Fusiliers at Magaliesburg reads suspiciously like a second edition of Majuba Hill. According to that reliable journal, the Northumberlands were posted in the centre of a horseshoe-shaped depression, and the Boers succeeded in gaining possession of the outer edge of the depression, whence they fired down upon the defenders. This is exactly what took place at the memorable fight in the nek of Natal on February 27th, 1881, resulting in the death of the brave Colley and the annihilation of some of Britain's best troops. The British at Magaliesburg, however, got off more luckily, for they surrendered after some loss had been inflicted, and their ammunition had been exhausted, recognizing the uselessness of inviting a repetition of the slaughter on the previous occasion. The incident forms another illustration of the slowness of the British officer to learn, showing that even such an affair as Majuba may be repeated at the end of a war which should have proved an invaluable text book to soldiers. The release of the prisoners taken by the Boers from Clements and the dispersion of the enemy without trying to follow up their victory shows the purposeless nature of the Boers' campaign. The rumor of a British victory at the Orange river has not been confirmed by official despatches, and until such confirmation is received comment is useless.

Maseru, Dec. 17.—It appears that De Wet's force was twice repulsed before it broke through the British lines in the neighborhood of Thabanchu. In the third attack De Wet led in person. With a few determined men he charged and broke the British lines, the rest of the commando following. He was forced however, to leave in the hands of the British a fifteen-pounder and fifteen wagons with ammunition stores. Commandant Hasbrook, with a commando and two guns, tried to get through Springkanta Nek, but was driven back with a loss of forty men.

STORY OF ANOTHER BATTLE.

London, Dec. 17.—The report of another severe battle, resulting in a British victory, is current here. According to the story the fighting began at daybreak to-day, and lasted several hours. The Boers, who numbered from 1,500 to 2,000 men, were surrounded at the Orange River and totally defeated with very heavy losses in killed and wounded. A number of Boers were captured.

BATTLE OF MAGALIESBURG.

London, Dec. 17.—The Magaliesburg affair is described as follows in a despatch to The Standard from Rietfontein: "The scene of the engagement was a horseshoe-shaped depression. The Northumberlands occupied the centre. Gen. Clements' camp was pitched 1,000 yards lower down at the eastern point of the horseshoe, and Col Legge's camp was about 300 yards distant. Gen. Delarey's 1,000 men against whom Gen. Clements had fought repeated actions, were suddenly, unknown to Gen. Clements, reinforced by 3,000 men from Warm Baths, under Commandant Beyers. At daybreak Col. Legge's packet described what seemed a fresh force of British troops fifty yards distant. The stranders were challenged They replied with a volley, revealing 400 Boers in khaki. The firing became heavy, and the noise around Col. Legge's troops, who arrived just in time to save the outposts from capture. A furious engagement ensued. Artillery was brought up, and it compelled the Boers to retire. Col. Legge, following up the withdrawal, was shot dead by a bullet through his head.

CLEMENTS ARRIVES.

"Gen. Clements and his staff soon arrived. The staff suffered severely, but Gen. Clements appeared to bear a charmed life. While mounted men were driving the enemy back along a slope covered thickly with Boer dead, a deafening rifle fire suddenly broke on the plateau above. The signallers heliographed that the Northumberlands were being attacked. Gen. Clements, convinced that they would easily hold their own, disposed the remainder of his forces on their flanks and rear of his two camps. At 4.30 a.m. a heliograph from the Western peak announced that the Boers were to overwhelm the Fusiliers.

General Clements was unable to send adequate help, but despatched Yeomanry to climb the preciptous hillside and create a diversion. Before the Yeomanry could come into action the Boers had overlapped the Northumberlands, and were in possession of the entire horseshoe, firing down on the Yeomanry, entangled in the bushes and boulders. The Northumberlands made a magnificent defence so long as their ammunition lasted. According to the Boer accounts, many, even when resistance was hopeless, died fighting. Gen. Clements, now left with 700 men, made a superhuman effort against the bullets of the Boers, pouring over the peaks, and managed to save his guns and the camp equipment. He retired in splendid order, and at 4 p.m. started to march to Rietfontein, fighting a rear-guard action all the way, and arriving the next day at 4 a.m.

KITCHENER WANTS CAVALRY.

London, Dec. 17.—Yesterday the War Office for the first time in many months remained open throughout a Sunday in response to the demands of public anxiety to learn latest news. Lord Kitchener is reported to have sent a fresh and urgent request to the Government to send out every available mounted men. The Colonial Office announces its decision to enlist 5,000 men instead of the 1,000 previously asked to be recruited in Great Britain for Gen. Baden-Powell's constabulary, which shows that recruiting in South Africa is less active than had been anticipated. Despatches from Lorenzo Marquez asserts that all the Boer forces are plentifully supplied with ammunition, but terribly in want of food and clothing.

BOERS LOSE 100 AT VRYHEID.

London, Dec. 16.—A despatch from General Kitchener to the War Office gives the details of the fighting at Vryheid last Monday. The engagement lasted all night. The Boers retreated in the evening, after losing 100 killed and wounded. The British losses were two officers and four men killed 19 wounded, and 30 missing. A British column which was marching towards Vryheid on Thursday routed 500 Boers at Scheeper's nek, inflicting heavy loss, and capturing a quantity of arms and a number of cattle. The The British lost two killed.

Cape Town, Dec. 18.—Lord Roberts is now on the sea, homeward bound. After touching at St. Helena he will proceed to London, where he is due Jan. 2nd. During his temporary stay here he was overwhelmed with attentions.

Says Dentist Kissed Her

Antlanta, Ga., Dec. 17.—Justice Orr's court has been crammed to-day to hear the proceedings in the case of Miss Ida Hollingsworth, a sixteen year old girl of remarkable beauty, against Dr. J. S. Thompson, a flourishing dentist. Miss Hollingsworth charges that the dentist, whom she visited a number of times while he was attending to her teeth, the last time she visited his office, stepped in front of the door, placed his arms around her neck and snatched a kiss. He had previously annoyed her with little familiarities, to which she paid no attention, but she was so frightened by the kissing that she ran home, where she told of the occurrence. The affair has been the talk of the city ever since, and the attraction of the trial proves so great that Justice Orr now regrets that he did not construct his office of india-rubber so as to take in several hundred more.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers. and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

T. H. G. DENNE.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

Against Saturday Night Shopping and Late Hours.

Peterborough has long been regarded by outsiders as a "Saturday night" town, a great deal of the shopping being left to the last hours of the last day in the week. The Ministerial Association has taken the matter up, and has appealed to the people to do their shopping early in the week, and never after nine on Saturday evenings. Here are the points:

1 All possible purchasing to be done before Saturday.

2 All purchasing which is absolutely necessary on Saturday to be done at the earliest possible hour on that day.

3. That no order be given by telephone, or for delivery after 8 p.m. at the latest, and that merchants refuse any such order.

4. That no purchase whatever be made after 9 p.m., on Saturday.

The Times cordially endorses the above, and will lend its influence in support of the early closing movement.

Duke of Manchester

London, Dec. 18.—The Duke of Manchester's affairs came before the bankruptcy court to-day. The Duke had deposited with the court sufficient funds to pay what he calls his honest debts. A number of other claims he declares were founded on forgeries on notes that he renewed for the accommodation of friends without assuring himself that the original notes had been paid. The Duke expects to be cleared of bankruptcy and take his seat in the House of Lords.

Genuine Patriotism

Ladies of Canada:

While statesmen and politicians argue the Zollverein and differential trade within the Empire (which they will do while jaw displaces common sense), settle this matter for yourselves.

Your brother colonists of Ceylon and India are growers of pure teas, Black and Green. Canadian and United States importers supply you with 11,000,000 pounds annually of Japan teas, yet they know Japans are artificially colored and adulterated. Let the knowledge of these facts and the sentiment of patriotic sisterhood move you to help the British planer.

British-grown Black Teas hold the Canadian market. Drinkers of Japan Tea should try the Greens now coming on the market, and your dainty palates will approve them. Yes, we hear your grocer's excuses; but insist. Ladies can always get what they want. Remember how you ran your husband to—well, do they still think it Paradise? They certainly will if you give them Ceylon and India green tea. Blue Ribbon, Monsoon and Salada packets are now obtainable. Colonist.

WEATHER NOTES

Probs: Moderate to fresh east to south winds, fair and milder. To-day: Mostly fair and mild.

It is now mild from British Columbia to Lake Superior, with no immediate prospects of a change to colder. Under existing conditions quite mild weather be expected for the next few days in Ontario.

A BIG REBELLION IN KWANG TUNG PROVINCE

Reformers Have 30,000 Men and Have Won Eight Battles--Renewed Boxer Activity.

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 17 — Oriental advices state that Kwang Tung Province, China, is the scent of another rebellion. Its leaders declare their intention of substituting Chinese for Manchu rulers and to bring about the regeneration of China along occidental lines. They favor foreigners and have molested neither missioneries nor converts. Nine battles have been fought with the imperial troops sent against them, including a battle at Sam-Tochuk, where each side suffered the loss of several hundred killed, each claiming the victory. In eight other engagements the rebels are reported to have been completely victorious. They now have thirty thousand armed men in the field, and possess many towns. They are desirous of establishing provisional government, whereupon they intend to cut off their cues and wear European clothes.

HOSTILITIES AROUND PEKIN.

Pekin, Dec. 17—The British are continually receiving reports of dissatisfaction from the districts around Pekin under their special charge. The officer in command has informed Gen. Gaselee that armed bands of native Christians from the village of So Ha Noona, five miles south of Pekin, are constantly moving about and levying blackmail.

BOXER SOCIETY DESTROYED.

London, Dec. 17 — The Morning Post publishes the following from its Pekin correspondent, dated Saturday,—

The Boxer organization is nearly destroyed. There appears now to be no danger of a recrudescence of the recent troubles, although activity is shown in some unprotected places. The Boxer leaders were in reality not numerous, and most of them have been punished by the Chinese authorities.

RLondon, Dec. 17—"Telegrams from the north," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Times wiring Saturday, "report renewed activity on the part of the Boxers in the neighborhood of Pekin and Tien Tsin. It is believed that certain foreigners are continuing a surreptitious business in arms with the connivance of the Taotai of Shanghai.

"There are persistent rumors here that the foreign troops have arrived at Tai Yuen Fu.

"While the Ministers in Pekin are haggling over the collective note Russia has consolidated her power in Manchuria, which, under the guise of friendship, she is wresting from her deluded neighbor."

CATHOLIS LOSSES IN CHINA.

London, Dec. 17 — Cardinal Vaughan has issued a pastoral which was read from the pulpits of the Catholic churches here yesterday detailing the martyrdom of Catholicsin China. The cardinal declared that the Catholic Church in China is made up of 750,000 communicants and included 942 European and 446 native priests. All work of the Catholic church throughout the most of China had been swept away. The material loss represented 4,348 churches and chapels, 4,000 elementary schools, 47 seminaries, and a number of other schools. His Eminence described the upheaval as primarily a revolt against Christianity, but its most recent activity was aroused by foreign—especially Russian and German — encroachments on Chinese territory.

CHINA GRATEFUL TO RUSSIA.

London, Dec. 17—Dr. Morrison, wiring to the Times from Pekin yesterday, says, "Li Hung Chang, at the instance of Prince Ukhtomsky, has wired to Emperor Nicholas an expression of Chinese gratitude for permission to rule Manchuria under Russian protection. This permission purports to have come from the Czar, who is, of course, quite ignorant of the matter. Prince Ukhtomsky is leaving Pekin within a few days, his mission having been accomplished."

KAISER IS EGOTISTICAL.

Berlin, Dec. 17 — Emperor William in his speech yesterday upon the occasion of the reception given here to a portion of the German contingent which recently arrived from China, said to the returned soldiers,—"With anxious forebodings and heavy heart I witnessed your departure from the fatherland. The efforts which awaited you could be foreseen. For what you have effected, I offer you my thanks in the name of the entire fatherland. You have under all circumstances upheld your oath to the flag. I am firmly convinced that each has done his duty in the hour of need. You have not yet quivered; no hand has trembled. Thus were the victories gained. None among you can know with how great joy the news was received of your victories in which the army and navy together were concerned.

"Yes, the great Emperor-King, by whose statue you have marched to-day, now looks down upon you. The help of God which has hitherto been with us will continue on our side also in the future."

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS

Some Important Charges to the Law Affecting Them.

But These Apply to Cities and will no Affect Places Like Peterborough.

There is no changes in respect to holding the municipal elections for towns, villages and townships. In cities of 30,000 or over recent legislation has made several important changes. In Toronto, for example, the most important innovation at this election will be the extension of the hours of polling until 7 o'clock in the evening. For many years there has been an agitation for the change, on the ground that by closing the poll at 5 o'clock many workingmen were deprived of the opportunity to vote. Whether the extension results in a heavier vote being polled or not, it is certain that theoretically under the new provisions of the law no man who wants to vote need be debarred from doing so owing to the demands of his daily occupation. This innovation should also apply to places like Peterborough, but it does not.

The qualification of candidates remains the same in towns but is increased in cities.

The nomination for Mayor and Aldermen takes place as usual in the Council Chamber at 10 a.m. on Monday, December 31. For Aldermen from 12 to 1. Under the law, those nominated may, if they do not retire at the meeting at which they are proposed, resign by sending notice to the Clerk, before 9 o'clock p.m. on the following day, except such day is a holiday, and in that case before 12 noon on the succeeding day. Any person nominated for two offices, if he fails to formally resign either, will be taken as nominated for the first office for which he is proposed.

Aid the Children

The Children's Aid Society by reason of their work, has a considerable list of children who could be greatly benefitted and delighted by old toys, clothes, food, sweetmeats, etc. Mr. Cochrane, the agent of the C. A. S. will see to the distribution personally. Those intending to send things will confer a favour by leaving them at the Shelter before noon of December 24th, or if they will notify the Society, means will be found for sending for them.

"LEST WE FORGET."

Ladies of Canada:

The bond of union between the mother country and her colonies is strong. In time of necessity the colonies have always been loyal. Patriotic Canadian ladies, while they cannot bear arms in time of war, can assist their brother colonists in a substantial way. Ceylon and India produce the finest GREEN teas. Drinkers of Japan teas should try them. Monsoon, Salada and Blue Ribbon packets are known to all. —Colonist.

From South Africa

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Miller have received an interesting letter from their son Tom, who is with the British forces in South Africa. The letter was written at Rustenburg, on Nov. 1st, and the following is an extract. "We have been on the march again, after being at Pretoria for about three weeks. We had to bring a convoy on to here, but expect to leave again for Pretoria, and then we think we are going home. This, I hope will come true, as I am tired of this country. Tell father that Will Taylor from the school came to see me when we were in Pretoria last. There are some Peterborough fellows in the Battery he is in—George Brown and a fellow named Summers—but I have not seen them yet.

The Castellanes

New York, Dec. 17—Argument is being heard to-day by Judge Leavenhitt in the suit of Antone J. Dittmar against Geo. J. Gould, Howard Gould, Edwin Gould and Helen M. Gould, to restrain them, as trustees under the will of Jay Gould, from paying the Count and Countess de Castellane any portion of the income in their share of the property. In this case foreign creditors seek to recover moneys for goods furnished in Paris. Col. James and Charles A. Gardiner are counsel for the Goulds, and Guttenheimer, Untermeyer & Marshall for the creditors. Affidavits of Count Boni de Castellane were submitted in which he declares that some of the goods charged for were not delivered and that he was deceived by the plaintiff. Motions were made to increase the allowance of the Castellanes, on the ground that $250,000 annually was not enough to maintain the family in accordance with their rank in society and provide for the proper education of their children.

Infantry to Guard Prison at Paris

Mattoon, Ill., Dec. 15.—The Sheriff of Edgar County, fearing mob violence, has asked Governor Tanner to call out Company H, Fourth Infantry, to guard the prison at Paris, where John Owens, murderer of James Hogue, is to be executed on Dec. 21.

All efforts to secure information concerning the doomed man's relatives have failed. Once he admitted relationship to the Owens family of Kentucky. "It will do my family no good to learn the truth, nor me," he says, and intends to carry the secret to the grave.

Mayor Stegg has received a letter from Joseph Ratcliffe of Philadelphia, who says he believes that Owens is his son. When Owens was first arrested in this city he gave the name of John Ratcliffe. The Philadelphia man's description fits the prisoner, but he latterly utterly repudiates the Philadelphia people.

MR. J. B. McWILLIAMS RETIRES FROM MAYORALTY

He Reads a Letter at Last Night's Public Meeting from Premier Ross.

ASKING HIM TO RECONSIDER HIS RESOLVE

Mr. McWilliams Receives a Vote of Thanks Expressing Regret at His Retirement.

Mr. J. B. McWilliams has retired from the Mayoralty contest. The announcement of his withdrawal was made at a meeting of his supporters held last night in the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street. There was a large attendance, and no one had any idea that there was to be any change in the programme.

Mr. McWilliams called the meeting to order and stated that when the meeting, held on the 4th of the month, had nominated him and he had asked for time to consider the matter, it was for the purpose of arranging his business in such a way as to enable him to devote the necessary time to the duties of Mayor. He thought he had everything fixed satisfactorily, and accordingly announced his acceptance of the nomination so kindly tendered him. He was sorry to say, however, that he had received a letter by special messenger from Toronto, which only reached him at 5.30 this evening, from the Premier of the Province, which made his withdrawal imperative. He either had to resign his position with the Government or retire from the Mayoralty contest, and thought that no one would blame him if chose the latter alternative. His duties had been largely increased, which would necessitate his absence from town for a period of perhaps three months at a time. He was satisfied that his election was assured, by five or six hundred majority. Last year he ran against the strongest man in town. This year his opponent was not nearly so strong and the chief forces that were against him last year were with him on the present occasion. He then read the letter, which was as follows:

Toronto, 15th Dec., 1900

My dear Sir,—I learn by the public press that you have announced yourself as a candidate for the Mayoralty of the Town of Peterborough for the coming year. With reference thereto I might say that the resolution of 1897 respecting the active participation of employees of the Government in municipal politics did not, perhaps, contemplate its forming an absolute bar to certain persons in the service doing so under certain circumstances, yet the character and extent of your duties to my mind render it inadvisable that you should contest the Mayoralty of Peterborough. I learn from the Minister in charge of the Department under which you hold office that the range of your duties will, the coming year, be enlarged so as to include a much wider district—practically Provincial in extent. This will necessitate your more frequent absence from home, if not your removal from Peterborough in the course of time. Therefore you will be unable, in the event of your being elected Mayor, to give the attention to the duties of that position which would be considered adequate either by your constituents or yourself, without neglecting the duties of the office you hold under this Government. I would therefore suggest that you consider the propriety, under the circumstances, of reconsidering your decision in this respect, so that there would not be the possibility of any neglect of duty in one case or the other. I remain, yours truly,

G. W. ROSS.

J. B. McWilliams, Esq.,
Crown Timber Agent, Peterboro.

Mr. McWilliams said there were plenty of good men that were available, and suggested the names of Messrs. J. J McBain, W. H. Hill, ex-Ald. Best, G. M. Roger, E. H. D. Hall and others. He believed the Mayor should possess backbone, and have courage. We were now enjoying a period of prosperity, and the town should have a chief ruler who possessed strength and ability.

The following resolution was moved, seconded and carried unanimously:

That this meeting regrets the retirement of Mr. McWilliams, who is rightfully regarded as a gentleman possessing, in an eminent degree, the qualifications necessary for the position of Chief Magistrate."

It was suggested that the meeting select a candidate in Mr. McWilliams' place.

Mr. McWilliams said he thought it would not be wise to do this. This meeting had been called by him, and it might be misunderstood by the public if a nomination were made.

After some further informal discussion, the meeting dissolved.

CHILL TURNER'S LETTER

An Interesting Letter on Life in South Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Turner have received the following letter from their son, "Chill," now in South Africa:

Johannesburg, S.A.
Nov. 7, 1900.

Dear Parents,—I received the letters and papers to-day, for which I am very grateful. I also received the catalogues and flag folders, which I have sent to all the leading firms of Natal, Cape Colony, and the Transvaal, and trust it will be the means of doing some business. I have seen some of the waterproof covers to-day in Johannesburg that you sent out some three years ago, and they looked good for some years yet.

Reginald's letter was very interesting, and I trust he will write to me oftener. I was very pleased to read in the papers that the exhibition was a success. I also saw in the papers that Pte. Smith had returned, and that old Peterborough had given him a good reception. I am glad that Reginald is doing the cutting and looking after things generally while John is in England.

I am kept rather busy visiting Canadian patients in the hospital here in the interests of the Canadian Red Cross Society but I do like to look after these chaps who consist chiefly of Strathconas. The patients of No. 6, General are being treated to-night to a concert at the Wanderers' Hall, at which Lord Roberts will be present.

At Frederickstad last week I was through the Strathcona lines, and they really looked the picture of poverty, and in mud up to their neck with constant moving. Poor fellows! They seem to have troubles of their own, but as the Tommies term it "We will have to keep up to the job."

I read with much regret of the death of Mr. Watson and Ed. Walsh, as they were two good citizens.

Well, dear parents and brothers, trusting this last letter will find you all well, I will close, with love to you all, and remain your affectionate son.
CHILL.

P.S.—I will try and write a longer letter next time. Give my kind regards to all the people in Peterborough.

The Fenelon Falls Hockey team will be composed of nearly all new blood this year, as nearly all the old players are away from the village.

THE MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I would like to know if the ballots that are sent to the Times are carefully counted? I sent in two votes for Mr. Harry Denne for Mayor, with Mr. Wm. Snowden as second choice. Mr. Denne's name appeared all right, but Mr. Snowden's name was not printed.

NATURAL GAS

As the subject of natural gas has been much discussed during the past few weeks, it may be of interest to many to know that the supply in the United States is declining rapidly and threatens early exhaustion. The U. S. Geological Survey report for 1900, points out an exchange, shows that the amount of natural gas utilized in that country during the year was 108,000,000,000 cubic feet equivalent in heat value to 4,062,628 tons of coal. The supply at this rate will involve the opening of new fields in a year or two, and the shifting and extending of thousands of miles of pipe. In the Ohio field, once famous for its 'roarers' and which gave gas under an initial pressure of from 450 to 480 pounds per square inch, the gas now has no initial pressure, and compression is necessary to its distribution. In the Indiana field it is estimated by experts that one-half the total supply has already been exhausted. The pressure at the wells was formerly an average of 325 pounds. Very few now deliver gas with a pressure of 160 pounds, and as pressure of 100 pounds is needed to hold back the salt water with which the gas-bearing strata are saturated, it follows that when further weakened by continued blowing off, the wells will begin to fill up and the flow cease. About 66 per cent. of the gas in the ground has been exhausted, and of that which carries a pressure less than 100 pounds, comparatively little is likely to be available. In Pennsylvania and West Virginia the gas areas are separated by impervious partitions, so to speak. For this reason local gas pressures are due to local conditions, and exhausting one area does not mean the exhaustion of all, as in Ohio and Indiana. At an average calculation of 18 1-2 cents per thousand, the value of the 1899 product of the several States yielding natural gas was as follows: Indiana, $6,680,370; Pennsylvania, $8,337,210; West Virginia, $2,335,864; Ohio $1866271; Kansas $282,302, New York $294,593; Kentucky, $125,745; California, $85891. The average for Colorado, Missouri, Illinois, South Dakota and Texas was about $3,000. The extent of capital investment in the natural gas business, while not calculable form any data at hand, may be judged from the fact that it maintains nearly 19,000 miles of distributing mains, up to [illegible] inches diameter.

A word or so may also be opportune with regard to its commercial value. As compared with coal, it was never a cheap fuel, and at its present average price it cannot be used with economy in any operation for which coal is available. Natural gas in complete combustion gives off 1,053,274 heat units per 1,000 cubic feet. A pound of bituminous coal of average quality will liberate in complete combustion about 14,000 heat units. We may assume, therefore, that 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas are theoretically equal in calorific value to about 75 pounds of coal. At $2.50 per net ton, which is considerably more than the average price of bituminous coal where it comes into competition with natural gas, it costs one-eighth of a cent per pound. Consequently the coal to equal 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas is worth less than ten cents. In practice, however, natural gas has not maintained in competition with coal its theoretical comparative value. Tests made at Pittsburg under perfectly fair conditions showed that, as compared with coal at $2.50 per ton, natural gas in steam evaporation was worth only 6.8 cents per thousand. At the present average price of 18 1-2 cents per thousand it is about on a parity with bituminous coal at $5 per ton, or, say, twice the present average cost of the best steam coal in the natural gas district.

Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. DREAMERS.

"There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream." The old song is right. Lovers are dreamers. They create a special world in which they live immune from the hurts and ills which vex common humanity. In their estimate of household expenses there's no place for a doctor. And very often when the dream dissolves they find that the doctor's bill, the one thing they didn't count on, is now the one thing that's as regular as rent and taxes. And many times it is money wasted. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will do for a woman and her womanly ills, practically everything that can be done by any doctor or medicine. It regulates the periods, dries debilitating drains and cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes childbirth easy, and thousands of nursing mothers have testified to its tonic and strength giving properties. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Mrs. Annie Blacher, of 629 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicines have done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor. I had four miscarriages, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery' I have much better health, and now I have a fine, healthy baby."

and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 343 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

The Chicago Tribune

is a newspaper for bright and intelligent people. It is made up to attract people who think.

Is not neutral or colorless, constantly trimming in an endeavor to please both sides, but it is independent in the best sense of the word.

It has pronounced opinions and is fearless in expressing them, but it is always fair to its opponents.

Matters of national or vital public interest get more space in THE TRIBUNE than in any other paper in the West.

For these reasons it is the newspaper you should read during the forthcoming political campaign.

THE TRIBUNE'S financial columns never mislead the public.

Its facilities for gathering news, both local and foreign, are far superior to those of any other newspaper in the West.

It presents the news in as fair a way as possible, and lets its readers form their opinion.

While it publishes the most comprehensive articles on all news features, if you are busy the "Summary of THE DAILY TRIBUNE" published daily on the first page gives you briefly all the news of the day within one column.

Its sporting news is always the best, and its Sunday Pink Sporting Section is better than any sporting paper in the country.

It is the "cleanest" daily printed in the West.

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. BIT OF WEDDING CAKE.

"But what shall I do with it?" he asked, helplessly.

She looked up at him and laughed as he stood dangling the square, white box by its satin ribbon.

"There's a certain inanity in treasuring another fellow's wedding cake. Won't you take it—as a gift?"

"Thanks, no," she answered. "I have a sufficient; besides, the charm is broken if you give it away."

"Charm?" he echoed. "What charm has an infinitesimal piece of cake that would not stay the appetite of a mosquito? Silly custom this, anyhow, of——"

"Do you mean to say," she interrupted, solemnly, "that you have attained unto years of discretion and have never tried the charm that lies in a bride's cake?"

"Never!" he averred.

She looked so bewitching in her bridesmaid array that he would have sworn to any fact or fallacy whatsoever could he hereby prolong the tete-a-tete. In seeking a spot where perchance that ubiquitous best man might be eluded he had found this curtained corner of the porch.

"Then you must try it before you are a night older," she said, with a pretty air of authority. "Cut a card into seven slips and give me a pencil, and I'll do the rest."

He obeyed with unwonted docility.

"This is merely a short and sure way to find out whom you are to marry," she resumed.

"I know whom I want to marry. I don't need a piece of cake and seven slips of paper to tell me that."

"Whom one wants to marry and whom one marries are not always the same individual!" she replied sententiously.

"O!" was his only audible remark.

"Now," she went on, "I shall write a name on each of these six pieces and leave one blank—for bachelorhood, you know."

Um!" he assented.

Then you will place them under your pillow, with the wedding cake, and draw out one each morning; the last one——" with a pause of emphasis.

I understand," he broke in. "The last shall be first. But I can't think of six names; one is so indelibly written on my heart that——"

"O, I can arrange that!" she interrupted blithely. "You know they must be written by some one else, anyway—some disinterested person."

"O!" humbly.

But as he watched her brows wrinkle in such perplexity he concluded that it was not such a bad thing after all, this idea of tying up wedding cake in boxes, and he became convinced that weddings, on the whole, were not such a bore when he saw the ubiquitous best man peer into the half-light of the veranda and retire precipitately.

"There's one thing I forgot," she was saying; "each slip must be destroyed as it is drawn out, and only the last one read."

"Hump! Strict requirements, these! It would give a fellow some satisfaction, perhaps, to know whom he had escaped."

"O, but the charm won't work unless you do! Promise, now"—imperatively.

And he promised. Then—

"O, I say," he cried, interrupting the writing again. "You'll put your own name down, won't you"

"Shall I?" she queried doubtfully.

"Well rather." And though the light was dim, she saw something in his eyes that made her add hastily:

"O, well, since it is by request."

On the eighth day thereafter she received the following telegram:

"Your name seventh. Has charm worked?"

And it was not till their honeymoon was at its zenith that she told him—confidentially—that each bit of cardboard had borne the same name, and there had been no blank.—Ex.

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY, And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1 00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2.500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

TOWN AND COUNTY NEWS

DIED

Last evening at 292 Simcoe street, Mrs. Robt. Pope. Funeral notice later.

Ashburnham Politics

Across the river things are quiet in municipal circles. Reeve Adams will again be a candidate, and Councillor Smith is mentioned as an opponent. The members of the present Council will all offer themselves for re-election.

Takes the Cake.

The following, from the Lindsay Post, speaks for itself: "Peterborough councillors do queer things occasionally, but their latest freak takes the cake. They have laid a wooden walk on top of a costly granolithic pavement.

Stolen Butter

Over 100 pounds of butter that were stolen from the factory at Norwood on Friday, were found in Jackson park and other parts of the town Sunday. The thief is suspected to be the same that failed to return Westlake's livery rig. A quantity of the butter had been sold to local parties.

Another Theft of a Rig

The thief who stole a rig from Westlake's livery last week was not satisfied with his nefarious work, but brought a Norwood rig to Peterborough and left it in a hotel stable. It was claimed by the Norwood liveryman on Saturday. This no doubt is the fellow who stole the Norwood butter. He is still at large.

A Proper Thief

On Saturday Mr. R. J. Kidd seized a basket in the possession of a woman who was in his store, opposite the Times building, which contained four pairs of shoes, three pairs of slippers and a pair of moccasins. These articles had been stolen from the counters and tables of the store. She was watched, and when on her way out was asked what the basket contained. She said it held a goose. Further investigation disclosed the facts.

A Handsome Picture

Yesterday a picture in the window of Oak Hall Drug store attracted a very great deal of attention. It represents the late Pte. Dan Spence in the foreground, dressed in soldier's garb, with rifle in hand, in the attitude of defence, while on the distant kopjes waves the British flag. The design as well as the picture itself is the work of Mr. Whiten, who is to be congratulated on his success. The picture is certainly a gem, and is a credit to Mr. Whiten.

Navigation Notes

The Peterborough Navigation Company are having their boats thoroughly overhauled, and are putting in more powerful machinery, so as to enable them to contend with the ice, and keep navigation open a month longer from Peterborough to Jubilee Point, for the accommodation of farmers who have grain, cattle, hogs, and other produce to bring to market. If well patronized they intend to keep the route open to Harwood the following season.

The Stanley Piano Co. requests all purchasers of Pianos to communicate direct with or call at the Factory, where Mr. Stanley will take pleasure in showing the special merits of the Stanley Piano, which no doubt has contributed to the great success and rapidly increased sale experienced by the Company.

To the Electors of the Town of Peterborough

Ladies and Gentlemen,—Having been nominated at a largely attended meeting of ratepayers, held last week, for the position of Mayor for 1901, and having been urged to run by a large number of others, I have decided to become a candidate for Mayor at the approaching Municipal elections. I stated at that meeting that I could not say whether I would be a candidate or not till some business arrangements were determined. These have now been settled in such a manner that it will be possible for me to give the necessary attention to the duties of Mayor, but at the same time they will make it impossible for me to make any thorough personal canvass at this season of the year. I must therefore rely largely on the support of my friends for the detailed work, and for this purpose I ask as many of my supporters as can make it convenient to meet at the Foresters' Hall, Simcoe street, on Monday night next, the 17th inst.

Yours respectfully,

J. H. McWILLIAMS.

JUST IN FUN

"I could save more money," the young man admitted, "but I find it so hard to break away from my friends. A fellow can't be a boor and cut all his acquaintances without reason, you know."

"I will tell you what to do," said the man with the brindle moustache. "Buy a dog."

"And then what?"

"Then, when you meet your friends, you will find yourself telling them stories of his wonderful intelligence. You just can't help it. In this manner you may soon be alone."—Indianapolis Press.

The Layman—Candidly, do you expect your prayer in behalf of the Boers to be answered?

The Pastor—I flatter myself it is unanswerable, sir. Three or four cranks have tried to answer it, through the press, but it seems to me they have failed egregiously.—Detroit Journal.

Collector—I'm sorry, M. Slowpay, but your tailor has put his account against you into my hands for collection.

Mr. Slowpay—He has, eh? Do you work on a commission basis?

Collector—Yes, sir.

Mr. Slowpay—Then I'm sorry for you.—Chicago News.

Bachelor—I am told that a married man can live on half the income that a single man requires.

Married Man—Yes. He has to.—Tit-Bits.

"Your lawyer made some pretty severe charges against the other fellow, didn't he?"

"Y-e-s; but you ought to see how he charged me."—Green Bag.

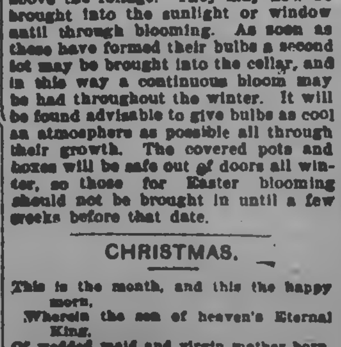
"Brethren," said the repentant man at the revival meeting, "mine is a sad story. I was born in Brooklyn, but soon went from bad to worse."

"How long did you stay in New York?" asked the long-whiskered man near the organ.—Baltimore American.

Need of Pure Air.

In order that sleep may perform its legitimate work of restoration it demands that its conditions and environment shall offer no obstacle to its accomplishment. Sleep demands a purer atmosphere than the waking hours of life. Awake and at work we are somewhat on the defensive, but we yield ourselves into the arms of slumber and are at the mercy of unseen foes lurking in secret hiding places about our rooms, close beside our beds and beneath our very pillows.

How Johnny Got His Christmas Apples.



For Christmas Hyacinth Blooms.

The only hyacinth bulb that may be forced as early as Christmas is the single pink "Norma"—all other varieties becoming cripples if forced too early. The "Norma" bulbs, then, should be the first to be brought indoors. Place them in the cellar, covering each with an inverted pot until the buds have formed. This will produce a longer stem to the flower head, raising it above the foliage. They may now be brought into the sunlight or window until through blooming. As soon as these have formed their bulbs a second lot may be brought into the cellar, and in this way a continuous bloom may be had throughout the winter. It will be found advisable to give bulbs as cool an atmosphere as possible all through their growth. The covered pots and boxes will be safe out of doors all winter, so those for Easter blooming should not be brought in until a few weeks before that date.

CHRISTMAS.

This is the month, and this the happy morn,
Wherein the son of heaven's Eternal King,
Of wedded maid and virgin mother born,
Our great redemption from above did bring.
For so the holy sages once did sing,
That he our deadly forfeit should release,
And with his Father work us a perpetual peace.
—Milton.

Rise, happy morn! Rise, holy morn!
Draw forth the cheerful day from night!
O Father! touch the east, and light
The light that shone when hope was born.
—Tennyson

How shall we celebrate the day
When God appeared in mortal clay,
The mark of worldly scorn;
When the archangel's heavenly lays
Attempted the Redeemer's praise,
And hailed salvation's morn?
—Chatterton

At his birth a star, unseen before in heaven,
Proclaim Him come.
—Milton.

'Twas much, that man was made like God before;
But, that God should be made like man, much more.
—Donne.

BOERS SUCCESSFUL IN CAPE COLONY

Gen. Clements and His Entire Force Narrowly Escapes Capture at Nooitgedacht --Wounded at Pretoria.

Cape Town, Dec. 18.—The Boers who crossed the Orange River into Cape Colony, west of Aliwal North, on Saturday, encountered the Cape Rifles and Brabant's force, who retired with loss.

CLEMENTS' NARROW ESCAPE.

Johannesburg, Monday, Dec. 17.—Details of the defeat of the British at Nooitgedacht indicate that Gen. Clements' entire force had a narrow escape from capture. The Boers' plans were splendidly laid. If the main British column had tarried a little longer there would have been a complete success for the Boers, who exposed themselves undauntedly, yelling and waving their arms. Their rushes were only stemmed by artillery. After the British retreat the Boers held a prayer meeting. Their hymns could be heard by the retiring soldiers. All accounts indicate a heavy Boer loss. Col. Legge exhibited splendid bravery. He shot five Boers with his revolver before he fell with three bullets in his body.

BOERS IN CAPE COLONY.

Cape Colony, Dec. 18.—Seven hundred Boers have crossed from Orange River Colony into Cape Colony, near Aliwal North, and have reached Kaapdaal.

ST. John's RECEPTION.

St. John's N.B., Dec 18.—At a meeting of citizens held yesterday morning at the Mayor's office it was resolved that the soldiers returning in the Lake Champlain will be the guests of the city during their stay. If possible they will be served with meals together. If a suitable place cannot be found they will be distributed among the leading hotels. If the soldiers are banqueted at the drill shed it is possible that the Lady Fusiliers' Company will be reorganized and will act as waiters in khaki uniform.

HUTTON'S CONGRATULATIONS

Ottawa, Dec. 18.— Col. Lessard, commanding the Canadian Mounted Rifles, which he received from General Hutton on Oct. 4th previous to the general's departure for England. In this communication Gen Hutton says Canada has good reason to be proud of the manner in which the regiment upheld the reputation of the Canadian troops They had shown what the type of colonial mounted rifles could accomplish in conjunction with the Imperial mounted infantry. He realizes that the colonies can hereafter be counted upon to put into the field a force of mounted men of the utmost value. The general says that it was a source of constant pleasure to him to note how excellently the regiment had profited by its opportunities, and he congratulates and thanks the men for the good work they have preformed.

WILL STOP AT HALIFAX.

Ottawa, Dec. 18.—The Deputy Minister of Militia yesterday received a telegram from the Elder-Dempster Steamship Company of Montreal, pointing out the inadvisability of carrying Colonel Otter's men to St John. The company stated that the Lake Champlain would not arrive at Halifax until Saturday or Sunday, and that consequently she would not get to St. John until possibly Monday morning, thereby preventing most of the men from spending the Christmas holidays at home. The company also pointed out that there was no accommodation for the men at St. John. Col. Pinault, Deputy Minister of Militia, replied that the War Office had given instructions for the men to be landed at St John, and that there would be no change in this respect.

A LENIENT SENTENCE.

Cape Town, Dec. 18.—The sentences imposed by the court at Cobourg in the cases of the men convicted of treason are regarded as very lenient. Vae Rensburg was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment and to pay a fine of £250, Roux was condemned to two years and six months' imprisonment. Swart to one year and six months, Fowler to one year and to pay a fine of £500, Jboste to one year and three months and to pay a fine of £500. and Muller to one year and three months.

KRUGER TAKES A HOUSE.

London, Dec. 18.—Mr. Kruger, at The Hague, received Mr. Wm. T. Stead yesterday. Mr. Stead urged him to continue his tour of Europe and go to America. The Boer statesman listened attentively, but declined to commit himself to any definite statement. It is reported that he is about to remove from his hotel to a private residence. as though contemplating a prolonged stay at The Hague.

THE WOUNDED IN PRETORIA.

London, Dec. 18.—Lord Kitchener, in a despatch from Pretoria dated December 17, reports that all the British wounded in the engagement at Nooitgedacht have arrived there and are doing well.

DOES NOT FIX CAPITAL.

London, Dec. 17.—The Colonial Office, in announcing that Sir Alfred Milner succeeds Lord Roberts as administrator of the conquered territory of South Africa, says his taking up his residence at Johannesburg on account of his health must not be regarded as a settlement of the capital question.

Ottawa, Dec 18.—A cablegram from Lord Strathcona last night says that the Lake Champlain will call at Halifax before going to St. John.

POSTAL CORPS COMING HOME.

Ottawa, Dec. 17.—Two communications have been received here from Capt. Ecclestone, who is in command of the Canadian postal corps in South Africa. In the first the writer speaks of the probability of the staff and himself not returning to Canada until May 1. In the other, dated November 14, Capt. Ecclestone says he was about to start for Pretoria, but would return in a few days and straighten up affairs. "Then," he adds, "hurrah for Canada." Capt. Ecclestone was visited by Col. Otter before the latter left for England, and complimented upon the manner in which the Canadian section of the postal service had been carried on. He afterwards had luncheon with the Canadian commandant in the Hawarden Castle.

RETURN OF COL OTTER.

St John, N.B., Dec. 18.—Col Otter and men will be entertained by the city while here. At a meeting held yesterday the citizens were requested to decorate their buildings. The City Hall will present an address of welcome to the soldiers. Salutes will be fired as the ship comes up the harbor, and a guard of honor from the militia will receive the troops here. The returned heroes will be tendered a banquet if time will permit.

STATE OF THE POLL,

Returns Up to ten o'clock Last Night on the Times' Voting Contest.

Up to ten o'clock last night the following ballots had been registered at the Times' Municipal Voting Contest. These are the leaders only; a full list of candidates will appear Saturday:

FOR MAYOR

R. C. McHarrie	172
Harry Winch	170
R. M. Dennistoun	169

FOR ALDERMAN

Joseph Batten	161
Harry Best	150
Dickson Davidson	148
A. J. Gough	146
W. A. Kindred	144
Harry Winch	131
Harry LeBrun	130
R. B. Stone	127
G. W. Green	119

Mr. R. C. McHarrie, it will be noticed, is "top-notcher" in the Mayoralty race. It will thus be seen that he is a strong candidate and has many supporters. That the ladies are rallying on his behalf is evident from the large numbers of ballots that come in, addressed in pretty, feminine handwriting. Mr. McHarrie has not published his platform, but should he consent to run in earnest, we have no doubt but that one plank would be "woman's rights." Being a bachelor, he doubtless knows what it is to sew on buttons, and has therefore a keen appreciation of the demands which the gentle sex is called upon to make in the performance of the ordinary duties of the sex. Therefore, Mayor McHarrie would be a friend to the women of the town. There would be no snow shovelling required of women; no men's meetings or men's clubs; no "smoking" concerts. The ladies of the town would in fact have everything they wanted in sight.

Mr. Joseph Batten has the distinction of leading in the Aldermanic race. Mr. Batten is a mechanic possessing all the qualifications necessary to fit him for Alderman. He is brainy, is a good speaker, and is highly regarded by all who know him.

HOW TO VOTE.

Our readers are again reminded that they can vote as often as they like. All that is necessary is to cut out the coupon which is printed every day in the Times, fill it in with the names of the citizens you think should sit around the Council board, sign and send it to the Times office.

The ballot is a perfectly secret one. Everybody can vote—from the youngest to the oldest, men, women and children.

SIR JOHN BOURINOT'S LECTURE

The Eminent Canadian Delights a Peterboro Audience.

A rare intellectual treat was the lecture at the Y.M.C.A last night, under the auspices of the Fortnightly Club and the Historical Society, by Sir John Bourinot, Clerk of the House of Commons. The subject was "Canada's Debt to the United Empire Loyalists." It was rather an epic than a lecture.

Sir John read from manuscript, and although his delivery was rapid he occupied more than an hour. The scholarly finish of the paper was only less remarkable than the exhaustive research manifested. Sir John stated that the number of U. E. Loyalists, or "Tories," as they were called, expelled from the United States was about 40,000, of whom about two-thirds went to the maritime provinces, and one-third settled in the St. Lawrence Valley. It is only within the last decade that U.S. historians have admitted that the Loyalists were among the very best people in the country, clergymen, lawyers, physicians, officials, leaders in mercantile and manufacturing enterprise—from these classes they were recruited. In the shadow of Harvard University there are still to be seen stately mansions, once the homes of these exiles. There is really more of the old Puritan stock in Canada than in New England. The lecturer estimated that one fifth of the English speaking people in Canada to-day are of U.E. L. descent. He read a long list of names of eminent Canadians of U.E.L. descent. Among them were 17 Lieut.-Governors, 18 Chief Justices and 15 Cabinet Ministers—four of the latter Finance Ministers, viz., Tilley, Cartwright, Foster and Fielding.

Lieut.-Col. Rogers, President of the Historical Society, was mentioned as the great-grandson of Col. James Rogers, who commanded the Queen's Rangers in the Revolutionary War.

Sons of Loyalists preserved Canada to Britain in the war of 1812. That Canada at the threshold of the twentieth century was fighting for the Empire, that she had in the past always resisted the cultivation of republicanism, was due to the sentiments instilled in the hearts of their descendants by the heroes of 115 years ago.

At the conclusion a standing vote of thanks was given the lecturer, on motion of Mr. A. P. Poussette, seconded by Rev. Mr. Simons, each of whom warmly felicitated the distinguished visitor.

Holiday Prices

Mr. R. C. Braund, of the South End, has instituted a great holiday sale of goods, at prices much lower than the ordinary. All orders by telephone promptly attended to.

MUNICIPAL CONTEST IN FULL SWING

Ald. Denne's Chances Greatly Increased by Recent Events.

OTHER NAMES ARE MENTIONED

Ex-Ald. Best Being Urged to Stand for Mayor—It is Extremely Probable that One or More Candidates May Be in the Field.

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that Ald. Denne has consented to stand for Mayoralty honors. The unexpected retirement of Mr. McWilliams has completely altered the situation, and increased Mr. Denne's chances of election. Mr. Denne is a young man who has served a long and faithful apprenticeship at the Council board, and is in every way qualified for the position of Chief Magistrate. For several years he has been chairman of the most important Committee—the Finance—and has a perfect knowledge of the financial position of the corporation.

The people, however, require from their candidates, not only for Mayor, but also for Aldermen, a more clearly defined policy than that expressed in the short address appearing over Mr. Denne's signature. The ratepayers should be told what candidates propose to do if elected in regard to the present unsatisfactory way our engineering department is being managed; what their attitude is in regard to the enforcement of the liquor license laws by the police of the town; whether or not they are in favor of municipal ownership of the Electric Light plant and Water Works; what is to be done in regard to the construction of a railway to the north, in view of the proposed railway to Stony Lake and Apsley from Norwood These and other matters should be discussed and dealt with, so that we may know what we are voting for. Mr. Denne, we hope, will not ask the ratepayers to take his word for it, but will give us a clearly defined explanation of his position in regard to these and other matters that should engage the earnest attention of every citizen who desires to see the town prosper.

The names of ex-Ald. Best and Ald. Dawson are mentioned in connection with the Mayoralty. Mr. Best is a strong man, and has had a long experience in the Council. It is quite likely that one or both may be induced to run.

In the Council the names of Messrs. Joseph Batten, W. A. Kindred, A. J. Gough, M. Wilson and Dickson Davidson are mentioned. These are all good men, and would put new life in the affairs of the town if elected.

MARRIAGE OF HOLLAND'S YOUNG QUEEN

No Precedent for the Wedding of a Reigning Queen.

There is absolutely no precedent for the wedding of a reigning Queen of Holland, and the question, therefore, of bridesmaids, is one that has to be settled. These generally bear a part in ordinary Dutch marriages, and are chosen from among the near relations and girl friends of the bride. But it is more likely that the "lonely spendour" of the Throne will have to be emphasized, and that Queen Wilhelmina will go to the altar unattended in this way. In the Reformed Dutch there is no one—as the Archbishop of Canterbury is in England—who would by virtue of his great office would be called upon to perform the religious rites, but it may be taken as certain that the sacred ceremony will be conducted by the two Court chaplains, Dr. E. Bourlier and Dr. G. H. Van der Flier. At the conclusion of the service the Queen and her Consort will return to the Palace, where the wedding breakfast will be served, and to it all the distinguished Royal and State guests will be invited. The finest and most spacious apartment in the palace is the ball room, and should present arrangements hold good the banquet will take place here. The honeymoon is to last about a fortnight, and will be spent at Het Loo. On its termination Queen Wilhelmina and her husband will return to Amsterdam, where some receptions of officers of State and various dignitaries will be held. As to the date of the marriage, though the actual day is not yet fixed, it will be either during the last day of January or the first week in February. A very large number of invitations will be of necessity issued, for though the Dutch Royal House is not large the Queen is closely connected with the families of Waldeck-Prymont and Wied, while the bridegroom's family circle, with its allied branches, is very considerable. The capacities of the Palace and the House in the Woods will be taxed to the uttermost, and hotel accomodation is already being secured for the suits of those who attend the marriage. Every room in the Hotel du Vieux Doelen has been taken by the Court officials for the week, and the worthy burghers and shopkeepers of The Hague are counting upon a golden harvest from the sightseers and visitors expected from all parts of the Netherlands.

A RICH WEDDING GOWN.

The wedding dress is to be of surpassing richness and beauty, and is being designed, as it will be made up, in Paris. White satin is spoken of as its chief material, but its great feature will be its magnificent handworked embroideries. Stories have been afloat that these were already begun, but as I knew that the handiwork would be entirely carried out at the School of Art Needlework, in connection with the Rijks Museum at Amsterdam, I called there to enquire as to its progress, and learned that the sketches had not yet arrived, and that as soon as they did the work would be set in hand at once. The Queen takes great interest in this school, which was established about the time of her accession, and follows very closely upon the lines of our own similar organization at Kensington. Some fifteen exceedingly skilled embroideresses will be engaged upon the task, and the ladies themselves are highly delighted that it has been entrusted to them. Much satisfaction is felt in Amsterdam that the bulk of the Queen's dresses are to be made there by the leading firms of the city. Patterns and designs are to be submitted to her Majesty int he course of next week, and meantime the principal buyers are ransacking Paris and Vienna in search for ideas and the manufacturing centres for novelties likely to please their Sovereign. There is less activity among the jewellers, for the Queen's splendid inheritance of splendid stones was entirely set in order when she attained her majority, and includes magnificent tiaras and necklets. Of her Majesty's tastes in this direction, it is said that she never wears earrings, but is especially fond of beautiful rings.

PATRONIZES THE POOR.

Nothing has perhaps given wider delight to her subjects as showing her deep and womanly sympathy with the poor and the needy, than the Queen's orders for the lingerie of her trousseau from the societies for the aid of poor ladies, orphanages, and schools of The Hague, Amsterdam, and Arnhem. Among the institutions thus recognized is the Industrial School for Poor Girls at Amsterdam, which gives a practical education for a sum just sufficient to render it not a charitable association, and which enjoys the direct patronage of the Queen-mother. At The Hague, the three societies chiefly honored are the "Arbeid Adelt" which fulfills a kindly mission in helping ladies who would otherwise have little resources; the Tesselschade and the Tromp school. Little of the work is yet completed, for when it was ordered it was stated that it would not be required until early in January.—London Post.

WANT AD. CALLS GIRLS TO CHURCH.

Novel Methods Adopted by a Chicago Methodist Devine.

VIRTUES AND FOLLIES OF SEX

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Sixty-eight young women answered the "want ad" of the Rev. A. M. White, requesting them to attend the Austin Methodist Church Sunday night and listen to the pastor's sermon, "If I Were a Girl." The minister stated in his "add" that he wanted 500 girls, but after the service he said that he was more than pleased with the number who came.

The tenor of the Rev. Mr. White's remarks was that if he were a girl he should wish to be beautiful and winsome in body, mind, and soul.

The advertisment, which the minister inserted in the Vindicator, the local Austin paper, and also distributed through the suburb in handbills, was as follows:

WANTED—500 Girls under (?) years of age to attend church SUNDAY EVENING, DEC. 16, 1900, at the corner of Ohio street and North Central Avenue, to hear "The Methodist Preacher." Subject: "If I Were a Girl." The choicest seats in the house reserved.

"GIRLS" OF ALL AGES.

In the congregation were "girls" of all ages from children who could hardly peer over the backs the pews to gray haired women. But the sixty-eight young women evidently had attended in reply to the advertisement and they took to themselves in visible ways the advice and criticisms delivered from the pulpit. Some locked askance at the delineation of perfect womanhood which Dr. White declared he would realize were he a girl; some turned and eyed their sisters when the minister touched severely on the question of tight lacing; and all tittered when he condemned the caramel and chewing gum habits.

The girls looked pensive when the minister directed his wrath on light novels, which he termed "soda water fountain literature—all fizz and nothing else," and the elder women cast reproving glances at their youthful companions when the bereft his ideal girl of slang.

Dr. White told of a personal experience with a girl, which bordered on the nature of a railway train flirtation, and instantly sixty-eight young women straightened up in their seats and listened intently. But the incident had come to a quick ending because the girl in the car had suddenly used the expression "cheesy."

THINKS METHOD A SUCCESS.

"I think the 'want ad.' has been a success," said Dr. White after the sermon. "It has brought out a goodly number of new faces. It was only a novel idea to lighten the motony of the regular church notices, and even if many came out of curiosity I hope they come not in vain."

The minister prefaced his sermon by a brief statement that he disclaimed all intention of using sensational methods in using the 'want ad.,' and then addressing the young women particularly he said:

"If I were a girl I should certainly wish to be beautiful and winsome. It is attractive to be beautiful, and there is a winsomeness about it which can be found nowhere else in life. By beautiful, I mean to have a pretty face, a pretty form, a pretty dress.

"But I should pay attention tot he foundation principles of beauty, for a girl, like a boy, is a trinity of body, mind, and soul. To be beautiful I should be temperate in many things. I should be inclined to wear a dress which covered the entire body, and I should be tempearte in compressing any part of the physical being. It is sad to see girls condemning Chinese women for compressing their feet when they are guilty of a much worse crime."

Dr. White told his young friends in addition that they could be truly beautiful only be becoming Christians, by cheering father and mother, and by learning to perform all kinds of housework.

A CANADIAN GIFT TO ABERDEEN COLLEGE

Lord Strathcona Will Give £25,000, Provided £50,000 More Is Raised to Wipe Out the Debt.

London, Dec. 18.—Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, the Canadian High Commissioner, was installed to-day as Lord Rector of Aberdeen University. He met with a demonstratively cordial greeting from the students.

In his rectorial address Lord Strathcona dealt with the unity of the Empire. He referred to the gratifying growth of the Dominion of Canada, the federation of Australia, and the similar federation of South Africa, to follow the war. The speaker did not altogether favor an Imperial Parliament. He thought a consultative Imperial Council would meet all the needs.

At the close of his address Lord Strathcona announced that he would was raised within a year, to wipe out the dept of the University.

LINDSAY'S C. P. R. LINK

Line to be Extended from Bobcaygeon to Connect with the I. B. & O. R.

Saturday's Globe had the following from its Ottawa correspondent, which will be read with interest by our citizens and the people of the district:

The Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway Company will endeavor to obtain in authority from parliament to continue the construction of their railway from a point within the corporation of the village of Bobcaygeon, in the County of Victoria, thence through the said village of Bobcaygeon, the townships of Verulam, Harvey and Galmorgan, to a point on the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa, within ten miles of the village of Furnace Falls, and will ask for power to enter into an agreement with the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway Company, the Toronto Lindsay & Pembroke Railway Company, and the Pembroke Southern Railway Company, or any or either of them, fo reconveying or leasing to such company or companies the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway Company, in whole or in part, for amalgamation with said company or companies upon such terms or conditions as may be agreed upon and to change the name of the company from the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway Company to the Ontario Northeastern Railway Company, and to extend the time for expenditure of 15 per cent. of the amount of the capital stock.

In connection with the above we may state that preliminary work is under way at Bobcaygeon, and when spring arrives the construction of the line between that village and Lindsay will be pushed with all possible speed. We infer that construction work will also be begun at the Pontypool end.

STORY OF SHIPWRECK FROM LYNN CANAL

The Terrors of the Storm Beyond all Attempts at Description.

Tacoma, Dec. 18.—Among the passengers on the City of Topeka, which was wrecked in Lynn Canal, Dec. 8, was Mrs. A. J. Clark, and Tacoma, who has arrived here and tells a thrilling story of the wreck. Mrs. Clark says:

"Aout three o'clock Saturday afternoon it grew as dark as night, the wind blew a perfect hurricane, and it was bitter cold. The waves dashed eight and ten feet high over the steamer's guard rail, and nothing could have lived in those waters. They attempted to run the steamer into some harbor or retreat until the storm subsided. The terrors of that storm were beyond description. The steamer lost her bearings, and I think something was broken about the engine.

"We were sitting at a table in the saloon when the steamer struck on the reef with a terrible shock, closely followed by another more severe, and a panic was created and excited passengers rushed hither and thither, some throwing their baggage overboard.

"After the second shock the steamer keeled over on her side. Some of the men got to land and built fires and began carrying things ashore. The women waited until the tide fell and then we reached shore by stepping on the rocks.

"It snowed all Saturday night, and was very cold, and continued so until Sunday about 12 o'clock, when it moderated. One of the men walked three miles through the storm to an Indian village or encampment and got a tent for the women. But we found that it leaked. The weather changed and it began to rain.

"We stayed on the island until Tuesday noon. We had plenty to eat. Tuesday about 11 o'clock the little steamer Alert came by and found us. It transported some of us to Juneau and sent another steamer back after the rest. They expected the Topeka would break her back at low tide."

BOXERS IN SHAN SI

Pekin, Dec. 18—Count von Waldersee has issued an order assigning various districts in the neighborhood of Pekin for the supervision of the military representatives of the various powers. The order says that the extent to which the cooperation of the French and American troops can be depended upon as a matter to be determined by agreements made with the general commanding these forces under the plan of the U.S. Troops will supervise the district south-east of Pekin from the road to Shan Tsang to the road extending from Nakua Krin to Ho Si Wu. Count von Waldersee says he knows that there is a considerable force of Chinese under Gen. Ma in the northern part of the province of Shan Si, and another south of Shang Tsang, but during the severe winter that has now set in he does not expect an agressive Chinese Government; on the other hand wherever the allies leave a district for any length of time bands of robbers and Boxers will congregate. For this reason the Field Marshal desires the co-operation of all the allies to cover the various districts with strong patrols. It is now understood that a meeting of the foreign envoys will be held to-morrow.

FLAGMEN FOR R. R. CROSSINGS

A Committee Will Ask the Government to Enforce Protection at Simcoe and Charlotte St Crossings.

The Town Council met in special session last night, when there were present Mayor Kendrey and Aldermen Dawson, Clinkscale, Denne, Weir and Robertson.

The meeting was called to enable the Town Solicitor to secure the Council's authority to interview the Railway Committee at Ottawa with a view to interest the Government in enforcing some sort of protection to citizens at the Charlotte and Simcoe streets railway crossings. Council was of opinion that the maintenance of flagmen at these dangerous points would fully answer the purpose. The matter was disposed of in a resolution by Ald. Robertson, seconded by Ald. Weir, providing that the Mayor, the Town Solicitor and one other Alderman be empowered to interview the Railway Committee at Ottawa, and that Town Treasurer Brownscombe be authorized to issue a check to cover the necessary expenses connected with same.—Carried.

This committee will leave Thursday night, bearing with them sufficient evidence to show the danger of the crossings in question.

Ald. Clinkscale moved, seconded by Ald. Denne,—That the account of Mr. English for putting double windows on the town buildings be paid—Carried.

Council then adjourned.

Y. W. C. A. Entertainment

The Sunshine Society of the Y.W.C.A. had a concert last evening. Capital music was provided by Miss Vina Belleghem, Mrs. McColl, Miss Clara Belleghem, Miss Staples, the Misses White and Mr. Goldie, and Miss Alberta White delivered a pleasing recitation. Miss Collings explained the objects of the society, which are to "scatter sunshine" during the holiday season. A satisfactory collection was taken, all of which will be devoted to the worthy purpose indicated.

Death of Mrs Pope

There passed away on Monday evening, Mrs. Annie Pope, widow of the late Robert Pope. The deceased had been ill from meningitis for several days, but death was quite unexpected. Mrs. Pope was predeceased by her husband some ten years. The family have resided for some time in Peterborough, their home having been previously in Hastings and Campbellford. By Mrs. Pope's death, St. Peter's church and Ladies' Aid Society lose a most active and valued worker, and a large circle of friends will regret the loss of one whom they greatly esteemed. Mrs Pope was a daughter of Mrs. McCarthy, Simcoe street. The funeral will take place this morning at 9 o'clock from the residence on Simcoe street.

Married at St. Lukes

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Luke's church on Monday evening, when Mr. F. D. Story, of Ottawa, was united in marriage to Miss Eva V. Tivey, daughter of Mr. R. Tivey, Ashburnham. Rev. Herbert Symonds officiated, in the presence of about 40 invited guests and a large number of others. The bride was assisted by her sister, Miss Alice Tivey, and the groomsman was Mr. Will Higgins. Messrs. Harry Adams, Sidney Tivey and Harry Long were ushers. After the ceremony, which was supplemented by splendid music, the wedding party proceeded to the residence of the bride's parents, where a reception was held, and where a sumptuous repast was partaken of, followed by a few appropriate toasts, in which the bride and groom were feelingly toasted by Rev. Mr. Symonds. After the supper games and dancing were indulged in, the happy couple taking their departure for Toronto on the 4.46 train. The Times joins in extending its hearty congratulations.

SENATOR FULFORD WINS THE FIRST SKIRMISH

Master Refuses Application of Wallace for Further Particulars.

Toronto, Dec. 18.—Senator Fulford has won the first skirmish in his slander action against Hon. N. Clarke Wallace for $10,000 damages.

The suit was founded on statements made by the defendant at a political meeting in Toronto Junction in the recent elections. The Master at Osgoode Hall to-day refused the motion of Mr. Wallace that Senator Fulford be compelled to give the names of the persons who were present at the meeting, and how he was injured in his business reputation and in his office as Senator. The Master has also decided that the plaintiff need not furnish the names of those persons who have ceased to do business with him because of the alleged slanderous statements.

His Lordship announces that he came to the above decision, because "the plaintiff did not claim special damages in his statement of claim, and is not required to furnish particulars of general damage. The motion was refused with the direction that the defendant pay the costs in any event. Time for the delivery of the statement of defence was extended four days.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 19, 1900

SOUTH AFRICAN SITUATION

There is no cause for excitement or alarm over recent news from South Africa. A mistake was probably made some time ago in the very general accepting of the belief that the war was over. There are several Boer columns still in the field, possibly aggregating ten thousand men in all, possibly more, but their power is limited to action and attack that are harassing and annoying, but cannot affect the result. Nearly all their big guns are captured or destroyed, but they have a few light field guns left and probably lots of Mauser ammunition.

The great fact that renders alarm unnecessary is that the Boers who are still fighting are cut off from the outside world absolutely. They can get neither men, horses, ammunition, guns nor provisions. What they do get in the way of supplies, they must take by force from British supply trains insufficiently guarded. But that only applies to supplies, not to recruits. The prolonging of the contest indicates the nature of the men who are making it. Probably half of them are fighting with ropes about their necks, having taken the oath of allegiance and then gone back on it. They have nothing to gain and their lives to loose by a cessation of hostilities.

The very smallness of the Boer force is in itself a great aid to them. It is easier locating an elephant than a field mouse. But the commandoes will dwindle, a percentage of British bullets find their billets, and when a burgher falls there is no one to pick up his rifle. The end may be postponed, but it will come nevertheless.

CANADA AND CAVALRY REMOUNTS

A Special Committee of the Hunters' Improvement Society, a society which has done much to improve the breed of horses in England has been considering schemes of breeding horses and of establishing remount depots for the purpose of supplying the British army with horses. The Committee has made several suggestions to the Inspector-General of Remounts, advising that certain inducements should be offered to farmers to breed horses suitable for chargers. Unless something of this sort is done, it is feared that there will be fewer and fewer available horses bred each year in the British Isles and, in cases of war, there would be no remounts obtainable. The war in South Africa has proved that Canada is particularly suitable for raising horses which are of the stamp suitable for military purposes. The heavy horse often used in cavalry regiments has been outclassed by the smaller and more hardy mounts used by the Boers. The horses raised on the prairies of western Canada are active and hardy and very suitable for military purposes and it is to be hoped that the Imperial Government will not overlook the advantages of this country when considering the best fields for recruiting cavalry remounts. The Dominion Government would do well to lose no opportunity of impressing upon the Imperial authorities the superior advantages possessed by Canada for this purpose.

A HANDY ELEPHANT

He Would Rock Babies Asleep With H.. Trunk

Stretched on the floor of an annex of the Crystal Palace is all that now remains of Charlie, the performing elephant—a great dusky skin and huge frame, says the London Chronicle. Everything else has been buried, and soon the hide and skeleton, mounted after the most approved taxidermic methods, will be added to the natural history section of the palace.

Although he had two human lives against his record, Charlie was not without friends, and there are at least three men who mourn his inglorious end. One is a black attendant, who declares: "Charlie all right, poor old fellow;" and another Mr. Edgar Shrubsole, who is renovating the "specimens" at the palace, and speaks admiringly of the dead elephant as the best proportioned animal of its kind he has ever seen. But perhaps Charlie's most sincere mourner is Mr. Sanger, with whose circus the creature traveled for close upon forty years. "He was the most docile, affectionate and intelligent animal and the finest performer I have ever known," said Mr. Sanger recently to one of our representatives. "He has been up and down the country with me for thirty-eight years, and has never interfered with the public. Why, he has nursed all my children and my grandchildren, and what better evidence can there be of his docility than that? It sounds surprising, but what I mean is that he took them in his trunk and swung them gently until they fell asleep. Money will not replace him. I don't know where I could get an elephant of his size and quality as a performer." Before the final tragedy of Charlie's life took place Mr. Sanger bade him an affectionate farewell in his stall.

A Big Luminous Tree.

Every one has heard of luminous plants and shrubs, but comparatively few people are aware of the existence in Nevada of a luminous tree of large proportions. The Indians have always entertained a wholesome dread of this tree, and have a number of legends connected with it, some of which are clearly founded on the Biblical story of Moses and the burning bush. As a result of their superstition the tree has come to be known as the "witch tree," and is quite a source of interest among people for miles around. It is a valuable landmark at night, as it can be seen half a mile away, and the phosphoreus substance which exudes from it is so powerful that it is possible to read a few words of print held close to it. Several botanists and tree scientists have made journeys to inspect and report on the tree, but we have never seen a really intelligent explanation of what seems to be quite a unique phenomenon.

Sleeping to Death.

One of the most curious and fatal diseases on record is termed "the sleeping sickness of West Africa." The malady has never been known to attack anyone except negroes. As the disease progresses the victim sleeps constantly and finally dies from starvation. The first symptoms are shown when the victim gradually gives way to a feeling of listlessness, which becomes at last a profound and lethargic sleep, the first noticeable signs of which are a visible and persistent drooping of the eyelids in the daytime and while at work. In spite of all efforts to arouse him, the patient lapses into slumber. The periods of sleep increase in number and the intervals between them lessen. Soon the negro appears to be always asleep. Death occurs at the end of from six to twelve months.—New York Sun.

"I see that Russia talks of dividing the year into thirteen months of twenty-eight days each, and every month to begin on Monday."

"Whew, think of the hard luck it would be to be born on the thirteenth day of the thirteenth month of the thirteenth year of the new style, at thirteen minutes after thirteen o'clock!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Soup Makes the Soldier."

The great Emperor understood that primarily the soldier is a stomach. Primarily every man is a stomach. The whole body and brain are dependent for health and life upon the orderliness and completeness of the processes which go on in the stomach and allied organs of digestion and nutrition.

People who have been treated for disease of head, heart, lungs, liver, nerves or blood have often been treated in vain, until they began the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. When this medicine had healed the stomach and cleansed the blood, the other diseases disappeared.

"Six years ago last August I was attacked with malarial fever," writes Mr. Daniel A. Carter, of Yost, Rowan Co., N. C. "My spleen become enlarged, and I was in bed off and on for four years. I went to the doctors and some of them said I had dyspepsia, others said I had liver trouble. The last doctor I had called it chronic liver and stomach disease. So I paid out money and nothing did me any good. Two years ago I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and used ten bottles, and now I can do as big a day's work as any man."

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

THE DANGER OF BEAUTY

The Dreadful Suffering, Physically and Mentally Experienced by Women.

Beauty—when applied, at any rate to persons by the pen of the novelist the dramatist and the historian—seems to be a vastly dangerous holding and instead of bringing in its trend that superb joy voiced by the dictum it carries with it a burden which is indeed a very hard lot to bear.

Pick up any novel at random and you will read that the only persecuted creature in it, to speak by the card, is the beautiful young heroine. It is her beauty which has attracted the villain, like the bright flame which attracts the moth, and made him act as a brute to her.

Beauty in novels, freely interpreted, means dreadful suffering, physical and mental; it means a deadly poison which is as fatal as the sting of a viper and which permeates the body and soul of the average heroine of the modern novel. It brings no joy except at the end of the book.

The penalty for being beautiful would seem to be more exacting and more disagreeable than the disappointments experienced by the ugly. It is because the modern heroine of books, or of the stage, is described as a sort of daughter of the gods in form and build and looks that you take interest in her and follow her doings, her sufferings, through every page of a novel or through every scene and act of a play.

Leave fiction for fact. Scour the village of the United States from Maine to California and you will find, with very few exceptions, that nearly all can tell the story of how once upon a time there lived in the village a beautiful girl who fell a slave to the mad delirium of love and after many years came back a wreck. There is recorded in the unwritten archives of nearly every village such a story as that told in one form or another.

But this is not the story of a village merely; it is the history of the world.

It was this evil fate of beauty that wrecked Cleopatra, who in turn wrecked Marc Antony, broke the heart of Octavia and brought the horrors of civil war upon imperial Rome. The great Julius fell a victim to her exquisite charms at a single interview.

Cleopatra was a beautiful and magnificent creature, and her charms never failed to captivate and conquer those who passed before her. She was not only all this, but her personal beauty seemed to have influenced her mind intellectually in a marked degree, for she was a woman of very high attainments. She was as intelligent as she was beautiful. She was a capital musician, skilled in several languages, a good singer and a brilliant conversationalist. No woman has surpassed her in cunning.

How she died is a mystery. The story of the asp biting her to death is a myth, but authorities agree that she died a violent death by her own hand —a hard price for such great beauty as hers.

There is the pitiful story of Julia Donna, who, in her maiden days a poor, humble girl was, on account of her great personal charms, raised from a common sphere to the highest that imperial Rome could offer. She became the wife of Severus, and thus Empress of Rome. Her beauty was her evil fate. She lent herself to the flattery of courtiers, permitted all and sundry to approach her with their sentiments; finally, she fell back into the position she came from, but not before she had been stabbed in the arm by a son, who intended the blow, however for his brother.

Disappointed of all hope of ever becoming again the power she once was in Rome, deserted by those who brought her to her misery, forsaken by her friends, she ended her days by starvation.

There was yet another beautiful Roman Julia, who, through her extreme beauty, was introduced to and became the wife of a famous Senator when she was only sixteen. Between that tender age and four-and-twenty she lived up to the traditions of the times, fell a victim to the conceit of her own charms, became the prey of flatterers conspired against her husband, and was finally put to a violent death.

The story of the captivating Helen of Troy is interesting, and is on a par with that of the beautiful women just alluded to. Helen of Troy was tied to a tree and strangled—a condign punishment for the errors she fell into on account of her beauty. She was responsible for the many years' seige of Troy, her husband, Menelaus, being determined to revenge himself on Paris. It serves as an object lesson for those women who repine because they are not beautiful.

Josephine, the unfortunate wife of Napoleon I., was said by her husband to be most truly a lovely woman, refined, affable, charming; a goddess of the toilet, kind and humane," yet because no son was born to them Napoleon divorced her—an overwhelming sorrow. She died an absolutely crushed and saddened woman.

Famines of Modern Times.

The worst famines of modern times were the famine in Ireland in 1846-7, in which 1,000,000 people perished; the Indian famine of 1866, which claimed 1,450,000 victims; the Indian famine of 1877, in which 500,000 people perished, and the great famine in China in 1878, in which 9,500,000 died.

Sahara is Not a Barren Waste.

The Sahara is not a barren waste, as is popularly supposed. Not long ago 2,000,000 goats and 200,000 camels in the Algerian Sahara alone, and the oases furnished 1,500,000 date palms.

Need of Pure Air.

In order that sleep may perform its legitimate work of restoration it demands that its conditions and environment shall offer no obstacle to its accomplishment. Sleep demands a purer atmosphere than the waking hours of life. Awake and at work we are somewhat on the defensive, but we yield ourselves into the arms of slumber and are at the mercy of unseen foes lurking in secret hiding places about our rooms, close beside our beds and beneath our very pillows.

Scrofula the Cause.

Eczema, catarrh, hip disease, white swelling, and even consumption have their origin in scrofulous conditions. With the slightest taint of scrofula in the blood, there is no safety. The remedy for this disease in all its forms is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which goes to the root of the trouble and expels all impurities and disease germs from the blood.

The best family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

Those who have had only glimpses into Bohemia can scarcely imagine the real heartsickness of a fuller knowledge of it, for the first glimpses are apt to seem most fascinating; but any man who knows Bohemia thoroughly is apt to have a very grave face as he hears a woman say so. No one can live her best in Bohemia; it is far easier to live your worst there.—Ladies Home Journal.

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 409 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

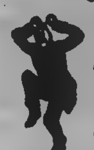
Convincing Arguments



ARE necessary nowadays to induce people to go out of the beaten track in buying Xmas presents. We have just received a splendid lot of books for the holidays. Call and see our holiday goods at prices never before heard of in Peterborough.

Times Bookstore.

A Good Suggestion

The Brockville Times makes the following timely suggestion: "If the fellows who swear off on New Year's Day will put a little time limit next New Year's Day on their resolution to abstain from intoxicants, and just say that they will not drink until the end of the twentieth century they will find before the end of five years if they stick to their resolution that they will have organized the vastest practical prohibition movement that has been."

May Have Seen

Cobourg Post:—We learn that several gentlemen in town, together with some American capitalists, intend looking over the ground between Cobourg and the C. P. R., with the view of organising a company to construct and electric railway at an early date. This is a proper move, and we hope that some action will be taken soon. It there is money in such enterprises, we see no reason why local capitalists should not be among the first to take hold of the work and derive the benefit. More will be learned later.

Aid the Children

The Children's Aid Society by reason of their work, has a considerable list of children who could be greatly benefitted and delighted by old toys, clothes, food, sweetmeats, etc. Mr. Cochrane, the agent of the C. A. S. will see to the distribution personally. Those intending to send things will confer a favour by leaving them at the Shelter before noon of December 24th, or if they will notify the Society, means will be found for sending for them.

Worthy of Note

No better proof of the value of Powley's Liquified Ozone as an antiseptic and germdestroying preparation can be given than the mortality statements of the last six months in the Dominion. In the centers where Powley's Liquified Ozone has a large sale, such diseases as consumption. Bright's disease of the kidneys, catarrh, scarlet fever, diphtheria and typhoid fever show a marked decrease in fatal cases. This preparation destroys disease germs by producing a heavily condition of the system in which they cannot live. Three prominent clergymen in the Methodist church in Canada, Rev. Chown, Rev. Dr. Parker and Rev. Dr. Fawcett, pronounce Powley's Liquified Ozone to be a marvellous preparation. Dr. Fawcett believes it to have saved his life.—From the Toronto Globe.

An Informal Evening

The men of the congregation of St. John's held an informal evening on Monday night in the Guild room. The affair was well attended and much enjoyed by those present. The programme took the form of social interspersed with song, speech and other little entertainment, which went to make up an ideal evening of enjoyment. Among those who took part in the entertainment were Messrs. Theo Barnett, Fred. Skitch, W Stocker, W. G. McMullan, Norman Bell, H. Cluxton, Jas. Brown, Mr. Hodson, R. M. Dennistoun, C. J. Rogers and Major Miller, Sergt-Major Britton and Sergt. Sturgeon. Mr. Johnston's address on the object of these meetings was well timed and received a good hearing. Too much cannot be said of the able talent displayed throughout the evening. The genial secretary, Mr. A. A. Bellingsheed, did much to promote the success of the evening by making every one feel much at home.

THE SNOW BY-LAW.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—There is an old saying that you may not bid the Old Boy good morrow till you meet him. Here is the 18th of December with hardly a snow-flake, and yet there is wrangling over the manner of cleaning the sidewalks. Old Probs says there is no cold weather in sight. What if there should be no snow all winter, to speak of? Meanwhile it is a languid interest that any one can take int he question per se, whether the snow, when it does come, if at all, shall be shovelled off the walks be hand on swept by the horse rakes called snow ploughs that have been in use for the last quarter century. One alderman of modern ideas calls the snow plough an "antiquated" implement, which ought to give way to the up-to-date fashion of turning the men, women and children out to do this portion of road-work, whether they like or not, or able to try conclusions with the "new" implements of pick and shovel. Whosoever said that could not have lived long enough in Peterborough to know that the snow plough was invented as a relief to the people from what they felt to be an intolerable burden and nuisance. That is what it means to have policemen coming to the doors with a peremptory order to the inmates to turn out in all winter weathers to work at street labor! Such a system may furnish one more excuse for a large number of police officers patrolling about. It may give the staff an enlarged field for bossing, with demands for extra pay and more assistants to order here and there. It might result in a better clearance of the snow, (should it But the citizens would be confronted with an unpleasant if not arduous task. A family of robust youngsters might not feel it as an impediment, but where the family is made up of girls with a sickly mother and perhaps an invalid father, or a husband and father who is hard at work from daylight till dark, it makes a difference. He would feel it as a nuisance to be warned by a policeman to shovel snow under fear of a summons to the police court. Any one who goes before Mr. Dumble knows what to expect in reprisal of delinquency! No one minds his hard dealings with the wife-beaters and child-starvers of the community. He cannot sock it to such fellows too severely. No doubt were the myrmidons of the law given free rein under a proper and drastic snow-clearing by-law, the business of court would boom and make a largely increased financial showing. The citizens who neglected or flatly refused the job of snow-cleaning would be "had up" in batches, and dollars upon dollars accrue to the exchequer. All things work together for the good of the office holders, and if they do not work of themselves, they can be made to. The town has got to be well-governed, willy-nilly!

Mr Kennedy's Success

Harriston Saturday Night: Last night's meeting at the Methodist Church was a glorious gathering, and Evangelists White and Kennedy must have felt gratified at the grand outpouring of the Holy Spirit made manifest as a result of their earnest work. There was a proposition that the Evangelists should leave to-day, but when the idea of their going away was put to a vote of the people by Rev. R. Burns they rose en masse and demonstrated that they desired these two fine men to continue their work here. As a result Mr. Kennedy will preach in the Methodist Church to-morrow morning especially to the young converts, and Mr. Whyte may also be prevailed upon to stay and continue the meetings another week. To-morrow the fellowship meeting will begin at 10 o'clock and the regular song service at 10:45. There will be a mass meeting in the church at 4 o'clock, and another meeting at 8:15 p. m.

Chronic Rheumatism

Powley's Liquified Ozone

CURES LEWIS GLEASON, ESQ., OF CASTLETON, ONT., OF THIS TERRIBLE DISEASE

When the system becomes filled with Uric Acid, the delicate membranes of the body are irritated and inflamed. The natural oils of the joints are eaten by the acid and regular torture sets in. The only way to treat the disease is to remove the cause. Germs produce the poisonous acid and Powley's Liquified Ozone kills the germs. Read this testimonial. "For the last 20 years I have been troubled with that distressing disease called Chronic Rheumatism. For days and weeks I have been confined to my bed, my joints stiff and swollen; my hands so bad I could not use them. I could not sleep at nights and had palpitation of the heart. I got medicine from the leading physicians and took all kinds of patent medicines, but got nothing that did me any good. I purchased two bottles of Powley's Liquified Ozone, believing from what I heard from others that this medicine might take hold of my disease. After I had taken the two bottles I began to find relief. I purchased six more bottles. After taking the eight bottles the swelling left my joints, my hands are now as limber as they were twenty years ago, and I feel like a new man. Rheumatism, stiffness of the joints are all gone, and I consider myself cured. It also cured me of the worst kind of kidney trouble. Any one suffering from the above disease write or come and see what Ozone has done for me. In fact, I cannot say too much towards the value of your medicine. Signed

LEWIS GLEASON, Castleton, Ont.

"Pride Goeth Before a Fall."

Some proud people think they have strong constitutions, and ridicule the idea of disease. Such people neglect their health, let the blood run down, and their stomach, kidneys and liver become deranged.

Don't be foolish about your health. Use Hood's Sarsaparilla and you will prevent the fall and save your pride.

Running Sore—"My mother was troubled with rheumatism in her knee for a number of years, and it broke out into a running sore. She took three bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla and is now well. Hood's Olive Ointment helped to heal the eruption." MRS. JOHN FARR, Cloverlawns, Ancaster, Ont.

Bowel Trouble—"My mother, Mrs. John Reid, suffered with bowel trouble for four years and tried different doctors, but obtained no relief until she began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Three bottles of this medicine entirely cured her." LIZZIE REID, Tracy Station, N. B.

Scrofula—"An abscess on my hip was lanced and never healed. Another broke out on the other hip and the next year three more appeared. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and it helped me. Since taking six bottles of the medicine I have not been troubled, and previous to this treatment one of the eruptions had discharged for seven years." MRS. FRANKLIN H. TEED, Freeport, N. S.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF THE

Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the rate payers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistent with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,
T H. G. DENNE.

BOERS AFRAID OF CANADIAN CORPS

When the Colonials Advanced in Attack They Shot to Kill--Praised by Officers.

Montreal, Dec. 19—Sir Charles Ross who, with Mr. Charles R. Hosmer, and other prominent Canadians, was interested in the Central Star and War Eagle mines, and is one of the principal owners of the West Kootenay Power & Light Company, which supplies light and power to the mines about Rossland, is now in the city on his way to British Columbia.

He was on the staff of General Hutton during the war, and, referring to the Canadian contingents, he said it is impossible to speak too highly of the work done by the colonials. Among the officers in the army, the Canadians and the New Zealanders have the reputation of being among the very best mounted troops serving in South Africa.

"I can speak Dutch, and had occasion to talk with a great many Boer prisoners taken on the road north. They said that the Canadian Mounted Rifles and the New Zealand Mounted Infantry had a great reputation. The Boers were afraid of them, and complained that these two corps were composed of men who when they advanced against them shot to kill."

EXTRAVAGANT NEW YORK.

Extravagance and Recklessness of New York's Government.

New York, Dec. 19.—The New York City tax budget for 1901 is one hundred million dollars. This means that every man, woman and child in the city will be taxed at the rate of $30 per head for the support of certain branches of the municipal government for the year. This is double the cost of the government of Mexico with its 15,000,000 inhabitants, including the cost of Mexico's army and navy and about double that of the Dominion of Canada. It is almost a third of the cost of the government of the German empire, including the support of that country's immense army, its great navy and its railroads, and the interest on its debt, and Germany has a population of 52,000,000. It is a quarter as great as the cost of the government of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, including its army, its gigantic navy and the interest on its debt, and the United Kingdom's population is in the neighborhood of 40,000,000. France's burden of taxation is crushing that wealthy nation of 40,000,000 of inhabitants, with its great army and navy, and the interest on its colossal debt—the largest that any country in the world carries—yet New York City's government costs a fifth as much as that of France.

Looted Mail Matter.

Mr. J. J. Turner showed the Times yesterday a latter which had been written by his son, Mr. "Chill" Turner, on June 8th last. The envelope and contents bore evidence of rough usage. On the front was stamped "recovered from mails looted by the enemy." The letter was water-soaked and almost unreadable.

England to Press Turkey

Constantinople, Dec. 18.—Owing to the success of the United States in pressing claims for compensation in connection with the Armenian disorders, Great Britain is now urging the Ottoman government to pay similar claims put forward by British subjects. It is expected that energetic means will be taken to obtain a settlement.

Turkey From Canada

Liverpool, Dec. 19—The Cunard liner Saxonia disembarked here Monday its full complement of passengers from Boston, who will spend their holidays in England and on the continent. The vessel also brought 6,000 turkeys from America, most of which came from Canada. On its last two trips the Saxonia brought 34,000 barrels of apples, which constituted a record shipment.

The season is in other respects a record-breaking one, for the mails from the United States and Canada are so heavy that the postal authorities have had to make special arrangements for handling them.

POWERS AGREED.

Pekin, Dec. 19—At a meeting of the foreign Ministers late this evening everything in regard to the terms of the joint note was agreed to, including the British modifications. The Ministers refuse to disclose anything in connection with the matter, believing that the home governments should give the particulars to the public.

Presentation at the Snowden House

A brown mule from Kentucky U.S.A. arrived at the C. P. R. freight station at 2p.m., yesterday, consigned to Mr. John Currans, and which attracted a great deal of attention.

It was presented by Mr. Currans at 6 p.m., as a Christmas gift to a "Brown" guest at the Snowden House. Mr. Currans intends to give mules every Christmas to his Peterborough friends.

An Unpopular Marriage

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 19.—The marriage of a white man to a colored woman yesterday caused a good sized riot in Lower Allegheny to-day. Richard Zoller, a cousin of the groom, together with the father, tried to break into the house where the couple were, while the large crowd numbering nearly a thousand, encouraged the besiegers with shouts of "Kill them," "Lynch them."

Port Hope Pioneer Dead

Port Hope, Dec. 19.—Francis Beamish, one of Port Hope's oldest citizens, died yesterday morning. He was 87 years of age, and had resided in the vicinity of the town since he was three years of age. His parents settled at Amherst, in Hamilton township, and the son was educated at the Church of England school taught by Rev. Mr. McAuley and Mr. Ovens, and attended by pupils from as far west as Little York. Mr. Beamish in the early thirties studied medicine and practiced for a time in New York. In 1839 he opened a general store in Port Hope. Afterwards he conducted flax, flour and plaster mills, and at one time owned eight sawmills in Hope township. He built the first steamboat which sailed the waters north of Lakefield and was largely interested in the mercantile marine of Lake Ontario, having at one time either owned or partly owned the following schooners, viz: Oddfellows, John Wesley, Maid of the Mill, Leander, Trade Wind and Eliza Quinlan. He was Mayor of Port Hope for several years and contested East Durham in the Conservative interest for the House of Commons twenty years ago. He married Eliza Jane Elliott, daughter of the late Major Elliott, who represented this district in the old Parliament of Upper Canada. Mrs. Beamish died some years ago. Mr. Beamish was a leading member of the Methodist church.

SMALLPOX IN WINONA,

Two Hundred and Fifty New Cases Reported.

Winona, Minn., Dec. 19.—The smallpox epidemic in this city, which has continued for a number of weeks, still prevails and with an increased number of victims. During the last week there have been 250 new cases in the city. There has been no death up to date, as the disease has been of a mild form, but with the coming of the cold snap the ailment has been in a more severe form. The worst cases have been put into improvised pest-houses.

The first pesthouse used was formerly a dwelling, and although situated nearly on the edge of the city is surrounded by a number of inhabited residences. The people living in the neighborhood objected so strongly, threatening to burn the house unless the patients were removed, and the health authorities now use a house originally intended for a hospital which is situated in a valley next to a cemetery. It was owing to the unpleasant closeness to the graveyard that it was not used until the authorities were actually forced to do so. Another house in a different part of the city has also been fitted up and will be used if necessity requires.

All of the public buildings have been fumigated, as well as every house and a factory where the disease has made its appearance. The City Council has held several executive sessions at which the smallpox epidemic was discussed. The doctors who at first pronounced the epidemic a mere scare have begun to change their minds, and there are now only one or two doctors in the city who still declare it is not smallpox.

AN OTTAWA MAN WITH THREE WIVES

Dispute Over His $300,000 Estate Now Before the Courts.

Toronto, Dec. 19—The litigation over the $300,000 estate left by Hebron Harris, the Ottawa contractor, who died in Syracuse on June 24th last, was before Mr. Justice Robertson at Osgoode Hall this morning. The circumstances of the case are of an extraordinary character.

After Hebron Harris' death three persons came forward claiming to be his wife. Mrs. Harris No. 1, named Elizabeth, lives at Burritt's Rapids; Mrs. Harris No. 2 lives in Kingston, and is said to have been married to the deceased for twenty years; Mrs. Harris No. 3 lives in Syracuse; she was living with her alleged husband at the time of his death. As far as is known, Mr. Harris left only two children, John and Charles, the children of wife No. 2.

Two days before his death Mr. Harris made a will leaving two-thirds of his property to his nephews and one-third to his nieces. Wife No. 1 was given an annuity of $300, but the other wives, and the two sons were cut off without a cent. They attack the will as being the result of undue influence, and they assert that it was drawn up when the testator was in a condition of coma, absolutely unable to know the effect of what he was doing. This is supported by the fact that the will received only a cross in the place of the signature of the deceased, and the testimony of Dr. Kinne, who attended him.

A motion was made to-day on behalf of the Administrators under the will, to appoint Hebron Harris, a nephew of the deceased, to represent the other nephews and nieces, and the offspring of those who have died. There are about ten or fifteen of them, but the exact number is not known. They are scattered throughout Manitoba and Washington territory. Mr. D. L. McCarthy stated he wanted that done, because it was desirable that the action be properly constituted before it went down for trial.

Mr. W. H. Blake, for the sons of wife No. 2 objected to the appointment saying that the nephews and nieces surviving would benefit by the will if it were declared valid, while the children of the deceased nephews and nieces would benefit if the court found that the deceased died intestate. It would be folly to appoint one man to represent such diverse and contrary interests. He thought it was an unusual scheme of a man being bribed into litigation, who said "I have no interests, but if you will make it worth my while I will become a party." The names of all the parties interested had not yet been ascertained.

His Lordship remarked that the case was a very jumbled up affair, and at his suggestion, counsel would try to come to an agreement among themselves. If they failed the court would try to help them. Counsel expressed themselves as satisfied with his arrangement.

During the argument Mr. Blake stated that his learned friends were unkind enough to attack the status of his clients, the sons of wife No. 2.

His Lordship—If she is the second wife it is not without reason.

Mr. Blake—I don't think he married wife No. 1. It was not a statutory marriage.

The estate consists chiefly of property in Ontario, and is estimated to be worth $300,000. The deceased also left some property in Syracuse.

WEAKENING IN THE ESSEX GAS SUPPLY

Users Notified That They Must Prepare to use Some Other Fuel.

Windsor, Dec. 19 — The natural gas supply, which has for some time past been such a factor in Essex, is becoming depleted, and the company which controls the gas output, has shut off the large manufacturing establishments, and other institutions which are using an immense amount of gas in the United States. The Walkerville waterworks are now using coal, and other factories will soon be notified to get other fuel than gas.

At the Leamington wells the pressure ran down to 140 pounds, and other signs of weakening is given.

The factories at Kingsville may have to close down, as there is no other fuel available. James Brown, manager of the Kingsville Woollen Mills, was in Windsor yesterday interviewing M. K. Cowan, M.P., with a view to having the Canadian Government take a hand in the dispute and compel the company to live up to its agreement, which is that so long as gas is exported to Detroit, manufacturers near the wells are to be supplied with gas at the same rate as given Detroit.

Mr. Cowan promised to lay the matter before the Government at once.

PETERBOROUGH'S LOSS LINDSAY'S GAIN.

Commencement of the Construction of the Bobcaygeon Railway.

PETERBOROUGH'S GREAT MISTAKE.

The Directors of the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon and Pontypool Railway Turned the First Sod near Bobcaygeon on Tuesday in the presence of the Lindsay and Bobcaygeon Councils.

For the second time in the long period of about thirty years the people of Bobcaygeon and surrounding district on Tuesday enjoyed the privilege of witnessing the turning of the first sod preparatory to the construction of a line of railway.

The first line projected was intended to connect the village and district with Peterborough, then headquarters for almost the whole of the trade of the north country, and the first sod was turned with appropriate ceremonies by the late Mossom Boyd, who had assisted the scheme in every possible way. Peterborough failed to realize the importance of the enterprise, however, and so lost the trade it had held so long; it was transferred to Lindsay as a result of the construction of the Victoria branch to Haliburton, and the excellent steamer service maintained with Bobcaygeon.

On Tuesday the first sod for a line of railway between Bobcaygeon and Lindsay, and thence to the C.P.R. main line at Pontypool, was turned by a son of the late Mossom Boyd, under the most hopeful auspices for its speedy construction. Such work as it is possible to do will be proceeded with during the winter, and as the municipalities interested have already voted liberal bonuses, and other financial arrangements are on the eve of being satisfactorily completed, if not actually so, we may look forward to the line being pushed with the utmost vigor when spring arrives.

This is not gratifying news to the people of Peterborough. Had any reasonable effort been made by our Council and public men, the Chemong line might have been extended to Bobcaygeon. Indeed we question if it is yet too late to secure the completion of this line.

The construction of a line of railway from Norwood to Apsley, via Stony Lake, is almost we believe assured, so that there will be a railway on each side of us reaching into the back country, and taking the trade that is legitimately ours.

There never was a period in the history of the town when good, strong men, were more needed at the Council Board. Some action must be taken without delay looking to the construction of a railway to the north.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL

Contests in Several Districts are Assured.

Several of the Present Members will be Returned by Acclamation—Hot Contests in Other Divisions.

The nominations for the County Council will take place on Monday next, in the various districts, under the supervision of the nominating officers appointed by the County Council. Polling will take place two weeks later:

No. 1 Division: This division is composed of Otonabee and Ashburnham. The present representatives are Messrs. Anderson and Peck, and no better men ever sat at the Council Board. They will most likely be returned by acclamation. Mr. J. M. Drummond is returning officer for this division and nominations will be held at Keene.

No. 2 Division: This division comprises the Townships of Ennismore, Smith and North Monaghan. The old members are Messrs. Geo. W. Fitzgerald and Joseph Forster, the latter being Warden. Mr. Fitzgerald will be re-elected, as he deserved to be, for he has been a faithful representative. Mr. Forster will not again be a candidate, he having moved to town to live. The new candidates will be Messrs. T. M. Hunter, Reeve of North Monaghan, J. G. Armstrong, Reeve of Smith, and P. Costello, Reeve of Ennismore. Mr. Hunter is a capable man and well fitted for the position, as is also Mr. Armstrong. Mr. Costello has also had considerable municipal experience. Mr. Geo. E. Elliott will be returning officer in this division.

No. 3 Division: Comprising Burleigh, Anstruther, Galway, Harvey and Cavendish. The present representatives are Messrs. T. G. Eastland, Apsley, and Robert Shaw, Harvey. This district will probably return the present members by acclamation. Mr. Eastland has been a capital representative, and has always been keenly alive to the interests of his constituents. He is very popular, and there is no man in the north country who can beat him. Mr. Shaw is also equally good, and will, without a doubt be re-elected. He is ever mindful of the interests of his district. Mr. M. Mansfield, who is spoken of as a probable candidate, told the Times a few days ago that he was not in the field. Mr. P. W. C. Shewen, of Apsley, is returning officer in this district, and nominations will be held at Tedford's house, Burleigh.

No. 4 Division: Comprising Norwood, Havelock, Belmont and Methuen and Asphodel. The present members, Messrs. J. B. Pearce and Wm. Duck, of Norwood are seeking re-election, the new man being Mr. S. S. Joyce, of Havelock. It is said that Mr. John Brown has retired from the contest, although this has not been confirmed. Mr. Robert Anderson, of Belmont, is also mentioned as a candidate. Mr. W. E. Roxburgh, of Norwood, is returning officer, and the nominations will be held at the town hall, Norwood.

No. 5 Division: Comprising Lakefield, Douro and Dummer. There is sure to be a contest. The present members, Messrs. Hawthorne and Crowe, will again be in the field. Mr. W. H. Casement, of Lakefield, will also be a candidate and will doubtless be elected. He has had long experience in the County Council, and is one of the last and most level-headed gentlemen that ever sat at the Council board. Mr. Garbutt, of Douro, is also mentioned. Mr. Garbutt, is popular, and will make a splendid run. The old members are capable men, but will have to fight hard to again win. Mr. Samuel Edwards is returning officer, and nominations will be held in the town hall, Lakefield.

CLAIMS TO BE NAPOLEON III.

Tailor in Germany Says He is Son of the Duke of Reichstadt.

New York, Dec. 19.—The Third Napoleon in direct descent—for that Louis Napoleon who mounted the throne of France as Napoleon III was only a nephew of the great founder of the family—is a tailor in Chemnitz, Germany.

He is the only son of the ill-fated Duke of Reichstadt—of "L'Aiglon," the "Eaglet," whose pathetic story Bernhardt and Maude Adams have portrayed on the stage. The claims of the tailor are so well established that Baron Legoux, chairman of the French Imperial party, is preparing a home in Paris for the direct descendant of France's greatest ruler. Baron Legoux is raising a fund of 1,000,000 francs for him, and he will live on the interest of this fortune in a little palace on the Champs Elysee, not far from the site of the old Tuileries, where his father saw the light.

Prince Eugene Joseph Napoleon's first recollections go back to the town of Wurzen, in Germany, where he lived as the adopted son of a tailor named Ludwig.

When he had grown to manhood his foster father told him that he came into the family in 1843, and that previous to that time he had resided with his mother at the palace.

Documents which he carried were submitted to men of note. They bore no name. They were written in Latin. In the place for the name was written, "State secret in the keeping of Minister of Imperial House, Hofburg." The paper was later confiscated by Prince Metternicht.

Ludwig has since been striving to gain recognition as the grandson of the great Napoleon, but few outside of the imperialists of Paris have given him serious consideration.

Will Not Name a Leader

Winnipeg, Man., Dec. 19. — Special—Sir Charles Tupper in an interview says:—"As I have already stated in the east, I have given up my active part in political life, and it would certainly be out of place on my part to say anything of the future leader of the party. Any suggestion on this subject would be quite indelicate on my part. I have resigned my position as leader of the party and could not suggest my successor."

"Do you consider the result of the Dominion election as at all discouraging to the Conservative party?

"No, on the contrary, we hold a very strong position. The provinces of Ontario and Manitoba have testified in favor of our party and it is quite evident that Conservatives have the confidence of these two provinces. In many cases not only were large Government majorities wiped out, but Conservative candidates were elected by considerable majorities."

SERGT. METCALFE'S MARVELOUS ESCAPE

Told the Boers They Could Have His Valuables Only by Killing Him.

Kingston, Ont., Dec. 19—The first information touching the nature of the wound received by Sergt. Fred Metcalfe, Royal Canadian Dragoons, has just come to hand. The engagement took place on Nov. 6th, four Canadians, including Corp. Filson, being killed, and fourteen wounded. The story of the bravery of the small band of Canadians is told by trooper Charles Kay, son of John McKay, this city.

Metcalfe and his comrades made a most magnificent fight, refusing to surrender, though repeatedly called upon by the Boers to do so. Finally, however, they were overwhelmed by superior force of numbers, but only then when their ammunition had become totally exhausted.

The Boers took Metcalf's rifle and side arms, and wanted to take his watch and valuables, but these he absolutely refused to give up, saying that if they wanted them they would first have to kill him. Though wounded by a bullet in the hip, and unable to walk, Metcalf managed to escape, and by crawling on his hands and knees and rolling over and over he managed to cover the thirteen miles separating him from Gen. Smith-Dorien's column.

WEATHER NOTES

Probs: Fresh westerly winds, fair and mild. To-day: Fair, not much change in temperature.

Mild weather is now fairly general in all parts of the Dominion and there is still no indication of a change to colder again.

DE WET HAS NOW ABOUT 4,500 MEN

He is Northwest of Ladybrand, and an Attack on Winburg is Expected at any Moment.

Krugersdorp, Transvaal, Sunday, Dec. 16—A pitched battle is imminent between the British under Gen. Clements, who has been reinforced, and the Boers under Gen. Delarey.

London, Dec. 19.—The news which comes from South Africa is sufficiently serious to cause appearances of excitement to all quarters. General Knox has been obliged to drop the pursuit of General De Wet, who, with 4,500 men threatens Winburg. The original force of 700 men who crossed into Cape Colony has been increased to the number of 3,000, and Philipstown, to the northwest of Colesberg, is in danger of capture. The British in the southern portion of the Orange River Colony have therefore a strong Boer force both in front and in rear, a situation which may be productive of far-reaching results. A last desperate attempt of the Boers to stir up a second revolt among the Afrikanders of Northern Cape Colony is in progress. This effort is undoubtedly the forlorn hope of the Boers. Whether it will be attended with the success which attends only one forlorn hope out of a hundred, time will show. It scarcely seems likely that the residents of Northern Cape Colony, after seeing the ravages of war and after being released from them for many months, will again wish to dawn down upon themselves the wretched times of Stormberg and Colesberg. The fact that the invaders have no guns does not render their attempt very serious unless they gain access to some hidden store of weapons and munitions south of the Orange River. All depends upon the attitude of the inhabitants. Should they join the invading force in any number a crisis may arise, and one which may prove embarassing as the operations in the same neighborhood of the early war days. The probabilities, however, point strongly to the failure and capture of the invading forces, though one or two Paardebergs may be neccessary before this is accomplished. The analogy of history teaches, however, that such efforts as those now being made by the Boers are likely to end in disaster, the case of the young pretenders' invasion of England being a case in point.

SITUATION BECOMES SERIOUS.

London, Dec. 19.—It is reported this afternoon that Gen. Knox has been forced to abandon the pursuit of Gen. De Wet, owing to the situation created in Cape Colony by the Boers crossing the Orange River. It is said that 3,000 Republicans have entered Cape Colony, and that a considerable number have reached Philipstown. The report adds that De Wet, with about 4,500 men, is northwest of Ladybrand, and that an attack on Winburg is momentarily expected.

KRUGER DEPENDS ON GOD.

Amsterdam, Dec. 19.—Mr. Kruger arrived here to-day. He was met at the railroad station by the municipal and communal authorities. Speeches were exchanged in the royal waiting room. A bouquet was presented to Mr. Kruger, whose appearance was each time the signal for rounds of applause.

Very large crowds of people lined the route to the Town Hall, where the Burgo-master made a speech, in which he said he hoped Mr. Kruger would succeed in his efforts to secure honorable peace. Mr. Kruger, in his reply, said:—

"In 1881 we obtained our independence, but that honorable action has been obliterated. The invaders are ten against one, but we await the day when God will make known His will. We rely on His help more than on Emperors and Princes. I have not come as a fugitive, but by order of my Government with the object of terminating a war in which the British employ women and children against us."

A luncheon followed. Mr. Kruger subsequently visited the headquarters of the South African refugees.

HERZOG'S INVASION.

Cape Town, Dec. 19.—There is confirmation of the news that the Boers have again invaded Cape Colony. A Herzog, crossed the Orange river near Aliwal North on Saturday and started south. On Sunday Brabant's corps and the Cape Rifles, who are patrolling Northern Cape Colony, encountered the invading commando between Odendaalstroom and Bethulie. They headed the Boers off and pursued them, but were forced to fall back.

Herzog's commando is 700 strong. The object of the invasion is to incite the Cape Dutch to rebellion, and to recruit fighting men to help them in the Boer country.

All along the northern border of Cape Colony much disaffection exists. The British suffered severely in a fight on December 13th, near Rouxville, thirty miles north of Aliwal North. They lost 11 killed, 15 wounded and 48 taken prisoners.

CUT HIS WAY THROUGH.

Cape Town, Dec. 18.— Commandant Herzog, who last week tried to break through the British lines at Springkants nek, reinforced by the commando of General Detfil, has cut his way through at Enubirt nek. He attacked the outposts at dawn, killed 15, including two officers, and captured two 30-pounders. His success was due to the fact that the burghers were clad in khaki, and the British again mistook them for comrades.

"MAC" FORCES BOERS BACK.

London, Dec. 19.—"The Boers have raided Cape Colony at two seperate points one hundred miles distant," says the Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail. "One commando advanced upon Philipstown, a short distance west of Colesberg. The other, supposed to be Hertzog's commando, crossed the Orange river between Odendaalstroom and Bethulie, northwest of Burghersdorp, its objective apparently being Craddock. General Macdonald is engaging the invaders, who have no guns, 20 miles west of Burghersdorp. The latest news is that they are being slowly forced back to the Orange river, where a warm reception is being prepared for them."

A BOER MAHDI.

Cape Town, Dec. 19.—The burghers in the neighborhood of Thaba N'Chu are leaving their farms and joining commandoes. A new prophet of the Transvaal has arisen. He is known as "Liam," and he is riding over the country, prophesying the doctrine of insurrection. His crusade is having effect, and General Kitchener has placed a price on his head.

APPEALS TO EMPLOYERS.

London, Dec. 19.—The Queen, through the War Office, has sent a message to the irregular troops expressing her grateful appreciation of their services in South Africa. Her Majesty says she relies upon those who are still employed to continue their aid to the regular army. Concurrently with the publication of the message the War Office appeals to employers to continue their employes who are serving in South Africa, the prospect of re-employment when they return.

HORNIBROOK IS INSANE.

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 18.—The following cable was received from the War Office to-day: Roslyn Castle left Cape Town 13th December, due Halifax 5th January, with 45 officers, seven nurses, 793 men Canadian contingent. Message adds: Private Hornibrook, of 48th Regiment, Toronto, insane on Lake Champlain. Hornibrook specially mentioned for bravery at Paardeberg. Hornibrook is the man who captured one of Cronje's officers by pretending that he had a large force at his back, though he was in fact alone.

MUD UP TO THEIR NECKS.

Peterboro, Dec. 18.—A Peterboro boy, writing home from South Africa, says: "At Frederickstadt last week I was through the Strathcona lines, and they really looked the picture of poverty, and in mud up to their necks with constant moving. Poor fellows! they seem to have troubles of their own, but as the Tommies term it, 'We will have to keep up with the job.'"

A TEMPERANCE WORKER.

London, Dec. 19.—To an invitation by the Church of England Temperance Society to accept the society's "hard workers' medal," Lord Roberts replied by cable, "Delighted."

A MONSTER TRUST IN THE COAST FISHERIES

English Capitalists to Purchase all Canneries on the Fraser

Vancouver, Dec. 18—At a meeting of the Vancouver Fishermen's union last Saturday evening Mr. Wurzburg laid before that body a proposal for combined action during the next four years.

Mr. Wurzburg's scheme is to obtain English capital and with that purchase all the canneries on the Fraser and others controlled by the owners of those on the river. Before taking any action along this line he wishes to be assured that there will be no labor troubles such as occurred last season, which would no doubt greatly detract from the profits of the cannery business.

As an inducement to the fishermen to join him in his undertaking he offers to pay them a wage equal to the highest that has been in force on the Fraser during the past six years. Not only this, but he is willing, if his projected deal goes through, to set aside a certain percentage of money on the number of cases packed to be devoted to a benefit fund for the unions. His proposal in this regard is to allow one cent on every case of sackeyes and two cents on every case of cohoes packed, and furthermore he is willing to enter into an agreement to pay to the family of any man drowned while fishing the sum of $1,000. In return for this the fishermen are requested to enter into an agreement of four years' duration. This has not yet been drafted, but will be if the unions approve of the plans outlined by Mr. Wurzburg. He is also willing to put up a bond of $50,000 as an evidence of good faith in the matter.

The opinion is advanced that if the outlined arrangement goes into effect representatives of the Government might induce the vesting of the right of licensing in the hands of the unions. It is reported that the unions on the lower Frazer have been made cognizant of the proposed agreement, and that an answer has not yet been received.

GOVERNMENT LINE TO THE FAR WEST

Mr. Blair Thinks the Intercolonial Should be Extended

Montreal, Dec. 19—During his speech at the banquet to Mr. Hays, Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways, said that for a period of fifteen years there had hardly ever been a variation in the Government receipts from the Intercolonial; whereas in two years under the present arrangement there had been an increase of 66 per cent. It seemed to be taken for granted in some quarters that the future of the Canadian North-west was unalterably bound up in one country, but he challenged that conclusion, and predicted before fifty years there would be a dozen railways opening up that country. Why, he asked, should the Intercolonial be forced to stop at Montreal, and not be carried to the great Lakes, and even to the Pacific coast?

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 20, 1900

THE POPULATION OF FRANCE

Political economists will find little that is cheerful in the published French population returns for 1899. The excess of births over deaths amounted to only 31,000, or an increase of 0.30 per cent., which is the lowest figure reached since 1895, when deaths exceeded births by 17,000. It was then that the fears of French sociologists, which had accumulated during the first three years of the last decade of the century, owing to the successive decrease, found expression in certain forms of remedial legislation which placed nearly 100,000 on the right side of the edger int he following year. Since then every sort of appeal, legislative as well as moral has been made to the French people. Prizes have been offered by the Government to the fathers of numerous families, many of the obstacles in the way of marriage have been removed, and an attempt has been made to confine the annual levies of recruits to those who were neither married nor contracted in marriage, while the amount of capital possessed by an officer or his prospective bride in order that he might marry has been reduced. Apparently, however, the reofrms have not been radical enough or have not yet been interpreted in the way that their promoters have wished, as the following table, covering the last ten years, will show:

Year.	Increase.	Decrease.
1890	......	38,000
1891	......	10,000
1892	......	20,000
1893	7,000	......
1894	38,000	......
1895	......	17,000
1896	93,000	......
1897	108,000	......
1898	33,000	......
1899	31,000	......
Total	310,000	85,000

In 1889 there was an increase of 85,000, and since then—although emigration from France amounts to a few thousand annually, and there is no source from which the outflow may be made up—the population of the country has been practically stationary. The total increase, as shown by the records of births and deaths, for the last ten years is only 225,000, which is very likely completely absorbed in emigration and in migration to the colonies.

Those Frenchmen who have the greatness and glory of their country at heart may well be apprehensive of these figures. Emile Zola, in his last novel, "Fecondite," presented the problem in his usual blunt and terrible fashion, in which some of the causes tending toward the depopulation of France were set forth with all the remorseless exactness of a legal document. It is a subject which cannot be discussed at length here, but the figures alone form an eloquent item of contemporary sociological history which should be of interest to everybody.

Christmas Plum Cake.

The plum cake is a favorite Christmas dish. Here is a receipt for a cake warranted to promote all the indigestion on the part of the gourmands of the family: Cream one pound of butter and one pound of sugar together; add the beaten yolks of eighteen eggs, one gill of molasses, one pound of sifted flour, six tablespoonfuls of coarse flour and one wineglass of brandy; beat all together for five minutes. Add three pounds of seeded raisins, one pound of dried currants, half a pound each of almonds and sliced citron, well floured, two ounces of grated cocoanut, one tablespoonful each of ground allspice, mace and cloves, and two grated nutmegs; lastly, add the beaten whites of the eggs. Mix well, pour in one large or two smaller cake moulds and bake in a moderate oven for six hours; ornament when cold with fancy sugar-plums and a wreath of holly.

It's a Serious Thing

For a woman to come to that period known as change of life. It is almost always a period of suffering, and the derangement of mind and body is some times so great that the family life is utterly marred by the unhappy wife and mother. At such a time every woman needs just the help that is given by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It works with Nature, soothes the nerves by nourishing them, and cures diseases of the delicate organs. In brief, it makes weak women strong; sick women well.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

"I have taken four bottles of 'Favorite Prescription' for female weakness and change of life," writes Mrs. Lizzie A. Bowman, of New Matamoras, Washington Co., Ohio. "Before I began taking it I could not do anything. I had such pains in my head and in the back of my neck that I thought I would lose my mind. Now I can work every day and do not suffer. I recommend 'Favorite Prescription' to all women suffering in the period of change of life. It is the best medicine I have ever found."

Every woman should send for a free copy of Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser. Send 31 one-cent stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only for the book in paper covers, or 50 stamps for cloth, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the
CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.
and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.
Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

Indiana's Lost River.

Lost River, a curious freak of nature in Southern Indiana, is a stream which rises near Orangeville, Orleans county, Indiana, and after flowing about eight miles disappears into a cavern. Where it comes from or where it goes is a mystery unfathomed up to date, although the State geologist of Indiana has spent considerable time and money in exploring the cavern. Local tradition says that Lost River reappears in the Mammoth Cave of Kentucky, nearly one hundred miles distant, and that persons drowned in this stream reappear as the eyeless fish of the famous cavern. Needless to say this latter is a "fish story" pure and simple, but it doubtless serves its purpose in saving many a small boy from a watery grave by adding a special terror to drowning.

Lost River has folk lore and history, too, ranging from romance of the rustic type to real tragedy. During the war this region was the headquarters of the Knights of the Golden Circle. They caused the Federal government considerable worry and anxiety, since sharp measures were taken to suppress them. Subsequently the caves along Lost River were the haunts of the infamous Reno band of outlaws, and also the Archer gang, most of whom met with summary justice at the hands of Judge Lynch.

A Clever Cat That Could Reason.

Prof. Northrop tells the following story: "In the vestibule of the hen-house are ordinary crates, where is kept the corn for the fowls. Into these crates the mice get. The professor's father is in the habit of turning these crates upside down, now and again, to get the mice out.

"At these times he has the farm cat at hand that the mice may be thoroughly disposed of. The barn is a considerable distance from the hen-house.

"The professor was one day in the barn. The cat came to him and mewed. He paid no attention. She mewed. Still he paid no attention, then she mea-awed. He looked at her, thinking that she must want something from him.

"When she saw that she had his eye and his attention she scolded him a bit for his obtuseness and started off in the direction of the hen-house. There she went directly to the crates, looked up in the professor's face and gurgled low in her throat a request that he turn the crates over. He did so. No mouse came out. But the cat was satisfied and asked no further service."

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

I. A. HOPKINS.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.
Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 493 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2.500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

A Presentation.

On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Wm. Flavelle, of Lindsay, who has scores of friends in Peterborough, hurried to his egg and cold storage warehouse in no sweet frame of mind probably, his foreman having notified him by telephone that the men were on strike and were preparing for a cane-rush, or something of that sort. It turned out, however, that the men merely wished to present him with a slight token of their esteem, in the form of a gold-headed cane, and had authorized the peremptory summons in order to secure immediate attendance. Though taken completely by surprise, Mr. Flavelle made a very appropriate reply to a short address read by Herb. Hartley, in which he thanked the men for their kindness and consideration, and wished them a Merry Christmas.

An Artistic Window.

The window of Messrs. E. Brown & Co., is attracting considerable attention these days, on account of the artistic way in which it is dressed. There is shown the whole front of the store in miniature, which looks very fine when illuminated at night. The idea was the design of Mr. Andrew Graham, who has long since earned a reputation for window dressing. Mr. Brown is himself no mean window decorator, having at one time "decorated" his store windows for 15 consecutive hours with two well known citizens, who sat in the windows for that length of time, in order to decide a wager. This great family journal is fond of art, especially when it is combined with originality. It therefore goes one better, and offers to wager $10 or more that Mr. Brown or any other prominent citizen can't stand on his head in the window of the Times Bookstore for a given period of time. Ministers, bank managers, and newspaper men barred.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN

—Of all mean men beneath the sun,
And many such I recollect,
The meanest is the crafty one
Who sends a telegram, collect.

—Shoplifting is becoming altogether too prevalent in Peterborough these days.

—The police look quite nobby in their new suits, which were made by Messrs. H. Simons & Co.

—Subscribers of the Times can have any of the big weeklies at a reduced rate by calling at this office.

—The practice of running party politics into municipal administrations is to bring in an enemy to the social life and well-being of the community.

Scrofula in the blood shows itself sooner or later in swellings, sores, eruptions. But Hood's Sarsaparilla completely cures it.

—Lindsay Post: Contractor Jas. Bogue, of Peterborough, was in town yesterday on business connected with his granolithic walk contract, and went away $300 richer than he came.

What makes you Despondent?
—Has the stomach gone wrong? Have the nerve centres grown tired and listless? Are you threatened with nervous prostration? South American Nervine is nature's corrector, makes the stomach right, gives a world of nerve force, keeps the circulation perfect. A regular constitution builder for rundown people. SOCIAL AND PERSONAL —Rev. C. J. Phelan, of Lindsay, was the guest of relatives here yesterday.

—Miss Kate Overend is home from Loretto Abbey for her Christmas holidays.

—Dr. T. H. Bell, Warsaw, was in town yesterday, and gave the Times a friendly call.

—Miss Kate McGrath has completed her studies at the Model school, Lindsay, and returned to town.

—Miss Noble has returned home after spending a few days in Lindsay, as the guest of Miss Bertha Graham.

—Dr. Campbell and Miss Frankie Campbell, of Ottawa, are visiting at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Stratton, Gilmour st.

—The marriage of Miss Maud G. Pousette, second daughter of Dr. A. C. Pousette of Sarnia, to Mr. Harold F. R. Willoughby, B.A., youngest son of the Rev. Dr. Willoughby, took place in Sarnia on Tuesday. Many good wishes will follow Mr. and Mrs. Willoughby to their new home at the Ranches, Dundurn, Assiniboia. The bride is a niece of A. P. Pousette, Q.C., town.

A Seasonable Suggestion

Elsewhere appears a letter suggesting that something in the way of Christmas comforts and luxuries be extended to the wards of the Children's Aid Society, both in Shelter, and in homes. But why should the society confine its generosity thus? There are plenty of little ones in the town, not wards of the society, to whom Christmas will be pretty much of a hollow mockery because of the poverty of the parents. Santa Claus is a dear old chap, of course, and means well, but he has, we fear, become somewhat infected with the very prevalent worship of the almighty dollar. His reindeer somehow sometimes pass by the little home, and stop only at the brick mansion. He should be made to stop at every home in the city, proud or humble, and the Children's Aid Society is the institution to undertake to see that he does his whole duty.

BANQUETTED AT THE CROWN

C A Barton and Hazen Ritchie Honored

On Tuesday night Mr. C. A. Barton, of the Canadian General Electric Company, and Mr. Hazen Ritchie, were entertained at a banquet at the Crown Hotel. Mr. Barton is about to leave Peterborough to assume a more responsible position elsewhere, and Mr. Ritchie has been promoted to the position of Superintendent of the Company's works in Montreal.

The chair was occupied by Mayor Kendrey, and amongst those present were Lieut.-Col Edwards, Hon. J. R. Stratton, Sir John Bourinot, Rev. H. Symonds, Ven. Archdeacon Casey, Major Miller, Major Dennistoun, A. P. Pousette, Q.C., and others.

Speeches and songs followed each other until after midnight, when the banquet concluded with "God Save the Queen."

THE PRESBYTERY MEETS.

Transacted Considerable Business at Their Meeting at St. Paul's Church

The Presbytery of Peterborough met in St. Paul's church on the 18th instant. Mr. Oswald presided. Seventeen ministers and nine elders were present.

Rev. Mr. Sinclair, late missionary in the Yukon, was present, and was thanked for his interesting address.

Considerable time was given to the consideration of Sabbath School work. The proposal to appoint a Sabbath school field secretary for the church was disapproved of.

Partial arrangements were made for the celebration of the jubilee of the Rev. F. Andrews, of Keene, on the 11th of January. The committee was continued until the arrangements are completed.

It was reported that $25,000 had been already pledged by the Presbytery on behalf of the Century fund.

The Home Mission committee's report showed that all the fields within the bounds are supplied with missionaries. The committee were authorized to secure missionaries for the lumbering and mining camps within bounds.

The ladies of St. Paul's church were cordially thanked for the entertainment given by them in the Young Women's Christian Association rooms.

The next meeting of the Presbytery will be held in the Walton-st. hall, Port Hope, on the 2nd Tuesday of March, at 1.30 o'clock.

FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I would suggest to President McBain and the Board of Managers of the Children's Aid Society, that the little ones who have been placed in foster homes, as well as those in the shelter, should be remembered on the festive Christmas occasion. I am sure, Sir, that an appeal for little presents would meet with hearty response from our citizens generally.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—Here is a few lines that might be set to music by Mr. Gliddon, so that some of our local French gentlemen may be able to sing it on occasions of banquets, &c:

"For grate long tam when Sare John live,
The Frenchman he vote Blue;
Dey clap him on the back, and say:
'You bulee boy, is you.
Dis tam the Frenchman he vote Grit—
Dis am a different clue;
No pat him on the Frenchman's back,
No bulee boy is you."

MUST STATE PLATFORM.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I think the ratepayers of the town generally will agree with the Times in asking that all candidates for the Council should publish an address to the ratepayers, setting forth their views on the various leading questions that are before the people. Especially will this apply in regard to the position of Mayor. I would suggest that each candidate explain his position in regard to the following:

1 A railway to the north.

2 Municipal ownership of waterworks and electric light plants.

3 Energetic action in regard to insisting on the completion of the canal.

4 Rigid enforcement of the laws against selling liquor during prohibited hours.

5 Greater economy in the management of the town's affairs.

6 Put a stop to the frightful waste on streets by abolishing the office of Town Engineer and the appointment of an experienced and practical road maker.

These and other points should be fully covered by every man who expects to be elected.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am.

SCALDED TO DEATH

Sad and Fatal Accident to a Child in Warsaw

The little three year old son of Mr. Robert Bullock, of Warsaw, met with an awfully painful accident Saturday which resulted fatally at one o'clock Tuesday morning. The little one was playing around in the room in which a sister was scrubbing the floor. She had just poured out a boiling hot pail of water, which was left standing on the floor, while the young lady proceeded to get some colder water, with which to cool that which was already in the pail. She had no sooner turned her back, however, than her little brother fell into the scalding water in a sitting position. He was, of course, horribly scalded. Dr. Bell was called and did all in his power for the unfortunate child, but it was not until death came that he was relieved of his sufferings.

Mr. and Mrs. Bullock have the sincere sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sad bereavement.

OF THE

Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistent with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

T H. G. DENNE.

BRITISH NOW IN PURSUIT OF BOERS

Kitchener Hopes the Enemy will Soon be Driven North, Says that Lines are Strongly Guarded.

London, Dec. 20 — A despatch from Lord Kitchener confirms the reports as to a Boer invasion of Cape Colony at two points. These points are now definitely known to be Zand Drift, due north of Colesburg, and west of Norval's Pont Bridge, and Rhenoster Hoek, due north of Stormberg and west of the Aliwal North Bridge. These points are fully a hundred miles apart as the crow flies, so that the invading forces are not at present in touch, though there is every likelihood that by a bold dash along the river the eastern invaders may join their compatriots farther west. As a matter of fact, the Rhenoster Hoek force has made considerable progress since it crossed the river, and had yesterday reached Ventersford, twenty or thirty miles to the westward of the point at which it crossed. This would seem to indicate an intention of following the course of the river and joining hands with the western body, which latest rumors said had occupied Colesberg with a force of 3,000 men. These numbers are doubtless exaggerated, and it is not likely that the figures exceed those of the other body. On the other hand, it is possible that the band referred to may be making for the mountainous country around Steynburg, some seventy or eighty miles to the south, which is hinted at in Lord Kitchener's despatch. Both bodies of Boers are being closely pursued by mounted infantry, while the railway lines are so guarded as to make it impossible for either of them to interrupt the line of communication seriously On the whole, it is quite possible that the Boers may be surrounded and either captured en masse or in detail. It is not likely that as a whole either body will succeed in returning to the Orange River Colony, and probabilities are that their attempt to create a second rebellion in Northern Cape Colony will fail. The fact that troops have been sent north from Cape Town to cope with the situation, indicates that the matter is a serious one. Meanwhile General Clements is making an effort to recover the ground lost to Delarey in the Magellesburg mountains, and the result of his effort is being watched with anxiety.

KITCHENER TELLS THE STORY.

London, Dec. 20 — The following despatch has been received from General Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Wednesday, Dec. 19.—

"A party of Boers estimated at from 500 to 800 has crossed the Orange River at Rhenoster Hoek.

"A second band is reported to have crossed near Sand Drift.

"They have been followed. I have sent a considerable body of mounted men, who are getting around them.

"The Boers from Rhenoster Hoek are being followed closely from Venterstadt, which they left at 3 o'clock yesterday evening, going in the direction of Steynsburg.

"The important points on the railway and the neighborhood are well guarded. I hope the band will soon be driven north again."

INVASION IS SPREADING.

Cape Town, Dec. 20—The invasion of Cape Colony is spreading. It is reported that the Boers have occupied Colesborg, south-east of Philippoli and near the Orange River Colony frontier. The people here are much disturbed. A mixed force of one thousand men was despatched north yesterday evening.

FIRING NEAR KRUGERSDORP.

London, Dec. 20 — A special from Johannesburg, dated December 19, says that heavy cannonading was heard this morning north of Krugersdorp.

BRITAIN SOLD HER BIRTHRIGHT.

Amsterdam, Dec. 20—Mr. Kruger attended a crowded meeting to-day in the Nieuwe Kirk. The speakers declared Great Britain had sold her birthright for a handful of gold, and that the continental powers would forever bear the brand of Cain unless they intervened in South Africa. Subsequently Mr. Kruger repaired to the palace of industry, where five thousand schoolboys welcomed him with a choral.

Attacked by Hogs

Williamsport, Dec. 20.—Jessie Richards, a 5-year-old girl, had a frightful experience with five hogs to-day. The Richards family reside on the Beech road. Little Jessie was playing in a hay loft, which is directly over the hog pen, and fell through an opening. She landed astride of a hog, but was not injured by the fall of fifteen feet.

The blow upon the back enraged the hog and it became vicious, the brute attempting to paw and stamp upon her. With rare presence of mind, the little girl rolled beneath the feed trough to save herself. She lay in the narrow space, safe from the attack of the hogs, until her father came to her aid. Seizing a large club, Farmer Richards climbed into the enclosure and succeeded in driving the vicious beats off after much difficulty.

With the exception of a few bruises from the animals' hoofs, the girl escaped injury.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Strong Arguments in Favor of Municipal Control of Franchises

Commenting on Woodstock's vote to apply municipal ownership to electric lighting, the Winnipeg Tribune says,—

The Tribune can assure the good people of Woodstock that they are on the right track. Since Winnipeg established an electric lighting plant of its own the cost has been very greatly reduced and the lights have been at least twice as good as under the old system. Then as to civic ownership of waterworks, the cost of water has almost been cut in two, and the supply has been better. It is true that serious blunders have been made in constructing the works, but that must not be charged to the system but to the incompetency of officials and mismanagement of unwise councillors. Municipal ownership is all right, in fact it is a great boon, and if the people only see that competent employees and good councilmen are provided they will soon realize that public ownership means the dawning of a better day.

What's the matter with Peterboorguh taking over the waterworks and electric light?

A Very Sad Death

The news of the death of Mrs. W. S. Barrie, of Ashburnham, was a very great shock to her many friends on both sides of the river. She had been suffering from an attack of pneumonia, and although everything possible was done for her, she passed away yesterday morning. The deceased was the eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Faint, of Ashburnham, and was 27 years of age. She had been married about eighteen months, and leaves an infant child and a young husband to mourn her demise. Deceased has lived in Peterborough all her life, where by her gentle manner and amiable disposition she made many warm friends. She was a member of the George street church. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery. The Times joins in extending its sincere sympathy to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

THREE BARRIE PEOPLE KILLED IN AN INSTANT

Farmer, His Daughter and Daughter-in-Law Run Over by a Train.

Barrie, Ont., Dec. 20.—Thomas Lennox, a farmer, about 60 years of age, residing in Flos, near Phelpston, his daughter, and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jas. Lennox, were instantly killed by the Penetang express at 6.45 this morning. Just as they drove out from their gate the Penetang train was approaching the railway crossing, which was not over a few rods away, Mr. Lennox whipped his horses into a gallop in an attempt to cross before the train, but the rig was struck, and all the occupants and both horses killed. Lennox was a well-to-do farmer. He leaves a widow, and a family of six boys and twogirls, mostly grown up. Mrs. James Lennox leaves a husband and a small family of little children.

THE TOWN NEXT.

War Will be Made on Those Who do Not Register

Col. Hamilton, inspector of vital statistics for Ontario, passed through Peterborough on his way west. He told The Times that he is prosecuting about a dozen of the most prominent citizens of London for not complying with the law with reference to the registration of births, marriages and deaths. In the case of a birth, the law calls for two registrations, both by parents and the doctor who is in attendance. Both have been neglecting this all over the province.

Then, ministers have neglected to register marriages they officiate at, and thus come short of the law's requirements.

Colonel Hamilton said his department intended to rigidly enforce the law relating to such matters, and it didn't matter who was the culprit—he would suffer.

He added that they were after the cities this year, andwere having people up by wholesale. The towns and villages were to take warning, as next year the campaign would be extended to them, and those guilty of negligence would be assuredly punished.

BOTHA BROTHER UNVEILS KRUGER,

Says He is an Avaricious. Unscrupulous, and Hypocritical Man who Sacrificed his People to Cupidity.

FED CROWD OF GREEDY VULTURES!

A Strong Letter From a Prominent Boer Which Sheds an Ocean of Light on the Matter—What a Hypocritical old Scoundrel did.

London, Dec. 21.—Mr. Paul Botha, a typical, rugged, intelligent, and upright Boer, who has been for thirty years a member of the Free State Volksraad, a progressive legislator, and the right-hand man of Mr. John George Fraser, is just publishing at Cape Town a book on the war. Our correspondent at Bloemfontein, who has seen the M.S. of this work, states that its appearance will cause something of a sensation. He has been permitted by Mr. Botha to forward the following chapter for publication in the London Daily Mail.

I have been told that there are people in Europe, in England, and in America who admire Paul Kruger.

I can understand our ignorant Boers being misled by a man of powerful personality, who, knowing them well, can play upon their weaknesses and prejudices like an expert player on the strings of a violin, but that Oom Paul should dupe well-educated people, that I cannot understand.

The only way I can explain this mystery is that a veil of romance has grown round this rugged old man, and that Europe being 6,000 miles away accepts him as seen through the eyes of his duped burghers.

He made the burghers believe that he was a prophet, who like Moses, was the means of communication between God and his chosen people. This is literally true. In the early days he often vanished for long periods, and when he came back he made the people believe that he had been communing with God. It was absolutely believed by the burghers that Kruger, who was in Heidelberg at the time, a hundred miles from the scene, knew the result of the battle of Majuba on the very morning of which it was fought.

Add to this his indomitable will, through which he made himself believe that there were two Gods, one in Heaven and Paul Kruger on earth, and his undoubted courage, proved in many Kaffir was, then you will understand his despotic influence.

Home Truths

Let me tear this veil of false romance from him, and let me try to show the man to you as he really is, and as those Boers whom he has not succeeded in duping always knew him to be.

We know him—an avaricious, unscrupulous, and hypocritical man, who sacrificed an entire people to his cupidity. His own aim and object was to enrich himself, and he used every means to this one end. His ambition for power was subordinate to his love of money. He used the Transvaal as a milch cow for himself and his following.

I ask his admirers to show me one good thing he did for his country during all his years of power. He spent millions of the country's money in pretended benefits, millions which were in reality expended for the purposes of feeding up a crowd of greedy favorites and aasvogels (vultures), men who were necessary to him for the furtherance of his own ends.

Paul Kruger has been accused of creating many monopolies, but the greatest of all was the monopoly, on a truly impudent and colossal scale, for swindling the Transvaal—at the head of which he himself stood. Any one behind the scenes knows how impossible it was, even for the most dishonest man, outside of this ring, to gain any advantage out of the Transvaal. In proof of what I say, take the scandals over the mealie and donkey contracts, the dynamite monopoly, the liquor and jam concessions, the Netherlands railways, Lewis and Marks' bottle concession, and numerous others, and I ask: What benefit has the country derived from any of these? Are there any institutions for the public benefit in the Transvaal, such as schools, universities, industrial institutions, public works, roads, or railways to justify the vast expenditure of money? No!

Kruger's Avarice

If you want to know where the money has gone, search the pockets of Paul Kruger and Co.

To show Kruger's avarice and hypocrisy look at minor matters. His salary as President was £8,000 per annum—and £8,000 which he hoarded year after year; he lived not like the president of a country, but like any Dopper farmer, never spending a single sixpence on charities or any other matter of public benefit, and then he actually had the effrontery to make an application to the Volksraad for an allowance of £300 a year as entertainment money, of which he also pocketed the larger portion, as the only entertaining he ever did was to give cups of morning coffee and a pipe of tobacco.

The very house in which he lived was a gift of Nelmapius, the concessionnaire founder of the Hatherley Distillery. This man was afterwards justly prosecuted, convicted, and sentenced by the presiding judge, but subsequently released on the order of Paul Kruger, which proceedings resulted in the resignation of the judge concerned, who was, it is interesting to recall, a son of Sir John Brand.

The matron of the Dynamite Explosion hospital talks to this day of Oom Paul's crocodile tears when he visited the wretched sufferers, mostly Dutch. He talked of his "arme" (poor) burghers, large tears rolling down his cheeks, but never gave a single sixpence to help them. He did, in fact, donate £10, which he never paid.

During the war, how did Kruger and Steyn feed the destitute wives and children of their "armed burghers" who were risking their lives on commando? Their rations consisted of mealie meal, Boer meal, and nothing else whatsoever. I know because I was on the relief committee at Kroonstad. When I now see the country around Kroonstad made into a desert, the farms burned, and the Boer men, women and children huddled together in refugee camps absolutely destitute, and living on the charity of the British, then I tingle with indignation to hear that the cruel author of all this avoidable misery, rich, smug, and safe, is on his way to Europe, and going to be received by the Queen of Holland and made a hero of—a hero who was known in the Free State thirty years ago, before he found better means of enriching himself, as a swindling dealer in oranges and tobacco, and one whom we strongly suspected of being a very cute slave-dealer.

The Cries of His Gang

Paul Kruger's successful policy against England, for which England is much to blame, perverted the minds of the greater portion of the Dutch population of the whole of South Africa. I am convinced that Kruger's influence completely changed the character of the Bond an organization which I believe Hofmeyr started at the Cape with the legitmate purpose of securing certain political privileges, but which under Kruger's henchmen, Sawer, Merriman, Te Water, and others, raised unrest in Cape Colony. This successful anti-British policy of Kruger created a number of imitators—Steyn, Fischer, Esselen, Smits, and numerous other young educated Afrikanders of the Transvaal, Orange Free State, and the Cape Colony, who, misled by his successes, ambitiously, hoped by the same means to rise themselves to the same pinnacle.

Krugerism under them developed into a reign of terror.

If you were anti-Kruger you were stigmatized as Engelschgezind (pro-English) a traitor to your own country, and unworthy of a hearing. I have suffered bitterly from this taunt, especially under Steyn's regime. The more hostile you were to England the greater patriot you were accounted.

This gang, which I wish to be clearly understood spread pover the whole of South Africa, used the Bond, the press, and pulpit to further its schemes.

His Press and His Pulpits

Reitz, whom I believe to have been an honest enthusiast, set himself up as second sponsor to the Bond, and voiced the doctrine of his gang: "Africa for the Africanders." "Sweep the English into the sea." With an alluring cry like this it will be readily understood how easy it was to inflame the imaginatior of the illiterate and uneducated Boer, and to work upon his vanity and prejudices.

That pernicious "rag," Carl Borchenhagen's Bloemfontein Express, enormously contributed in spreading this doctrine in the Orange Free State. I myself firmly believe that the Express was subsidized by Kruger. It was no mystery to me from where Borchennagen, a full-blooded German, got his ardent Free State patriotism. In the Transvaal this was done by the Volksstem, written by a Hollander, and subsidized by Kruger; by the Rand Post, also written by a Hollander, also subsidized by Paul Kruger; and in the Cape Colony by the Patriot, which was started by intriguers and rebels to their own Government at the Paarl—a hotbed of false Afrikanderism. One Land may be an honest paper, but, fostering impossible ideas, it has done us incalculable harm. It grieves me to think that my poor people, through want of education, had to swallow undiluted the poison prepared for them by such unscrupulous schemers.

When I come to think of the abuse the pulpit made of its influence I feel as if I cannot find words strong enough to express my indignation.

God's word was prostituted; a religious people's religion was used to urge them to destruction; a minister of God told me himself, with a wink, that he had to preach at the English because otherwise he would lose favour with those in power. These parsons who snorted fire and destruction from the pulpit, however, carefully stayed at home during the war. I heard one anxious parson in a wild sermon urge his burghers, "Go forth, meet the enemy: I shall remain on the mountain top praying for you like Moses of old" solemnly adding that his dear wife, who felt for them as much as he did, would take the place of Aaron and support him when he got tired.

SITUATION IN CHINA IS GROWING WORSE

London Despatch Says that a Revival of Anti-Foreign Outbreaks May Occur at Any Moment.

London, Dec. 20 — A despatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Pekin dated Wednesday, December 19, says the situation throughout the provinces is rapidly growing worse, and is causing grave anxiety. The despatch adds that unless a definite system of government is speedily installed a recrudescence of the anti-foreign outbreaks will certainly occur. The pressure of winter begins to be felt by the people, and they are also suffering on account of the blackmail levied by the native employees of the allies, for which the foreigners are blamed. A number of desperadoes imprisoned at Tsan Chow Fu by General Mei, and released by the Germans, are now on the Chi Li and Shang Tung border, burning houses, murdering and pillaging.

I. O. F. Presentation

At a regular meeting of Court Queen No. 776, I.O.F., held on Thursday night Companion Swain, Chief Ranger, called upon Brother H. Hetherington, D.D.H.C.R. to present to Companion Dunsford a purse in recognition of her untiring zeal and special work done for the members and the Court to which she belongs. Companion Dunsford, although taken by surprise, replied in a very suitable manner and thanked the members of Court Queen for the purse.

BOSTONIANS FAVOR TREATY WITH CANADA

Business Men Declare for Reciprocal Trade with the Dominion--Canada is a Good Customer.

Boston, Dec. 20.—At a meeting of the Chickatawbut Club, an important association of business men of this city, Mr. Osborne Howes, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce on trade relations, delivered an address on "Reciprocal Trade with Canada."

It is the policy of our present administration, said he, to encourage the extension of our commercial relations with foreign countries, and to do this through the extension of trade treaties.

The lakes are used by both countries as if each had entire possession of them, and this is probably one of the wisest and most salutary movements for the improvement of international relations that the two nations have ever made. The results in our case has been an enormous development of the trade on these great lakes — a trade which is now probably greater than on any other waterway in the world.

Canada is and has been our best customer. By the time the year is out own sales to the Canadians will amount to $100,000,000. That means about $18 per capita, as compared with $14 for England; $3 for Germany; $2.75 for Mexico; $1.15 for the Argentine Republic; 80 cents for Brazil and Italy, and $1.35 for France. What we make the Canadians want to an especial degree. Meantime the English sales in Canada have diminished in the last fe wyears, while the English purchase sin Canada have enormously increased.

Mr. Howes here showed the unfortunate results of the United States not taking advantage of opportunities offered of drawing closer to Canada in our trade relations. One of these wasthe building of a great railway across the country to make the Canadians more independent of us.

We have had a reciprocal trade treaty with Canada—the treaty of 1854—and, although it seemed to our disadvantage, it worked to our benefit. The chief difficulty now in our way is the opposition of certain special and local interests.

It was resolved to petition Congress to support President McKinley's administration in the direction of securing such a trade treaty with Canada as shall on the basis of reciprocal equivalents secure for our merchants and manufacturers not only the Canadian markets they now have, but a material enlargement of those markets.

THE MUNICIPAL CAMPAIGN

Several Names Mentioned in Connection With the Mayoralty.

The Mayoralty Campaign is all onesided so far, Mr. Denne having the field entirely to himself. He is not likely, however, to secure the coveted seat without a struggle. We think Mr. Denne world strengthen himself very much were he to define his position in regard to the important questions now before the ratepayers. People do not care to go it blind, but prefer a known policy on leading questions before polling their votes. And this is right. If Mr. Denne expects to sit in the Mayor's chair, he should tell the voters where he is on every important matter likely to come before the Council during the year to come. It is a more manly course, and one that all men who seek public office should endeavor to follow. Mr. Denne is not afraid, we know, to declare himself, and we are greatly mistaken if he will not do so at anearly date.

Ald. Dawson is still looked upon as a possible candidate, but he is holding back doubtless, to see how the wind blows.

Mr. R. C. McHarrie, of the Bank of Commerce, is freely mentioned in connection with the civic chair. Although a comparativelly stranger in town, he has many friends who would help him in his campaign. He is very popular with those who know him, and would make an excellent Mayor. It was reported yesterday that a number of citizens were preparing to wait on him with a view to securing his acceptance of the nomination.

Mr. Frank Matthews has also been spoken of. There is perhaps no one in town who would make a better Chief Magistrate than Mr. Matthews. Possessed of a goo dbusiness training, and having fair ability as a speaker, he is highly qualified for the position. Besides, it is men of Mr. Matthews' stamp who should be at the Council board—men who have made a success of their own business, and who have large interests in town.

A fe wdays more will tell the story. Let us have our very best men out for Mayor and Aldermen this year.

HOCKEY.

LINDSAY OUT OF IT.

The Lindsay Post says:—At a meeting of the Lindsay Hockey Club held last evening in the Benson House parlors, it was decided unanimously to disband for the season. For several weeks past the management of the Lindsay Club have been trying to make some satisfactory arrangements with Mr. Taylor and the management of the Collegiate Institute club as to the two organizations coming under one management, but without any effect. Mr. Parkin, manager of the rink, informed the meeting that the Collegiate Institute had made arrangements with him to have the rink three nights a week for practice, and he did not care to break his agreement with that club but he could so arrange as to let the town team on the rink the same number of nights. President Paton stated that under one management hockey would boom this year, but with two separate organizations he could not see how the game could be conducted successfully, and as Mr. Parkin did not wish to make the same arrangements as in previous years, the only way out of the difficulty was for the club to disband. After some discussion it was finally moved by Mr. H. Knowlson, and seconded by Mr. J. M. Martin, that the Lindsay Hockey Club disband for the season. The motion was adopted.

The Ontario Hockey Association transacted business the other evening at the residence of the president, J. Ross Robertson, Toornto. Those present included A. H. Beaton, J. A. Macfadden, A. A. Macdonald, Dr. Thompson W. A. Buchanan, Geo. Stiles and Francis Nelson. The Lindsay club, having made a satisfactory explanation and apology for playing ineligible players last season, were reinstated. Belleville Victorias were admitted to the intermediate series, and were grouped with Lindsay, Peterborough, Port Hope and Cobourg. Varsity II, will play with St. George's, Excelsiors and Wellingtons II.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

Miss Wood Remembered by Her Pupils at Ashburnham school

At the closing exercises yesterday afternoon in Miss Annie L. Wood's room in the Ashburnham Public School, a pleasing event took place in the nature of an address and presentation to Miss Wood.

On behalf of Miss Wood's pupils Miss Eva Irwin made the presentation and Miss Martha Murray read the address.

The articles presented were a handsome glove box, a handkerchief box, and a bottle of perfume.

The address was as follows:—

Miss Annie L. Wood:

Dear Teacher,—We felt that we could not allow the happy Christmas season to pass iwthout expressing to you in some slight degree, the high esteem in which you are held by your pupils, and our appreciation of your untiring efforts in our behalf.

We ask you, therefore, to accept this slight token of our good will, trusting it will serve as a pleasant reminder of happy days spent at Ashburnham Public School.

Signed on behalf of the pupils.

EVA IRWIN,
MARTHA MURRAY.

IT WAS A HEAVY RANSOM TO PAY

Packer Cudahy had to Pay $25,000 for the Return of His Son

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 20—The following is part of the second letter sent by the bandits who kidnapped millionaire Cudahy's son to that gentleman:—Omaha, Dec. 18, 1900. Mr. Cudahy,—We have kidnapped your child and demand $25,000 for his safe return. If you give us the money the child will be returned as safe as when you last saw him, but if your refuse we will put acid in his eyes and blind him, when we will immediately kidnap another millionaire's child that we have spotted and demand $100,000, and we will get it, for he will see the condition of your child and realize the fact that we mean business and will not be monkeyed with or captured.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 20.—Twenty-five thousand dollars in gold was paid by Edward A. Cudahy, the millionaire packer, as a ransom for his son, Edward Cudahy, jr., who was abducted by a gang of kidnappers last Tuesday night

Yesterday about noon, several hours after a letter had been left on the lawn of the Cudahy residence, another missive was delivered to Mr. Cudahy through the mails, and contained a proposition to return the boy safe and unharmed, provided the sum of $25,000 was paid that night.

In the letter were full directions as to where the money wa s to be left, and the assurance was given that the missing boy would be allowed to return home within a few hours of the time when the cash wa sreceived.

A consultation wa s held and the matter gone over in detail.

Plans were discussed for capturing the bandits when they should make thei rappearance at the rendezvous that had been designated. But one afte ranother these plans wer e dropped as being impracticable.

Finally, impelled by the strain under which the entire household was labouring, Mr. Cudahy decided to comply with the terms offered and ransom his son. A trusted messenger, sworn to secrecy, was sent for the money, which was brought to the Cudahy residence. After dinner Mr. Cudahy had one of his horses harnessed to a light buggy and, taking the money in it with him, started at once for the designated place at which the money was to be left.

In the buggy he carried a red lantern. He drove five miles west of town until he came to a white lantern hanging on a short stick beside the road.

Alighting from his buggy, Mr. Cudahy deposited the sack containing the money near the stick bearing the white light. Then, without seeing any one, he returned to his home.

Meantime the abductors had seen the red light coming up the road and as soon as the buggy disappeared they took away the money and prepared to keep faith with the father. The boy was bundled into a cab and set down close by his father's house about one o'clock this morning. Where he had been he was unable to say, but as nearly as he could estimate he had been taken five miles south of South Omaha.

The Saving of Money by the use of Royal Baking Powder is considerable. Royal is economical, because it possesses more leavening power and goes further.

Royal saves also because it always makes fine, light, sweet food; never wastes good flour, butter and eggs.

More important still is the saving in health. Royal Baking Powder adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

There is no baking powder so economical in practical use, no matter how little others may cost, as the Royal

Alum baking powders are sold at a low price, but they are extravagant because they make the food unhealthful. The continued use of alum in food causes the most serious disorders to the alimentary organs

NO LONGER ISOLATED

The New York Press has undertaken to disabuse the minds of its readers of the belief that every time the eagle screams the earth trembles, and that there is no danger in the popular American pastime of putting kinks in the British lion's tail. The Anglo-German agreement, the Press thinks, has put the "splendid isolation" phrase with regard to Great Britain out of stock. It says—

"There is no reason to believe that the singular and substantial expressions of good will toward this country in the last five years have been other than sincere on the part either of the British Government or people. But there are signs that in view, of the almost total irresponsiveness on this side they have about reached their limit. Were the complexion of European politics what it was five years, four years, or even one year ago, the accommodating spirit which has been generated by a mingling of kinship and policy might be continued out of policy alone. But, as the typical Senator in his indifference to "abroad" does not see, the isolation of Great Britain is over. The good understanding with Germany which some fancy of the Kaiser's so rudely disturbed in the middle of the present decade has been not merely resumed but reduced to binding form. The whole face of the political world has been changed by the Anglo-German agreement in China, following the Anglo-German understanding in South Africa. In the one continent Great Britain has an active ally where she had an actual rival and potential enemy likely at any moment to rejoin forces with Russia, as in the Japanese settlement, and overmatch British influence in any far Eastern crisis. In the other she has instead of a constant promotion of French and Boer plans of lion baiting a firm and loyal adherence to her construction of the status quo."

Discussing the proposed Senatorial amendment regarding the Nicaragua canal to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty the Press continues:—"With Great Britain's position thus assured in Africa and Asia as it has not been since the Jameson raid and the Chino-Japanese war the notion that in America she will convert a generous concession into an abject surrender can be held, we say, only by those statesmen who do not follow the trend of events beyond seas. How the Salisbury Ministry would receive such an amendment we do not pretend to say. But the man who believes that now is the proper time to seek new and gratuitous favors from it, in the absence even of a decent acknowledgment of the old and despite the vast improvement of its international position since those were granted, has acquired an unacquaintance with foreign affairs which in the interest of his country should debar him from their official considerations. The man who would take a chance under such conditions should be confined strictly to the hazards of domestic politics. It is a reckless reliance on totally unknown quantities which assumes that this amendment would assist us out of the dilemma of no ratification, no canal."

Getting at the Cause

You are not getting well, you say. Some part of your system is out of order. Food gives you distress, you have headaches and a weak, tired and depressed feeling. Or it may be that scrofula, rheumatism or catarrh troubles you. Whatever it is, your first business is to get at the cause and remove it. To do this ought not to be difficult, provided you have the help of the right medicine. The best medicine money can buy is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strikes at the root of a great variety of diseases, and completely cures them. For instance, the cause of dyspepsia is weakness of the stomach and loss of digestive power. This medicine cures dyspepsia by restoring the proper digestive fluids and giving tone and strength to the digestive organs. The cause of that tired feeling is impoverished blood, and it is cured by by enriching and vitalizing the blood with Hood's Sarsaparilla. The cause of rheumatism is acid in the blood. This medicine neutralizes the acid and permanently cures rheumatism. All scrofulous diseases, salt rheum, pimples and eruptions are manifestly due to impurities in the blood and are cured by expelling these impurities with Hood's Sarsaparilla.

The record of cures accomplished by this medicine is conclusive proof of its merit. People buy it with perfect confidence that it will do them good—and it does not disappoint.

The Chinese Aversion to Cold Water.

The healthiness of Chinese cities has been ingeniously attributed by some people to the universal habit of fanning, a practice which is said to keep the atmosphere in constant circulation. How far this explanation can be deemed to suffice we must leave experts to decide, but, so far as a contaminated water supply is concerned, we believe that the real secret of immunity from its evil effects lies in the universal custom of boiling all water intended for drinking.

As a matter of fact, the Chinese never drink cold water. The national beverage, which, in a true sense, may be said to cheer but not inebriate, is tea, and this is always "on tap," even in the houses of the very poor. The native aversion to cold water is undoubtedly carried to extremes, and certainly induces diseases which might easily be avoided if a judicious system of outward application.

In the matter of ablution it must, however, be admitted that the Chinese enjoy facilities which, however little they are taken advantage of, are far in advance of anything within the reach of the poorer classes of our own favored land. Every little hamlet in China has a shop where hot water can be bought for a trifling sum at any hour of the day or night.

The World is Growing Smaller.

In 1850 England was thirty-two days from India. Now it is but seventeen; a ship as fast as the Deutschland could make it in ten.

In 1850 New York was from three to six months from China by clipper ship. Now it is seventeen days by rail to Vancouver and by ship to Shanghai.

In 1820 immigrants came to this country usually in about forty days. Often they ran into storms and helped man the pumps. Now they come in a week in comfort.

In 1845 the postage on a letter from New York to Wisconsin was 25 cents. People wrote long letters in those days in a fine copperplate hand on thin paper—to get the worth of their money—but they wrote seldom.

The Suez Canal halved the time it took heavy freight to go from the Atlantic Ocean to the Indian. The Nicaragua Canal will perform a like service for the Western World.

Seventy years ago it took a day and a half to go from New York to Philadelphia.

Fifty years ago news from Europe reached America in two weeks. Now it comes in two minutes.

The War of the Rebellion cost the United States $6,189,929,900. The number of federal troops was 2,859,132.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg. The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them God-speed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 343 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

Paris, July 25th, 1900.

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

W. J. MACKINNON,
Supt. Food Products, Canadian Building.

A Surprise Pumpkin.

When your little brother or sister has a birthday party and you want a novelty as a centerpiece for the table, try the "enchanted pumpkin" and see what fun it will make for the guests.

It ought to be a prize pumpkin and a big one. Scoop out all the inside. That will do well enough to make pies. Then stuff it full of small presents, tied up in mysterious looking bundles.

To each package tie a bright ribbon, letting the loose ends fall out over the sides of the pumpkin. Then carefully replace the cap or stem part, which you cut off, so that it will look as if it was still whole, and place it on your tea table. Surrounded by ferns and colored autumn leaves, and decorated with the drooping ends of the ribbons, it will make a very pretty centerpiece.

When the feast is over let all present guess how many seeds are in the pumpkin. When all have guessed tell each to take hold of one of the ribbons, and when you say "three," they must pull on the ribbons, and in that way they will see how many seeds are in the pumpkin.

Of course, each guest secures a gift.

Almonds Food for Brain Workers.

Blanched almonds are the highest kind of nerve or brain and muscle food, having no heat or waste, says a writer in Good Housekeeping. Walnuts give nerve or brain food, muscle, heat and waste.

Green water grapes are blood purifying, but of little food value. Blue grapes are feeding and blood purifying, but too rich for those who suffer from the liver. Tomatoes have higher nerve or brain food qualities; they are thinning and stimulating. Juicy fruits give more or less nerve or brain nutriment, and some few muscle food and waste.

Apples supply the higher nerve and muscle food, but do not give staying qualities. Prunes afford the highest nerve or brain food, supply heat and waste, but are not muscle feeding. Oranges are refreshing and feeding. Green figs are excellent food. Dried figs contain nerve and muscle food, heat and waste.

The great majority of small fresh seed fruits are laxative. Lemons and tomatoes should not be used daily in cold weather; they have a thinning and cooling effect. Raisins are stimulating in proportion to their quality.

The people of the United States use more meat than the people of any other nation. England ranks second; and the other countries come far below. A person may eat meat perhaps to advantage once a day. It is not necessary, however, that meat should be on the table three times a day; in fact, it is quite an objectionable custom.—Ladies' Home Journal.

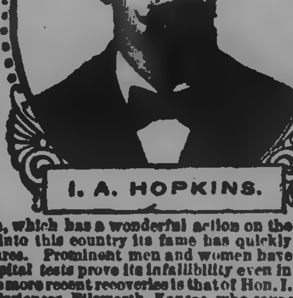
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 58 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 408 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which properly adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1 00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325 00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

The program was good all through, and the singing of Mr. Palmer was very fine, and fairly captured the audience.

Not Our Experience.

Collingwood Bulletin—In January, 1899, the ratepayers thought fit to elect seven of our foremost business men to conduct our municipal affairs; last January the same men were again unanimously entrusted with the affairs of the town, and so satisfactory has been their management that the idea of re-election for the third term is steadily growing in favor. Indeed there is no opposition spoken of except by self-constituted candidates.

Just For A Joke.

"I am sorry to say I have no money," complacently remarked a seedy looking chap, as conductor Fred Haskill came through the Lakefield lightning express for his fares. "Can't you let me ride free, just for a joke." "I think that joke has been carried far enough," replied the conductor, as he reached for the bell cord, to stop the train and left he fellow off. Fred don't care for "jokes" of this kind.

An Emily Wedding

A very pleasing event took place on Wednesday eevning last, 19th instant, at the home of Mrs. William Jackson, second line, Emily, the occasion being the marriage of her eldest daughter, Edith, to Mr. Evans Storey, of third line, Emily. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. B. Roe. The bride was handsomely attired in a pretty gown of white silk, with chiffon trimmings, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was assisted by her sister, Laura Jackson, who wore a becoming gown of Swiss linen, trimmed with ribbon and insertion. Her bouquet was of pink carnations. Mr. Harry Evans, of Brampton acted as best man. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. R. Rae, of Peterborough, and the nuptial knot was tied as the bride and groom stood beneath a beautiful arch of English ivy and carnations. Shortly after the ceremony the company partook of a sumptuous wedding supper. This was succeeded by a pleasant evening of games and vocal and instrumental music. At a late hour, the guests, numbering about seventy, dispersed, and Mr. and Mrs. Storey departed for their new home, carrying with them the congratulations and best wishes of all present, in which The Times cordially joins.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN

—When holly branch is spreading.
And mistletoe is hung,
When Christmas carols sound aloud,
And all the world is young.
Reflect. A day is coming—
A day perhaps you'll rue—
When for the present from your wife
The bill will come to you.

—Don't forget the band concert to-night.

—This is the shortest day of the year.

—See the new books just received at The Times Bookstore.

—Mr. J. W. Garvin will run for councillor in Ashburnham.

—A bunch of keys, picked up on George street has been left at the Times Bookstore awaiting an owner.

—Don't forget that the Times Bookstore is the cheapest place in town for holiday presents.

—The man arrested at Fenelon Falls for theft is not the party wanted by Constable Cochrane.

—Scranton coal is selling in Cobourg at $5.50 per ton, and People's at $5. Push along the canal.

—Stony Lake was frozen over on the 8th inst., the earliest on record in a period of thirty years.

—The village of Marmora was incorporated at the late session of the Hastings County Council.

—A man of Cobourg was lately fined $10 for defrauding the post office by inserting a letter inside a newspaper.

—The Christmas exercises in connection with Ashburnham Kindergarten school were held yesterday afternoon.

—The Telephone Company have a gang of men at work laying a cable of wires underground across the market square.

—Mr. M. Kane, a farmer, of Rawdon township, last week sold a dealer a pig that weighed seven hundred and five pounds.

—Some newspapers have fallen into the habit of calling county councillors, commissioners. This is wrong; they are simply councillors.

—Mr. Wm. Kerr, late conductor on the Grand Trunk Railway between Madoc and Belleville, has purchased the City hotel in Belleville.

If your stomach is weak it should have help. Hood's Sarsaparilla gives strength to the stomach and cures dyspepsia and indigestion.

—Mr. R. A. Dutton has a very prettily dressed window. The whole store is decked with flags and bunting. Mr. Dutton is progressive and enterprising.

—The usual holiday rates for cheaper travelling on the two great lines of railway, will create a much large passenger traffic during the next two weeks.

—Mr James Bryans who has ably managed the municipal affairs as Reeve of Havelock for three years, will step aside at the end of his term for some other fellow.

—The Marmora Herald says there is a gloomy lookout for the foreman and officers of the Gilmour Co., the company appearing to be in financial difficulty. It affects several in this district.

—The Christmas buyer who patronizes merchants who advertise in the Times is more likely to get his money's worth than if he patronizes the merchant who doesn't advertise. The goods of the non-advertiser are always liable to be a trifle shop-worn.

The retirement of Reeve Armstrong to enter as a candidate for the County Council has left a vacancy in the township council. It is proposed to elect Mr. Harry Garbutt to the position of Chief Magistrate, by acclamation, and no man is more deserving of the promotion, or no men is better fitted for the position. Mr. Garbutt has been a member of the Township Council for almost a quarter of a century and therefore familiar with every phase of municipal work. The old council will probably all be returned without opposition.

LOCAL-NEWS LETTERS

SOUTH BURLEIGH.

Eden church, which is being erected by the Methodists of South Burleigh, is very near completion, and the ladies of the church who undertook the furnishing have handed into the treasurer, Rev. Mr. Berry, the handsome sum of $104.85. This sum has been made on a quilt, on which anyone could have his or her name written for ten cents or anything over that sum they chose to give. The material of the quilt is turkey red cotton, worked in feather stitching, with white foselle in squares, each square holding five names written in indelible ink. The stitching was done by a committee of young ladies—Mrs. Israel D. Church, Miss Payne, Miss Clara Reid, Miss Halts, Miss McCauley and Miss Jessie Reid. The writing of the names, which was the most tedious part of the work was done by Mrs. I. D. Church and Miss Payne. In the center of the quilt is a neat little church and the name Eden which adds much to the appearance of it. The border is a double ruffle, and the under side is also turkey red cotton.

As the weather is so cold the varnishing and painting of the walls of the church will be nearly all left till spring.

The work is being excellently done by Mr. Thomas McIlmoyl, of North Burleigh, assisted by Mr. Chas. Hales, Mr. Chas. Lander and other members of the church.

It is expected the opening will be held in January, and that a rousing collection be taken up to help clear off the debt that has been incurred.

The treasurer presented the financial statement for the year, which was ordered to be published.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. VOL. 26 NO. 303 PETERBOROUGH ONTARIO SATURDAY DECEMBER 22 1900 PRICE TWO CENTS

STEAMER LAKE CHAMPLAIN SIGHTED

Col. Otter and His Men Have Passed Newfoundland--Arrangement to Put Them Ashore at St. John Cancelled.

Montreal, Dec. 21—The announcement that the Elder-Dempster steamer Lake Champlain, with Colonel Otter and nearly 400 members of the first Canadian contingent, was reported off Cape Race, Newfoundland, at 10 o'clock this morning, coupled with a second announcement that the militia department have decided that the troops shall land at Halifax, removes all doubt as to whether the Ontario members of the contingent will be able to reach home to Christmas. Cape Race is 36 hours' run from Halifax, so that the first glimpse which the contingent will have of their native shore will be about ten o'clock on Saturday night. It will not take the western men long to swallow the much-debated pint of beer, and they have quite a margin left for festivities in Halifax. If they leave that town on Sunday night, after a stay of nearly two days, it will be quite easy for them to reach Toronto by Tuesday morning. Those of them who leave Halifax before Sunday night may reach the western city much earlier.

CANADIANS HAD A GOOD TRIP.

Montreal, Dec. 21—The Elder Dempster & Co.'s R. M. S. Lake Champlain, with the Royal Canadian Regiment on board, was reported this morning (Friday) off Cape Race, at 10 o'clock. All well. She should reach Halifax Saturday night. Considering the bad weather that has been experienced lately she has made a remarkably good run.

WILL LAND AT HALIFAX

Montreal, Dec. 21 — The Elder-Dempster Steamship Company this morning received a telegram from the Department of Militia and Defense, to the effect that the arrangements for returning the troops by way of St. John had been cancelled, and that the men would land at Halifax instead.

MORE MEN FROM NEW ZEALAND.

Wellington, N.Z., Dec. 21—The Government of New Zealand has decided to despatch another contingent to South Africa.

ORANGE RIVER HAS RISEN.

Cape Town, Dec. 21—A Government memorandum issued last evening makes the following announcement:

"The principal seat of action has been transferred to the northern part of Cape Colony. Early December 16 a large body of Boers crossed the Orange River toward Burghersdorp. A British force followed, to avoid which the Boers turned westward and occupied Venterstad, December 18. But they evacuated the town the same day on the approach of the British and marched in the direction of Steynsburg.

"The Boers, however, have been intercepted and find difficulty in moving in any direction, as Steynsburg, Burghersdorp, Stormberg, Rosmead, and Naauwpoort are all strongly held by the British, and the Orange River has risen considerably in their rear.

"Another 2,000 Boers crossed at Sand Drift making for Colesberg, but on the despatch of a British force they diverged and occupied Philipstown, December 19, cutting the telegraph wires between Philipstown and Houtkaall. Early this morning a portion of these Boers reached Houtkraal station and cut the line there.

"Considerable reinforcemnets have been sent to De Aar and Hanover, and it is expected that further invasion will day defeated a motion to instructt he scouting parties, which may slip through to raid cattle and to obtain much needed supplies.

"Hitherto there has been very little fighting, as the enemy in every instance have retired before the British. They took our garrison of twenty men at Venterstad prisoners, but the Magersfontein garrison repulsed their attacks, inflicting heavy loss, after some hours fighting and a refusal of a demand to surrender.

"It is probable that of the two invading forces the former is a part of Dewet's commando and the latter consists of several small commandoes hither to operating in the west of Orange River Colony, and of a number of rebels."

SEETHING WITH EXCITEMENT.

London, Dec. 21—Since Lord Kitchener's despatch, fully confirming the invasion of Cape Colony, and expressing a hope, not of capture, but only to "drive them north again," not a word has been issued officially as to the situation in South Africa.

Considerable activity is now manifested at Aldershot. A large draft of mounted troops will be ready to start for South Africa January 6, while others have been notified to hold themselves in readiness for the same destinction.

"The Colesberg district," says a correspondent, "is seething with anti-British excitement. A recrudescence of rebellion is perceptible in the districts immediately south of the Orange River. Tuesday morning a fight was proceeding at Philipstown, presumably with a commando which crossed as Sand Drift."

MARTIAL LAW IN CAPE COLONY.

Cape Town, Dec. 21—Martial law has been proclaimed in Brit-town, Victoria West, Richmond, Hanover, Marraisburg, Graaf Rienet, Middleburg, Aberdeen, Steynsburg, Cradock, Tarka, and Molteno.

COURT AT CAPE TOWN.

Cape Town, Dec. 20—The members of the court that was trying treason cases at Colesburg have arived at Cape Town. They intended to sit at Colesberg until December 22, but the arrival of Boers within seven miles of the court house necessitated the removal of the record to a safer place.

DEWET WANTS FREE PARDON.

London, Friday, December 21—Gen. Dewet has temporarily disappeared from the scene. A prisoner that he released has arrived at Bloemfontein. He states that when the Boers attacked Dewetsdorp they had 6,000 men and 18,000 horses. Gen. Dewet is said to have told the prisoner, who is apparently a civilian, that he lost more in killed at Dewetsdorp than the entire British casualties. He admitted that he was beaten, but said he was determined not to surrender without honor. He wanted a free pardon for all his followers, many of whom are Cape rebels. He declared that he was able to hold out until March. The prisoner confirms the report that Gen. Dewet was hard hit at Thaba N'Chu, when his force was trisected. He lost several prisoners, a number of horses, a quantity of ammunition, and two guns, in addition to his heavy casualties.

ARBITRATION DEFEATED.

Darmstadt, Grand Dutchy of Hesse, Germany, Dec. 21 — By the president's casting his vote the second Chamber today defeated a motion to instructt he Russian representatives in the Bundesrath to propose the assembling of the Foreign Affairs Committee with the object of initiating a proposal for arbitration between Great Britain and the Transvaal. Twenty-two votes were cast each way. All the anti-Semites and Social Democrats favored the motion. The representatives of the Government left the House before the debate on the motion.

MANY WRECKS, BUT FEW FATALITIES

The Steamer Cufic Rode Out the Gale—The Coast Guards Busy Night.

London, Dec. 21.—The storm appears to have reached its height during the night, and while the gale is still severe and the seas very heavy, it is hoped that the worst is over. Stories of wrecks and damage are coming from all directions. Happily, the fatalities are few.

The latest news from the White Star Line steamer Cufic, which was in need of assistance yesterday off the Skerries, while on her way from Queenstown to Liverpool in tow, is that she is still riding heavily at anchor a mile south-west of the Skerries.

The steamers Somerhill and Westernland are now riding safe at anchor in West Bay, near Weymouth, after a fearful night, which kept the coastguards busy from nightfall to daylight. They had the rocket apparantus in the vicinity of the storm-beaten craft in readiness to assist the ships, which were about a mile from the shore. The Somerhill is apparently considerably damaged, and tugs have gone to her assistance.

The British ship Clan MasFarlane drifted on a sandbank north of Southport. A lifeboat went out to her and found she had been abandoned. Her sails were blown to shreds, and she will probably be a total wreck.

Skibbereen reports a large unnamed steamer with a red funnel and black top on the rocks fof Sherkin Island. She will be a total wreck. Her crew of 24 men is reported to have reached the shore.

The Dominion Line steamer New England, for Boston, had such a bad time in the Channel that several of her crew were injured.

There have been numerous minor wrecks. The gale lasted all night, and blew almost with hurricane fury at times. Telegraph lines are down in all directions. Communications with Scotland is cut off, the Mersey ferryboats have suspended service, and Channel passages have been the most tempestuous in years.

The storm at Belfast and in its neighborhood was the most severe in a decade. Great damage was done to property, many persons were injured, and Belfast Lough is crowded with vessels which have sought shelter from the wind's fury.

WON'T ACCEPT IT

London Dispatch says Britain in no Circumstances Would Agree to Canal Treaty as Passed by Senate

London, Dec. 21.—If the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is amended in the sense in which all the Washington dispatches affirm the Senate will vote tomorrow, it will not be accepted by the British Government. It is not expected in official circles here that President McKinley will carry the matter to such an inevitable, issue, but will aviod unnecessary rebuffs by withdrawing the instrument. Neither the British Government nor people will seriously regret the resulting situation, for it will be assumed here that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty remains as binding upon the United States as upon Great Britain. It is expected that the United States would then propose a simple abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty. Lord Salisbury would decline to entertain such a proposition unless certain rights guaranteed therein or their equivalent be reconveyed to Great Britain by another instrument.

I inferred from my informant's owrds that Great Britain was willing to make some concessions to the strong American feeling on the subject by accepting a slight modification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty. Just how much or little this means I do not know, but according to an unofficial statement from an official source, Great Britain in no circumstances, will assent to a convention such as it is believed the Senate will send the President tomorrow. I merely state the fact without comment.

TROUBLE IS DUE TO THE GERMANS

They are Violating the Understanding Among the Allies.

MURDERING AND LOOTING

Sixty Chinese Soldiers Who Were Suppressing Boxers Shot.

London, Dec. 21.—A despatch to the Morning Post from Pekin says it is reported some German troops visited Lung Ching last Saturday, and shot 60 imperial soldiers who were engaged in suppressing the Boxers at that place. They also shot 30 other persons and took 200 prisoners. It is also said that the Germans looted many houses and shops. The expedition was contrary to the understanding that no measures of the kind were to be taken, pending the negotiations. Much of the country is defenceless because the Chinese troops are not allowed to do anything. The foreign troops are absent or engaged in looting.

Field Marshal Count von Waldersee has failed to secure accord by a just and discriminating policy, and the Germans on many grounds are gaining a worse reputation for severity than even the Russians ever had.

WHO TOLD LI HUNG CHANG?

Pekin, Dec. 21;—Yesterday's meeting of the foreign envoys was protracted and somewhat stormy, owing to the desire to discover who discloses to the Chinese what every Minister has pledged to keep secret. Li Hung Chang invariably knows with n two hours of the close of a meeting what has happened.

A meeting of the Ministers was held to-night to sign the note which, probably on Saturday, will be delivered by all the Minister to Li Hung Chang and Prince Ching, with a request that they reply as soon as possible.

The original note will be written in French. Mr. Conger and Sir Ernest Satow will enclose an English translation, while a Chinese copy also will be attached.

The modification proposed by the British Government was that until China should have proved that she intended complying with the terms of the note and rendering full satisfaction to the powers, no hope could be held out that the occupation of the Province of Chi Li by all the forces would cease.

MR. R. C. McHARRIE GETS A CALL

The Manager of the Bank of Commerce Asked to Stand for Mayor.

Yesterday evening a deputation of leading citizens and business men waited on Mr. R. C. McHarrie, local manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and formally requested him to allow himself to be put in nomination for the office of Mayor of Peterborough for the coming year. He was assured of strong support should he consent. Mr. McHarrie, although a comparative new-comer to Peterborough, has become very popular, and is highly regarded by the citizens generally.

Mr. McHarrie, in a few words, explained the difficulties in the way, and heartily thanked the deputation for the honor done him. He would take the matter into his most serious consideration, and give them an answer in two or three days.

Mr. R. S. Davidson, on behalf of the deputation, thanked Mr. McHarrie for the way they had been received, and hoped that they would have a favorable reply, a sentiment which was cordially endorsed by Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., H. LeBrun, John Kincaid, E. Brown and others, after which the deputation withdrew.

Said Good-Bye

Mr. C. A. Barton and Mrs. Barton left by yesterday afternoon's C.P.R. train for Toronto, where they will remain a few days and afterwards proceed to Boston, Mass. Before leaving the employees of the Canadian General Company assembled before the new office buildings and presented to him the following address, signed by every employee of the company:—

Mr. Barton.

Dear Sir,—We, the employees of the C.G.E. Co., have heard with deep regret of your severing your connection with the company, and wish to express our regard for you as a man and a manager. Feeling that you have ever had the best interests of the company in mind, we feel that you have not forgotten the interest of your employees. You have ever seemed to have their welfare at heart. With our regret comes a sense of joy that you are bettering your position in your chosen profession, and believing that the two pleasant years spent under your guiding hand shall not soon be forgotten. We wish you God-speed.

Mr Barton made a suitable and feeling reply, in language that came from the heart.

FACTORIES ARE A HELL ON EARTH, SAYS A JUDGE

Reasons Given for Growing Immorality Among Women.

Lindsay, Dec. 21.—Judge McIntyre, in addressing the Grand Jury, discussed the statement that drunkenness was increasing among women and said:

For some years back a large portion of girls of the country have been going astray, industrially resorting to factories, shops and offices at starvation wages in preference to pursuing some employment of a domestic character, where they would be somewhat prepared to be qualified as mistresses of the home, the position which the Creator intended every woman, at a suitable time in her life, to occupy. The employment of girls in factories, shops and offices unqualify them for wives and mothers, which it should be the ambition of every woman to be. Small wages, desire for dress, idle and entertaining lives at night bring them in contract with templations to which they unfortunately too often yield. Sin and remorse therefore, lead to drinking and crime, and an abandoned life. Aside from the morality of the case, these occupations physically unfit them for the cares and duties and responsibility od domestic life. In factories and shops they usually live in an unwholesome atmosphere, and they have not the proper kind of exercise to develop them into strong and healthy women. The nation had an interest in these girls as the mothers of those who are to be the nation of the future, and our people in the country ought to take warning and prevent their own and other people's daughters as far as possible from going into city factories and shops. The factory, for girls, is a veritable hell on earth, and the shop is little better.

MURDER OF WIFE.

Iowa Man Says He Chloroformed Woman and Started a Fire.

Cedar Rapids, Ia., Dec. 21.— John Freeman of Estherville today confessed to murdering his wife and then firing the house to cover the crime. He quarreled with the woman, struck her, on on the head with a shoe, chlorromed her, wrapped her in a blanket, and saturated her clothing and the house with gasoline, and started the fire. He was prepairing to flee when neighbors arrived and detained him until the officers arrived. Freeman said he married his wife for money, and after getting everything he could was preparing to flee. There is great excitement among the prisoner's neighbors and a lynching is deemed probable.

STORY OF HOW DE WET'S ARMY ESCAPED

The Whole Manoeuvre was a Piece of Magnificent Daring and its Success was Complete.

Bloemfontein, Dec. 20.—The details of Gen. De Wet's escape from the encircling British columns describe one of the boldest incidents of the war. When Haasbrock's command joined De Wet, December 12, some fifteen miles east of Ehabanchu, Gen. Knox was only about an hour distant, and the Boer situation appeared desperate. But De Wet was equal to the occasion. Despatching Haasbrock westward to make a feint at Victoria Nek, De Wet prepared to break through the British columns ab Springhaan Nek Pass, about four miles of broad, flat, unbroken ground. At the entrance were two fortified posts. Artillery was posted eastward watching the Boers.

Suddenly a magnificent spectacle was presented. The whole Boer army of 2,500 men started at a gallop in open order through the nek. President Steyn and Peit Fourie led the charge, and De Wet brought up the rear. The British guns and rifles boomed and rattled incessantly. The Boers first tried the eastwrad route, but encountering artillery, they diverged and galloped to the foot of a hill, where the fire of only a single post was effective.

The whole manoeuvre was a place of magnificent daring and its success was complete in spite of the loss of a fifteen-pounder and twnety-five prisoners.

The British force detached after Haasbrock came in contact with his commando at nightfall. The burghers were scattered and the Welsh Yeomanry galloped among the retreating Boers, using their revolvers, and the butt ends of their rifles with great effect.

An incident of the fight was the gallop of a British ammunition wagon right through the scattered Boers, the gunnors using their revolvers freely.

ADAM DAWSON OUT.

He Has Entered the Field in the Mayoralty Contest.

Mr. Adam Dawson has entered the Mayoralty contest, and is now actually engaged in making a canvas of the town. Yesterday he metaphorically speaking took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves and sailed in. It is said that he secured many promices, and quite a few refusals. If Mr. Dawson expects to be elected he should issue an address in some form, so that the long-suffering ratepayers may know where to find him on the leading questions that are likely to engage the attention of next year's Council. This also applies to his opponent, Mr. Denne.

There is every probability that if his is not done, a third candidate will be brought out, in which case there will be an interesting contest.

Mr. Denne is confident of election He believes, and rightfully too, his long and faithful service at the Council board should be rewarded with a term as Mayor.

CUDAHY PAID $25,000 TO RANSOM HIS SON

Rascals in the City of Omaha Sent the Buy back in Five Hours After Receiving Money.

Omaha, Dec. 21.—Edward Cudahy, the 15 year old son of the millionaire packer, Edward A. Cudahy, returned to his father's house at one o'clock Thursday morning. He was kidnapped on Tuesday night, and held in capitivity until $25,000 in gold was paid for his ransom.

Wednesday at noon a letter was found on the lawn in front of the Cudahy mansion, addressed to Mr. Cudahy, It was dated from Omaha, and read: "We have kidnapped your child, and demand $25,000 (twenty-five thousand dollars) for his safe return. If you give us the money the child will be returned as safe as when you last saw him; but if you refuse we will put acid in his eyes and blind him, when we will immediately kidnap another millionaire's child that we have spotted, and demand $100,000 and we will get it, for he will see the fact that we mean business, and will not be monkeyed with or captured." This letter and every part of it must be returned with the money, and if you refuse you will soon see the saddest sight you ever saw."

The letter also contained explicit instructions as to how Mr. Cudahy was to deliver the money. He was to drive along the paved road towards Fremont, leaving Omaha at 7 o'clock. On the road he would see a lantern, tied to a stick. The lantern was to be marked by a white and a black ribbon. Mr. Cudahy was insturcted to drive with a red lantern in front of his buggy. He followed the instructions, and left the $25,000 under the white lantern. His boy was returned to him five hours later.

Young Cudahy does not know where the kidnappers took him to, but it was somewhere in South Omaha. He was placed in an empty room, and chained to the floor. Two men kidnapped him from in front of Gen. Cowin's house They drove up in a buggy, and said that they arrested him as Eddie McGee, a boy they said had escaped from the Reform school. On Leavenworth street the men blindfolded him. He thinks there were six men in the kidnapping party.

There is not the slightest clue which would lead to the arrest of the desperadoes.

MORE HARD FIGHTING YET TO BE DONE

Tactics of the Boers in Rallying the Dutch are Proving Successful.

London, Dec. 22.—From its Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail has received the following: "The second invading force was designed to occupy Britstown, but being checked by the De Arr troops, it has disappeared into the Ceaderberg mountains. An enormous concentration of troops is being made up on the belt country, occupied by the envaders, but it is not likely that the Boers will offer battle in large numbers. There is a renewed demand for whole sale proclamation of martial law."

Cape Town, Dec. 21.—Gen Baden Powell will start for the Transvaal tomorrow. The Boers derailed a train at Barbeton, killing an inspector and others.

London, Dec. 22.—We understand that private reliable advices have been received says the Daily Mail to the effect that virtually, all the districts of Cape Colony in the vicinity of the Orange River are in more or less open revolts, and that there is likely to be sharp fighting on another large scale before the invasion is crushed. The tactics of the Boers in rallying as many as possible of the Dutch in the back country to their cause are proving successfully.

SOLDIERS WEARY OF THE FIGHTING

Canadian Battery Men Tired of South Africa—Report From Major Ogilvie.

Ottawa, Dec. 21.—In a report received at the Militia Department from Major Ogilive, in command of E. Battery, the Major says that Lord Roberts expressed a wish that they would remain a few weeks longer. This was on November 12. On the following day the Major reported that all of the left and center sections, with the exception of eight, wanted to go home. The right section would volunteer as a battery, but if the battery goes, they all wanted to go except two, who wished to be transferred to corps in the Transvaal. After seeing the worst part of South Africa and not getting into the Transvaal, the men were tired of the country.

They say the coming century will have twenty-four leap years. With such chances there should be an end to this late decrease in the marriage rate.

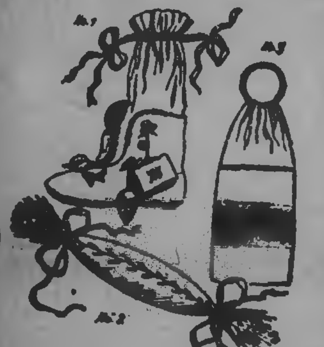
CHRISTMAS GIVING.

Pretty Things That May Be Made With One's Hands.

Christmas is intended for the pleasure of the rich as well as of the poor. It is not everybody who has money, to buy gifts, but it is happily a fact that the simple and inexpensive made by one's own hands is often valued more than the choicest piece of purchased bric-a-brac. This is especially the case among friends, relatives and young people, to whom a pretty home-made article, showing painstaking effort and good taste, on the part of the donor, is evidently more a gift of love than the prettiest trinket from the shops could be.

All the following useful and pretty things could be neatly made by girls under 14, with a little help and a few suggestions here and there from "mother."

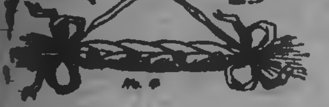
A convenient and appropriate bag for shoe buttons, thread, etc., can be made of a tiny kid shoe, designed really for baby's wear, but for this purpose, finished at the top with a little white silk bag fitted to the inside about an inch above the heel. Ribbons to draw up the bag match the shoe, which is prettier in some light color, although black, with a bright silk bag, is attractive. The shoe is left unbuttoned, and to one of the buttons is tied an emery. Inside the toes are slipped shoe buttons, patent fasteners, etc., and filling up the ankle is a large spool of black linen shoe thread. If desired a needle case may be fitted to the under part of the shoe and some large needles quilted in, but this somewhat detracts from the effect, so one put in the bag or tied to the button, like the emery, is better. A very good one may be made by overcasting together three pieces of silk or worsted braid about three-quarters of an inch wide, and one-eighth of a yard long, in three different shades or colors, covering the seams with feather stitching. Fill the hollow tube thus formed with any cushion stuffing preferred (snipped scraps of old worsted are excellent), tie each end with baby ribbon bows about an inch from the edge. After having sewed the braid together tight underneath, fringe out the braid at the ends, and a very pretty cushion for long needles is the result.



(1). Button Bag, with Emery and Needle Case. (2). Pin Cushion. (4). Grandmother's Pocket.

Another bag, quite different in design and purpose, will make a charming gift for "grandma" in these days when pockets are so often left out of gowns, or are inconveniently placed when they are included in the general make-up.

One yard and a quarter of medium sash ribbon in black or some subdued color is about all that is required for this side pocket, we might call it. Fold the ribbon nearly in the middle. Double the bottom of one end so as to form quite a deep pocket, overhanding the selvages closely together, and hemming the top of the flap. This will hold spectacle case and several odd trifles very nicely. For the top flap fold the ribbon up double, so that the cut edge, which should be fringed for about one and one-half inch, falls over the opening of the under bag. Then sew as in the former case. This upper pocket, which is shallow, will hold a handkerchief or any small objects. The ribbon should be slightly gathered at the top, and a shield pin sewed in to hold it in place at the belt, or a more elaborate way is to crochet a silk covering to a large brass ring and sew the ribbon to this, through which a belt can be slipped. Keys and small brushes, shoe hooks, etc., are always being mislaid, so some kind of a rack is sure to be useful.



Key Rack.

A simple and quite effective key rack can be made of a short piece of manilla rope of about three-quarters of a yard long. About three inches from each end wind tightly about it, ravel out the ends, and in the intervening space screw brass hooks about an inch apart. Tie a colored satin ribbon in a bow at each end, leaving sufficient length to hang it to a hook in the wall. An extra touch is given by enameling the cups and gilding the ends, but the [illegible] is more artistic.

LIVELY LAKEFIELD

Latest Budget of News From our Pretty Northern Suburb

Judge Weller held Division Court in the Town Hall on Thursday. The only case called was J. J. Bickell and Levi Payne, executors of the late Mrs. Bickell vs. C. Bickell. E. B. Stone for plaintiff. O. A. Langley for defendant.

Objection was taken at the outset to the jurisdiction of the Court, owing to the amount involved, and after some argument, and the rejection of the Judge's proposal for arbitration, leave was given to the plaintiffs to amend within ten days and the case enlarged till the next court. Interim costs to defendants.

Court Lakefield No. 48, C.O.F., elected the following officers on Thursday evening for 1901.

Bro. John Northcote—C. R.

" R. C. Strickland—J. B.
" J. R. Fraser—Physician.
" R. L. Dench—Delegate.
" R. Graham, W. H. Casement, J. E. Richardson—Trustees.

There has not been much talk so far of candidates for municipal honors, but it seems to be generally understood that Reeve Hull will not again be a candidate and that Councillor J. R. Fraser will be nominated and that there will be a contest.

The Rink opened for one day, but was shut down again owing to the soft weather. Mr. R. Botterill is manager this year.

The various stores are handsomely decorated for Christmas and special credit is due T. Z. Webster for his window display. The merchants would like to see a good snow-fall.

"Could Not Sleep."

Sleeplessness marks the very climax of human suffering. It is only a step removed from insanity. When sleep no longer restores the exhausted nature, the struggle with disease cannot last long. The starting point of the nervous disorders which produce ill-health and sleeplessness, is generally a diseased condition of the womanly organs. Restore these organs to sound health and the appetite comes back, the day's work no longer wearies, and sleep is sound and refreshing. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures diseases of the womanly organs. It stops the drains which weaken women; it heals the inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a temperance medicine.

"My health has been poor for many years and I had taken a great deal of medicine, but it did me no good," writes Mrs. Rose Kennedy, of Springbluff, Adams Co., Wis. "Last August my health was very poor; I had no appetite and could not sleep. I wrote to Dr. Pierce and he kindly advised me to take his 'Favorite Prescription.' I took five bottles of the 'Prescription' and one bottle of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and I feel like a new woman."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 65 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. DOES IT NOT PAY TO Go to The Best.

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the

CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.

and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 363 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & CO., Brantford, Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please, should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

CHRISTMAS.

This is the month, and this the happy morn,
Wherein the son of heaven's Eternal King,
Of wedded maid and virgin mother born,
Our great redemption from above did bring,
For so the holy sages once did sing,
That he our deadly forfeit should release,
And with his Father work us a perpetual peace.
—Milton.

Rise, happy morn! Rise, holy morn!
Draw forth the cheerful day from night!
O Father! touch the east, and light
The light that shone when hope was born.
—Tennyson

How shall we celebrate the day
When God appeared in mortal clay,
The mark of worldly scorn;
When the archangel's heavenly lays
Attempted the Redeemer's praise,
And hailed salvation's morn?
—Chatterton

At his birth a star, unseen before in heaven,
Proclaim Him come. —Milton.

'Twas much, that man was made like God before;
But, that God should be made like man, much more. —Donne.

YOUNG MAN Have you sinned against nature when ignorant of the terrible crime you were committing. Did you only consider the fascinating allurements of this evil habit? When too late to avoid the terrible results, were your eyes opened to your peril? Did you later on in manhood contract any PRIVATE or BLOOD disease? Were you cured? Do you now and then see some alarming symptoms? Dare you marry in your present condition? You know, "LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON." If married, are you constantly living in dread? Is marriage a failure with you on account of any weakness caused by early abuse or later excesses? Have you been drugged with mercury? A WONDERFUL

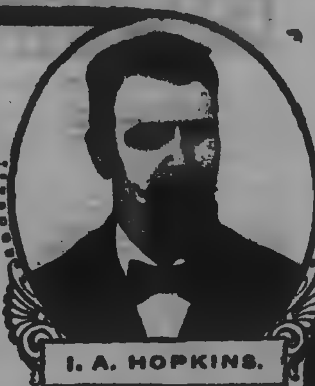
The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.



I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 68 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co. No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrance the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2.500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325 00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

An Extra Grant.

In the Warden's address at the Counties' Council of Northumberland and Durham, reference was made to granting $25 extra to each of the volunteers returning from South Africa. The matter was left over until the January session.

How She Worked It.

"I am working a Christmas present for you," said a young girl to her wealthy uncle, in the Times Bookstore yesterday, as they were looking over the Christmas goods. "Hush," observed the uncle, "you mean you are working me for a Christmas present." And he straightway bought one of the handsome articles in the store.

Another Success.

The band scored another success last night, the concert being one of the best of the series. These concerts have become exceedingly popular, the hall being filled to overflowing. The programme contained several new selections, amongst which was a Christmas fantasia "Yule Tide", by Kappy, which was delightfully rendered.

This is What They Say.

Those who take Hood's Sarsaparilla for scrofula, eczema, eruptions, catarrh, rheumatism or dyspepsia, say it cures promptly and permanently, even after all other preparations fail. You may take this medicine with the utmost confidence that it will do you good. What it has done for others you will have every reason to believe it will do for you.

Constipation is cured by Hood's Pills, 25c.

Municipal Ownership.

That municipal ownership of water works, electric lighting, etc., is now a live question in municipal politics, is becoming more apparent every day; The Toronto Star says: The people hav too long been scared away from municipal ownership by groundless stories of corruption among aldermen. This kind of talk is necessary to the getting and keeping of special privileges by the big moneyed concerns, and it is about time that the people trusted their representatives and elected representatives that can be trusted.

Special Meetings.

At the Salvation Army Barracks tomorrow, special meetings will be held, led by Adjutant Woodroff, late of Vancouver, B. C., an don Christmas night a Christmas tree will be provided for the children o fthe Sunday School, who will take the platform for that evening and give recitations, songs, etc. All parents and friends are invited. Also, on Thursday, December 27th, at 8 p.m., a Hallelujah Wedding will be celebrated, the ceremony to be performed by Brigadier Pugmire of Montreal. An admission fee of 10 cents will be charged to the wedding.

The Norwood-Apsley Railway.

The following letter, addressed to the Editor of the Norwood Register, appeared in the last issue of that paper:

Dear Sir,—I was much pleased at reading in your issue of last week, the notice of the Norwood and Apsley Railroad, and if you will permit me through your columns, I will take great pleasure in publicly thanking Mr. J. B. Pearce, for the pains that he has employed in pushing forward a scheme of such importance, not only to us in the back country, but to yourselves in Norwood and to the whole county.

I must ask all of your leading citizens (yourself included) to use every effort in co-operating with Mr. Pearce to push the matter through to a successful issue. I have no doubt that there is as great future ahead of us, when once united by the bond of steel rails. Wishing you the compliments of the season and many new subscribers for the coming year.

I remain,
Yours truly,
PEYTON W. C. SHEWEN.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN

—The Times Bookstore for Christmas presents.

—See the new books just received at The Times Bookstore.

—The promotion examinations will not be published.

—The schools closed yesterday at noon for the Christmas vacation.

—Don't forget that the Times Bookstore is selling holiday goods cheaper than any other place in town.

Dyspepsia is difficult digestion, due to the absence of natural digestive fluids. Hood's Sarsaparilla restores the digestive powers.

—There are many things that favor the hen industry. For instance, just as the Tom and Jerry season sets in, the price of eggs advances.

—The Post says it will be a red letter day for Lindsay when the town owns both the street lighting and water works plants. Peterborough is commencing to do some figuring along the same lines just now.

—Mayor Kendrey, Alderman Roger and Town Solicitor Edwards are in Ottawa. They will appear before the Railway Committee of the Privy Council in regard to an application for protection at railway crossings in town.

—J. H. Douglas, M.P.P. for East Northumberland and Sam Clarke, M.P.P. for West Northumberland are both applicants for the county court clerkship at Cobourg, but it is a question if either one will be chosen. J. W. Gorden, barrister, Brighton and Seth Smith, barrister, Port Hope, are among the applicants who have influence and lengthy party service to their credit.

—Toronto Telegram—"Was there ever a sportier town than Peterborough? Well, not in this fair Dominion. They're in all kinds of sport—even to golf, if that may be so termed—and are always willing to try conclusions with any old team. In golf they have a new exponent down there, Prof. "Comp." Compton, the lilliputian banker, who performs feats of strength at the links every afternoon when the cares of the day are over.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

—The Times was yesterday favored with a call from Mr. Geo. B. Hilliard, Lakefield, who was in town on business.

—Mr. J. C. Grant, Peterborough, is registered at the Balmoral, Montreal.

—Lakefield News—Mr. Geo. Lee, of Peterboro, Asst. Supt. of the London Life Insurance Co., was in the village on Friday distributing the Company's calendars to their policy holders. Mr. Lee reports the business of the Company as booming, and the prospects to be very bright.

A Market Week

A suggestion was made to the Times yesterday by Mr. H. T. Strickland, to the effect that the Council should proclaim every day a market day for a week preceding Christmas. His idea is that in this way Christmas shopping would not be left until the last day.

Broke His Leg

Yesterday afternoon Mr. Napoleon Trombley, a carpenter working on the Canadian General Electric Company's building, had the misfortune to fall and break his leg below the knee. He was removed to St. Joseph's Hospital, where the limb was set by Drs. Young and Moher. He is now doing nicely, but will be laid up for some weeks.

Christmas Exercises

The Christmas exercises in connection with Miss Sullivan's private kindergarten took place yesterday afternoon, and were simply delightful. It was an interesting event for the little ones, who showed the effects of the admirable training they had received. The programme closed with the Goodbye Song, and God Save the Queen.

A Cantata

A Christmas cantate, "The Birth of Christ," was given in the Charlotte street church on Thursday night, and was a decided success. The cantata set forth in song and story the birth of Christ, and closed with the introduction of Santa Claus. The directors are deserving of congratulations on the success of their efforts.

Railway Notes

The Christmas traffic has now set in, especially with express business. Great loads are being delivered, and extra wagons are used.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company have commenced at their works the construction of twenty new consolidated freight engines, which will cost over a quarter of a million dollars.

The Stanley Piano Co. requests all purchasers of Pianos to communicate direct with or call at the Factory, where Mr. Stanley will take pleasure in showing the special merits of the Stanley Piano, which no doubt has contributed to the great success and rapidly increased sale experienced by the Company.

A POPULAR IDEA.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I would suggest that a part of Central Park be flooded this winter so as to afford a convenient and safe place for the children to skate on. The cost would be only trifling. That portion of the park used as baseball grounds, just north of the drill shed, would make an excellent rink, and could be flooded by the town hose for a mere song.

I hope Mayor Kendrey will do this, and make himself forever popular with the little folks.

A PARENT.

Christmas Giving.

Every purse opens at this time of year. Men and women who never part with a cent at any other time except under conditions where the law would compel them to do so if they did not, are just now going about buying presents for their friends and preparing gifts for the poor. It is a good thing. This season coming once a year probably prevents many a man from deteriorating into miserliness.

There is a joy in giving, which, when once tasted, is always thirsted for — or perhaps we should say that this joy, in its full strength, is found in giving where recompense is unlooked for. There is really little good to be had from the system of trading presents, one with another, at Christmas time, although even that is heart-warming as compared with the drear prospect of sitting outside the circle, cut off from mankind at such a time of good-will.

The churches and organized societies just now are preparing to supply food and good cheer for the poor, and it is a fine idea thatreflects credit on the good people who are busying themselves about it.

But there may yet come a time when instead of remembering the brotherhood of man for a day or a week it will be the ruling idea of life.

It is not charity the year round, nor generosity the year round, but justice always that will transform the world. That is the effort to which earnest minds should be applied.

"Every Path Hath a Puddle."

The puddle in the pathway of most lives is a defective circulation due to a blood supply that instead of growing clear and strong like a mountain brook, is stagnant and impure. Puddles may be purified, however, and and become limpid streams. That is what Hood's Sarsaparilla does with human blood.

It clarifies, purifies and strengthens the blood, and when this is accomplished, the vital organs, liver, lungs, kidneys, bowels, are all braced and invigorated. It never disappoints.

Dyspepsia—"My wife suffered from rheumatism, dyspepsia and pains in her stomach. She had medical attendance but did not get relief. She read about Hood's Sarsaparilla and tried it. Three bottles entirely cured her. She is now a well and hearty woman." T. W. COVERT, Cape Sable Island, N. S.

Sick Headache—"For a long time I was troubled with sick headaches. Different medicines failed to give me relief. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, my husband having been cured of salt rheum by it, and soon it made me feel like a new woman." MRS. ROBERT MCAFEE, Dearhurst, Ont.

GENERAL FRENCH DEFEATS THE BOERS

He Attacts a Force of 2,500 and Defeats Them --Kitchener to be Reinforced by Mounted Infantry and Cavalry.

Lodnon, Dec. 22.—The full result of General De Wet's clever work is now apparent. It is apparent that his devious detours in the southeastern portion of the Orabge River Colony for several weeks were skilfully designed to draw General Know away from the border of Cape Colony, aand thus weaken the river guard and gave the way for an invasion. How he succeeded is only too well known, for there are now no less than 3,000 Boers established south of the Orange. So for there are no signs that the bands who made the raid over the border have received many, if any, accessions to their ranks from among the disaffected inhabitants of the Colony. In fact, it is stated that the eastern force met with a distinctly cool reception in the Venterstad district. Sensational journals are giving the atmosphere of a crisis to the present condition of affairs. Such a vie wis not at all justified by the circumstances. If Great Britain could successfully cope with the really serious revolt of the days of Stormberg finally drive back the enemy all along the line, and pacify wide disaffected districts, there is not the slightest reason in the world why she should not easily deal with the two isolated abuds which have crossed into her territory. She has the advantage of position, holding as she does all the strategic points in the country, and being able to overawe discontented people who might be induced to side with the invaders if unhindered. The London Daily Mail is authority for the statement that the whole of the Colesberg district is in open revolt, but it would be distinctly unwise to attach any importance to the despatches of this journal, when not officially confirmed. The situation on the border, though annoying, is not worse than many situations during the war which have resulted in increase of British prestige. The incidents now going on in South Africa are incidents such as have been recorded of the close of all great wars, and the British people must make up their mild to await their termination with patience.

MORE TROOPS FOR KITCHENER.

London, Dec. 21.—The War Office announces that in view of the situation in South Africa, it has decided to reinforce General Kitchener as follows. Eight hundred mounted infantry will start next week, and two regiments of cavalry as soon as transports are ready. Detachments of mounted men for 10,000 colonial police, who are being enrolled in Great Britain, will start as fast as they are formed. Further cavalry drafts will be despatched immedicately. The Government has invited Australia and New Zealand to send more mounted troops. An extra 3,000 horses in addition to the usual monthly supply has been arranged for. The War Office also gives notice that special compensation will be given to the Yeomanry and militia volunteers whose service has been exceeded owing to the prolongation of the war.

FRENCH DEFEATS THE BOERS.

Johannesburg, Dec. 21.—Gen. French on Wednesday last, attacked a Boer force numbering 2,500, with five guns. They are believed to have been the burghers who defeated the British at Nooitgdacht a few days ago. The engagement took place 16 miles northwest of Krugersdorp. More than forty of the Boers were killed and the remainder were routed. The British lost 14 wounded.

BOERS CUT THE RAILWAY.

Cape Town, Dec. 22.—It is reported that Boer rebles have destroyed the railway north of De Aar. In the fighting that followed with a British force the marauders were defeated. The Times says it believes that the forces at the disposal of the military authorities are sufficient to enable them to deal in the most complete manner with the renewed violation of colonial coil by the Boers. It hails the extension of martial law with the liveliest satisfaction, believing that the Boers invaded Cape Colony in response to rebel overtures. It declars that the condition of the colony demands remorseless firmness on the part of the constituted authority.

NOT VERY WARMLY WELCOMED.

London, Dec. 22.—A despatch to a news agency from Burghersdorp, dated Dec. 20, gives the details of the operations of that section of the Boers who crossed the Rhenoster river, says that the welcome accorded the burghers by the inhabitants was not so undisguised as when the town was occupied before. The Volksleid was sung in only one house, and no new rebels are known to have joined the Boers.

The correspondent at Cape Town ascribe the incursion, which it was apparently Gen De Wet's intention to head himself to the encouragement received from the Dutch press of the Cape Colony and the Worcester and other pro-Boer congresses. They declare that the Dutch are maddened by the infamous concoctions relative to alleged British barbarities.

It is stated that Commandant Kretzinger commands the Boers who crossed the Rhenster. These passed close to Knaphaar, but did no damage to the telegraphs, railways, or private property. When, however, they subsequently captured the twenty British soldiers garrisoning Venterstad, who resisted for three hours, when their ammunition was exhausted, they commandeered all the available clothing and provisions in the town. Their horses are said to be in prime condition. Most of the party had pack horses, too.

The party which cut the railroad north of De Aar were repulsed by the Yeomanry and went westward.

Sir Robert Harts Advice

London, Dec. 22. "The delay in signing the preliminary joint note," says the Pekin correspondent of the Morning Post, wiring yesterday, "is due to an objection from Washington. Mr. Conger, however, has telegraphed his Government urging a speedy settlement on the ground that Foreign military control is worse than Chinese management."

Prince Ching says that Emperor Kwang Su and the Empress Dowager are both anxious to leave Sian Fu, as the accommodation there is poor and their environment unfavorable. He points out that the private and Government property seized in Pekin is quite equivalent in value to the indemnity demanded by the powers.

"Sir Robert Hart saw Prince Ching yesterday and advised him against dallying with the powers in regard to the punishment of the guilty officials. Prince Ching thought the execution of two or three possible and the life long imprisonment of Prince Tuan quite certain."

ESTERHAZY'S MISERY.

Only Suicide Can Save Him From Death from Starvation.

Paris, Dec. 23.—Maj. Count Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy (who figured so prominently in the Dreyfus case, and who was denounced by Mathieu Dreyfus as being the writer of the famous bordereau which brough about the two convictions of Capt. Alfred Dreyfus, on the charge of treason) has sunk into utter misery. His divorced wife's suit against her mother, the Marquise de Batencourt, for an allowance, on the grounds that she is in profound distress and unable to support or educate her daughters, has brought forth the following letter, written by the major to his wife Nov. 1;— I could not write to my children recently, not having the money to buy a postage stamp. I am at the last extremity of strength courage and resources. I have not eaten for two days until this morning in the workhouse. I have no clothes, am shivering with cold and compelled to warm myself by entering churches and museums. Everyone will say this is a confession of guilt; but you can say I am dying because, after having struggled to the utmost of my courage, my voice is stifled by my persecutors. Without bread, home or clothing, I shall die of privations of all kinds, unless a revolver bullet puts everything in good order. Kiss my children. Tell them I adore them, and if a frightful fatality has precipitated me into an abyss, if I die the victim of human cowardice, I never commited the crime where of I am accused by scoundrels in order to save themselves.

A Voter writes: I see Messrs. Dawson and Denne are out, and just to make it a little lively, I would like to see the old war horse ex-Mayor Yelland, again to the fore for Mayor. I enclose 20 ballots marked for our friend.

Another says: I'm in favor of Mr. McHarrie for Mayor, but he has one fault—and that is, he has not wife. If Mr. McHarrie will remove this objection, I can promise him every woman's vote in town. I fear if we had a confirmed bachelor, there might afterwards be discord amongst the lady ratepayers.

A Subscriber says: I am in favor of having each candidate pledge himself before election, as to our Town Engineering department. Will they do it? Let all ratepayers insist on this.

HOW TO VOTE.

Our readers are again reminded that they can vote as often as they like. All that is necessary is to cut out the coupon which is printed every day in the Times, fill it in with the names of the citizens you think should sit around the Council board, sign and send it to the Times office.

The ballot is a perfectly secret one. Everybody can vote—from the youngest to the oldest, men, women and children.

THE BOBCAYGEON RAILWAY

The Road to be Continued Northward Through Peterboro County

Ottawa advices state that the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway Company will seek to obtain authority from Parliament to continue the construction of their road from a point within the corporation of the village of Bobcaygeon, through the said village, the Townships of Verulam, Harvey and Glamorgan, to a point on the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway, within ten miles of Furnace Falls, and will ask for power to enter into an agreement with the latter, the Toronto, Lindsay & Pembroke Railway Company, and the Pembroke Southern Railway Company, or either of them, for conveying or leasing to such company or companies, the Lindsay, Bobcaygeon & Pontypool Railway Company, in whole or in part, for amalgamation upon such terms as may be agreed upon and to change the name of the company to the Ontario Northeastern Railway Company.

Thus, it will be seen, the road will not only cut off Bobcaygeon from Peterborough, but will take all our back country trade to Lindsay.

SERVICE WAS HELD AT THE ABBEY

Canon Wilberforce Warmly Praised Canadian Troops.

London, Dec. 4.—A bright Sunday in London bringeth out a multitude, and last Sunday the multitude appeared as it was bright and sunny this morning. The newspapers had stated that the Canadian volunteers, who arrived in London on Thursday last, would attend divine service at Westminister Abby and the readers of the newspapers had noted the information as evident by the large crowd that had assembled this morning shortly before ten o'clock as Col. Otter and his men came down Parliament street. The Abby was completely filled to hear Canon Wilberforce preach his sermon from a text taken from Isaiah XLIX., ii.: "And I will make all my mountains a way." He said that although that day was set apart for the discussion of missionary work, yet there was something in the text that appretained to the visit of the Canadian contingent to that historic temple. The war in which they had taken so noble a part offered an illustration of a mountain being made into a way. The immediate cause of the war had not to do with the profession of arms, "Theirs not to reason why, theirs but to do or die." By doing their duty so nobly as they had done and by laying down their lives in the service of their Queen and country, soldiers were but carrying out a rule of the universe. The present war had brought out some of the finest and highest qualities of the human race. The glorious deeds of heroism on the field of battle had moved us to admiration. The Victoria Cross had been earned a hundred times in South Africa for once that it was possible to award it. Men had for their wounded comrades and there was no better credential for the other world than the sudden death incurred in helping others. They, the representatives of the courageous manhood of the Dominion of Canada were so eager to help the mother country that the raising of the Royal Canadian Infantry Regiment was simply a matter of selection. They had earned the gratitude of the English-speaking race as they might be sure that their deeds would never be forgotten. The Canadians had been to the aid of the mother country before, in the Crimea and the Gordon relief expendition, and in the present war there had hardly been a single engagement of any importance in which they did not partake, and the battle of Paardeberg, in which they so distinguished themselves, was worthy of a place in the front rank of England's great achievements on the field of battle. They, God bless them, had come to our help, and their services would never be forgotten.

LAID DOWN THEIR LIVES

BACK TO BARRACKS.

After church the men returned to the barracks, where, after dinner and a short rest, the men were once more on the move to see another of the sights of London. Sunday at the Zoo is the delight of many Londoners, and to-day the Canadians had the opportunity afforded them of enjoying that delight. The weather was not of the kind that brought Londoners to the Zoo, so that the Canadians had the gardens pretty nearly all to themselves. The lion house was a great attraction, for there is housed the Kruger lion, the one Cecil Rhodes had sent to the lion President of the Transvaal, but which was not accepted. The grizzly bears were passed by as old acquaintances, but the seal pond received more attention. The visitors were guided through the Gardens by the attendants, who were very attentive and careful to describe as minutely as possible the animals they introduced to the notice of their visitors. An hour or two was passed most pleasantly in seeing the Zoo and its many strange animal curiosities, after which the men returned to barracks after having most religiously enjoyed their first Sunday in London.

MR STEAD TALKS WITH OOM PAUL

He Still Hopes that He Will get Some Country to Propose Arbitration.

London, Dec. 22.—Mr. William T. Stead has just returned from The Hague, where he has had a long conference with Mr. Kruger, and has ascertained at first hand the views of Mr. Kruger and his counselors as to the present situation and future prospects. Mr. Stead has written the Associated Press in part as follows:

"First of all, nothing is decided about his visit to America at present. President Kruger has not abandoned all hope of securing the support of the Governments of the civilized world in his demand for arbitration. Until the last Government refuses absolutely to say a word is support of the principles which they solemnly laid down at The Hague conference, Mr. Kruger will not partake in popular demonstrations.

"Mr. Kruger is emphatic in disclaiming any desire to involve other nations in war in behalf of the Boers. What he asks is that the Governments which at The Hague declared their determination to use their efforts to secure amicable settlement of disputes by means of mediation and arbitration should make a united effort to bring the verdict of the civilized world to bear on Great Britain.

"I cannot put their position better than in the words of one of Mr. Kruger's counsellors:

"England is our accuser. England is the sole witness against us. England is the judge. England is the executioner, and England hopes to profit by our death. We appealed for arbitration before the war. We are fighting for arbitration to-day. We have the right to expect the sympathies of the civilized world."

"I found Mr. Kruger hale. His hearing is not so good as it was His mind moves somewhat more slowly; but every now and then the old fire flashes from his eyes, and you hear the deep resonant voice which has so often rallied the burghers in battle.

"Queen Wilhelmina is kindness itself. She has displayed pluck in remarkable contrast to the timidity of many of her official advisers. I found the old man's spirit unshaken by his reverses. He disclaimed any desire to humilate England, and said they only wanted their rights.

"It may interest Americans to know that Mr. Kruger's appeal to the civilized world would be received everywhere with unanimous enthusiasm were it not for the deep-rooted distrust and jealousy of the dynasties of Hapsburg and Hohenzollern against the president of a republic. If he were a king the courts would have been open everywhere. This feeling, it is well to note, is not shared by Russia.

"The Boers will not listen to any proposals for a compromise. They are unanimous. Failing independence or arbitration, they prefer to die fighting."

THE BRITISH NAVY SADLY NEEDS MEN

Naval Officer Points Out that it is More Difficult to Make a Sailor than a Soldier and Charges Neglect.

London, Dec. 22.—A naval officer writing in the London Daily Mail says that the British navy is sadly in need of men and that if an emergency arose the Admiralty would have difficulty in finding crews for all the ships on the effective list, let along those now building. He asks: "If we are short of seamen under present circumstances, what would our position be in the event of any great national emergency, such as Gen. Mercier appears to contemplate?" He goes on to point out that a man-of-war's man is the product of long and careful training. "Sea warfare," says he, "differs widely from a land campaign, that the sources from which we draw so largely to augment our army in South Africa, would be of no use to us if it were the navy that was in straits for want of men. That omnipotent personage the man in the street has not yet realized that the raw material which with a few years' drilling is made into a good soldier, cannot be turned into a competent bluejacket with equal facility. Skill and science will be predominating factors in determining the issue of the naval conflicts of the future. Consequently the side that wants victory must take steps to secure it. The ancient advice to "in time of peace prepare for war" cannot safely be neglected by modern naval powers. One of the most necessary preparations is to maintain an adequate supply of men to fight your ships. This Great Britain does not at present do. Our navy is short of officers as well as men. Quite recently midshipmen have been put to work formerly done by sub-lieutenants, and in order to release lieutenants for other duties, chief warrant officers have been given command of several torpedo gunboats and other craft. This shortness affects vitalty the prestige of our navy; for disaster, swift and crushing, will come upon us should we ever be forced to use makeshift material for manning our first line of defence."

BRITISH ARE NOW ENGAGING THE BOERS

Lord Kitchener Says that the Boers are Being Engaged at all Points.

London, Dec. 23.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Kitchener dated, Pretoria, Dec. 22: So far as it is possible for me to form an opinion from the reports of officers on the spot. I think the Boer movement into Cape Colony has been checked. Of the two forces that entered the Colony, the eastern is still north of the Zeoutpahsberg range while the one that entered west appears to have been turned in the direction of Britstown and Prieskin. Our troops are getting around both bodies, and a special column is also being organized which will be despatched immediately when I know where its services are most wanted. The Boers have not received much assistance in Cape Colony. So far as my information away in southwesterly direction towards Palchifestroom, and were followed by Gen. Gordon with a column of French's force. Yesterday evening about five o'clock Clement's force was engaged south of Olephants Nek, but I don't yet know the result.

A later despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Dec. 22, says: "The western column of Boers occupied Britstown and cut the railway south of De Aar Junction. The enemy is being followed up. General French has been in contact for two days with the commandoes of Beyers and Delarey south of the Magaticsberg. He is pursuing them. The enemy have lost considerable, and Commandant Kreuz and others have been captured."

REPLIED TO AN ENQUIRY

Pekin, Dec. 23.—Li Hung Chang, answering an enquiry from the foreign envoys regarding his health, said he believed he would be able to attend the meeting to-morrow, in order to accept with Prince Ching, the preliminary joint note presented by the Spanish Minister, Senor B. De Cologan Doyen, of the diplomatic corps, with a few words, expressing a hope for its prompt reply as possible to a note which has been carefully prepared with every desire to continue the dynasty and not to be hard toward the nation and further hope that the Chinese plenipotentiaries will urge upon Emperor Kwang Su, the necessity of immediate compliance. An answer is expected about Thursday.

Was He a Traitor

Paris, Dec. 22.—Major Cuigent has been arrested and lodged in the military prison of Mount Valerien. He is charged with having disclosed to an anti-Dreyfus deputy a confidential document, of which he obtained possession while in the Secret Intelligence Bureau. He is also charged with writing to M. Waldeck-Rosseau, accusing M. Delcasse, the Foreign Minister, of falshood.

The arrest has caused more excitement in Paris than anything since the suicide of Col. Henry. The Nationalists and partisans of the army are furious over the affair, which they regard as another gratuitous insult offered by the Republican Government to the champions of French honour.

Anti-Dreyfus crowds in the lobbies of the Chamber yesterday loudly hissed the members of the Cabinet when they entered. The Nationalists are preparing an excoriatory interpellation on the arrest.

Major Cuignet caused a sensation at the Rennes trial by his accusation against the foreign military attaches at Paris, particularly the German, Austrian and Italian. When Major Schneider, the Austrian attache, disclaimed the authorship of a letter tending to prove Dreyfus' guilt, Cuignet accused him of lying.

Quebec's Vacant Judgeship

Quebec, Dec. 22. For some time past rumor has been busy with the name of the Hon. Charles Langellier as that of the coming Speaker of the Legislative Assembly. Now it is said that there is another arrangement on the tapis. Judge Robidoux is to be transferred from the Three Rivers to the Richelieu district in place of the late Judge Ouimet, and Mr. Langelier will be named Judge at Three Rivers, in which case the Hon. Jules Tessier will be again Speaker. After all this, however, there is nothing yet very certain.

OLD ENGLISH CHRISTMAS CUSTOM BEING REVIVED

The Ancient Practice of the Nobility Dancing With Their Servants Will be Again Indulged in--The Servant Problem Becomes a Pressing One With British Households.

London, Dec. 22.—There will be a merry Christmas in England, though in consequence London is already one of the dullest spots in the United Kingdom. The fashionable world has deserted the metropolis and sought refuge in the country places. There will be such a round of house parties as has been unknown for several years, and they will be accompanied by the revival of the queer old customs which a century ago made the season the occasion for unrestricted merry-making among rich and poor alike.

At Osborne the Queen will be surrounded by the Duke and Duchess of York, the Princess of Baddenburg, and several of her grandchildren. At Sandringham the Prince of Wales will entertain the Duke and Duchess of Fife and their children with royal Christmas trees. Welbeck Abbey, Blenheim Palace, Hatfield House, and all the stately houses of England's aristocracy, are filling up with scores of guests prepared to make the most of Yuletide. Balls, amateur theatricals, and entertainments without end have been arranged, conspicuous among which is the old English custom of a dance in the servants' hall. At the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire's, Earl and Countess Spencer's, the Marquis and Marchioness of Londonderry's, and other places of the nobility, Christmas Eve will be marked by the strange spectacle of butlers dancing with duchesses, footmen with countesses, and grooms with the daughters of belted earls, while ladies' maids, chambermaids, and cooks will hang on the arms of Cabinet Ministers, and other male heads of illustrious lines. The ancient practice of the land-owners enjoying the servants' quadrille had almost lapsed, except in the case of a few families. The revival is perhaps no little due to the increasing necessity for pampering the British servant. The Onlooker says the householders now have to study the comfort of their domestics as much as their own, and quotes one country house where a set of rooms is specially alloted to them for recreation, comprising a ball-room, music room, library, and billiard room, in which a marker is kept for the servants' sole use.

MRS. MAYBRICK'S CASE.

Once again Mrs. Florence Maybrick spends an unhappy Christmas in her prison cell. In spite of various rumors her chances of liberty are no brighter than last year. Secretary Hay has forwarded to Mr. Choate several private letters, which will shortly be presented to the new Home Secretary, Mr. Ritchie, in accordance with the custom of approaching each new occupant of that office, but the Associated Press learns there is no possible chance of anything being done so long as Lord Halsbury is High Chancellor. Were the Cabinet to discuss the matter as it did once before, it could only refer it to the Crown's chief adviser, Lord Halsbury, who apparently made the Maybrick case the basis of a feud with the late Lord Chief Justice, Baron Russell of Killowen, and cherishes it just as bitterly now as before Lord Russell's death. When a new Chancellor is appointed Mrs. Maybrick will have a good chance of freedom. The Duchess of Bedford, who is reported to be specially interested in Mrs. Maybrick, tells the Associated Press that she only sees the celebrated prisoner in the course of her regular visits to Aylesbury Prison, not especially in the interest of her case, and does not intend to express any opinion of her guilt or innocence.

THE CANADIAN FURNITURE COMBINE.

W. R. Hobbs, head of the recently-formed Canadian Furniture Combine, now in London, has decided that the Canadians have no need of the assistance or co-operation of English financiers, which was originally projected. A significant fact, showing Canada's progress, is that sufficient funds are easily obtainable there, while the new law coming into force Jan. 1st, in the United Kingdom, imposes an almost prohibitory taxation on new corporations.

Another American woman is likely to be soon elevated to the British peerage, as Lord Salisbury intends to recognize the Right Hon. Arthur Hugh Smith-Barry's services to his party by putting him in the House of Lords. Mr. Smith-Barry married the widow of Mr. Arthur Post of New York, whose sister, Mrs. Adair, is also well known in London society.

Others mentioned for a peerage include Mr. Henry Cosmo Orme Bonsor, chairman of the South-eastern Railroad, and Mr. James Lowther, M.P. Lord Salisbury has already created nearly ninety peers. If the present rate is kept up the Upper House will soon be in numerical superiority over the Commons.

THE PANTOMIMES.

About forty pantomimes will be produced in and around London during the holidays, "Cinderella" being the most popular production, no fewer than nine versions being presented. Nearly all the theatres are already doing a crowded holiday business. Phyllis Rankin had a most cordial welcome on her return to the English stage, when she appeared in "Florodora" at the Lyric Theatre Thursday, but she was manifestly nervous, and did not make much of the part of Lday Holyrood.

Frohman's production of "Alice in Wonderland," at the Vaudeville, Wednesday, with Ellaline Terriss as Alice, and Seymour Hicks as the Mad Hatter, was not successful, from the critics' standpoint. "Mr. and Mrs. Daventry" continue to attract fashionable audiences. The Prince of Wales witnessed the performance Thursday.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 24, 1900

THE RATIFICATION OF THE AMENDED TREATY

By a vote of fifty-five to eighteen, the United States Senate has adopted the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, as amended. The Treaty is probably the most contradictory document to be found in the records of diplomacy. The only straightforward article in it, which means what it says, is the first which provides that the United States may construct the canal either directly at its own cost, or by means of subsidy or stock subscription to private enterprise.

Article 2 starts out with the insincere preamble that the high contracting parties are desirous to preserve and maintain the great principle of neutralization established in the Clayton-Bulwer Convention. The first four and part of the fifth sections of article 2 provide that the canal shall be free and open in time of war as in time of peace to the war vessels as well as the merchant vessels of all nations; that the canal shall never be blockaded nor any act of war committed in it; that no troops or munitions of war shall be disembarked in it; that no belligerent vessels shall remain more than twenty-four hours within three marine miles of either end of the canal and the article finally winds up by declaring that none of these provisions shall apply to measures which the United States may find it necessary to take, for securing by its forces, the defence of the United States and the maintenance of public order.

So far nobody has ventured to suggest any single possible interest Great Britain could have in accepting this treaty except the absurd one that she might accept it as an inducement to the United States to build a canal, the construction of which would be inimical to the commercial interests of Great Britain. True the threat is openly made that if Great Britain does not accept the amended Hay-Pauncefote Treaty the United States will repudiate the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty. In order words the British Government is asked to join in the killing of the Bulwer-Clayton Treaty, simply to prevent the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty being killed without its connivance or consent. If the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty is to be set aside by the act of the United States Government, then Great Britain will become as free from its restrictions as the other high contracting party. Great Britain will become as free as the United States to acquire sovereign rights in Central America, or to construct canals across the Isthmus of Panama. There is absolutely no inducement offered to Great Britain in the amended Hay-Pauncefote Treaty to consent to the terminating of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty and to the recognition of the United States' claim to what are practically sovereign rights in the Nicaragua Canal. If the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty is to be torn up by the United States, in disregard of all international obligations the United States must take all the consequences. It would be ridiculous for Great Britain to pretend to tie its hands by undertaking not to block the Nicaragua Canal in time of war, because in case of war between Great Britain and the United States, all treaties would lapse.

The New York "Journal's" Washington correspondent shows a curious perversion of thought when he says in black type:

> It is now recognized by all that the naked treaty would have placed an American canal at the mercy of the strongest naval power; that the concert of the powers would have gained a substantial foothold on this side of the Atlantic, and that the central point of the Monroe doctrine would have been surrendered.

This is exactly what the "naked" treaty would not have done and what the amended treaty does. Under the "naked" treaty all the great powers would have been interested in the maintenance of the strict neutrality of the canal. Under the amended treaty the canal must ever be at the mercy of the strongest naval power. That the modification of the terms of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty is desirable from an American point of view, is a wise and statesmanlike idea, because that treaty is evidently a serious obstacle in the way of the construction of the canal, which is a commercial necessity to the United States. But that Treaty contains provisions of vital importance to American interests, and if the blacksmith diplomats of the United States succeed in smashing the Treaty they will throw away safeguards of the first importance to the interests of their country and get absolutely nothing in return.

The British Government is not likely to be a part to the abrogation of the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty; nor to accept the proposed Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, which is simply the abrogation of all the provisions in the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty that are in the interests of Great Britain. On the other hand, it is exceedingly improbable that Great Britain will think it worth while to fight for her undoubted rights under the Clayton-Bulwer Treaty. The Imperial Government will most likely protest against the high-handed course the United States seems bent upon taking and will then feel at perfect liberty to shape its policy in Central America in accordance with British interests.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Happily there are comparatively few protests. Presumably some of these will be sawn off, and hence the political peace of the new century is not likely to be disturbed very violently for a year or so in Canada.

Costly Scrap

Robert Bailey was fined $10.00 and costs at the police court yesterday, amounting in all to $14.85, for assaulting Robert Jackson. It appears that Bailey, who was in good fighting shape on Monday, entered the yard in the rear of the Temperance house, where Jackson was, and accused him of making certain statements concerning him, and also of having blackballed him when he tried to become a member of the Orange lodge some years ago. Bailly dealt Jackson two or three blows, and only desisted when others came to Jackson's assistance, who laid an information against Bailey with the above result.

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,— At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

A Perfect Balance

Of mind and body was the Roman idea of perfect health. They defined this balance as "a sound mind in a sound body." A weak or sickly body tends to drag down the mind to its own level. Keep the body in health and the mind will take care of itself. The health of the body depends mainly on two things: A sound stomach and pure blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery preserves the balance of health, because it makes the stomach strong and the blood pure. People who had not had a well day in years, nervous of body, depressed of mind, have been perfectly cured by the use of "Golden Medical Discovery."

"During the summer and fall of 1896 I became all run down," writes Charles H. Sergeant, Esq., of Plain City, Madison Co., Ohio, "nerves were out of order and stomach was out of order. I wrote to Doctor Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery: I used six bottles, and since I stopped taking it, about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and have been able to work every day. My appetite is good. I do not feel that burning in the stomach after eating, and my blood and nerves are in good shape."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x21, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to-day for a dozen and make money. "Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 348 positions were filled by our pupils.

JUST IN FUN

"I could save more money," the young man admitted, "but I find it so hard to break away from my friends. A fellow can't be a boor and cut all his acquaintances without reason, you know."

"I will tell you what to do," said the man with the brindle moustache. "Buy a dog."

"And then what?"

"Then, when you meet your friends, you will find yourself telling them stories of his wonderful intelligence. You just can't help it. In this manner you may soon be alone."—Indianapolis Press.

The Layman—Candidly, do you expect your prayer in behalf of the Boers to be answered?

The Pastor—I flatter myself it is unanswerable, sir. Three or four cranks have tried to answer it, through the press, but it seems to me they have failed egregiously.—Detroit Journal.

Collector—I'm sorry, M. Slowpay, but your tailor has put his account against you into my hands for collection.

Mr. Slowpay—He has, eh? Do you work on a commission basis?

Collector—Yes, sir.

Mr. Slowpay—Then I'm sorry for you.—Chicago News.

Bachelor—I am told that a married man can live on half the income that a single man requires.

Married Man—Yes. He has to.—Tit-Bits.

"Your lawyer made some pretty severe charges against the other fellow, didn't he?"

"Y-e-e-s; but you ought to see how he charged me."—Green Bag.

Peddler—I have a most valuable book to sell, madam. It tells one how to do anything.

Lady (sarcastically)—Does it tell one how to get rid of a pestering peddler?

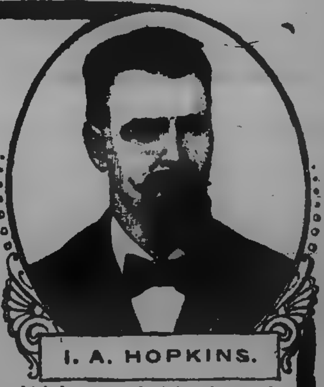
A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE



I. A. HOPKINS.

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. [illegible] Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2,500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

Every Movement Hurts

When you have rheumatism. Muscles feel stiff and sore and joints are painful. It does not pay to suffer long from this disease when it may be cured so promptly and perfectly by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This medicine goes right to the spot, neutralizes the acidity of the blood, which causes rheumatism, and puts an end to the pain and stiffness.

Biliousness is cured by Hood's Pills, 25c.

Mayor Kendry, Ald. G. M. Roger, chairman Board of Works, and E. B. Edwards, Q.C., Town Solicitor, comprising the civic deputation who represented the town before the committee of the Privy Council, at Ottawa, regarding protection at the railway crossings at Charlotte and Simcoe streets, returned Saturday.

The Grand Trunk Railway opposed their application, but the committee concluded that protection was necessary, and that it was reasonable, in view of the use the railway company were permitted to make of Bethune street, that they should pay the expenses, and an order to this effect will be issued so soon as an officer, to be sent by the Department, has reported upon the form such protection should take.

THE LASH FOR BRUTALITIES.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—The discussion of whipping as a punishment for crime continues in high judicial circles in the United States, and there are many who believe that its re-establishment as an institution would have a salutary effect upon certain classes of adult criminals, as well as juvenile offenders. Among the more prominent advocates of whipping is Simeon E. Baldwin, an eminent judge of the Supreme Court of Connecticut. From an American paper I learn that two years ago he delivered an address upon this subject before the Connecticut judges of police courts, assembled at Hartford. He lately spoke upon the same topic before the Hartford Business Men's Association. He expressed satisfaction that business men were becoming interested in a question which had been in the minds of judges and lawyers of the state for some time. It was not the whipping-post that he advocated, but whipping in private by public officers, and that not as a punishment for all crimes but for some—more particularly for juvenile offenders, wife-beaters, ruffians, and those who do deeds of violence. It was a method of meting out wrath to evil-doers which St. Paul had commended to civil magistrates. Those who did wrong should smart for it, and Judge Baldwin asserts that lawyers judges and prison authorities, both in the United States and in Europe, believing that they have gone too far in their ideas of modified punishment are now many of them favoring a return to whipping for those who commit brutal offences. I therefore commend the action of our own Police Magistrate on similar occasions, when he ordered the whip to be used for juvenile offenders.

PETERBOROUGH'S FUTURE.

Editor Morning Times

Dear Sir,—I have read the letter of the Rev. Mr. Davidson of the 19th, which is timely, sensible and businesslike, also the letters of the 20th by "A Voter," and Mr. Dumble, both of which have good points. The articles show that the writers feel a deep interest in the welfare of our town, and to publish such letters at this juncture is bound to do good. We should try to have the most upright, pure and able men to guide our municipal affairs that are possible to get. We have the foundation of a great city, but we must draw out our plans, and we must adopt the best plan always. We have been working for the last few years like a man who has become the owner of a large farm of good land, and instead of toiling and working the soil he goes and borrows money and builds a great mansion to live in. We have got a street railway rotting, we have got a railway to Mudlake, and no farther, and Lindsay has taken the winds out of our sails by building a railway to Bobcaygeon. Its true we were going to have a new bridge across Mud Lake, but why not push railways north as well? What are we waiting for? Are we waiting for another Mrs. Nicholls to die? (God bless her.) Its railways and waterways that has built up Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo, Chicago, and other great cities, and until we have the T.V.C. completed we can only be a second class place. Once the T.V.C. is completed we would become first class, and become one of the most progressive cities in the Province. There is no question about this. The prosperity of our town is hinged upon our waterways and railways, for there is no place to be had for large, heavy manufacturing and shipbuilding like there is on the banks of a canal. We know Peterborough has done well for Senator George A. Cox. It was here where he became wealthy, and now as he is a Senator, can we not ask him to help us in getting this Canal completed? To finish the Canal would unlock all the money that has been spent, and give prosperity to the whole Dominion, and honor to the Government.

Powley's Liquified Ozone

New System of Treating Disease

Cures Thos. Alison of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys

To tell of the great good done him by Powley's Liquified Ozone, is the motive which compelled Thos. Allison, Esq., the well known woolen importer of 11 Colborne St., Toronto, to give his testimonial for that preparation. Mr. Allison is rated in any commercial agency at hundreds of thousands of dollars: he had the very best treatment and yet he only obtained relief from the awful torture of Bright's Disease of the Kidney's through Powley's Liquified Ozone. He says: Some years ago I was taken with a bad attack of Kidney Disease. I used to suffer a great deal from pain in my back, and for a time I fancied I had a touch of sciatica. The pain would be especially bad in the morning, and I tell you it was agony to get out of bed. It seemed as though a hundred sharp knives were stabbing me. This sort of thing went on for some time, and I tried the best physicians in the city. In the spring of this year, a friend of mine recommended me to take Ozone. I hadn't much faith in it, but resolved to give it a trial. It took three bottles to cure me. The relief was remarkable in a short time, and I have not been troubled since. Have recommended it to a number of my friends, who have also had good results. Ozone is a fine remedy for stomach or kidney diseases. It never fails to produce good results.

"He That Stays Does the Business."

All the world admires "staying power." On this quality success depends. The blood is the best friend the heart has, and "faint heart" never won anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best friend the blood ever had; it cleanses the blood of everything.

If you would be strong in the race of life and "do the business," you must "stay." Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the struggle easy. It gives clear, strong blood; hence perfect health ensues. It never disappoints.

Stomach Trouble—"I had pains in my sides and kidneys. Stomach and liver troubles caused my distress. I had doctored without avail and used many medicines unsuccessfully. My sister advised Hood's Sarsaparilla and in a short time it cured me. I am now stronger and sleep better. I shall never be without Hood's Sarsaparilla in the house." MRS. FRANCKE, 209 Ossington Avenue, Toronto, Ont.

No Strength—"My whole system was run down. I was weak and could hardly get around to do my work. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and after using five bottles I found that my strength had returned and appetite much improved." MRS. KELLEY, 318 Dufferin St., Toronto, Ont.

CHRISTMAS.

This is the month, and this the happy morn,
Wherein the son of heaven's Eternal King,
Of wedded maid and virgin mother born,
Our great redemption from above did bring,
For so the holy sages once did sing,
That he our deadly forfeit should release,
And with his Father work us a perpetual peace. —Milton.

Rise, happy morn! Rise, holy morn!
Draw forth the cheerful day from night!
O Father, touch the east, and light
The light that shone when hope was born. —Tennyson

How shall we celebrate the day
When God appeared in mortal clay,
The mark of worldly scorn;
When the archangel's heavenly lays
Attempted the Redeemer's praise,
And hailed salvation's morn?
—Chatterton

At his birth, a star, unseen before in heaven,
Proclaim Him come. —Milton.
'Twas much, that man was made like God before;
But, that God should be made like man, much more. —Donne

He Felt Funny.

One of the men on board the Olympia, at Manila, tells of the preparations to enter the bay and brave the dangers of the mines and shore batteries:

"About 7 o'clock I took a pillow," he writes, "and lay down on the soft side of a plank to take a nap. All the men slept at their guns. At 9:30 we were quietly called. No bugle sounded. Everything was done quietly. I jumped up and went on the bridge. I felt nervous for awhile; I did not know where we were, and it was as dark as hades. All one could hear was the orders given by the officers and the click of the breech blocks as they were closed. We could see the shape of a big island ahead of us, and we were told that it was the fort. It is about 600 feet above the level of the sea. We could not elevate our guns enough to bear on it, so they fired at us without receiving an answer in return. Our nerves were highly strung now from waiting in suspense. About 12 o'clock we were directly under the guns of the first fort, and when they started to signal and fired a rocket every man braced himself. On we went, not knowing what minute a torpedo or submarine mine would send us all to eternity."

"Speaking of the battle he says: "For a while I thought I was a gone goose. The shells were falling around us thick as hail. We could see the big ones pass over our heads, and the smoke and saltpeter were suffocating. One shell passed about two feet over my head, cutting the signal halyard I was holding. 'Jump up there and get that end,' said the officer. While I was up on the back stay I felt funny, I can tell you."

STORY OF GENERAL FRENCH'S ACTION

How He Attacked and Dispersed the Boers at Magaliesburg--Four Hours Hard Fighting.

Pretoria, Dec. 24.--Gen. Clements, operating in combination with Gen. French, has cleared the Boers out of the Magaliesburg range. The fighting was continued from Dec. 19 to Dec. 22. Before Gen. French's arrival Gen. Clements was hotly engaged near Hekpoort, the Boers holding a line of kopjes with five guns and a pom-pom. Under cover of an effective fire from "J" and the Eighth Batteries and a 4.7 gun the British forces advanced, and after four hours' fighting took the whole position, with sixteen casualties, including two killed. The Boers lost 20 killed. Col. Cookson, with a small force of Kitchener's Horse, the Second Mounted Infantry, and a section of "J" Battery, took Yeomanry hill on the right. The Inniskilling Fusiliers and the Border Regiment drove in the center of the Boer line.

Gen Allerson's Mounted Infantry attacked and took a formidable kopje on the left, from whilbe two guns and a pom-pom had questioned the British advance. The Boers retired in confusion. On December 20 the combined force advanced on Boschfontein, but the Boers had departed, a number of them going north and the remainder southwest. On December 21 a number of the Boers were seen retiring with their guns. They were shelled. The three hundred British prisoners who were captured by the Boers at Nooitgedacht and subsequently released have rejoined Gen. Clements, who is now encamped three miles northwest of Oliphant's Nek. Gen. French had a sharp action on December 19 with a Boer force near Boschfontein. He attacked and repulsed them with loss and joined General Clements in the afternoon.

IN RINGING TONES.

Winston Churchill's Style in Lecturing on His Experiences.

Speaking of Winston Churchill at his first lecture in London when Viscount Wolseley, the Commander-in Chief, introduced him. The London Daily Mail says. "In ringing tones he maintained the military correstitude of Sir Redvers Buller's decision. Quietly but with dramatic description, he sketched his capture and incraceration in Pretoria. In telling of the incidents depicted Mr. Churchill gave rein to his humor, much to the delight of his hearers. A glowing peroration, predicting that out of the clash of arms in South Africa would come the harmony of commerce closed his lecture.

NOBLEMAN MURDERED.

Son of a German General Murdered in New York.

New York, Dec. 25.--A corner's jury at Harlingen, N.J., empaneled to enquire into the death of William Von Scheffler, a coachman of Griggstown, brought in a verdict that he had come to his death as the result of a blow upon the head inflicted by a party or patries unknown.

Von Scheffler, who was found dying not far from the house of his employer, was a refugee from Germany because of a duel he fought and because he took part in the revolution of 1848. His father was Gen. Von Scheffler, and he himself had been a Prussian cavalry officer. He was a graduate of Bonn University. When he came to America he was for a time professor of horsemanship in Vassar College. He worked for awhile, it is said, under Prof. Agassiz and Prof. Dana.

PARTED AT THE ALTER

Wedding Ceremony Which Was Suddenly Interrupted in Parkdale

Toronto, Dec. 24.--A wedding which was to have been solemnized in a Parkdale Presbyterian church recently was interrupted by the timely arrival of an irate father, who succeeded in preventing the performance of the ceremony. The young man whose prospective happiness was thus blighted was eighteen years of age. The father took the liberty to interfere with the intended nuptials because he believed that his son was too young to take so important a step in life.

The son kept the intended marriage a secret from his father, and had secured the necessary papers and made all the arrangements without taking either his friends or his parents into his confidence. When the father first learned of the affair the young man and his intended were in the church, and the Rev. Loggan A. Geggie, of 146 Dunn avenue, was preparing to tie the nupital knot. On receiving this news the father hurried from his home, and made quickly to the Dunn avenue church. Arriving there he demanded to be informed of what was going on, and, being informed, he promptly entered a protest. The persuasions which he used to dissuade his son from the intended matrimonial venture were more vigorous than eloquent, but were entirely successful.

The son is attending school in Parkdale, and is therefore without means of support just at present. The young lady he was engaged to is three years older than himself, and is earning her own living in the city. The Parkdale gossips say the couple were married, but this is not the case.

Chinese Laundry Wreck

London, Dec. 22.--As a rule the Chinaman is able to take care of himself in any land, but there are forty Chinamen wandering hungry and destitute in London to-day. Cooks and cabin boys, deck hands and scullions from the East-going liners, they were invited by two ingenious gentlemen to turn laundrymen in London. Their traditional dimness did not desert them, for they all secured agreements for three years, but three months had barely elapsed when the crash came. At first the laundry was a gilt edged concern. Branches were opened in Tottenham Court road, Shepherd's Bush, Mayfair, and Kentish town, and the central offices of 112 Great Portland street were manned by a number of smart clerks. Imposing vans collected the washing, and the cabin boys and cooks for a time fave great satisfaction. Then monetary difficulties cropped up, and some of the clothes entrusted to the Chinese had a mysterious way of disappearing. Messrs. L. Scheff and C. R. Benjamin, who were conducting the laundry also disapperaed, and have not since been heard of. The cooks and cabin boys are in trouble. No wages are forthcoming, there is no washing to pawn, and their three year agreements are no more use than waste paper. The creditors of the concern are arranging to reopen the laundry and employ some of the Chinese.

THE AFRICAN VETERANS IN PETERBOROUGH

Col. Otter and His Men to Arrive this Morning and Stay for Breakfast.

Col. Otter and the balance of the First Contingent will arrive in Peterborough this morning on the early train, and remain over until the later train, at 7.10, when they will proceed to Toronto.

As soon as it was known that a stop would be made here, Mayor Kendry called a meeting of the Council, to make arrangements to provide breakfast for the men. The meeting took place at 4 o'clock there being in attendance the Mayor and Aldermen Denne, Dewson, Robertson, Roger and Weir. A committee was appointed, consisting of the members of the Council, Lieut.-Col. Edwards, Capt. Hayes and Messrs. W. D. Parker, R. S. Davidson and W. H. Robertson, to make the necessary arrangements for breakfasting the men.

Mr. Moon, of the National Hotel, received instructions to prepare breakfast, at which the leading men of the town have been invited to be present.

The 57th Regiment, escorted by the band, will escort the visitors to breakfast.

Since writing the above we learned through Col. Edwards that it is doubtful if there will be a stop made here at all. Up to a late hour last night, nothing definite was known as to this.

CHILL TURNER'S LETTER

Another Bright and Newsy Letter From Pte. Turner

Johannesburg, Nov. 16, 1900.

Dear Parents,--Once more I endeavor to write a few lines from South Africa, but rather hope to soon make my conversation verbal. I was rather disappointed at the result of the Dominion elections, but feel proud that Mayor Kendry still holds his seat in the House. I received a letter from Port Hope Old Boys to-day, requesting my attendance in Port Hope during their celebration next July, and trust to be spared that long. No doubt you have seen Sergt. Hayward by this time, as he sailed on the Vancouver from Liverpool; also Pte. Trussler. Hayward left us at Kroonstad, Lord Roberts, accompanied by Gen. French left to-day for Potchestroom, and as he seemed to be in a hurry I never asked him his mission. I remember some time ago, while at Fisher's Farm, Bloomfontein, receiving a parcel of fruit cake from Mrs. Stenton. I also remember placing same in a box in the bottom of one of our transports, thinking I should like it when we camped that night, but I cannot recollect ever getting it back. As I looked I discovered the empty box. Some other chap evidently got there before me.

Lindsay certainly was in full bloom when Col. Hughes arrived home, and the citizens ought to be proud of him.

As you have all the war news at your end, I am unable to give you very much. During two different engagements last week, we lost one officer, Lieut. Chambers, and four officers wounded, including Lieut. Turner, of my troop, a very jolly officer; also several men wounded.

Well, dear parents and brothers, as it seems impossible for me to spend Christmas with you, I will close, wishing you, and also all my Peterborough friends, a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, I remain your loving son,

ACHILLES.

A "BAD PAY" LIST.

What the Retail Merchants Association is Doing.

Peterborough has a branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, and the following is of interest. The man who secures a suit of clothes on credit from his friend, the local tailor, and then presistently avoids paying is not a desirable member of the community. Very few tailors are so well situated financially that they can wait month after month for returns from their labor. The average man understands that he is required to pay cash for his clothes, but in small cities where two to ten merchant tailors are each seeking to take as many measurements as possible, much leniency is often shown, which eventually turns out a loss. The merchant tailors' section of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, says the Globe, has decided on the formation of a "Bad Pay or Black List." At the last meeting the list completed whereby every merchant tailor in Toronto as well as those who belong to the association in outside cities and towns will forward to the Secretary the names of those who made no effort to settle their tailor bills, and their names will be submitted to every member of this section of the association. They will also co-operate with other sections of the Retail Merchants' Association who are forming similar lists, and they hope by this means to curtail those who systematically live upon the retail merchants.

WARSAW.

A pleasant afternoon was spent on Friday, December 21st, at The Pines' school house, No. 5, Dummer.

Parents and friends gathered together to give the last farewells to the teacher, Miss Winnifred Tighe, whose teaching term had expired. After a brief programme the pupils and friends presented their teacher with a handsome present, which came as a great surprise to Miss Tighe. Miss Dora Payne read the following address:

Dear Teacher,--After three years' faithful service in our school, we, your pupils desire to express our feelings towards you, asking you to please accept this token of remembarence and esteem. We hope it will bring to your mind the many happy days spent together.

Wishing you every success in the future, also a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, we remain.

Your Loving Pupils.

As the address was read five small children presented their teacher with a complete toilet set in opal ware, a silver pickle cruet and fork, also a silver butter cooler and knife.

The teacher expressed her thanks to the pupils and their friends, and also her sorrow at parting with them. The afternoon closed with God Save the Queen.

DOURO.

On Friday evening, December 21, as their teacher, Mr. James Quinlan, was about to sever his connections with the school, the pupils of S.S. No. 7, Douro, presented him with two handsome presents and the two following addresses. The girls presented Mr. Quinlan with a beautiful fountain pen and the boys presented him with a handsome shaving set.

Dear Teacher,--At the approach of this festive season our pleasures and joys are damped by the knowledge that we are about to lose our efficient teacher. You have, for the time you have been amongst us, endeavored by every means to make number seven rank amongst the first in the country, and you have admirably succeeded, as many of your scholars are now attending the Collegiate Institute as a result of your teaching.

You always taught us to follow the right, both by precept and example, and have been untiring in your efforts to teach us to lead noble and useful lives, and whatever sphere your future lot may cast you, you will be followed by the love and esteem of your pupils of No. 7, Douro. So now, dear teacher, we beg you to accept this case as a token of our love and we sincerely hope you will be long spared to use it in rememberence of your pupils.

Signed on behalf of the school, -- Beatrice White, Lottie Walsh, Kate O'Brien, Irene Barry, Maggie Tobin, Nellie Sheehan, Annie Condon, Lizzie Burns.

Douro, December 21st, 1900.

Mr. Quinlan:

Dear Teacher,--With feelings of deepest regret we are assembled this evening to bid you farewell.

The pain of parting is caused not only by losing a good and zealous teacher, but also a friend, who, by his many acts of kindness, has endeared himself to each and every one of us. For dear teacher, not only have you during your stay in our midst, shown a laudable desire for our advancement in knowledge and perfection in manners, but what is more important, you have kept a most careful watch over our spiritual welfare and by your exemplary conduct in all things, set an example which your pupils will do well to follow.

But, althought our present sorrow is great, we are comforted by the many pleasant memories you have left behind and by the hope that you will sometimes remember your pupils of No. 7, Douro.

And now dear teacher, wishing you every happiness of this fastive season, we bid you a fond adieu, asking you to accept this small gift as a remembrance of the affectionate relations existing between yourself and your pupils.

Signed on behalf of the boys, -- Austin Allen, Edward Condon, Thomas Barry Joseph Walsh, Joseph Walsh, Joseph Barry.

Mr. Quinlan made a suitable reply.

In High Esteem

The young ladies employed in the wire department of the Canadian General Electric Works yesterday presented Mr. Will Crowley, the popular foreman of the department, with a handsome life size framed portrait of himself. It is an excellent likeness of Mr. Crowley, and is the work of Mr. H. A. Roy. Mr. Crowley modestly acknowledged the present, which was as unexpected as it was generous.

A Gain to Municipalities.

The success of the new Provincial law requiring an examination of municipal books by a special officer has been shown by the absence of losses during the present year. Mr. J. B. Laing, the Provincial Municipal Auditor, reports that while about $6,000 shortages were found this year restitution was made in every case. Last year and in previous years defalcations to a considerable extent occurred, to the loss of the municipalities.

Increased Cut of Logs.

The Department of Crown Lands has been advised that the cut of logs in the Wahnapitae and Upper Vermillion regions of Algoma will be about one hundred million feet this year, or an increase of nearly twenty millions over last year in the same district. The cut of square timber will be 300,000 cubic feet. There are 2,000 men and 240 teams now engaged in the woods, and wages range from $22 to $28 a month and board, which is also higher than last year.

A Smelter for Lindsay

At a meeting of the Lindsay Board of Trade, Mr. G. H. M. Baker, local manager for the Rathbun Co., asked, in a letter, if it would not be advisable for a committee of the board of trade and town council to enquire into the advisability and practicability of establishing an iron blast furnace in Lindsay. The lumbering industry will decrease in a very few years so much that Lindsay will then benefit but very little from it. In a short time, however, the Trent Valley Canal from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario will have been completed, and Lindsay, owing to its situation, should be a desirable place to locate a smelting industry. The suggestion was deemed worthy of careful consideration and will be discussed at a full meeting of the board.

ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

Mr. J. Roszel, of Frazerville, Remembered by His Pupils.

The pupils of the Public School at Frazerville, on Friday afternoon, presented their teacher, Mr. J. Roszel, with Tennyson's poems, handsomely bound, and a paper knife altogether with, the following address. The address was read by Master Bruce Fisher, and the presentation made by Miss Louie Steele.

Mr. J. Roszel,

Dear Teacher--

Having learned with deep regret that you are about to sever your connection with us, as our teacher, we feel we cannot allow you to depart without expressing our appreciation of the ability you have shown, and the untiring devotion in the discharge of your duties while in our midst.

Although you have been but a short time with us, we have learned to respect you, not only as our teacher, but as our friend. We therefore ask you to accept this book of poems and paper knife, as a slight token of our esteem and friendship.

We wish you prosperity--with many friends in your new field of toil, and pray that the choicest blessings of heaven may be the portion of your lot.

Signed in behalf of the school,
Bruce Fisher
Louie Steele.

Mr. Roszel made a suitable reply, and thanked his pupils for their generous gift which he would always highly prise, and concluded by wishing them the compliments of the season.

RECRUITS FOR GEN. BADEN-POWELL

Depots for Enlisting Men Will be Established in Canada by the War Office.

London, Dec. 24.--I hear on good authority that in response to representations from the Canadian authorities that a number of residents of Canada are anxious to become members of the constabulary force which Col. Baden-Powell is organizing in South Africa, but have no facilities for doing so without paying their own way either to South Africa or to England, the War Office has arranged to establishing recruiting depots in Canada for the force in question. It is understood a considerable number of applications have been received by the Canadian Government, which, however, has hitherto been unable to take any action.

Ottawa, Dec. 24.--A despatch from the Colonial Secretary states that the Imperial Government will accept, under the conditions laid down any number of Canadians who offer for service in the South African Mounted Police, commanded by Col. Baden-Powell. If one thousand Canadians can be enrolled in this force, ten commissions as captains and fifteen commissions as lieutenants will be given to officers of Canadian militia to serve under Baden-Powell. The British Government will furnish transports and rations to South Africa, and the men will be remunerated at the rate of five shillings per day from the day they land at the Cape. Officers will receive the pay of their respective ranks. Canadians desirous of joining the South African Police must be single men, in sound bodily health and able to shoot and ride. The period of service is five years. Full particulars of the offer of the Imperial Government will be announced in a day or two, as soon as the points at which enlisting will take place have been decided upon.

HOLLAND GIVES A WARNING.

Tells England that She Will Not be Bound by the Venezuela Frontier Award.

The Hague, December 25.--Baron von Goltstein van Oldenaller, Minister of the Netherlands in London, has notified the British Government that as the Netherlands were not a party to the frontier dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela, the government of the Netherlands cannot consider itself bound by the Paris arbitration award demarking the Anglo-Dutch frontier.

SITUATION ANNOYING BUT NOT SERIOUS

Gen. Kitchener Thinks There is not Much Likelihood of a Rebellion in Cape Colony --Forlorn Hope of Boers.

Londoan, Dec. 24.--If the Boers were unable to incite only a half-hearted revolt in Cape Colony when they occupied all the strategic positions along the border, and were in the full tide of success with several British garrisons invested, it is scarcely likely that they will be able to inflame the colony at this late stage, when Bloemfontein and Pretoria have fallen, the republics are in British hands, and all the formidable positions which so long kept back the English, are occupied by them, in overwhelming force. That the second Boer invasion of Cape Colony is proving less popular with the colonists than the first, is not only shown by Lord Kitchener, who says. "The Boers have not received much assistance in Cape Colony, so far as my information goes," but is contrary to the law of probabilities, which certainly is not in favor of a fresh outbreak of war in a district which has already experienced its horrors and knows that the Boer invasion is only a desperate, forlorn hope. Annoying and vexatious the situation may be, but to state that it can in any way be compared with that of a year ago, is supremely ridiculous. Nowhere are the Boers holding their ground. The story of every fight that is waged is the story of a Boer retreat and an enemy that excels only at escaping is not likely to perform any serious work towards reversing the present condition of affairs. No nation can remain in arms for any length of time after continued defeats. Human nature will not go on struggling forever without a gleam of hope, and this is the position of the Boers. The invaders of the Cape Colony are in process of being driven back by the British troops, while a special column is being organized to aid in the work. It is significant that the three forces of Boers which are south of the Orange River, have not yet accomplished anything more than the cutting of the railway near De Aar, a breakage which can quickly be made good. No strong position has been captured by them, and they are practically in a state of flight, which will certainly not obtain recruits among the Afrikanders, who are not such complete fools as to join a retreating army and a lost cause. The situation is difficult and interesting, but with the arrival of more mounted troops open the scene of the operations, it should not be long before the failure of the last Boer effort is reported

KITCHENER FEELS CONFIDENT.

London, Dec. 24.--The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, Dec. 22. "So far as it is possible for me to form an opinion from the reports of officers on the spot, I think the Boer movement into Cape Colony has been checked. Of the two forces that entered the colony the eastern is still north of the Zoutpansberg range, while the one that entered west appears to have been turned in the direction of Britstown and Prieska. Our troops are getting around both bodies, and a special column is also being organized which will be despatched immediately when I know where its services are most wanted.

"The Boers have not received much assistance in Cape Colony, so far as my information goes. We have armed some of the colonists, who are assisting our forces. Railway and telegraph communication has been much interrupted by the very bad weather.

"De Wet is in the neighborhood of Senekal.

"General French, in conjunction with General Clements, attacked a force under Beyers south of the Magalies Berg. The Boers broke away in a southwesterly direction towards Potchesftroom and were followed by General Gordon with a column of French's force. Yesterday evening about 5 o'clock General Clements' force was engaged south of Oliphant's Nek, but I don't yet know the result."

A late despatch from Lord Kitchener, dated Pretoria, December 22 says: "The western column of Boers occupied Britstown and cut the railway south of De Aar Junction. The enemy is being followed up.

"General French has been in contact for two days with the command, oof Beyers and Delarey south of the Magalies Berg. He is pursuing them. The enemy have lost considerably, and Commandant Kruez and others have been captured.

"General Colville engaged two seperate commandoes December 21 near Viakfontein with a light loss, the enemy retiring."

ANOTHER FORCE CROSSES.

Cape Town Dec, 22.--Generals Hertzog, Philip Botha and Hasbrook, command the Boers who have invaded Cape Colony. Another Boer force has crossed the Orange River, and is advancing along the Patrusville road, with the intention of reinforcing the commando that is occupying Philliptown. Thirty Boers have occupied Britstown, Cape Colony, and a number of burghers are outside the town.

SITUATION SLOWLY CLEARING

New York, Dec. 24.--I.N. Ford cables to The Tribune from London that the situation in the Dutch territories is clearing slowly. The raiding bands which have invaded Cape Colony have not made any important captures or obtained any considerable number of recruits, and will probably be headed off speedily and forced to retire. They are operating against pickets and pretty garrisons, and are picking up horses, clothing and miscellaneous supplies. The welcome extended them by Dutch residents who have property to lose is chilly. De Wet is reported in the Ladybrand district with 1,000 men, and Botha is hovering about Standerton with a force of equal strength. The operations of French and Clements against Delarey are not described in detail, but the Boers have apparently been scattered. A small Boer commando is reported in the Pietersburg district, and a larger one is in the neighborhood of Komatipoort. Small bands of guerillas are in other sections of the veldt, but they are incapable of making a serious attack upon the line of communications. The Boer campaign when exaggerated estimates of the strength of the forces remaining in the field are corrected, is less formidable than is ordinarily represented. The mobility of the riding columns prevents successful pursuit, but no permanent advantages are derived from such brilliant episodes as those of Dewetsdorp and Nooitgedacht, harassing and troublesome as are the tactics employed.

YEOMANRY DEFEATED THE BOERS

London, Dec. 24.--Reports from Cape Town state that the railway has been torn up in three places north of De Aar. A column of 500 of all arms, under command of Major Shute, left Colesberg Tuesday, December 18, by the Philipstown road, to relieve a post of twenty Yeomanry, who were invested on a farm at Hamelfontein. The Boers had been beaten off by the Yeomanry before the relieving column arrived. Two wounded Boers were captured. They stated that their party had lost two killed and twelve wounded.

NICE MEN WITH LONG WHISKERS.

New York, Dec. 24.--Jack Everhardt the pugilist, who is now prospecting in the South African boxing situation with George Gardiner, the New England middleweight, writes of the voyage to Cape Town.

"Our ship lay off St. Helena last weeok. We saw Gen. Cronje and over 2,000 Boer prisoners. They were all singing church songs, and still think they will get their independence. Cronje is a quite old fellow, and he would not talk much. The Boers are all big fellows, and nine out of ten of them wear full beards. They could go back home if they would sign allegiance to England, but they are game and won't admit that they are whipped. Cronje is well treated. He has a house to himself, with his own servants etc. There was an English battleship, the Thetis, in port. This we looked over. The Boer prisoners at St Helena are suffering from scurvy from lack of vegetables, which are very scarce there. I am collecting war relics. Gen. Cronje gave me the handkerchief he carried when he was captured.

SIXTY KILLED, 162 WOUNDED.

London, Dec. 24.--Many people of all classes gathered about the War Office last evening anxious for the welfare of friends engaged in the war, and especially for that of those connected with the regiments which were engaged in the Nooitgedacht battle, where the Boer commander, General Delarey, forced General Celements to retire, and where over 500 of the Northumberland Fusiliers were captured. The list shows that the British losses were 60 killed and 16 wounded.

ADMIRATION FOR DE WET.

London, Dec. 22.--General De Wet would be by far the most acceptable Christmas box to the average Englishman, though there seems little likelihood of the wish being granted. The desire for the suppression of this Boer leader, however, is accompanied by generous admiration. "It would be unworthy of the British name," says The Times, "to refuse the credit that is due a feat of arms so brilliant as the unexpected dash backward of De Wet and his men through the British lines."

THE KING OF ANTICOSTI

Tax Collector Going After the Ruler of an Island

Quebec, Dec. 25--M. Henri Menier is the most fortunate millionare in America--he is, in fact, the only one upon whom the tax collector has not made a call.

In Paris where M. Menier lives and waxes fat upon his chocolate, or the proceeds of its sale the tax collectors are not so considerate but, though he has been one of the largest landed proprietors in Canada for two or three years now, he has never yet received a tax slip. The days of his immunity are numbered, however, as the authorities of the county of Saguenay, in which is embraced his immense domain of the island of Anticosti, are now after him to pay tribute to Caesar. As the country is immense in area, sparsely populated and poor, and M. Menier's property worth millions of dollars, a tax upon it will mean a great deal to the county exchequer. While he paid only $125,000 for the island, it is stated that he has refused an offer of $3,000,000. His total expenditures are estimated at $1,300,000, and he also intends to erect a pulp mill, having 2,500,000 acres of spruce wood on the island. He already has three sawmills connected by tramway with a wharf 1,000 feet long, a lobster factory, the lobster fishing about the coast being excellent, and an establishment for breeding fur-bearing animals. There is the nucleus of a small town for his people, and he maintains fortnightly communication with Quebec by means of his steamer, the Savoy. M. Menier, in fact, is developing the resources of the island in a wonderful manner.

WEATHER NOTES

Probs: Strong westerly, shifting to north-westerly, winds; light snowfalls or flurries, turning colder. To-day: Cold and mostly fair, but local snowflurries.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 25, 1900

MERRY CHRISTMAS

"A Merry Christmas." Before The Times again salutes its readers, the old time formula with its ever young undernote of joy and happiness will have resounded in every home on the land, and have been repeated by every tongue. The Times, therefore, if it desires to have a voice in the general sentiment, must take Time by the forelock; nor will its wishes that its readers may enjoy a merry Christmas when it comes be less sincere and less warm that they are "slightly previous." We therefore take this opportunity as the only one afforded us, of saluting our readers with the ancient expression of interest and good will, and of hoping that each and all of them will have a Merry Christmas, and health and good digestions wherewith to enjoy it properly.

"A Merry Christmas!" The words naturally evoke visions of toys and games of gaily bound annuals, fairy tales, and Christmas legends; of candies and fruits, of plum-puddings and mince-pies; of dances and forfeits. "Merry" is exactly the right word for it from the children's the one great children's festival that occurs on the birth day of the infant Saviour of the world. It is their day more especially, and it is of them that the older folks think first when looking forward to, and, making preparations for Christmas. Nor is this instructive feeling without a deep meaning underlying it for, as nineteen centuries ago the Hope of the world lay in the cradle-manger of Bethlehem, so now in a very true, though more human sense the hope of the future lie in the innocent rosy faces, sparkling eyes of the little ones that are at once the blessing and pleasure of many a happy home. It is well that the two hopes should meet together on this day, and be united in a joyous meeting which shall gladden and sanctify the coming years, and be something to look back on when the path of life and brought about divisions of religious with perplexities and marked, as by mile stones, with the graves of the loved and lost: well, that the children should have a merry Christmas.

But to those who have grown up Christmas comes with another and holier message; another message, and yet the same, which conveys the secret of a merry Christmas in the words, "Peace upon earth, good will to men." It is the greeting of the loving father to all His children, to the dweller among Arctic snows; beneath northern pines, under tropical suns to the inhabitants of the cities, and the country, and the woods, and to men of all colors, and of all races. "A Merry Christmas; Peace and good will." That day in long past ages at the tower of Babel sundered the human family, and split it up into races and nations, and tribes and what it did socially the many sided intellect of man accomplished morally, and about about divisions of religious beliefs as varied as and even more varied than the ethnological divisions The result has not been for the happiness or the merriment of the world, but on that first Christmas Day came the message which has been repeated,—all too faintly heard, alas, through the succeeding years,—the the remedy for all the strifes and troubles that beset the world is in good will to all, good will to all men of whatever race, or whatever creed they may be, Christ the Lord, Christ the Saviour, Christ the brother of all was born today Peace on earth, good will to all

Let us take the words to our hearts. We have been going through the storms of a political campaign recently, in which some unkind things have been said on both sides, and for which mutual forgiveness is needed. Shall we not eagerly seize the opportunity afforded by this happy time to put away all bitterness and ill-feeling out of our hearts, to sink all petty rivalries and jealousies, and to unite as one man in working for the common prosperity and peace of our Dominion, that the little ones now growing up around us may enjoy more fully the merriment of their Christmas, and may be able in their turn to provide for and promote the merriment of the Christmases as yet unborn babes? We are on the threshold of a new century; opening on us in crimson and gold, in bright promise of larger prosperity, and gathering strength. Let us not darken that dawn with the clouds of anger and distrust. Let us take the Christmas motto with us, "A Merry Christmas, good will to men."

And if this good will reigns in our hearts we shall not be unmindful that there are homes amongst us where the cares of life, and life's struggles bar the door against any, even the most trivial joys yet good will can find an entrance still and a kindly deed a gracious thought and a loving word can bring a ray of light into the gloom. "The poor ye have always with you," and it is no mean privilege to give the poor a

MERRY CHRISTMAS.

The Chinese Aversion to Cold Water.

The healthiness of Chinese cities has been ingeniously attributed by some people to the universal habit of fanning, a practice which is said to keep the atmosphere in constant circulation. How far this explanation can be deemed to suffice we must leave experts to decide, but, so far as a contaminated water supply is concerned, we believe that the real secret of immunity from its evil effects lies in the universal custom of boiling all water intended for drinking.

As a matter of fact, the Chinese never drink cold water. The national beverage, which, in a true sense, may be said to cheer but not inebriate, is tea, and this is always "on tap," even in the houses of the very poor. The native aversion to cold water is undoubtedly carried to extremes, and certainly induces diseases which might easily be avoided if a judicious system of outward application.

In the matter of ablution it must, however, be admitted that the Chinese enjoy facilities which, however little they are taken advantage of, are far in advance of anything within the reach of the poorer classes of our own favored land. Every little hamlet in China has a shop where hot water can be bought for a trifling sum at any hour of the day or night.

The World is Growing Smaller.

In 1850 England was thirty-two days from India. Now it is but seventeen; a ship as fast as the Deutschland could make it in ten.

In 1850 New York was from three to six months from China by clipper ship. Now it is seventeen days by rail to Vancouver and by ship to Shanghai.

In 1820 immigrants came to this country usually in about forty days. Often they ran into storms and helped man the pumps. Now they come in a week in comfort.

In 1845 the postage on a letter from New York to Wisconsin was 25 cents. People wrote long letters in those days in a fine copperplate hand on thin paper—to get the worth of their money—but they wrote seldom.

The Suez Canal halved the time it took heavy freight to go from the Atlantic Ocean to the Indian. The Nicaragua Canal will perform a like service for the Western World.

Seventy years ago it took a day and a half to go from New York to Philadelphia.

Fifty years ago news from Europe reached America in two weeks. Now it comes in two minutes.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,— At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers, and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

Secrets.

Women can keep secrets. They often keep secret for a long time the fact that they are suffering from drains, inflammation, ulceration, or female weakness. But they can't keep the secret very long, because the hollow eyes, cheeks that have lost their freshness, and the irritability which comes from sorely tried nerves, all conspire to publish the story of suffering. The usual motive for such secrecy, dread of indelicate questions and offensive examinations, is removed by Dr. Pierce's methods. Diseases of the womanly organs are perfectly cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Sick women can consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter free.

"Your wonderful medicine, 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mrs. C. N. Anderson, of Rockbridge Baths, Rockbridge Co., Va., "is a Godsend to weak and sickly women, restoring good health without subjecting their weak nerves to the shock of an examination. I was all run down in health; could not work but a short time without resting. Was very nervous and had a very poor appetite. I decided to write to Dr. Pierce and state my case, and am thankful that I did, for I received a favorable reply. I took six bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' one of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and one vial of 'Pellets,' and I can now work as well as I could before I was taken sick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicine the best in the world for sick and nervous women."

Myself cured, I will gladly inform anyone addicted to COCAINE, MORPHINE, OPIUM OR LAUDANUM of a never-failing, harmless home cure. MRS. M. V. BALDWIN, P. O. Box 1212, Chicago Ill

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to-day for a dozen and make money. DOES IT NOT PAY TO

Read the following letter received by the Principal of the

CANADA BUSINESS COLLEGE
Chatham, Ont.

and learn how highly the graduates of this school are thought of by the business public.

"Oct. 16, 1900.

Gentlemen,—We have openings now for two or three good male stenographers who had had experience, and it occurred to us that a large number of stenographers and other office men, who have graduated from your school from time to time and are now holding positions, might desire to better themselves. If you can put us in communication with some of your old graduates, who have had two or three years' experience, we should be under obligation to you."

We might mention that the concern represented in the above letter has a Capital Stock of Five Million Dollars.

When you read such evidence as the above, need you be surprised that during the period of thirteen and a half months ending in October, 343 positions were filled by our pupils.

It pays to attend CANADA'S GREATEST SCHOOL OF BUSINESS OR SHORTHAND, if you wish to thoroughly qualify yourself for office work and be assisted to a position when graduated.

Dear Sirs,— In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS

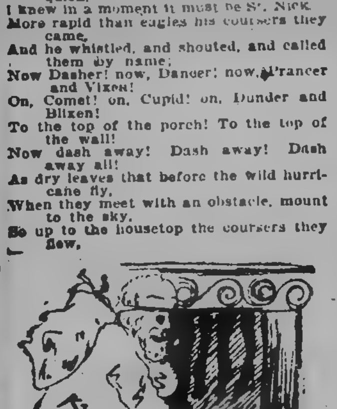
'Twas the night before Christmas, and all through the house
Not a creature was stirring—not even a mouse;
The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,
In the hope that St. Nicholas soon would be there;
The children were nestled all snug in their beds,
While visions of sugar-plums danced in their heads;
And mamma in her 'kerchief and I in my cap,
Had just settled our brains for a long winter's nap;
When out on the lawn there arose such a clatter,
I sprang from the bed to see what was the matter.
Away to the window I flew like a flash,
Tore open the shutters and threw up the sash;
The moon on the breast of the new fallen snow,
Gave the lustre of mid-day to objects below;
When what to my wondering eyes should appear
But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
And he whistled, and shouted, and called them by name;
Now Dasher! now, Dancer! now, Prancer and Vixen!
On, Comet! on, Cupid! on, Dunder and Blixen!
To the top of the porch! To the top of the wall!
Now dash away! Dash away! Dash away all!
As dry leaves that before the wild hurricane fly,
When they meet with an obstacle, mount to the sky,
So up to the housetop the coursers they flew,



With a sleigh full of toys, and St. Nicholas, too,
And then, in a twinkling I heard on the roof
The prancing and pawing of each tiny hoof;
As I drew in my head and was turning around,
Down the chimney St. Nicholas came with a bound.
He was dressed all in fur from his head to his foot,
And his clothes were all tarnished with ashes and soot;
A bundle of toys he had swung on his back,
And he looked like a peddler just opening his pack.
His eyes—how they twinkled, his dimples how merry!
His cheeks were like roses, his lips like a cherry!
His droll little mouth was drawn up like a bow,
And the beard of his chin was as white as the snow;
The stump of a pipe he held tight in his teeth,
And the smoke it encircled his head like a wreath;
He had a broad face and a little round belly
That shook when he laughed like a bowlful of jelly.
He was chubby and plump, a right jolly old elf;
And I laughed when I saw him in spite of myself;
A wink of his eye and a twist of his head
Soon gave me to know I had nothing to dread;
He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,
And filled all the stockings, then turned with a jerk
And laying his finger aside of his nose,
And giving a nod, up the chimney he rose;
He sprang to the sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
And away they all flew like the down of a thistle.
But I heard him exclaim ere he drove out of sight,
"Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night."

—C. C. Moore.

A CHRISTMAS RESTORATION.

He had come into Birchville one dismal fall day, a little pack over his shoulder and a hard, hopeless look on his face. He looked so dangerous that everybody locked their doors and refused to succor the miserable wretch. Before night he was lodged in the town cooler, but was liberated the following morning. He set out down the south road and trudged wearily on for several miles. Then he dropped on the grass by the road and buried his face in his hands.

"Ah, there!" I cried. "Want to ride?"

He looked up vacantly and stared. Then, as my meaning slowly dawned on him, he gathered himself up, and came around to the back of the wagon. But there were several valuable packages in the bottom of the vehicle and I didn't care about putting him in the way, or rather the seat, of temptation, so I ordered him up beside me. He looked rather uncertain about it, but finally ended by clambering in. And thus we rode along for three miles, the wretched tramp beside a wealthy farmer's son. But I had all a boy's natural love of daring and adventure, and it wasn't the first time I had ridden beside the rougher species of humanity. College life had not made me fastidious, there was too much of the farmer about me.

"Where are you bound for?" I asked, by way of drawing on a conversation.

"Eh?" he said, looking up stupidly.

"Come, wake up," I laughed. "You are most asleep, I guess. Want a good shaking?" and I took hold of his dirty collar.

The faintest flicker of a smile flashed across his lips, then all was blank again. But in that instant, I saw, spite of all the dirt and emaciation, a handsome face.

If only that tangled pate was straight and clean; if only that haggard face and limp body glowed with health and strength; and if vigor and cleanliness were crowned with the radiance of such a smile as I had but caught a feeble, transient flash—what a man, a perfect man!

Maybe once he might have been just such. If this might have been the case, what terrible circumstances must have led to his present condition! I felt an unaccountable interest in this strange unfortunate and I resolved to do all that lay in my boyish ability to restore him to an ideal state of mental health and bodily vigor.

"Say, old man, come home with me and have a square meal for once in your life." A hungry look came into his eyes.

"Mean it?" he asked, doubtfully.

"Mean it? Of course I mean it," I said, heartily, "if you would promise one thing."

He raised his eyes to mine.

"If you'll take a bath and put on some of my old clothes, you can eat supper with me and sleep in the house, instead of the cold barn."

For a long time he sat gazing at me, but I whistled a college tune and pretended not to see. Presently I said:

"Well, do you give in?"

For answer he buried his face in his hands.

"Oh, come now," I laughed. "I'm not the fellow to stand that kind of thing. A chap has got to laugh and whistle around me, or they don't see me very often."

Something sparkling dropped from between his dirty fingers and flashed down on the boards. Then he spoke, slowly, and with an effort.

"You are the first man on God's earth that has treated me like a man since—since——"

"Yes, I'll go home with you," he continued, after a pause, "if you are not too good to put up with a dog."

"Go on, Billy!" I shouted to the horse. "Guess you forget the oats waiting for you at home."

"I tell you," he went on, savagely, "I'm a jail-bird and everybody turns me out!"

"Oh, come! I haven't turned you out, have I? Don't you croak! I haven't even took you in yet," and I laughed and struck in, "my gal's a high-born lady. She's——"

He grabbed my arm in a vice-like clutch and growled between his teeth, "None o' that, or I'll choke you so you can't squeak any more o' that infernal gibberish!"

I was surprised, to say the least, but I calmly remarked, "You don't like music, then?"

Such a hard, stony look settled on his rough countenance that for a moment I thought he was really dangerous.

Well, we got home and I escorted my guest into the kitchen after we had put up the horse. Mother was not in the least alarmed, as this was not the first occurrence of the kind, but this one was somewhat out of the ordinary and she looked a little surprised when I told her to turn on the hot water in the bath-room. But she quietly went about, caring for our guest's comfort as only a mother can.

The poor fellow looked bewildered when I ushered him into the bath-room and he saw the neat pile of clothes laid ready for his use.

Father laughed when I returned to the kitchen, and poked fun at my queer looking protege, but he did as he always had, let me have my own way.

When my charge returned from the bath-room, fresh and orderly, I was silent with admiration. Such a transformation! I made no comment, but, seeing he was faint with hunger and the exercise of the bath, made haste to the table.

"You waited for me?" he said gratefully.

"Sure thing! Did you think I was going to eat alone when I could just as well have company? Come, pitch in."

And pitch in he did. I never saw any one so hungry. When at last, his craving was appeased, I took him to his room, which was next to mine. The poor fellow broke down completely when he saw the clean sheets and soft pillows.

"Oh!" he cried out, "let me sleep in the barn! Anywhere but here! It is so strange, and oh, so good!"

But I paid no heed. Soon I left him with a hearty good-night. As I passed down the hall, the bath-room door was ajar and as I stepped to close it, an object on the floor caught my attention and I picked it up. It was a soiled, worn portrait of a woman.

I carried it to the gas. Great Scott! It was my own cousin Margaret!

How came it there? I had never seen it before, yet it was she, without the shadow of a doubt. The picture had evidently been taken long years ago, for this was a fair-haired girlish figure and Margaret was "an old maid, now," as I had playfully told her once. Yes, this was surely Meggie, for there at her throat was the old-fashioned brooch that she has always kept, though locked from sight now. And here was the same beautiful face that sorrow and tragedy had lined, and here the small, dimpled hand that men yet sought in vain to win. For Meggy with her beauty had been loved by many, but herself had loved but one, and he——

Great Heavens!

Could this be possible?

A stealthy footstep came along the hall, passed my bed-room, and cautiously approach the door. When he saw me he bounded fiercely to my side and snatched the picture from me.

"You shan't have her!" he passionately cried. "She's mine!"

I stumbled confusedly down the stairs and found mother.

And I told her all that had happened.

It was late that night when we retired and there were tears in her eyes as she put her arms around my neck.

"Please God, we will save him yet! It was Providence who sent him here. God bless you, dear boy, for your charity!"

The next morning he slept late and I went up to wake him. He was breathing heavily and his face was flushed. I laid my hand on his head, but drew it away quickly and rushed down stairs.

"Mother, he is very sick," I said, hurriedly. "I'm going for Dr. Grey."

It took but a moment to saddle Flash, and off I went. The doctor looked grave when he saw him.

"Brain fever," he said. "It will be a hard fight."

And it was. I shall never forget those days and weeks. Father and I took turns watching nights with him, and mother nursed him daytimes with a tenderness almost sublime. But even a faithful physician and three nurses combined were at odds with the terrible Shadow that hovered over the sufferer.

O, those awful nights of wild delirium. As he grew worse, it became nec-

WE CURE STRICTURE

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are troubled with this disease—many unconsciously. They may have a smarting sensation, small, twisting stream, sharp cutting pains at times, slight discharge, difficulty in commencing, weak organs, emissions, and all the symptoms of nervous debility—they have STRICTURE. Don't let doctors experiment on you, by cutting, stretching, or tearing you. This will not cure you, as it will return. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT absorbs the stricture tissue; hence removes the stricture permanently. It can never return. No pain, no suffering, no detention from business by our method. The sexual organs are strengthened. The nerves are invigorated, and the bliss of manhood returns.

WE CURE GLEET

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are having their sexual vigor and vitality continually sapped by this disease. They are frequently unconscious of the cause of these symptoms. General Weakness, Unnatural Discharges, Failing Manhood, Nervousness, Poor Memory, Irritability, at times Smarting Sensation, Sunken Eyes, with dark circles, Weak Back, General Depression, Lack of Ambition, Varicocele, Shrunken Parts, etc. GLEET and STRICTURE may be the cause. Don't consult family doctors, as they have no experience in these special diseases—don't allow Quacks to experiment on you. Consult Specialists, who have made a life study of Diseases of Men and Women. Our NEW METHOD TREATMENT will positively cure you. One thousand dollars for a case we accept for treatment and cannot cure. Terms moderate for a cure.

A WONDERFUL KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

I. A. HOPKINS.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 408 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

Morning Times

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 25, 1900

No Paper Tomorrow

There will be no issue of the Times tomorrow on account of Christmas Day.

A Public Meeting

The Mayor has called a public meeting to be held in the Opera House to-morrow evening, for the purpose of discussing municipal matters. The meeting is called in response to a largely signed requisition, the object being to discuss municipal matters.

Being Appreciated.

The improvements on the steamer City of Peterborough are already appreciated. The Rev. Mr. Armitage has engaged the boat for a Sunday School Excursion on the 3rd of July, 1901, to Jubilee Point, Rice Lake. Captain Copperweight has been engaged to take charge as master. He commences his duties on the opening of navigation.

In Good Financial Shape.

An item appeared in several papers to the effect that the Gilmour Company was in financial difficulty. This, we are pleased to say is a mistake. The changes in the foreman and officers is due to a re-organization of the company which takes some time to complete and hence their lumbering operations are not as extensive as usual. This probably gave rise to the rumor.

Some Christmas Vices.

One of the commonest vices brought into play by Christmas giving is the vice of pride. It shows itself in different ways. Very often it takes the form of ostentation; costly gifts are given, beyond the means of the giver, for no other reason than to make a favorable impression upon the recipient and to establish a reputation for generosity. It is seen, also, in the giving of gifts to somebody only because we think that that somebody is going to give something to us.

Nearly a Fatality

Mr. Jos. Carson, a conductor on this division of the C.P.R., who resides at Toronto, had an escape from death on Thursday last, that he will not soon forget. He was on top of one of the cars of a freight train which was shunting in the yard at the Junction, when he slipped and fell between two of the cars. He struck on the bumpers and then fell on to the track, but fortunately the train stopped in time to avert what would doubtless have been fatal injuries. He was badly shaken up by the fall, and his back was injured.

A Hot Contest

There is a warm contest going on in Hope Cavan and Millbrook District for the County Council of Northumberland and Durham. The candidates are Tom Leetch, Hope; Robt Campbell, Hope; Alex Ferguson, Millbrook; and Thomas Donaldson, Cavan. Mr. Donaldson's chance of elections are good. He represented this district not many years ago, and is in every way qualified for the position. At the last County Council election he was leader by 9 votes. Mr. Donaldson is very popular, and his election is practically assured. No better man ever sat at the County Council board.

Invention and Advertising.

Invention and advertising go hand in hand in the progress and development of the world. What business can you conceive of that is carried without the aid of patents? And what brings business success in any line quicker than advertising? Hardly a day passes but the news comes of the invention of some labor-saving device, the influence of which is to accelerate and cheapen the production of some staple. But you may have the best thing in the world and if no one else knows it, what good is it to you? The press, more especially in recent years, has stood as a bill board of publicity for the manufacturer and dealer in novel, new and useful articles, and as such has brought into communication thousands of this class from the remotest sections as well as the populous centres. This should not be forgotten when you wish to reach the greatest number likely to be interested.

essary for both father and I to watch together, for there were times in his frenzy when he could scarcely be held in bed. After these violent spells he would sink into such deep stupor that it was very difficult to rouse him enough to take his medicine. These sinking spells were more dangerous than his violent delirium for he became weaker with each repetition and at times the pulse was scarcely discernable and the breath so faint that I thought him dead more than once.

Sometimes he fancied he was back in the old home and he prattled on about the governor's stinginess and his own extravagance. Then his thoughts turned to the love of his youth.

"Peggy, don't you know how much you are to me?" he would whisper. "You are my better self, my compass, my north star, my ballast wheel. I know that if they will not let you marry me, I shall go to the bad, I will, I will! Down, down, down!

"They are hard, cruel—Peggy! They won't let me have you, dear! What can we do? Oh, I am going to the bad! Sinking!

"I am here under your window, Margaret love, but you are asleep. You do not see. I am here by the rose vine where I told you first I loved you. Wish I had my guitar, I'd sing the 'Red rose' song. I'll come to-morrow night and serenade you.

"Peggy, I see a figure creeping along the grass. Don't be frightened, dear. If its a burglar, I've got a revolver. He is coming nearer. Good God, it is your father! He hasn't seen me yet because the red roses hide me, but he is looking for me, he must know I am here. I will step out like a man, and tell him I came to serenade you, but forgot my guitar. Ha! Ha! Ha!

"Why, what's happened? My head whirls. There are people holding me. Why is it? What are these things in the grass? Burglars' tools, and a heap of plate! What! Has the house been robbed? Oh! There's a pain in my head and I can hardly see. Did someone hit me?

"What? Me, a burglar? My head hurts so. Pardon me, gentlemen, I do not understand. How sweet the roses smell! Peggy, are you still sleeping?

"What are these things,—ropes? Hold! I am no felon! I swear I know nothing about those tools and the silver! Let me go, I say! Peggy, where are you? Save me, darling! But you are sleeping, don't waken for dreams are sweeter than grief. Dream on, dear love!

"What is this? A prison, you say? A fit abode for a felon. Nine years! And she does not believe in me? You say she is married? And happy?

"Father is dead? Of heart disease? He! What heart had he to die of? I broke it! Mine is broken, too. But her heart is not broken, no! She is happy!

"Free, am I? Free! For what? What is in life before me? Nothing! Despair! Death! But I can't die without one more look at my love! One more look!

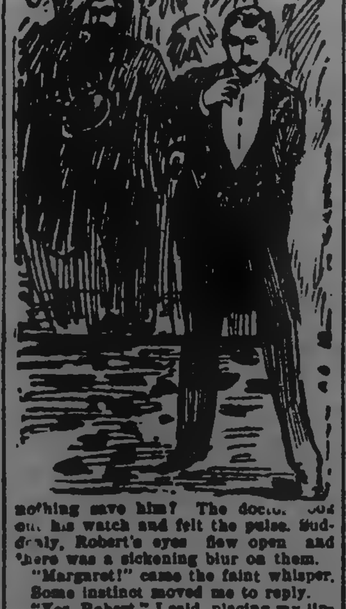
"How cruel the world is! Too cruel for me! I will leave it, but not yet. If only someone would give me food I would be stronger to reach you, dear! I must see you! I will go now, and walk, and walk, and walk so fast! I will find you! I am coming!" and we would hold him with iron grip till his frenzy changed to stupor.

Poor Robert!

At last the crisis came, and the doctor and I watched together.

"We must save him," I demanded, "it is very necessary." So we two sat in the stillness of the night and watched the faint and fainter breathing of the sufferer. Dr. Grey had done his best and all his best. No one but God could help him now. I knew mother was spending the night in prayer and not sleep, and I prayed that her petitions might be heard and answered.

How fast he was sinking! Could nothing save him? The doctor took out his watch and felt the pulse. Suddenly, Robert's eyes flew open and there was a sickening blur on them.



"Margaret!" came the faint whisper. Some instinct moved me to reply.

"Yes, Robert," I said, placing my lips to his ear.

"You love me yet?" he asked. "You are true to me, Margaret?"

"Yes, dear, always," I answered.

"Kiss me, dear love!" And I kissed him on the forehead.

He sank to sleep, and for a while we thought the fluttering breath would stop altogether. But at last the doctor rose and put on his coat.

"Take good care of him, nurse him carefully. He will live." And after a few more directions, he left the house.

He did live, and improved so steadily, although slowly, that towards Christmas time he was up and about and gaining strength. With his clean-shaven face and orderly attire, he looked quite young and handsome again. And as the days flew by, he gained in vigor both of mind and body so that we were very proud of him.

It was a day or two before Christmas when he braced himself up and proposed leaving us.

"I must be jogging on towards home," he said. "If the weather holds out good, I'll be in Burlington by the first of January."

"Burlington!" I exclaimed. "Why, I'm going there myself the day after Christmas, and I declare! I won't have to go down alone, will I? How jolly!"

He looked serious and doubtful.

"But——" he objected.

"Oh, very well, if you object to my society, there is no more to be said!" and I tried to look offended.

"Well, I'll go down with you," he laughed. "But that isn't it. I——"

"Oh, how relieved I am! I really thought you didn't care for my company," and I left the room, to avoid further discussion.

Christmas Day was fine. The sunshine poured through the windows and its radiant influence made the house as cheerful as a June bower. We had decorated the rooms with holly and flowers till it seemed like a veritable paradise. For we expected company, and Robert Crane was very useful in the preparations. He had emerged from his taciturn mood and I had begun to think the fever had improved him. I watched him put the finishing touches to a bank of palms and thought how very handsome he was. Once he smiled at some trifling remark of mine.

"By Jove, man!" I cried, in utter admiration.

"What's the row?" he asked, looking up.

"Nothing."

At this moment a carriage drove up and a woman alighted, a pretty little woman with an old-fashioned brooch at her throat, and red roses in her cheeks and hands. I looked at Robert Crane. He was white as a ghost and trembling like a leaf. I hastily left the room. This supreme moment was his, not mine.

So I can only tell you that I heard a choking cry from both as I closed the door.

A long time afterward, I opened the door a crack and said:

"Peggy, the minister is here!"

I didn't wait to see the effect of my words.

I'm not going to tell you any more about my tramp, except that there was a wedding that afternoon in our parlor, a grand, solemn, sweet ceremony, in front of the bank of palms.

And it was Peggy, not I, who went down to Burlington with him next day.

SCARCITY OF NEWS CAUSES SOME ANXIETY

London Uneasy on Account of the Invasion by the Boers in Cape Colony.

London, Dec. 27.—The paucity and obscurity of despatches from South Africa give rise to renewed anxiety. Apparently the disturbed area of Cape Colony extends further south than it did last December, and Lord Kitchener does not appear to have had much success as yet in driving back the invaders. The war office had received no news last night of the reported capture of Yeomanry near Britstown. A burgher's drop despatch has mysterious reference to an unfortunate mistaking of the enemy for Brabant's horse, which resulted in sending off "ceasefire" and enabled the Boers to occupy all commanding positions, the British retiring from a difficult predicament. Gen. Clement's success against the Boers in Megallsburg region is also doubtful. The last despatch reports that it was considered advisable not to force the Boers from their positions. The British press continues in the main optimistic, but the condition of affairs brings home the enormous difficulties that will force Lord Kitchener in patrolling and policing such immense tracts of country, even when the Boers shall be finally subdued. The Daily Mail which make a strong appeal to the Government to face the facts, and send Lord Kitchener more troops says there is a weak risk in being lulled to sleep by carefully censured messages.

London, Dec. 26.—As insisted upon in this despatch for the past few days, the Boer invasion of Cape olCony is not proving th eserious affair that was anticipated by those given to circulating alarmist rumors upon the slightest provocation. The western body of the Boers, which occupied Britstown, wet of the Cape Cairo line, has been easily dislodged from that place by Colonel Thorneycroft's mounted men, and is retiring towards Prieska. This is significant. Th eBoers have evidently failed to gain adherents at Britstown, which was formerly a stronghold of disaffection, and are now heading for Prieska, nearly a hundred miles to the north-west, farther away from their own territory. Prieska is another disaffected center which was months ago the scene of Lor dKitchener's operations of repression, and there is no likelihood that the enemy will any greater degree of succes sin that locality in their attempt to again stir up revolt and their early capture or retreat may be looked fo. The force of Boers which crossed the Orange River near Aliwal North made an ineffectual attempt upon Steynsburg, a town among the mountains, nearly a hundred miles south of the border, but were repulsed, whereupon they took to the open veldt and entrenched themselves with the intention in all likelihood of making a last stand. This would lead to the supposition that the commando is in a tight place, and has little hope of escaping. As there is no official confirmation of the crossing of a third body of Boers into the Colony—reported from unofficial sources—it must be concluded that Lord Kitchener has only the two original invading bodies to reckon with, and these should quickly be brought to book. Meanwhile, General De Wet, who was occupying a position on the Orange River State, from which he hoped to make diversions in aid of the invading commandos is again being hard pressed on the Basuto border, the British policy being to keep him employed in order to better further the capture of the invaders and prevent their recrossing the river.

YEOMANRY ENTRAPPED.

Cape Town, Dec. 26.—A squadron of Yeomanry which had been following the Boers from Britstown, is reported to have been entrapped. There were several casualties, it is said, and the remainder of the force was captured.

LORD ROBERTS REACHES MADEIRA.

Funchal, Island of Maderia, Dec 26.—The steamer Canada, with Lord Roberts on board, arrived here last evening, receiving a salute o fnineteen guns on entering the port.

This morning Lord Roberts was tendered an official reception by the authorities, and at noon he proceeded to Gibraltar aboard the Canada.

DE WET AGAIN PURSUED.

Maseru, Dec. 25.—The British are pressing Commandant De Wet in the Ladybrand district.

London, Dec, 26.—A majority of the correspondents at Cape Town continue to treat the invasion of the Cape Colony by the Boers as comparatively not a serious matter. They say there is too great readiness to take an alarmist view of the situation. Practically no colonists have joined the invaders. The Government has taken care to keep their stocks of ammunition low, and it it is believed that only a few effective arms are in the possession of anti-British colonists, whose attitude is represented as one of letting "I dare not wait upon I would." The correspondents add that the damage done to the railways and telegraphs of the colony was slight, and has been repaired. Most of the breaks in the lines were caused solely by the weather. A small train from Johannesburg reached Cape Town safely Tuesday. There is no civilian traffic, however, further south than Victoria West, and trains are running irregularly between De Aar and Kimberley, though communication has been restored between De Aar and Cape Town. The oGvernment is represented as taking the most elaborate precautions to prevent the situation from developing seriously, and the incursion has expendited the recruting for the various irregular corps to a marvellous extent, while many villages and towns are forming volunteer guards and constructing entrenchments.

Lord Kitchener is in the breast of the disaffected districts, and has the advantage of being personally acquainted with local conditions. Last March he supervised the suppression of the rising which occurred then. He is bringing down thousands of troops from the north.

The Standard's Cape Town correspondent says the loyalists demand that martial law shall be proclaimed throughout Cape Colony, but adds: "Such a step is now impossible owing to the lack of sufficient troops to enforce it."

Another Boer commando captured a party of police at Venterstad. Mounted colonial troops surprised 300 Boers, 15 miles from Burghersdorp December 23, and after a brisk interchange of volleys, retired with a loss of two men.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Times telegraphs that scarcely any Cape colonists have joined the invaders.

Fighting is going on near De Aar. Particulars are unobtainable. Two hundred Boers have left Britstown after commandeering all supplies available.

A Boer column attacked Steynsburg, but were repulsed and fled to the Zuurberg mountains, where they entrenched themselves. It is believed that they have already been driven out of their positions. The latest advices received here are to the effect that when Britstown was occupied by the Boers a Boer officer announced that the Boers were now acting on their own hook, and were looking out for themselves. The Boers have blown up a culvert of De Aar.

BOER INVADERS ARE RETIRING

London, Dec. 26.—The War Office makes public the following despatch from Lord Kitchener;

"Naauwpoort, Dec. 24.—Thorneycroft's mounted troops have occupied Britstown without opposition. The retired in the direction of Prieka. They will be followed."

Arranging Stove Combine

Hamilton, Dec. 26.—It is reported that arrangements have been completed for the amalgamation of stove foundry interests in Western Ontario, which is expected to take place about Jan. 1. It is estimated that $7,500,000 will be required by the syndicate, which was formed by Dr. McCauley, of Chicago, John H. Tilden, of the Gurney-Tilden Company, has gone to Chicago in connection with the deal. Hamilton foundrymen have taken fully $300,000 stock in the proposed new company, and in case the consolidation is effected, Hamilton will be the centre of operations of the new company, of which Mr. Tilden will be manager.

Fire at Calgary

Calgary, Alberta, Dec. 26.—Three of the finest business blocks in Calgary were destroyed yesterday by fire.

The flames started at two o'clock in the morning in the three-story Clarence block, and soon enveloped the big structure. In spite of the best efforts of the fire brigade the Eauclaria block to the eastward, occupied by the Calgary Clothing Company, and the Norman block, to the westward, by the dry goods firm of Glanville & Robertson, fell a prey to the flames. The Clarence block was full of tenants, but all escaped. Most of their effects, however, were buried when the walls fell.

The Clarence and Norman blocks, both stone, belonged to Senator Lougheed, who lost heavily, his law library and papers being consumed. The Norman block was completed only last week.

The loss is estimated at $100,000, and includes the stocks of the Calgary Wine and Spirit Company, the Alberta Music Company, Watt's Company, cigars; G. H. Mitchell, groceries and chinaware; the Calgary Clothing Co., Glanville & Robertson, and others.

A WELCOME HOME

Hearty Reception Given to Private LeBar Yesterday

Yesterday one more of the volunteers to South Africa returned to town, in the person of Pte. LeBar, who went with the first contingent. At the station were assembled Col. Edwards and officers of the 57th Regiment, together with a number of non-commissioned officers and men, and a large number of citizens.

When the returned soldier alighted, he was greeted by his father and other relatives, and was driven to the drill shed, where a formal welcome was extended to him, and at which speeches were made by Col. Edwards, Major Miller, Pte. LeBar and his father.

Last night Pte. LeBar was entertained at the non-commissioned officers' mess.

AMERICANS AND JAPANESE PRAISED

They Maintain Better Government There Than at Home.

THE FRENCH FAIRY TALES

Stories of Big Victory over Chinese are Not Given any Credit.

London, Dec. 26.—In a careful review published to-day in the Morning Post of the conditions existing at Pekin, Mr. H. J. Whigham, a well-known newspaper correspondent and golf player, says there are now a quarter of a million inhabitants pursuing their ordinary vocations in the American quarter. The markets are in full blast. He says that the American and the Japanese quarters are in all respects the best managed.

Continuing, Mr. Whigham says: "This enormous portion of the city is policed by exactly one company of infantry and a few mounted men under a provost marshal. If only these hard-headed soldiers of the provost marshal type had been given a free hand in the Philippines, the task of subjugating the unfortunate islands would have been much more simple. If the Japanese have come out of the middle with flying colors they at least have the Americans close behind. It was worth sending an expedition to China, if only to get a few hints on transport from the Americans. Their scheme of municipal government could not be bettered by the British, who have learned the business by experience in every quarter of the globe.

"To point a contrast it is only necessary to walk down the avenue of the Chinese city dividing the United States and Germany. The American side of the street is simply Pekin in the ordinary garb of peace, minus its variegated smells. The opposite side is almost deserted. The Germans have to come to the American side for meat and vegetables."

GERMAN MEDDLING.

London, Dec. 26.—A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Pekin dated Monday, December 24, says much irritation has been caused by the activity of the German troops in the districts under British protection. So acute has been the feeling that there has been a question of the British seceding from the allied command.

The Foreign Office informed a representative of the Associated Press today that there was no truth in the Pall Mall Gazette's despatch which said there had been a question of the British seceding from the allied command owing to the activity of the Germans in the districts under British position.

FRENCH FAIRY TALES.

Pekin, Dec. 26.—The French report encountering twenty-five thousand Chinese and capturing five flags and a number of guns and inflicting a great loss, thirty-five miles south of here. The report is generally discredited. According to the rumor the French did not suffer any losses themselves. It is believed, however, that the French probably met a roving band, which was dispersed, a number of the Chinese being butchered. Li-Hung-Chang says that he is satisfied that the story is false.

BRAVERY OF ROYAL CANADIAN DRAGOONS

Lieut. Cockburn and His Men Taken Prisoners but Saved the Guns.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—The report of Col. Lessard, commanding the Royal Canadian Dragoons, was received at the Department of Militia to-day, for the week ending November 11th. It deals with the fight at Belfast, already reported. Private A. MacDonald was slightly wounded. Private S. Clarkson, and 293, Private Rey, were discharged, having obtained Government employment.

The following names for gallantry are mentioned: Lieut. R. E. W. Turner, who, although wounded three times, remained in action; Lieut. H. Z. C. Cockburn, in charge of A Troop, who remained too late to escape with his men, and were taken prisoners. Through this act of gallantry the guns were saved. The names of acting Sergeant E. J. Holland, of Ottawa, in charge of the Colt gun, and that of 105, N. J. Builder, are also mentioned. Colonel Lessard also recommends for recognition 185, Private W. A. Kinley, for the gallant rescue of his comrade. Private Kinley is now in the hospital severely wounded. The Canadian guns were saved only in the nick of time. The Boers, Colonel Lessard says, charged with great dash.

Colonel Evans sends his diary, covering the two weeks ending November 15th. Sergeant Tryon, Corporal Eaton, and Privates Hutchison and G. G. Smith were specially mentioned for bravery in going to the relief of Major Sanders and Corporal Schell, at the Middleburgh fight, already reported in the press. Lieut.-Col. Evans quotes Smith Dorrien's order, giving great credit to the regiment for its work, and mentioning the name of Colonel Evans.

Ontario Beats Them All.

Hon. John Dryden has received a letter from J. G. Jardine, Ontario Commissioner to the Paris Expositon, saying that Canadians have been awarded in addition 2 gold, 15 silver and 5 bronze medals for fruit, and with a total of more than 20 awards for agriculture and horticulture, has beaten every country in the world.

Want Licenses.

More than twenty five people have written the Ontario Fishery Department making applications for frog licences, as regulated by the act of the last session. None have been granted, the reason given being that the locations for which the licenses were asked have been owned by private individuals, who have perhaps been making many livings out of the industry. There is no desire on the part of the department to force these small dealers out of business.

A Quiet Wedding

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. Hugh Waddell Monaghan Road when Mr. John Hall of Lindsay was united in marriage to Miss Mary Hart. The nupital knot was tied by the Rev. J. G. Potter, in the presence of a number of invited guests. Miss Mary Graham assisted the bride, while Mr. Hall, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. A large number of elegant and beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will take up their residence at No. 90 King street, Lindsay.

SECRET OF BOER SUCCESS

U.S. Consul at Kimberley Tells of the Dutch Ponies

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Gardner T. Williams, the United States Consul at Kimberley, in South Africa, and manager of the De Boers diamond mines, has been in Chicago for three or four days.

He ascribes the Boer mobility to the endurance of their horses and believes Dewet's success in eluding the pursuing columns is due almost entirely to the superior adaptability of the Boer ponies over those used by the British. The Boer pony is trained to stand wherever his rider dismounts and throws the bridle over his head. And at once the pony begins eating the grass of the veldt. Nothing disturbs him; he will graze right on the midst of the bullets, and to stop him he must be keeled over. In fact, upon their horses quite as much as their marksmanship, the Boers went to war. They timed their ultimatum just as the veldt became covered with nutritious grass. Their parties had to carry no fodder for their horses, and very little for the men, since they operate in a country friendly to them. This is the season now for grass on the veldt, and that explains their revived power.

The British, of course, have the American army mule for hauling, and now they are getting the American mustangs for cavalry horses. The mustang soon gets acclimated, and is almost a match for the Boer pony. But it must be borne in mind that every horse imported into South Africa must not only become acclimated, but immune to the animal diseases of the country, before he is of much use. Besides, the imported horse will not feed on the grass of the veldt. He starves instead, unless fodder is carried for him. The British mounted infantry man must picket his horse wherever he dismounts; the Boer turns his horse loose; the former rides a starveling beast; the latter a sleek, well-conditioned animal.

SOME PLAIN TALK FROM A FILIPINO

He Goes to New York and Tells the Americans They will Fail to Subdue the Islands.

New York Dec. 26.—Rafeal Del Pan Fontela, lately from the Philippine Islands, first President of the Madrid Junta, has arrived here from Canada. Senor Fontela was a lawyer and editor in Manila. When the war began he was Aguinaldo's chief adviser.

Senor Fontela said that it was safe for him to return to the Philippines and resume his law practice and the publication of his newspaper were he willing to swear allegiance to the United States.

"I'm no hypocrite," he continued "and cannot take such an oath when my people are in a struggle which must end in death or freedom. I will not return to the Philippines until independence has been gained.

"The impression has got abroad that Aguinaldo is dead. This is nonsense. He has a large following, and every man under him is there to do or die. The war has just begun unless America accedes to the demands of the Filipinos."

Regarding the formation of a new party among the Filipinos, friendly to the United States, Senor Fontela said:

"This scheme is doomed to failure. The leaders, Buencamino and Paterno, are leaders without a party. They are time-services. During the Spanish domination they were more Spanish than the Spaniards. During the effective life of the Filipino Repunlic they were ardent patriots. When the United States troops captured the Filipino capital these men allowed themselves to be taken prisoners, and have since professed ardent enthusiasm for United States supremacy."

REINFORCEMENTS FROM NEW ZEALAND.

Wellington, N.Z., Dec. 25.—The New Ealand Government has asked the Governor, the Earl of Ranfurley, to inform Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that it does not wish the New Zealand contingent in South Africa to be diminished, that drafts will be forwarded to fill the ranks and that additional mounted men will be sent.

ALD. DAWSON WITHDRAWS FROM THE CONTEST

Municipal Politics Discussed By Several Prominent Citizens at a Meeting in the Opera House Last Night.

A fairly large gathering of ratepayers assembled in the Opera House last night to hear municipal matters discussed, and to nominate the most capable candidates for the Council of 1901. Mayor Kendry officiated as Chairman, and the several speakers were given a patient hearing. A large quota of influential citizens gave weight to the event by their presence, and the Rev. J. C. Davidson, Rector of Peterborough, who has been largely instrumental in completing arrangements for the meeting, made an exceedingly eloquent appeal to his fellow citizens, urging them to exercise their franchise in the best interests of the town, according to his or her judgement.

THE NOMINEES.

Mr. W. H. Moore, a gentleman who has in past years devoted considerable time and energy on the civic board, and who was strongly urged by the meeting to again accept of nomination, but of no avail, submitted the following resolution, which was unanimously carried:

That the citizens of Peterborough hereby endorse the following ticket as gentlemen whose ability, integrity and judgment commend them as suitable and desirable men from whom to constitute the Council of this town for the coming year.

Jno. Corkery.
Henry Best.
Henry Stabler.
Henry Rush.
G. M. Roger.
C. B. Robertson.
R. Clinkscale.
A. C. McCallum.
E. H. D. Hall.

Other capable men such as Dr. Greer, H. Winch, Wm. Langford and J. J. Hartley were requested to accept of nomination, but could not see their way clear to do so opened the proceedings with a brief, but appropriate speech, in which he explained that the meeting had been called by him at the request of a large number of influential ratepayers, with a view to publicly discussing municipal affairs, and to bring out as candidates for next year's Council the best available men. He was pleased to see that Peterborough's ladies were interested in civic affairs as evidenced by their presence to-night. There are, he said, 500 ladies in town entitled to vote at the coming election, and each candidate will have to put his best foot forward to secure their support, otherwise he will be in danger of being snowed under. During the past few years Peterborough has been at a standstill, and the time has now come when it must either go ahead or lose ground.

Mayor Kendry then invited any ratepayers who wished to address the meeting to take the platform, and came forward and explained that he had been associated with the rector of St. John's in having the meeting called, and he wished to move a resolution that the warmest thanks of the ratepayers be offered the Mayor and Council of 1900, that the ratepayers greatly appreciate the time and labor spent by them in conducting the affairs of the town. Mr. Wood stated that the petitioners for the meeting had no reflection whatever to cast upon those prominent in municipal affairs in the past. But it is at present of peculiar importance that special interest be taken in municipal matters. Peterborough must look to its laurels, or the town will go backward instead of forward.

Mr Wood's motion was seconded by Mr. Martin, and promptly carried. The Mayor returned thanks in behalf of himself and the Aldermen, and in doing so complimented the other members of the Council.

ALD. DAWSON.

Ald. Dawson was the next speaker. He said he was surprised at a vote of thanks been given the Council. In fourteen years of municipal experience he had never known a Council to be so closely scrutinized and so censured in the press and elsewhere as the present one. At the same time he believed there was never a Council conducted the public affairs more uprightly and justly. He was a candidate for the Mayor's chair and he challenged any man to come forward and say he had ever acted otherwise than uprightly. The Council had been criticised for not bringing manufacturers. They had secured a large addition to the Edison Works. They had passed the by-law for the Cereal Company within 48 hours after the matter was before them. The Clerk is continually writing all over the country to find out about manufacturers seeking a location.

ALD. DENNE.

Ald Denne next took the platform, and that they managed with a rate of only tidence. As Chairman of the Finance Committee for the past few years, he proposed to give the meeting an idea of how the town's finances were managed. It was with the utmost difficulty that they managed with a vote of only 17 mills. The total revenue was $88,753—a large amount—but $54,960 of the expenditure was uncontrollable. The Council had virtually but $20,000 for more or less controllable expenditure on fire department, administration of justice, insurance, interest, light, law, market, etc and the large outlay necessary upon streets and bridges. The taxation per head in Peterborough, $4.87, as the second lowest in towns of similar size in Ontario. Berlin, with $4.04 per head, is the lowest. Windsor's taxation per head, $13.74, is double that of Peterborough. These figures are from the Provincial Bureau of Statistics. The way to keep down taxes is to increase population. It would cost no more for light, for street improvements and other things if the population were 5,000 greater. As a workingman, he was heartily in favor of anything to advance the interests of working people. He was glad that through the influence of a former honored citizen, Senator Cox, the town was to have a branch of the Cereal Company. It would be the largest establishment of its kind in the Dominion. Peterborough had already one establishment the largest of its kind—the Canadian General. The all-important question—is that of municipal ownership of the water and light plants. That should be thoroughly discussed through the press and otherwise; the experience of other towns not only in Canada, but in the United States, should be investigated, and then the question should be submitted to the ratepayers and left entirely to them.

Ald. Denne was proceeding to speak of his candidacy for the Mayor's chair, when Mr. Dumble rose to a point of order and suggested that candidates should reserve declarations for another occasion. Ald. Denne promptly accepted the suggestion and took his seat amid applause.

REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

The Rector of St. John's was next invited to the platform. Mr. Davidson said that he had a resolution to propose that seemed to him of extreme importance—a resolution which, if carried out, would transform the town. The resolution was to the following effect:

That this meeting recognizes and re-echoes the call of the Town of Peterborough to its ratepayers to regard the franchise as a great public trust, and to exercise the same according to his or her best judgment.

It seems simple, the speaker said, yet just one ratepayer in ten practically assents to the proposition. Everyone knows that some men and women—especially old women of both sexes—cannot be got to vote at all, except by persistent canvassing. He denounced canvassing as a thing essentially humiliating to both candidate and voter. After some expressions of good will, Mr. Davidson, entered upon a criticism of the present Council. He did not believe their policy had been progressive. He asked was the Council to be thanked for the coming of the new industry. It was true as had been said that the Council had done its business peaceably and economically. But had it therefore been progressive? Peace and sweetness and economy were not the only qualifications necessary in municipal government. For instance, the most peaceful spot he knew of in town was the Little Lake cemetery, but one could hardly say it was a progressive locality. In conclusion, the rev. gentleman urged all citizens to recognize the sacred demands of their franchise, to regard it as a public trust, and not to be influenced merely by a house to house canvass, for if candidates have to rely upon such measures to secure election, the best men will never come forward for public office. The speaker resumed his seat amid prolonged applause.

The resolution was here put to the audience, and carried by a standing vote.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE

was the next speaker. He thought it a pleasing innovation to have the citizens of Peterborough assembled to discuss their own municipal government. He could not say that the affairs of our town have been managed worse than those of other towns, still he thought the time had arrived when a more progressive policy should be adopted. We have $5,000,000 at stake in this community and it behoves us to select the best possible men to manage this large civic property during the next year. Peterborough has, during the past few years, been simply holding its own, awaiting for something to turn up, in the way of new industries, etc. The returns for real estate to-day are far from satisfactory, and we have to consider how to remedy this. An effort be made to bring to town such agencies as will increase its population, and create a greater demand for houses, lands, etc. The welfare of Peterborough depends largely on manufacturers, and we have come to a period at which we must either let the moss grow or insure progress. Under such circumstances our citizens cannot be indifferent to the formation of their civic board, but must, as stock holders, in this community, nominate such candidates as will best safeguard their interests in these days of keen competition. Now, a railway is to be constructed from Lindsay to Bobcaygeon, and an agitation is afoot for a railway from Norwood to Apsley. If we rise to the occasion. Peterborough can benefit from the latter scheme; any train to Apsley would have to start from and return to Peterborough, via Norwood. This road simply means connection with North Bay by the C.P.R. from Peterborough, via Norwood, and we should, if sufficiently enterprising, secure a large proportion of that trade. Continuing, the speaker favored a taking over by the town of the Water Works and the Electric Light systems, by means of which a great saving would be insured to its citizens; he thought any town that could get its money at 3 1-2 or 4 per cent. can afford to have its own water works at least. He felt convinced that the American Cereal Company would prove a great benefit to Peterborough, not only as utilising the Dickson raceway and employing a large number of hands, but also in furnishing a ready market for coarse grains. Continuing, he thought Peterborough behind the age in securing new industries. In this connection we want skilled men to deal with the question. We cannot assess factories at their full value, but must deal literally with them in order to secure their location, and to keep them here; this principle has been successfully adopted in Berlin, Galt and other towns. We shall shortly have the T. V. Canal, Peterborough is the center of a vast railway system, and it is a little better situated than any other town in Ontario for the establishment of manufacturing industries. We must, therefore, seek in our Aldermen men of great ability, integrity of character and continuity of action in order to take advantages of the facilities with which we are already blessed. With such an object in view this meeting has been called. In conclusion, the speaker urged his hearers to select nine capable candidates for the coming election, and submit their names to the electorate for approval.

The following resolution was here carried unanimously:

Moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, seconded by Mr. Ayers,—That this meeting hereby recognizes and re-echoes the urgent call of the Town of Peterborough upon her most capable and enterprising citizens of every class to devote a portion of their time and energies to the service of the Town, and to accept nomination to public office when called on by the citizens.

ALD. DAWSON RESIGNS.

Ald. Dawson at this juncture again took the platform, and in a few heated remarks said he inferred from the Rev. [illegible]

SCARCITY OF NEWS CAUSES SOME ANXIETY

London Uneasy on Account of the Invasion by the Boers in Cape Colony.

London, Dec. 27.—The paucity and obscurity of despatches from South Africa give rise to renewed anxiety. Apparently the disturbed area of Cape Colony extends further south than it did last December, and Lord Kitchener does not appear to have had much success as yet in driving back the invaders. The war office had received no news last night of the reported capture of Yeomanry near Britstown. A burgher's drop despatch has mysterious reference to an unfortunate mistaking of the enemy for Brabant's horse, which resulted in sending off "ceasefire" and enabled the Boers to occupy all commanding positions, the British retiring from a difficult predicament. Gen. Clement's success against the Boers in Megallsburg region is also doubtful. The last despatch reports that it was considered advisable not to force the Boers from their positions. The British press continues in the main optimistic, but the condition of affairs brings home the enormous difficulties that will force Lord Kitchener in patrolling and policing such immense tracts of country, even when the Boers shall be finally subdued. The Daily Mail which make a strong appeal to the Government to face the facts, and send Lord Kitchener more troops says there is a weak risk in being lulled to sleep by carefully censured messages.

London, Dec. 26.—As insisted upon in this despatch for the past few days, the Boer invasion of Cape olCony is not proving th eserious affair that was anticipated by those given to circulating alarmist rumors upon the slightest provocation. The western body of the Boers, which occupied Britstown, wet of the Cap-Cairo line, has been easily dislodged from that place by Colonel Thorneycroft's mounted men, and is retiring towards Prieska. This is significant. Th eBoers have evidently failed to gain adherents at Britstown, which was formerly a stronghold of disaffection, and are now heading for Prieska, nearly a hundred miles to the north-west, farther away from their own territory. Prieska is another disaffected center which was months ago the scene of Lor dKitchener's operations of repression, and there is no likelihood that the enemy will any greater degree of success ain that locality in their attempt to again stir up revolt and their early capture or retreat may be looked fo. The force of Boers which crossed the Orange River near Aliwal North made an ineffectual attempt upon Steynsburg, a own among the mountains, nearly a hundred miles south of the border, but were repulsed, whereupon they took to the open veldt and entrenched themselves with the intention in all likelihood of making a last stand. This would lead to the supposition that the commando is in a tight place and has little hope of escaping. As there is no official confirmation of the crossing of a third body of Boers into the Colony—reported from unofficial sources—it must be concluded that Lord Kitchener has only the two original invading bodies to reckon with, and these should quickly be brought to book. Meanwhile, General De Wet, who was occupying a position on the Orange River State, from which he hoped to make diversions in aid of the invading commandos is again being hard pressed on the Basuto, border, the British policy being to keep him mployed in order to better further the capture of the invaders and prevent their recrossing the river.

YEOMANRY ENTRAPPED.

Cape Town, Dec. 26.—A squadron of Yeomanry which had been following the Boers from Britstown, is reported to have been entrapped. There were several casualties, it is said, and the remainder of the force was captured.

LORD ROBERTS REACHES MADEIRA.

Funchal, Island of Maderia, Dec 26.—The steamer Canada, with Lord Roberts on board, arrived here last evening, receiving a salute o fnineteen guns on entering the port.

This morning Lord Roberts was tendered an official reception by the authorities, and at noon he proceeded to Gibraltar aboard the Canada.

DE WET AGAIN PURSUED.

Maseru, Dec. 25.—The British are pressing Commandant De Wet in the Ladybrand district.

London, Dec, 26.—A majority of the correspondents at Cape Town continue to treat the invasion of the Cape Colony by the Boers as comparatively not a serious matter. They say there is too great readiness to take an alarmist view of the situation. Practically no colonists have joined the invaders. The Government has taken care to keep their stocks of ammunition low, and it it is believed that only a few effective arms are in the possession of anti-British colonists, whose attitude is represented as one of letting "I dare not wait upon I would." The correspondents add that the damage done to the railways and telegraphs of the colony was slight, and has been repaired. Most of the breaks in the lines were caused solely by the weather. A small train from Johannesburg reached Cape Town safely Tuesday. There is no civilian traffic, however, further south than Victoria West, and trains are running irregularly between De Aar and Kimberley, though communication has been restored between De Aar and Cape Town. The oGvernment is represented as taking the most elaborate precautions to prevent the situation from developing seriously, and the incursion has expendited the recruting for the various irregular corps to a marvellous extent, while many villages and towns are forming volunteer guards and constructing entrenchments.

Lord Kitchener is in the breath of the disaffected districts, and has the advantage of being personally acquainted with local conditions. Last March he supervised the suppression of the rising which occurred then. He is bringing down thousands of troops from the north.

The Standard's Cape Town correspondent says the loyalists demand that martial law shall be proclaimed throughout Cape Colony, but adds: "Such a step is now impossible owing to the lack of sufficient troops to enforce it."

Another Boer commando captured a party of police at Venterstad. Mounted colonial troops surprised 300 Boers, 15 miles from Burghersdorp December 23, and after a brisk interchange of volleys, retired with a loss of two men.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Times telegraphs that scarcely any Cape colonists have joined the invaders.

Fighting is going on near De Aar. Particulars are unobtainable. Two hundred Boers have left Britstown after commandeering all supplies available.

A Boer column attacked Steynsburg, but were repulsed and fled to the Zuurberg mountains, where they entrenched themselves. It is believed that they have already been driven out of their positions. The latest advices received here are to the effect that when Britstown was occupied by the Boers a Boer officer announced that the Boers were now acting on their own hook, and were looking out for themselves. The Boers have blown up a culvert of De Aar.

BOER INVADERS ARE RETIRING

London, Dec. 26.—The War Office makes public the following despatch from Lord Kitchener:

"Naauwpoort, Dec. 24. — Thorneycroft's mounted troops have occupied Britstown without opposition. The retired in the direction of Prieka. They will be followed."

It is estimated that $7,500,000 will be required by the syndicate, which was formed by Dr. McCauley, of Chicago, John H. Tilden, of the Gurney-Tilden Company, has gone to Chicago in connection with the deal. Hamilton foundrymen have taken fully $300,000 stock in the proposed new company, and in case the consolidation is effected, Hamilton will be the centre of operations of the new company, of which Mr. Tilden will be manager.

Fire at Calgary

Calgary, Alberta, Dec. 26.—Three of the finest business blocks in Calgary were destroyed yesterday by fire.

The flames started at two o'clock in the morning in the three-story Clarence block, and soon enveloped the big structure. In spite of the best efforts of the fire brigade the Eauclarie block to the eastward, occupied by the Calgary Clothing Company, and the Norman block, to the westward, by the dry goods firm of Glanville & Robertson, fell a prey to the flames. The Clarence block was full of tenants, but all escaped. Most of their effects, however, were burned when the walls fell.

The Clarence and Norman blocks, both stone, belonged to Senator Lougheed, who lost heavily, his law library and papers being consumed. The Norman block was completed only last week.

The loss is estimated at $100,000, and includes the stocks of the Calgary Wine and Spirit Company, the Alberta Music Company, Watt's Company, cigars; G. H. Mitchell, groceries and chinaware; the Calgary Clothing Co., Glanville & Robertson, and others.

A WELCOME HOME

Hearty Reception Given to Private LeBar Yesterday

Yesterday one more of the volunteers to South Africa returned to town, in the person of Pte. LeBar, who went with the first contingent. At the station were assembled Col. Edwards and officers of the 57th Regiment, together with a number of non-commissioned officers and men, and a large number of citizens.

When the returned soldier alighted, he was greeted by his father and other relatives, and was driven to the drill shed, where a formal welcome was extended to him, and at which speeches were made by Col. Edwards, Major Miller, Pte. LeBar and his father.

Last night Pte. LeBar was entertained at the non-commissioned officers' mess.

Sudden deaths on the increase.—People apparently well and happy to-day, to-morrow are striken down, and in ninety-nine cases out of every hundred the heart is the cause. The king of heart-remedies, Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, is within reach of all. It relieves in 30 minutes, and cures most chronic cases.—91

AMERICANS AND JAPANESE PRAISED

They Maintain Better Government There Than at Home.

THE FRENCH FAIRY TALES

Stories of BigVictory over Chinese are Not Given any Credit.

London, Dec. 26.—In a careful review published to-day in the Morning Post of the conditions existing at Pekin, Mr. H. J. Whigham, a well-known newspaper correspondent and golf player, says there are now a quarter of a million inhabitants pursuing their ordinary vocations in the American quarter. The markets are in full blast. He says that the American and the Japaneese quarters are in all respects the best managed.

Continuing, Mr. Whigham says: "This enormous portion of the city is policed by exactly one company of infantry and a few mounted men under a provost marshal. If only these hard-headed soldiers of the provost marshal type had been given a free hand in the Philippines, the task of subjugating the unfortunate islands would have been much more simple. If the Japanese have come out of the middle with flying colors they at least have the Americans close behind. It was worth sending an expedition to China, if only to get a few hints on transport from the Americans. Their scheme of municipal government could not be bettered by the British, who have learned the business by experience in every quarter of the globe.

"To point a contrast if is only necessary to walk down the avenue of the Chinese city dividing the United States and Germany. The American side of the street is simply Pekin in the ordinary garb of peace, minus its variegated smells. The opposite side is almost deserted. The Germans have to come to the American side for meat and vegetables."

GERMAN MEDDLING.

London, Dec. 26.—A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Pekin dated Monday, December 24, says much irritation has been caused by the activity of the German troops in the districts under British protection. So acute has been the feeling that there has been a question of the British seceding from the allied command.

The Foreign Office informed a representative of the Associated Press today that there was no truth in the Pall Mall Gazette's despatch which said there had been a question of the British seceding from the allied command owing to the activity of the Germans in the districts under British position.

FRENCH FAIRY TALES.

Pekin, Dec. 26.—The French report encountering twenty-five thousand Chinese and capturing five flags and a number of guns and inflicting a great loss, thirty-five miles south of here. The report is generally discredited. According to the rumor the French did not suffer any losses themselves. It is believed, however, that the French probably met a roving band, which was dispersed, a number of the Chinese being butchered. Li-Hung-Chang says that he is satisfied that the story is false.

BRAVERY OF ROYAL CANADIAN DRAGOONS

Lieut. Cockburn and His Men Taken Prisoners but Saved the Guns.

Ottawa, Dec. 26.—The report of Col. Lessard, commanding the Royal Canadian Dragoons, was received at the Department of Militia to-day, for the week ending November 11th. It deals with the fight at Belfast, already reported. Private A. MacDonald was slightly wounded. Private S. Clarkson, and 293, Private Rey, were, discharged, having obtained Government employment.

The following names for gallantry are mentioned: Lieut. R. E. W. Turner, who, although wounded three times, remained in action; Lieut. H. Z. C. Cockburn, in charge of A Troop, who remained too late to escape with his men, and were taken prisoners. Through this act of gallantry the guns were saved. The names of acting Sergeant E. J. Holland, of Ottawa, in charge of the Colt gun, and that of 105, N. J. Builder, are also mentioned. Colonel Lessard also recommends for recognition 185, Private W. A. Kinley, for the gallant rescue of his comrade. Private Kinley is now in the hospital severely wounded. The Canadian guns were saved only in the nick of time. The Boers, Colonel Lessard says, charged with great dash.

Colonel Evans sends his diary, covering the two weeks ending November 15th. Sergeant Tryon, Corporal Eaton, and Privates Hutchison and G. G. Smith were specially mentioned for bravery in going to the relief of Major Sanders and Corporal Schell, at the Middleburgh fight, already reported in the press. Lieut.-Col. Evans quotes Smith Dorrien's order, giving great credit to the regiment for its work, and mentioning the name of Colonel Evans.

Ontario Beats Them All.

Hon. John Dryden has received a letter from J. G. Jardine, Ontario Commissioner to the Paris Exposition, saying that Canadians have been awarded in addition 2 gold, 15 silver and 5 bronze medals for fruit, and with a total of more than 20 awards for agriculture and horticulture, has beaten every country in the world.

Want Licenses.

More than twenty five people have written the Ontario Fishery Department making applications for frog licences, as regulated by the act of the last session. None have been granted, the reason given being that the locations for which the licenses were asked have been owned by private individuals, who have perhaps been making many livings out of the industry. There is no desire on the part of the department to force these small dealers out of business.

A Quiet Wedding

A quiet wedding took place yesterday afternoon, at the residence of Mr. Hugh Waddell Monaghan Road when Mr. John Hall of Lindsay was united in marriage to Miss Mary Hart. The nupital knot was tied by the Rev. J. G. Potter, in the presence of a number of invited guests. Miss Mary Graham assisted the bride, while Mr. Hall, a brother of the groom, acted as best man. A large number of elegant and beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will take up their residence at No. 90 King street, Lindsay.

SECRET OF BOER SUCCESS

U. S. Consul at Kimberley Tells of the Dutch Ponies

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Gardner T. Williams, the United States Consul at Kimberley, in South Africa, and manager of the De Boers diamond mines, has been in Chicago for three or four days.

He ascribes the Boer mobility, to the endurance of their horses and believes Dewet's success in eluding the pursuing columns is due almost entirely to the superior adaptability of the Boer ponies over those used by the British. The Boer pony is trained to stand wherever his rider dismounts and throws the bridle over his head. And at once the pony begins eating the grass of the veldt. Nothing disturbs him; he will graze right on the midst of the bullets, and to stop him he must be keeled over. In fact, upon their horses quite as much as their marksmanship, the Boers went to war. They timed their ultimatum just as the veldt became covered with nutritious grass. Their parties had to carry no fodder for their horses, and very little for the men, since they operate in a country friendly to them. This is the season now for grass on the veldt, and that explains their revived power.

The British, of course, have the American army mule for hauling, and now they are getting the American mustangs for cavalry horses. The mustang soon gets acclimated, and is almost a match for the Boer pony. But it must be borne in mind that every horse imported into South Africa must not only become acclimated, but immune to the animal diseases of the country, before he is of much use. Besides, the imported horse will not feed on the grass of the veldt. He starves instead, unless fodder is carried for him. The British mounted infantry man must picket his horse wherever he dismounts; the Boer turns his horse loose; the former rides a starveling beast; the latter a sleek, well-conditioned animal.

SOME PLAIN TALK FROM A FILIPINO

He Goes to New York and Tells the Americans They will Fail to Subdue the Islands.

New York Dec. 26.—Rafeal Del Pan Fontela, lately from the Philippine Islands, first President of the Madrid Junta, has arrived here from Canada. Senor Fontela was a lawyer and editor in Manila. When the war began he was Aguinaldo's chief adviser.

Senor Fontela said that it was safe for him to return to the Philippines and resume his law practice and the publication of his newspaper were he willing to swear allegiance to the United States.

"I'm no hypocrite," he continued "and cannot take such an oath when my people are in a struggle which must end in death or freedom. I will not return to the Philippines until independence has been gained.

"The impression has got abroad that Aguinaldo is dead. This is nonsense. He has a large following, and every man under him is there to do or die. The war has just begun unless America accedes to the demands of the Filipinos."

Regarding the formation of a new party among the Filipinos, friendly to the United States, Senor Fontela said:

"This scheme is doomed to failure. The leaders, Buencamino and Paterno, are leaders without a party. They are time-services. During the Spanish domination they were more Spanish than the Spaniards. During the effective life of the Filipino Repuplic they were ardent patriots. When the United States troops captured the Filipino capital these men allowed themselves to be taken prisoners, and have since professed ardent enthusiasm for United States supremacy."

REINFORCEMENTS FROM NEW ZEALAND.

Wellington, N.Z., Dec. 25.—The New Eealand Government has asked the Governor, the Earl of Ranfurley, to inform Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, that it does not wish the New Zealand contingent in South Africa to be diminished, that drafts will be forwarded to fill the ranks and that additional mounted men will be sent.

Other capable men such as Dr. Greer, H. Winch, Wm. Langford and J. J. Hartley were requested to accept of nomination, but could not see their way clear to do so opened the proceedings with a brief, but appropriate speech, in which he explained that the meeting had been called by him at the request of a large number of influential ratepayers, with a view to publicly discussing municipal affairs, and to bring out as candidates for next year's Council the best available men. He was pleased to see that Peterborough's ladies were interested in civic affairs as evidenced by their presence to-night. There are, he said, 500 ladies in town entitled to vote at the coming election, and each candidate will have to put his best foot forward to secure their support, otherwise he will be in danger of being snowed under. During the past few years Peterborough has been at a standstill, and the time has now come when it must either go ahead or lose ground.

Mayor Kendry then invited any ratepayers who wished to address the meeting to take the platform, and came forward and explained that he had been associated with the rector of St. John's in having the meeting called, and he wished to move a resolution that the warmest thanks of the ratepayers be offered the Mayor and Council of 1900, that th eratepayers greatly appreciate the time and labor spent by them in conducting the affairs of the town. Mr. Wood stated that the petitioners for the meeting had no reflection whatever to cast upon those prominent in municipal affairs in the past. But it is at present of peculiar importance that special interest be taken in municipal matters. Peterborough must look to its laurels, or the town will go backward instead of forward.

Mr Wood's motion was seconded by Mr Martin, and promptly carried. The Mayor returned thanks in behalf of himself and the Aldermen, and in doing so complimented the other members of the Council.

ALD. DAWSON.

Ald. Dawson was the next speaker. He said he was surprised at a vote of thanks been given the Council. In fourteen years of municipal experience he had never known a Council to be so closely scrutinized and so censured in the press and elsewhere as the present one. At the same time he believed there was never a Council conducted the public affairs more uprightly and justly. He was a candidate for the Mayor's chair and he challenged any man to come forward and say he had ever acted otherwise than uprightly. The Council had been criticised for not bringing manufacturers. They had secured a large addition to the Edison Works. They had passed the by-law for the Cereal Company within 48 hours after the matter was before them. The Clerk is continually writing all over the country to find out about manufacturers seeking a location.

ALD. DENNE.

Ald Denne next took the platform, and that they managed with a rate of only [illegible]. As Chairman of the Finance Committee for the past few years, he proposed to give the meeting an idea of how the town's finances were managed. It was with the utmost difficulty that they managed with a vote of only [illegible]. The total revenue was $86,755—a large amount—but $54,950 of the expenditure was uncontrollable. The Council had virtually but $20,000 for more or less controllable expenditure on fire department, administration of justice, insurance, interest, light, law, market, etc. and the large outlay necessary upon streets and bridges. The taxation per head in Peterborough, $4.87, is the second lowest in towns of similar size in Ontario. Berlin, with $4.04 per head, is the lowest. Windsor's taxation per head, $13.74, is double that of Peterborough. These figures are from the Provincial Bureau of Statistics. The way to keep down taxes is to increase population. It would cost no more for light, for street improvements and other things if the population were 5,000 greater. As a workingman, he was heartily in favor of anything to advance the interests of working people. He was glad that through the influence of a former honored citizen, Senator Cox, the town was to have a branch of the Cereal Company. It would be the largest establishment of its kind in the Dominion. Peterborough had already one establishment the largest of its kind—the Canadian General. The all-important question is that of municipal ownership of the water and light plants. That should be thoroughly discussed through the press and otherwise;—the experience of other towns not only in Canada, but in the United States, should be investigated, and then the question should be submitted to the ratepayers and left entirely to them.

Ald. Denne was proceeding to speak of his candidacy for the Mayor's chair, when Mr. Dumble rose to a point of order and suggested that candidates should reserve declarations for another occasion. Ald. Denne promptly accepted the suggestion and took his seat amid applause.

REV. J. C. DAVIDSON.

The Rector of St. John's was next invited to the platform. Mr. Davidson said that he had a resolution to propose that seemed to him of extreme importance—a resolution which, if carried out, would transform the town. The resolution was to the following effect:

That this meeting recognizes and re-echoes the call of the Town of Peterborough to its ratepayers to regard the franchise as a great public trust, and to exercise the same according to his or her best judgment.

It seems simple, the speaker said, yet just one ratepayer in ten practically assents to the proposition. Everyone knows that some men and women—especially old women of both sexes—cannot be got to vote at all, except by persistent canvassing. He denounced canvassing as a thing essentially humiliating to both candidate and voter. After some expressions of good will, Mr. Davidson, entered upon a criticism of the present Council He did not believe their policy had been progressive. He asked was the Council to be thanked for the coming of the new industry. It was true as had been said that the Council had done its business peaceably and economically. But had it therefore been progressive? Peace and sweetness and economy were not the only qualifications necessary in municipal government. For instance, the most peaceful spot he knew of in town was the Little Lake cemetery, but one could hardly say it was a progressive locality. In conclusion, the rev. gentleman urged all citizens to recognize the sacred demands of their franchise, to regard it as a public trust, and not to be influenced merely by a house to house canvass, for if candidates have to rely upon such measures to secure election, the best men will never come forward for public office. The speaker resumed his seat amid prolonged applause.

The resolution was here put to the audience, and carried by a standing vote.

MR. D. W. DUMBLE

was the next speaker. He thought it a pleasing innovation to have the citizens of Peterborough assembled to discuss their own municipal government. He could not say that the affairs of our town have been managed worse than those of other towns, still he thought the time had arrived when a more progressive policy should be adopted. We have $5,000,000 at stake in this community and it behoves us to select the best possible men to manage this large civic property during the next year. Peterborough has, during the past few years, been simply holdings its own, awaiting for something to turn up, in the way of new industries, etc. The returns for real estate to-day are far from satisfactory, and we have to consider how to remedy this. An effort be made to bring to town such agencies as will increase its population, and create a greater demand for houses, lands, etc. The welfare of Peterborough depends largely on manufacturers, and we have come to a period at which we must either let the moss grow or insure progress. Under such circumstances our citizens cannot be indifferent to the formation of their civic board, but must, as stock holders, in this community, nominate such candidates as will best safeguard their interests in these days of keen competition. Now, a railway is to be constructed from Lindsay to Bobcaygeon, and an agitation is afoot for a railway from Norwood to Apsley. If we rise to the occasion, Peterborough can benefit from the latter scheme; any train to Apsley would have to start from and return to Peterborough, via Norwood. This road simply means connection with North Bay by the C.P.R. from Peterborough, via Norwood, and we should, if sufficienlty enterprising, secure a large proportion of that trade. Continuing, the speaker favored a taking over by the town of the Water Works and the Electric Light systems, by means of which a great saving would be insured to its citizens. He thought any town that could get its money at 3 1-2 or 4 per cent. can afford to have its own water works at least. He felt convinced that the American Cereal Company would prove a great benefit to Peterborough, not only as utilising the Dickson raceway and employing a large number of hands, but also in furnishing a ready market for coarse grains. Continuing, he thought Peterborough behind the age in securing new industries. In this connection we want skilled men to deal with the question. We cannot assess factories at their full value, but must deal literally with them in order to secure their location, and to keep them here; this principle has been successfully adopted in Berlin, Galt and other towns. We shall shortly have the T. V. Canal, Peterborough is the center of a vast railway system, and it is a little better situated than any other town in Ontario for the establishment of manufacturing industries. We must, therefore, seek in our Aldermen men of great ability, integrity of character and continuity of action in order to take advantages of the facilities with which we are already blessed. With such an object in view this meeting has been called. In conclusion, the speaker urged his hearers to select nine capable candidates for the coming election, and submit their names to the electorate for approval.

The following resolution was here carried unanimously:

Moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, seconded by Mr Ayers,—That this meeting hereby recognizes and re-echoes the urgent call of the Town of Peterborough upon her most capable and enterprising citizens of every class to devote a portion of their time and energies to the service of the Town, and to accept nomination to public office when called on by the citizens.

ALD. DAWSON RESIGNS

Ald. Dawson at this juncture again took the platform, and in a few heated remarks said he inferred from the Rev. J.

TWO SIR JOHN STORIES

Godwin Smith in the Sun tells a good story regarding the late Sir John Macdonald and tells it with so much delicacy that it is doubtful if the most sensitive of the old chieftain's admirers will object It runs as follows:

"The misplaced delicacy of Sir John Macdonald's biographer has led him to conceal a failing contracted in the days of Bacchanalian politics, and thus to spoil a good specimen of his ready wit. As a Minister, Sir John had to speak at a banquet. A tyro in the profession was sent to report him. Sir John had been convivial, and his speech showed it so much that the young man shrank from sending his notes to his journal. After waiting for a time he obtained an interview with Sir John, who, by that time, was himself again, read over his notes, and asked Sir John whether they were correct. Sir John utterly repudiated them, and dictated a sober speech, which having done he said: "Now young man, you tell me you are a reporter just getting out in your profession. Let me give you a piece of solemn advice. Never again attempt to report a Minister when you're drunk." It is right to say that Sir John yielded to the temptation only when he was run down. His general habits were temperate, and the disgrace of his occassional lapses rested more on his generation than on himself.'

A friend of Sir John recently told the editor of this paper a somewhat similar anecdote of the great leader. It is well known that little love was wasted between Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir John Macdonald. The two men were totally different in dispositions and methods. On the occasion, so runs the story, during a pretty fierce campaign, Sir John and Sir Richard found themselves billed to address a joint meeting. When the hour arrived Sir Richard was in fine trim, but Sir John was not and could barely hold himself in his chair. Sir Richard and disgusted and a bit vindictive, and for an hour or so stormed up and down the platform, hurling invectives and scathing shafts of sarcasm at the Conservative leader, who sat huddled up in his chair, with his head in his hands. Bye and bye as the efforts of the heated atmosphere got in their work, aided, of course, by his superfluous potations, Sir John's stomach revolted and the platform just in front of his chair received a contribution. Sir Richard stormed on and finally with a peroration in which his scorn and disgust culminated took his seat.

It was Sir John's turn. With some difficulty the old warrior rose to his feet. "Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "You all know the sentiments with which nearly all true Canadians regard Sir Richard Cartwright. I share in those sentiments, only to a deeper and fuller extent, simply because it is my ill fortune to meet him frequently. In fact, ladies and gentlemen, so great is my aversion to that man that whenever I meet him it simply turns my stomach."

This little speech, delivered with an air of profoundest gravity, was greeted with a roar of cheers. Sir Richard Cartwright's eloquence was forgotten on the instant, and Sir John captured the meeting.

He Felt Funny.

One of the men on board the Olympia, at Manila, tells of the preparations to enter the bay and brave the dangers of the mines and shore batteries:

"About 7 o'clock I took a pillow," he writes, "and lay down on the soft side of a plank to take a nap. All the men slept at their guns. At 9:30 we were quietly called. No bugle sounded. Everything was done quietly. I jumped up and went on the bridge. I felt nervous for awhile; I did not know where we were, and it was as dark as hades. All one could hear was the orders given by the officers and the click of the breech blocks as they were closed. We could see the shape of a big island ahead of us, and we were told that it was the fort. It is about 600 feet above the level of the sea. We could not elevate our guns enough to bear on it, so they fired at us without receiving an answer in return. Our nerves were highly strung now from waiting in suspense. About 12 o'clock we were directly under the guns of the first fort, and when they started to signal and fired a rocket every man braced himself. On we went, not knowing what minute a torpedo or submarine mine would send us all to eternity."

"Speaking of the battle He says: "For a while I thought I was a gone goose. The shells were falling around us thick as hail. We could see the big ones pass over our heads, and the smoke and saltpeter were suffocating. One shell passed about two feet over my head, cutting the signal halyard I was holding. 'Jump up there and get that end,' said the officer. While I was up on the back stay I felt funny, I can tell you."

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers, and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures. size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer riflemen. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

HEART'S SUNSHINE.

Oh, if only those who love us
  Would but tell us while we live,
And not wait until life's journey
  Ended is, before they give
The smile we hungered after,
  Tender words we longed to hear,
Which we listened for, but vainly,
  For many a weary year.

There is much of pain and sorrow
  All must bear, and bear alone,
Yet how helpful is the sunshine
  Of a cheery look and tone!
How it brightens up life's pathway,
  And dispels the shadows grim,
And restores our shattered idols,
  Which we built in days now dim.

Then bestow your sunshine freely!
  Let it shine from out your eyes,
Let it breathe in heartfelt pressures,
  Let it breathe in heartfelt sighs,
Let it cheer the fainting spirit
  Of some brother in distress
Let it thrill our jarring voices
  With a note of tenderness.

For in serving fellow mortals
  We best serve the Father, too,
And in lightening their burdens
  Ours grow light and fade from view.
And a sympathetic nature
  That vibrates to others' needs
Is a bit of God's own sunshine
  Quickening to noble deeds.

—Anne B. Wheeler, in Boston Transcript.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

I was, I regret to say, it, the Unknown Quantity, and I was so for, no other reason than that I had got over my earliest youth while she was at the halcyon age pig-tails. Her pigtail was black, frequently tied with a black ribbon, and matched her blue eyes beautifully. People say that such things—blue eyes and dark hair—are to be found in Ireland by hundreds, but they say so many things about Ireland. I have not been to Ireland, but I do not believe it. I do not believe that beauties grow on any particular soil, like prize turnips.

Often I railed at Fate for reducing me to an Unknown Quantity. Why, because I was supposed to have seen the world, having been in India for a few years, because I had brought back a few tigers' claws, purchased, for all she knew, in Regent street; because I was a little older than these boys who hovered round her, and had forgotten how to blush like them—why should I be reduced to this absurd position? After all, five years in India does not make one a grandfather, and a man may even have shot tigers without qualifying for the situation of a sphinx. But Fate, rejoicing in irony, has ordained that to 16 26 shall be a mystery, separated irreconcilably by long years of experience and intolerable wisdom, for 26 has seen life while 16 is learning deportment. The annoying thing about it is that in another year—or two at most—when the pig-tail shall have become a roll on the top of the head—unknown quantities will cease to exist; x, by the universal vanishing of age distinctions, will be resolved into one more man, and—from 20 to 100—no reasonable offer will be refused.

In the meanwhile we were friends—with a difference. She tyrannized over the collegians when they gathered in her train too sheepishly, or deferred to them when they blusteringly laid their reputations as rowers or batsmen at her feet, and she drank in their comfortable egoism. Our relations were not of the same simplicity. We spoke of tigers and other perplexing and Oriental subjects, in which she displayed a constrained intelligence and I a fictitious interest. I am not sure even that I was not compelled to get up the religion of Buddha from dusty works of reference, and I know she scored on the subject of Avatars. It was not so very long since I had stroked my college eight and my average for cricket in India. What does it matter? She could not understand that such subjects were meat for a traveled man, so that I had no opportunity of mentioning laurels won. Seeing on what easy terms they would have placed us, I kept regretting that I was so modest, but the laurels of mere wish or mere regret—I fear I am quoting some philosopher—are withered leaves that never were green. But nearest approach to mutual understanding, was when I ventured to tease her. If she understood my jokes, which happened, I admit, when they were at their poorest, we indulged in common laughter. And laughter is one of the methods of solving x. If, on the other hand, they contained some bewildering subtlety, she was good enough to overlook the point, and we went on to pastures new.

One day—it was at the time when May grows riotous among the bleaching lilacs, when laburnums let fall their yellow rain in the sunlight, and the lapwing—as I am given to understand, although no ornithologist—takes himself another crest—My Lady of the Pig-tail brought out a divine sailor hat. Many were the collegians who saw her home from school and purchased boxes of chocolates to win her grace. I also bought her chocolates, of, I swear, a superior flavor; but whereas she accepted theirs as votive offerings with queenly condescension, mine elicited an impulsive gratitude, as though they had been the tip of some elderly uncle. Since then gratitude—the emotional quid for the material quo—has always, in my opinion, been least among the virtues. If I had been her uncle I might have felt differently. I suppose uncles do. But I was not her uncle, nor do I wish to be. The pseudo avuncular position is worse than that of the brother by compact. As an unknown quantity I writhed. She understood enough of x to read disappointment on my face, for she set about consoling me by stating that she wished for my opinion. To ask an old man for his opinion, as if you really thought it worth listening to (which, of course, you never do) is the surest way to his good graces. I was not an old man, and I wondered if the sirens spoke with so alluring a lisp. We were sitting at the tennis court, where many of her collegians were playing. I gathered from her mysterious preface that several of the collegians had made dark requests for gloves and flowers and such things, indicative of momentous intentions. She desired my opinion upon them.

"I want to know what you think of Mr. Tom Redington," she said. "Do you conthider him nice?"

"Mr. Tom Redington," I replied, "is a man of exquisite taste and unimpeachable good fortune."

"Why?" she asked.

"Because he has the felicity to attract your attention."

"No; but seriously," she lisped. It was somehow up [illegible] stood between us that polysyllables denoted an absence of seriousness.

"Well, then," I said, "he bats, doesn't he? or row?"

"Are you sure you're serious?" she said. "Honor bright?"

"And shining," I said solemnly.

"He'th got a very good average so far this season," she reflected, not taking me into this athletic monologue.

"The season is young yet," I said, hopefully. "You should never count your chickens until you're sure they are not ducks."

"But Mr. Dick Walker is higher," she went on, balancing merits, "only he'th so conceited about it."

"Pride comes before a fall," I said, "though a good deal depends on the bowlers."

"Then there's Mr. Dean," she said thoughtfully; "he brought me some chocolates to-day."

"What does Mr. Dean do?" I asked, "Bird's-nest?"

"Of course not," she said, laughing. "He rows, and he won a thculling match the other day."

"Dean's a hot man," I said.

"There are such a lot of young men," she said, furrowing her brows, as Penelope did in all probability when she considered the vast number of her suitors.

"Wait a few years," I suggested. "There won't be so many then."

"Why not?" she asked.

"It's a kind of political economy," I said vakuely. "There'll want to be quite as many. Very likely more. But you will only see one. He will have an exceedingly high average, and you will probably think he ought to represent England against the Australians. Whether he sculls or not you will be convinced that he is the best potential sculler that was ever born. Other girls will not agree with you, and the Committee of Selection will declare that they cannot put even one into the English eleven. You will abuse the Committee of Selection. The only-existing-young-man will wave his hand negligently, and say that, after all' there are better things than cricket. He will bring you as many boxes of chocolate as you please."

"That will be nice," she said; "only I may be tired of chocolates by then."

"Chocolates," I declared, "are frequently rejected in favor of other sweets."

"What sort?" she asked, looking at me and wondering at my great experience.

"A sort that doesn't make you sticky," I said, diplomatically.

"And will it be many years," she said, "that I shall have to wait?" She looked at me curiously from under the sailor hat. A little wind blew through the lilacs and carried the scent toward us. Many years? I looked at her. I thought of the lapwings rejoicing in their new crests and of the spring that brings love to the heart of a young man. But then, I was an Unknown Quantity. I remembered how puzzling is the task of solving x. What right had it to puzzle My Lady of the Pig-tail—or to consider the matter on the lower levels of possibility—what chance of winning her so young?"

"And will it be many years?" she repeated.

"Not more than two or three," I said as cheerfully as possible.—From Black and White.

Race of Dwarfs Once Lived in Missouri

Workmen terracing King Hill, an old landmark of northwestern Missouri, which is to be converted into a residence suburb of St. Joseph, have unearthed a prehistoric cemetery.

The remains of a race of dwarfs whose skeletons are only four to five feet long, have been found. They were not allied with any tribe known to have inhabited this territory and are unaccounted for by Indian legendary. Their graves are on the summit of a hill which rises abruptly from the Missouri River bottom to a height of 600 feet.

Low, flat heads, with small intelligence and marked animal propensities characterize this people. Heavy jaws and strong, well-preserved teeth carry the records of their lives forward. Brutes, human but inhumane, self-reliant, they were savages of a lower order than any we know to-day.

Yet they honored their dead. Shells such as are found on the banks of many inland streams, plentiful on the sandbars of the Missouri, overlooked by King Hill, and stones of unusual hues, worthless in the commercial marts of to-day, the playthings of children, were deposited in the graves, collections gathered in loving tribute to the memory of those unknown, even in race, to the historians of to-day.

The ravages which time has wrought has left but fragmentary parts of the skeletons, which crumble into ashes upon exposure. The big plough and the scrapers, with the trampling of the horses, usually crush the brittle forms until it is difficult to restore them to human semblance.

One of the ploughs last week overturned a bunch of human hair, which, however, fell to pieces upon being handled. As preserved it presents the unmistakable evidences of hair from the head of a human being, although much of it has fallen into fine powder.

She Forgot the Flour.

She measured out the butter with a very solemn air,
The milk and sugar also, and she took the greatest care
To count the eggs correctly, and to add a little bit
Of baking powder, which, you know,
  beginners oft omit;
Then she stirred it all together,
  And she baked it for an hour;
But she never quite forgave herself
  For leaving out the flour!

A WONDERFUL

KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,

And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours,
I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

The young couple had only been married in Montreal about three months ago. Mrs. Burnette accompanied her husband westward on his last business trip and remained here with friends for a short visit. Mr. Burnette continued his trip, but was suddenly called back on account of his wife's illness. The remains were removed to J. Kerr & Co.'s undertaking rooms and will be sent east on the Northern Pacific express at 4.15 to-day. Mr. Burnette will accompany the remains to Trenton Ont., the deceased's former home. The express company is busy delivering Christmas purchases from the city. It is noticed that many of the merchants have fallen into the habit of going to the city to supply their wants.

We call your attention to the advertisement of the Macfarlane Wilson Co. Limited wherein they offer the balance of the stock contained in their temporary store 388 George Street at cost price and under for the remainder of this week, when they vacate the little store for good.

Speaking of Winston Churchill at his first lecture in London when Viscount Wolseley, the Commander-in-Chief, introduced him, The London Daily Mail says: "In ringing tones he maintained the military correctitude of Sir Redvers Buller's decision. Quietly but with dramatic description, he sketched his capture and incarceration in Pretoria. In telling of the incidents depicted Mr. Churchill gave rein to his humor much to the delight of his hearers. A glowing peroration, predicting that out of the clash of arms in South Africa would come the harmony of commerce closed his lecture.

"I'd rather be dead than suffer again the tortures of insomnia, palpitation and nervous twitching of my muscles induced by simple neglect of a little indigestion." These are the forceful and warning words of a lady who proclaims that her cure by South American Nervine when everything else had failed was a modern miracle. A few doses gives relief —92

HOCKEY.

Toronto Telegram:—"Hail to the King" is what the good people of Pittsburg shout as Walter Phelan comes down the street. And small wonder, for has he not put up an article of hockey that has electrified the Smoky City folks. In last night's match, between the D. C. and A. C. and Columbia College, Phelan scored five out of the six goals, his team winning by a score of 6—1. Lionel King put up a beautiful game, and Phelan's scoring was mostly due to King's clever passing.

ALD. DAWSON WITHDRAWS FROM CONTEST

C. Davidson's speech that no member of the present Council was capable of representing the town in that responsible position. He, (Ald. Dawson) however, thought the Council of 1900 had made more progress in one year than St. John's Church had under its present rectorship. In conclusion, he announced that he was not now in the Mayoralty field, and would never again darken the doors of the Council chamber.

Rev. J. C. Davidson here explained that Ald. Dawson had misunderstood his words. He had not attacked any particular citizen in his address, but had merely expressed his opinion to a certain policy, which is the prerogative of every British subject.

Mayor Kendry said he was sure the rev. gentleman's remarks had no more reference to Ald. Dawson than to himself. For his part, if it were possible to get better representatives he would be only too happy to retire.

MR. W. H. MOORE

was sorry that Ald. Dawson had taken umbrage at Rev. J. C. Davidson's remarks, for which he thought there had been no occasion. Of Mr. Dawson he would say that he is a thoroughly conscientious man, an Alderman who has done a great deal for the town, and in whom the greatest possible trust can safely be placed. He, (Mr. Moore), favored the town taking over the Water Works and Electric Light systems as soon as practicable.

After adopting the resolution nominating candidates for Council, the audience sang "God Save the Queen," and then dispersed.

BRITISH TROOPS TO ATTACK THE BOXERS

A Force of 1,100 With Two Guns and a Maxim Have Gone to Yang Tsun.

Tien Tsin, Dec. 27.

A force of 1,100 British troops, with two guns and a maxim gun has gone to Yang Tsun to attack the Boxers in that vicinity and protect the railroad. The Germans and Japanese are clearing the river of pirates from Taku to Tien Tsin.

BOXER HEADQUARTERS DESTROYED

Pekin, Dec. 27.

The British have increased their garrison at Yung Tsun by a hundred men with horses and three guns. A flying column of 1,600 cavalry will scour the country between Tien Tsin and Yang Tsun in obedience to Field Marshal Von Waldersee's orders to be on the alert.

In view of the French report of an engagement with 2,500 Chinese troops, Col. Tullock's regiment will return to destroy the towns he recently held. This action is owing to the fact that it has been discovered that a number of Boxers unquestionably made them their headquarters.

The British authorities say they do not expect serious trouble from the Boxers, mainly because they lack arms. Fortunately the Chinese Government is afraid to trust them with arms, as it fears a rebellion against the dynasty.

BULLETS IN THEIR HEADS.

British soldiers have been found dead outside the Temple of Heaven with bullets in their heads. The murders are believed to have been committed by Chinese. A detachment of the 60th United States cavalry, the 90th infantry and the 50th artillery, will leave to-morrow to investigate the reported burning of native Christians by Boxers as reported by the Rev. Mr. Kelly, the Presbyterian missionary.

The expedition will be commanded by Lieut.-Col. Theodore Wint, of 60th cavalry, Newcastle.

RECOVERED DAMAGES FOR LYNCHED HUSBAND

Brave Mrs. Jenkins Obtains $4,000 as Recompense for a Murder Three Years Ago.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—Mrs. Lulu C. Jenkins, now of Chicago, has just been awarded $4,000 for the lynching of her husband in Ripley County, Ind., three years ago. The money will be paid over by the eight bondsmen of former Sheriff Henry Bushing, and is the result of a private settlement of the indemnity suit instituted by the widow three months after the murder.

William Jenkins was one of five men lynched in September 1897, for alleged complicity in the stealing of a horse from Lisle Levi, of Osgood, Ind. Levi also was a victim of the mob. The men killed were Robert Andrews, Heine Schutet, William Jenkins, Clifford Gordon, a 17-year-old boy, and Leslie Levi, an aged soldier.

There was a fight in which shots were fired at a deputy sheriff. Jenkins, with the others, was arrested and taken to jail at Versailles, Ind. Mrs. Jenkins, suspecting that mob violence was brewing, walked from Osgood to Versailles that night and paced the streets till dawn armed with a revolver. For several hours she waited under the window of her husband's cell, ready to challenge any one who came to do him harm.

Her fears being finally allayed, Mrs. Jenkins started for home. No sooner was she out of sight than a mob gathered and dragged out the five men. The members of the mob then killed them in succession by beating them over the head with a musket stock.

Mrs. Jenkins was compelled to flee to save her own life, and came to Chicago. Here she brought suit for $5,000 damages against Sheriff's Bushings' bondsmen. The suit dragged along for three years, and finally the bondsmen decided to settle outside of court.

Mrs. Jenkins, when compelled several months ago to go to Ripley county to attend the trial of the case, was protected by a body guard of Government detectives. She will go to Versailles next week to get the $4,000.

BRITISH JUSTICE IN B. C.

Engineer Who Declared the S. S. Alpha Unseaworthy, had to go to Jail

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 26.—Before the steamer Alpha, which went to the bottom in Union Bay, off Vancouver Island, over a week ago, left Victoria on the trip ending in its wreck, it was pronounced unseaworthy, on oath, in a court in this city. No heed was paid to this evidence and many lives were lost as a result.

The circumstances are these: While the Alpha was on its way from Vancouver to Victoria, Gordon one of the engineers, found that the steamer was unseaworthy and might be wrecked at any moment and he deserted when the Alpha arrived here. He was arrested immediately, charged with deserting and when he was on trial told the court that he had left the vessel because he felt he was risking his life. The representatives of the owners of the vessel ridiculed the statements of Gordon and told the court that he had endeavored to injure the Alpha's reputation and alleged that he had opened the sea cocks on one occasion to create a scare. The court accepted the company's refutation of Gordon's charges and the engineer was sent to goal for ten weeks. The Alpha sailed, proved itself unseaworthy as the engineer had claimed and was wrecked, nine lives being lost. Gordon is now serving a sentence for telling facts which, had they been credited, would have saved every one of those lives.

PLAN TO ISOLATE LEPERS.

Government Will Try to Check Spread of Disease in Philippines.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—There are 30,000 lepers in the Philippines, and the government is trying to find a way of isolating them to check the spread of the disease. A board of health has been organized with Surgeon Gay L. Edie as president, and Surgeon Edie reports to the War Department that a commission has been appointed to select a suitable island or islands for the purpose of segregating or isolating these people.

In his report Surgeon Edie says that leprosy was introduced into the Philippines in 1633, the Emperor of Japan sending a ship with 150 lepers as a present to be cared for by the Catholic priests. They were allowed to land, and as no practical methods were ever adopted to eradicate the disease or prevent its spread, there now not less than 30,000 lepers in the islands, as estimated by the Franciscan fathers. The larger number of them are in the Visayas group.

MURDERED BY HER HUSBAND.

Mystery Surrounding Killing of Mrs. Wurl in Wyoming Solved.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 27.—Four years ago Mrs. Ludwig Wurl, wife of a German cattleman living near Tie Siding, was killed while in a barn near the house. The coroner's inquest showed that Wurl and his hired man, Hans Delfs, were en route from Laramie to the ranch at the time the murder was committed. As the house had been ransacked from top to bottom, the natural supposition was that robbery was the motive for the crime. A year later Delfs committed suicide, and on his death bed he said he had killed a defenseless woman. He died before he disclosed her name, however.

Shortly after the commission fo the crime Wurl left for South Africa, in company with a German woman named Mrs. Kruger, supposed to be a relative of Oom Paul. Shortly after their arrival in South Africa Wurl and Mrs. Kruger were married.

About a year ago word was received that Wurl had commited suicide, but no cause for the act was assigned. A few days ago a German citizen of Laramie is said to have received a letter from Mrs. Wurl in which she stated Wurl confessed on his death bed that he had murdered his wife, and was assisted by Delfs. Wurl told his second wife that his reason for wanting his first wife out of the way was that he loved her, Mrs. Kruger.

PRAISE FOR DICK SIMONS

A Shenandoah paper contains the following reference to the company with which Mr. Dick Simons is now engaged,—"The Bennet and Moulton Company emphasized its success last night at Ferguson's theatre by the production of "The Captain's Mate." Every member of the Company showed adaptability to the character assigned and this was especially noticeable regarding Miss Carrie Turner, who played four different parts, and confirmed the impression that she is a soubrette of exceptional ability. The leading role of the captain was essayed by Mr. Henry E. Allen and his portrayaal of the part was artistic and well finished. It is not too much to say that the company has an excellent leading man in Mr. Allen. The "Joe Hayward" of Mr. William Lee was also a conscientious piece of work, and the comedy part of "Steve Morney" by Dick Simons, was most amusing in its presentation and proved that gentleman a comedian of no mean ability. The company as a whole is an exceptional one and the management is cetrainly deserivng of commendation for the painstaking care with which it looks after the stage effects and other details of its productions."

CALLED THE STAR OF HOPE

A Convict Newspaper, Remarkable Journal Published at Sing Sing Prison.

The Star of Hope, the convict newspaper at Sing Sing, may do more to make known to the whole world the character and needs of the men of the smaller and more unfortunate world than any number of visits to the prison. Remarkable articles have been written in this paper, written by remarkable men, after the day's work is over, in their damp and unhealthy cells, cells as bad as any, and strongly condemned by the present superintendent. Their ideas about society, about the courts, the causes and character of crime, ideas on prison reform, the local color of the prison, the characteristic language of crooks; more universally, their sentimentalities, their humorous attitudes; their humanity in general; the strange fact that they are like anybody else, with a difference due to their environment in and out of prison, are made manifest in these articles. The result is indeed a human document, and it would be hard to say too much in praise of the liberal policy which allows such a free paper to be published. The convicts are thereby immensely benefited, and society may be helped to understand those who have sinned against it and to progress in its method of treating them.

The editor, the contributors, the typesetters, the copy readers, all concerned with the editorial or mechanical aspect of the Star of Hope, wear the prison stripes, and the paper is circulated only within the walls of the state prisons of New York at Sing Sing, Clinton and Auburn, although it occasionally finds its way outside.

HOW IT ORIGINATED.

The original idea was conceived by Sing Sing No. 1,500 (the Editor-in-Chief) and heartily endorsed by the superintendent of state prisons, the Hon. Cornelius V. Collins. No. 1,500 and the superintendent were alike filled with the conviction that a paper published by the convicts would have great educational value within the prison, and would exercise the minds of the inmates, and thus fill a portion of the lonely hours which every convict must pass in his narrow cell. The sympathy between these two men, one an inmate of the prison serving a seven years' sentence, and the other a prominent official has given the Star of Hope a breadth and representative value which it otherwise could not have attained. Both men are very intelligently interested not only in the point of view of society, but also in the welfare and ways of thought and feeling of the inmates. That accounts for the fact that many of the articles in the paper express quite fearlessly the criminal's point of view. Never, or at least, very seldom, does anything appear which allies itself with essential wrong against essential right; the editor is very careful to suppress merely wild, general onslaughts on the existing order of things, on particular judges, officials, etc. But there are very frank and often very intelligent criticisms of the machinery of the law and of society's methods in restraining crime and treating criminals. The editor and the superintendent are reformers; consequently the superintendent seems to allow the editor practically his own way. He desires a free outlet for the activity which has been curtailed by the law made in the interest of free labor, preventing goods made in prison from being sold outside state institutions. As a matter of form, the chaplain of the prison is constituted censor. He looks over the proofs, but very seldom, indeed, uses the blue pencil. Lately, however, there has been a change of chaplains, and it may be that the new man may act so that the paper will become somewhat less sincerely the inmate's organ than it has been; that it may tend to be limited more and more by narrow and conventional censorship. This fear is given point by an editorial in the anniversary number, which contains the warning: "Articles criticising or indirectly reflecting upon society, the courts, or any public official cannot be published in our paper." But as this warning has already appeared in earlier numbers, and as articles had continued to appear which while essentially always on the side of society, yet found things to criticize in some of the practical workings of its machinery, it is probable that it was only intended to explain to the more violent and unreasonable contributors that mere abuse of existing conditions was not acceptable.—Ainslee's Magazine.

WAR AND OTHER BULLETINS

How this Great Family Journal Supplies the Latest News

When this great family journal undertakes anything it does it perfectly. In making this statement we do not mean to cast any reflection on our little local contemporaries. They do not profess to supply their readers with anything but boilerplate news, shipped daily by Canadian Express from Toronto. In the early stages of the South African dispute, and at the present time, in connection with the outbreak between Ald. Dawson and the general public, the despatches bear evidence of having been censored. This g. f. j. has been at some pains and expense however, to obtain straight, unbrased and uncenosred news from the political seat of war, and it is presented hereiwth, minus scareheads and other subtle influences:

It is said that Ha Rig De Ne is fomenting a Boxer outbreak against the Daw Son Modus Vivendi.

Missionary Divid Son, while addressing a crowd of semi-savages recently at Peter Borough, was viciously attacked by a Boxer, and nearly annihilated. It is said that nobody cared A Dam whether the school kept or not. It is also said that a serious riot was imminent. The police did not happen to have on their new uniforms, so did not appear.

There is said to be a coolness between the Provincial Secretary and the Crown Timber Agent.

Ah Sin De Ne is still claiming everything in sight.

Wun Lung Sa Wera is said to be working up a rebellion. He will probably lose his queue.

Li Hung Chang Kox, of Toronto, is said to be willing to forgive Li Peter Borough and take the lad back to his heart and home once more.

It is said that Li Daw Son is now in favor of a quid pro quo.

A PLEASANT EVENT

Mr A McDonald and His Employees Have a Social Time

It is always an agreeable duty to chronicle anything that shows good fellowship and mutual sympathy between employer and employed. One of these pleasant little events took place on Wednesday night, in McCallum's restaurant, when Mr. Alfred McDonald, the well known lumberman, was entertained by his employees to an oyster supper. Mr. McDonald has always been held in high regard by his employees, by whom he is deservedly popular. The chair was occupied by Mr. Wm. Watt, whilst seated around the tables were Messrs. A McDonald, J. LePlante, Henry Carveth, W. Kenneally, —Stinson, Ernest LePlante, Patrick O'Donnell, John Stinson, Thomas Fitzgibbons, Charles Griffith, John Johnston, E. Butler, W. H. McDonald, George Prentice, S. Cortman and others.

After partaking of an excellent spread, the chairman, Mr. Wm. Watt, read the following address to Mr. McDonald:

To Alfred McDonald, Esq., Peterborough.

Dear Sir,—This is the season of the year for greetings, joy and happiness, sharing our good wishes to our fellow men. In looking about, our joy has been largely increased by seeing the marks of prosperity about your mills and factory, the latest being the removal of your capital from the background to a more convenient place on the main street of our town.

We, your employees, have chosen this season for extending to you our many thanks for the many kind acts you have shown to us, especially for your most generous act in shortening our daily labor by one and a quarter hours per day, you being the first saw mill employer in this district that has taken the matter into consideration and acted for your employees.

We still trust to the giver of all goodness that you may have a long and happy life and that you may continue in this prosperity is the hearty wish of your employees.

Signed on behalf of your employees, Wm. H. McDonald, Geo. Prentice.

Mr. McDonald replied in suitable words, in which he thanked them for their kind expressions of regard. He had shortened the hours because he thought it was right to do so, having labored himself in almost every department of sawmill life. After referring to the prosperity of the establishment, and again thanking them, Mr. McDonald took his seat.

After an hour or two in which songs and happy speeches formed the important part, the party dissolved.

Turkey Orders the Cruiser

Constantinople, Dec. 27 — The contract for the purchase of a cruiser for Turkey was signed to-day by the Minister of Marine, Hassan Pasha, and Gen. Williams, representing the Cramps of Philadelphia.

Growth of the Church.

New York, Dec. 28.—The Rev. Father Walter Elliot of the Paulist Fathers concluded to-day at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle his series of four Advent sermons upon the missionary outlook at the close of the nineteenth century. Today's address was upon "The Conversion of America." After speaking of the recent influx into the Catholic Church of those who before their conversion had no church home, Father Elliot said:

"Cardinal Gibbons is authority for the statement that 30,000 converts are received into the Catholic Church in this land every year. This estimate of the Cardinal was made before the initiation of the new non-Catholic missionary movement, for, since that statement was made, the number of converts has increased 25 per cent."

Shot His Wifes Callers

Crawfordsville, Ind., Dec. 27 — Frank Parrish and Charles Doyel were shot this afternoon by Joe Douglas while they were afternoon by Joe Douglas while they were attempting to enter Douglas' house. Doyel is dead and Parrish dying. Doyel and Parrish went to Douglas' house and attempted to gain an entrance, believing that Mrs. Douglas was inside. The woman was not at home, but her husband was lying on a couch and heard the two men. He got up and took down a double-barreled shotgun and shot through the window, hitting Parrish in the face, putting out both of his eyes and fatally wounding him. Doyel started to run, and was shot in the back. He died a few hours later. Both men had been warned to stay away from the house, which they frequently visited, and Parrish had been badly injured in a fight there about a month ago. Doyel was a member of the Eighteenth infantry in the last war, and was in the charge up San Juan Hill. Douglas has been arrested and is in jail.

WILL NOT RETURN.

Numbers of New Englanders Intend Re turning Not Believed.

Augusta, Me., Dec. 28.—The story to the effect that large numbers of French Canadians will leave New England for Quebec in the spring obtains not the slightest credence here. Rene Dupont, colonization agent for the Quebec and Lake St. John region, is alleged to have said that "of the 200,000 French Canadians in the State of Maine, I believe 150,000 of them will come back in the spring." The ecclesiastical records show there are but 65,000 French Canadians in the State.

CAVALRY HORSES IN GREAT DEMAND

Purchasing 50,000 Animals for British Army in South Africa.

London, Dec. 28.—The war department has decided to purchase 50,000 American horses.

The average death rate on shipboard is 32 to the 1,000. Forty days after a horse is purchased in Kansas City it is landed in South Africa. So great is the demand for horses at the front that it is impossible to give them the needed rest after landing before putting them into service. Consequently they go to the front in a weakened condition and not getting a sufficient amount of food they soon die.

"Since the beginning of the Boer war England has purchased over 100,000 head of horses and mules in the United States. It required sixty-five ships to carry them from New Orleans to South Africa. Government transports will be kept very busy from now on carrying the horses which England will need in South Africa and which have been ordered purchased in the United States.

"Baden Powell now has 25,000 mounted police and it is proposed to mount 50,0000 of the Imperial Infantry. England has discovered that her soldiers must be mounted to be able to cope with the Boers, who get over the country with alarming rapidity."

DE WET AND STEYN OFFER TO SURRENDER

Will Give up to the British Provided Colonial Rebels are not Punished.

Natal, December 27.

The Boers celebrated Christmas in the district between Standerton and Ingogo by more or less determined attacks upon every British garrison along the lines of communication. These, however, were in all cases successfully repulsed. At Utrecht the Boer Commandant sent in a demand for whiskey, cigars, and Christmas luxuries, failing which he threatened to attack the town. His demand was ignored and the Boers attacked Utrecht in strong force Christmas morning. They were repulsed with loss, the British casualties being but slight.

Bloemfontein, Orange River Colony, Dec. 26.—There are renewed but unconfirmed rumours here that General DeWet, President Steyn, and General Haasbroeck have had a conference and decided to offer to surrender provided the colonial rebels shall not be punished, and the leaders, including themselves, are not deported.

London, Dec. 27.—The following despatch has been received from Lord Kitchener:

"Pretoria, Dec. 26.—Knox, with Barker, Pilcher and White, is engaged with De Wet's force, holding a position in the neighborhood of Louwzop.

"De Wet hopes to break through and go south again.

"The Boers' eastern column in Cape Colony, apparently headed by our troops about Helpoort Spruit. The Boers' western column is reported to have gone north in two portions, one towards Prieska and the other through Strydenburg. They are being followed up."

London, Dec. 27.—The following despatch from Gen. Kitchener was received to-day from Pretoria under to-day's date:

"Yesterday two hundred Boers attacked a small police force near Boksburg. The police gallantly drove them off before reinforcements from Johannesburg arrived. The Boers damaged the mining machinery in the neighborhood.

"The Boers attacked Utrecht at 2 o'clock this morning and were driven off.

"The eastern force of Boers in Cape Colony was headed yesterday and driven in the direction of Venterstad.

"The western force is still being driven north through Strydenburg."

BOERS ATTACK BURGHERSDORP.

Cape Town, Dec. 27.—A small party of Boers attack Burghersdorp on December 24. They were repulsed after heavy fighting. The Boers are active and skirmishes in several places have been reported.

BOERS ABANDON GUNS.

Burghersdorp, Cape Colony, Wednesday, Dec. 26.—Col. Grenfell continues in touch with Kruitzinger's commando of 700 men who are carrying off the British prisoners. Kruitzinger has abandoned his maxims and carts. An attempt of the 9th Lancers to turn Kruitzinger's flank at Flaisterhuvel December 24 resulted in eight casualties among the Lancers including Lord Frederick Blackwood, who was wounded.

SANTA CLAUS CAPTURED.

Zeerust, Transvaal, Dec. 27.—The Boers captured two wagons containing Christmas luxuries, destined for the camp of Lord Methuen.

London, Dec. 27.—Lord Kitchener's latest despatch shows that the Boers are now making attempts upon the Johannesburg mines and their costly machinery. But for the gallant stand made by the handful of police at Boksburg, a few miles due east of Johannesburg, and on the branch line leading to Springs, it is likely that much greater damage than was actually done would have been perpetrated. The fact that the enemy can approach within so short a distance of the golden city of the Rand proves the wisdom of the Imperial authorities in preventing the return of refugees and the resumption of mining operations. It is to be hoped, however, that the sternest measures of repression will be adopted against attempts at spoliation of the mines, which have so far been [illegible] upon the result of the war. The attack upon Utrecht, on the Natal border of the Transvaal, is the most daring which has been made, and it is gratifying to [illegible] that it has been repulsed, as the district is now the [illegible] of a chain of outposts protecting northern Natal from a second Boer invasion.

TWO BOER ATTACKS REPULSED.

London, Dec. 27.—The following despatch from Gen. Kitchener was received to-day from Pretoria under to-day's date,

"Yesterday two hundred Boers attacked a small police post near Boksburg. The police gallantly drove them off before reinforcements from Johannesburg arrived. The Boers damaged the mining machinery in the neighborhood.

"The Boers attacked Utrecht at two o'clock this morning and were driven off."

HONORS FOR GENERALS.

London, Dec. 27—Public interest here is centered upon the final stages of Lord Roberts' journey from Madeira and Gibraltar and upon the honors which will await him when he arrives in England. Rumors are revived that a peerage will be among the New Year's list of honors, but a dukedom seems out of the question, and an earldom more probable, with possibly the blue ribbon of the Order of the Garter. The Queen has a ribbon to spare, since no successor has been appointed to the late Duke of Argyle. Gen. Buller's friends will be sorely disappointed if his name does not appear in the New Year's list, while Generals Hunter, French, Ian Hamilton and Pole Carew are regarded as probable winners of decorations.

MASONIC HONORS FOR ROBERTS

Edinburgh, Dec. 27—Lord Wolseley, lately Commander-in-Chief of the British army, and his successor in office, Lord Roberts, are both expected to visit Edinburgh shortly. These distinguished soldiers are free burgesses of the city, and have had honor conferred upon them in different ways by local bodies in the city. The oldest Scotch Freemason lodge, known as Mary's Chapel, No. 1, has just admitted Lord Roberts as honorary member, and the Field Marshal intimates that he will visit Edinburgh at an early date and be duly initiated among the Scottish Masonic brethren. Lord Wolseley's honor is academic. He has been selected by the students of the university to be honorary president of the associated societies, and has promised to be in Edinburgh soon to deliver the inaugural address which is usually expected from gentlemen who accept such a position.

BOERS MAY RETAIN HOMES.

London, Thursday, Dec. 27 — Lord Kitchener, according to a despatch from Johannesburg, has issued a proclamation, dated Pretoria, Dec. 20, announcing that all burghers who voluntarily surrender will be allowed to live with their families in the Government laagers until such time as guerilla warfare has sufficiently abated to admit of their returning in safety to their homes. The proclamation also promises that all property and stock brought in at the time of surrender will be inspected and paid for if requisitioned by the military authorities.

HOCKEY.

—Toronto Telegram: "A team that is going to be strong this winter will be the Ontario Bank team, at Peterborough, and they will have a cracking seven. They are out with a challenge to play any old bank in Toronto, and any old bank that tackles the Peterborough Junior Colts will in all probability remain as they were last year. They fully expect to land the championship, but, however, Upper Canada College will no doubt have something to say about this.

THE PUBLIC MEETING

Rev. J. C. Davidson Writes a Letter Regarding His Utterances.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I take advantage of your columns to correct certain misconceptions which seem to have arisen regarding points which I endeavored to bring forward at last night's meeting. In the first place as to the women voters: My point is that by allowing themselves to be guided rather by their sympathies and their kind pity for those who take the trouble to ask for their votes rather than by the exercise of their judgment, women unwittingly become obstacles to the proper selection of the best candidates for office. It is generally admitted women as a rule vote on these principles. We, however, [illegible] woman's pre-eminent qualities of heart as infinitely higher and more admirable than qualities of head, but in the particular case the town asks that the head, rather than the heart, guide the voter to a decision. If our women voters would only recognize this they would indeed be of most valuable assistance at elections, and no doubt we shall soon see the day, but that it has not yet [illegible] I am regretfully bound still to affirm.

Secondly, as to criticism upon the policy of our Council of 1900. Its representatives last night urged (and rightfully urged), that it had been peaceful and economical. This no one and all are only too glad to acknowledge. They have saved our money, and most sincerely and heartily do we say, "Thank you, gentlemen." But when they go on to suggest that in addition to other services they have been enterprising and progressive, [illegible] it would seem as if our acknowledgements were construed to imply this, then some of us feel bound to demur. If our leaders, not only during 1900, but also during certain preceding years too, have been fully progressive, what is the meaning of the patent fact that we see no improvements in our streets? No doubt we have all much to learn concerning this matter, but we can hardly be expected so long as we maintain that we have no need of it, and surely, on second thoughts, the gentlemen in question will not resent our objection on this score? No great call perhaps has been made upon them for progressive measures during the closing years of this century [illegible] intended to arouse [illegible] the opening years of a new era.

Thirdly, as to any feeling aroused by my remarks on the matter on canvassing. I can but reiterate that in this particular instance [illegible] it was simply impossible to get men to see the mischief occasioned by this system. "It was a truism, but too true to be readily or generally grasped." Under these circumstances the most efficient course seemed to me to "show up" the ludicrous and unfair aspect of the system. This unfortunately, but of necessity, involved the canvasser, but as I distinctly stated, it was not with the personal reference whatever. The canvasser is not the man to be held responsible. I tried to point out, [illegible] the apathy and thoughtlessness of electors which have made this system a necessity in the past, and it was the electorate which is the particular object of my criticism last night, myself among the rest.

And yet, sir, on thinking the matter over, I can understand that the particular language used to express my views might be taken in a sense [illegible] the spirit beneath it may have [illegible] intended to convey, and if I have wounded the feelings of any I publicly express my deep regret [illegible] unpleasant memory of last night the audience will not hesitate to show that they have given long and good service to our town. But as we feel we can afford to forget past [illegible] workmanship, and [illegible] this fine public meeting, [illegible] we may hope, to similar and better organized meetings in the years to come.

Yours, etc.,

J. C. DAVIDSON.

FURTHER BOER FOLLY

The Boer raids into Cape Colony and their uprisings against the British further north have so far proved annoying rather than serious. They have been able to interrupt communications. They have captured prisoners whom they were not able to hold, but were obliged to release after breaking up rifles, and they have enabled Boer sympathizers to hurra over the "heroism" of the raiders. Beyond this they have not yet gone and for the sake of the Boers themselves it is earnestly to be hoped that they will not go. The larger the Boer uprising, the more serious the losses they are able to inflict, the more firmly do they fasten British military rule upon the two colonies which last year were independent states. The Boers ought to remember, surely all the rest of the world does so, the effect of their initial victories at Ladysmith and on the modder River. The result of those British defeats was to unite England as one man behind the policy of wiping out the Boers. No Englishman would listen to any proposition which was not based upon a complete subjugation of the enemy and the establishment of English supremacy in South Africa. After a time the Boers were whipped. Bloemfontein, Pretoria and Johannesburg became English towns and Kruger fled the country. Then the British sense of honor, or the British thirst for vengeance, if you please, was satisfied. The Boers had been whipped and the victor was content to let his enemy up to go about his business during good behavior. A sentiment was growing in England in favor of as liberal a government for the conquered colonies as conditions would justify. What was even more important, with the end of the fighting in South Africa the attention of the English people was diverted elsewhere and that portion of them who are always calling for an aggressive foreign policy could base their demands upon Russian aggressions in the East.

With the renewal of war in South Africa all that will stop. Just in proportion as the Boer uprisings become dangerous will be renewed at home the demand that they be thrashed and this time so that they stay thrashed. In other words, the English people will support the very strictest military rule int he two conquered colonies. Long continued military rule is apt to degenerate into tyranny. There comes to be a fascination about exercising the mailed hand. The officers in occupation will naturally strive to retain their power and to maintain troops enough to put it beyond question. The only hope of the Boers to escape such a system is to bring about such a state of peace and order that there such a state of peace and order that there will be no excuse for a large army or for the strictest military rigor. The English are ready to fight till doomsday where their supremacy is questioned, but they are no fonder than other people of paying taxes to keep a needless army in the field. The uprisings merely play into the hands of the war party and of British officers who wish to magnify their office. Boer outbreaks justify their retention in Africa and give them that chance for winning distinction which is becoming rarer to the professional soldier with every year.

They do not serve any other purpose. When Kruger landed in Europe there was just the ghost of a chance that a spirited show of force at home might aid his reception abroad and induce some European power to indorse the Boer demand for something less than British military rule. But all that was settled during the first week of Kruger's tour. When the Emperor asked him not to visit Berlin, the dream of European intervention was ended. The only hope the Boers have left is from their captors. They had a fair, stand-up fight, with great initial advantages on their side but they were whipped. The more quickly they accept the consequences of defeat the fewer consequences there will

A WOMAN'S TROUBLES

"We lost our snow shovel to-day," Mrs. Hatt remarked.

"Yes," replied her husband, indifferently. He was absorbed in reading the evening paper and he scarcely heeded his wife's voice.

"Yes," she added, "and just at the beginning of the season, too. You'll have to buy another one, won't you?"

"Another what?" inquired Hatt, without removing his eyes from the paper.

"Why, another shovel, I told you; not listening to me at all. We lost the one we had to-day. There are some frightfully dishonest people in this city, don't you think so?"

"Yes?"

"I just think sometimes that it would save us an awful lot of trouble if we could have our sidewalk taken up and put in the back yard. When the snow gets on it there are always people at the door wanting to clear it off. Do you think we could have a 'We like to have the snow on our walk' sign painted and stuck up outside?"

"Yes?"

"You know, five cents is too much to pay every day, over and over again, for having your sidewalk cleaned; but some people are so miserable looking that I hate to refuse them. To-day one man came and offered to shovel the snow off for a piece of our cake."

"He couldn't have known the cake."

"What is that, Frank?" asked Mrs. Hatt.

"I remarked," said Hatt, turning over a sheet of the newspaper, "that at Christmas time people take notions for cake."

"Oh," exclaimed Mrs. Hatt, suspiciously, and remained silent for a few moments. "I always know that a man is really badly off," she remarked presently, "when he offers to do work for something to eat, but I won't let any more of them in the house because last winter there was a big ugly man came and I let him shovel the snow, and he ate a whole plateful of meat and a cold pie. It's cheaper to pay than do that, isn't it?"

"Yes?"

"Now, to-day a big overgrown boy came and wanted to clean the sidewalk for his dinner, but he looked so hungry that I was afraid he'd eat too much, so I sent him away. Besides, these men always say that they are so starved that they must eat first or they will not have the strength to work, and then when they are fed they just walk away. You remember the dishonest man who did that, don't you, Frank?"

"Yes?"

"Well, to-day a little girl came along right after I had sent the boy away, and she promised to shovel the snow from in front of our hous eand the lane for something to eat, and she looked so small that I thought she would not eat much and I lent her our shovel to do the work with. She forgot to bring it back yet. Did you hear, Frank?"

"What is it?"

"I said that the little wretch of a girl stole our snow shovel and never cleaned off the sidewalk."

"Yes?"

"Oh, you just don't mind a thing I say to you, and you don't care how much trouble I have with the old sidewalk. Now this winter you can clean the snow off for yourself, for I won't do it any more, and it can just stay there."

"Well, well," exclaimed Hatt, tossing the newspaper aside and commneting upon the news he had just read, "the men who want to be Mayors and Aldermen for next year are as plentiful as Christmas turkeys."

"Frank," his wife remonstrated, "I do wish you wouldn't throw the papers about the floor."

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,
Your obedient servant,

The surest way to keep the womanly health is to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity. It dries the drains which weaken women. It cures inflammation, ulceration, and female weakness. It soothes and strengthens the nerves, drives away despondency, and gives a healthy appetite and refreshing sleep. It makes childbirth easy, and nursing mothers will find in it a strength giving tonic.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotic.

"I never courted newspaper notoriety," writes Mrs. E. A. Bender, of Keene, Coshocton Co., Ohio, "yet I am not afraid to speak a good word for your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Pleasant Pellets.' Over a year ago I suffered terribly for nearly four weeks with prolapsus and weakness. After using one bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' and one of 'Pellets' I was a well woman. I have taken no medicine since and have had no symptoms of my former trouble. Have used the 'Favorite Prescription' at different times for more than four years and find it has no equal."

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. FAIR FANTINEKILL.

[S. E. Hampton.]

Fair Fantinekill, what boyhood scenes
Return again in Manhood's dreams?
Each pathway through the wooded dell
Some tale of youthful pleasures tell.
Here Nature's lavish hand is seen
In richest hues—in greenest green,
And ev'ry little rippling rill
Holdeth a power to charm and thrill
The after years we feed upon
When youth and all but hope is gone.
Sweet memory floods my heart at will Repeating o'er Fair Fantinkill.

Thou nestling valley gem, walled in
By mountains tall—by mountains grim,
Each frowning, hoary head is dearth
In praises fitting to thy worth.
Fantinekill, fairy queen of brooks,
Thy small cascades were ideal nooks
Before the vandal woodman tore
The leafy giants from your shore.
Grim solace now, no more attacks
Can come from desecrating axe—
Dispoiled yet murm'ring sweetly still
And still I love thee, Fantinekill.

The hazy time of life's ne'er dim
If but we turn our eyes within,
For there we findeth no decay
Among the mem'ries laid away.
Beneath the dust and grime of years
More oft the sun creeps out than tears,
More oft a deed of excellence
Stands side by side with recompense,
And spectral shadows fade and flee
When youth returns in memory—
Youth and hope and every thrill
That clustered 'round thee, Fantinekill.

The brooklet ages may defy
With voice attuned to song and sigh;
It's life must be as lives of men.
The past will ne'er return again.
Yet man, when in the twilight age
Turns dreamy eyes for inward gaze,
And feasting, finds that shadows lie
Too deep for retrospective eye.
'Tis sunkissed hours that mem'ry brings—
Like rose bereft of thorns and stings—
Thrice welcome ere to heart whose thrill
Responsive is to Fantinekill.

ROOM FOR TWO.

Mrs. Getty's coupe was at the curb in front of a florist's establishment on Fifth avenue, near Forty-third street. Her coachman held the coupe door open, for at the moment the lady was issuing from the shop. Across the way was an empty handsom cab waiting for patrons. There was rather more than the ordinary bustle of traffic in the famous thoroughfare. Automobiles rolled silently and swiftly, stages lumbered slowly and noisily and all manner of private vehicles were on parade, making it a matter of no small difficulty for pedestrians to cross from one sidewalk to the other. The clock on the tower of the Grand Central station near by told all who cared to note that it was five minutes past 2.

Just as Mrs. Getty was stooping to enter her coupe a man came hurriedly up Forty-third street from the direction of the Grand Central, took in the scene on the avenue with a quick glance, jumped into the waiting hansom and pushed open the little trap in the top. There was a bill in his hand. The driver promptly possessed himself of the bill while he bent his head to hear his customer's orders.

"Go to No. 347 West Forty-fourth street as fast as you can," said the man; "there'll be somebody there to tell you where next. Don't let anything whatever delay you."

"All right, sir," answered the cabby dropping the trap and jerking the reins.

The horse started at once, and at the same moment the passenger got out. Cabby saw him go, and wondered, but with the bill still crumpled in his hand, and with the passenger's struct injunction to let nothing delay him ringing in his ears, he drove on, and the jam of vehicles was so great that he could not even turn his head to see what became of the passenger.

"It's a good job, anyway," thought cabby, thinking of the bill, "and if the fellow at No. 347 is as generous as this one, I'll get that new coat I've needed so long."

The man who had left the cab so shortly after engaging it rised his neck by running in front of a stage dodged an auto and darted across the avenue, making as straight as circumstances would permit for Mrs. Getty's coupe. She had nestled into a comfortable position and the coachman was climbing to his box when the man opened the coupe door, entered and pulled the door to quickly, but noiselessly.

"Say nothing, madam," he said sharply, "or I shall be compelled to resort to violence to quiet you."

Mrs. Getty shrank, terrified, against the side of the coupe, her cheeks blanched, her lips parted and her eyes distended. The man sank upon the seat beside her and breathed heavily. Then the coachman, all unmindful of what had taken place, spoke to his horse and the vehicle started.

The episode had attracted no attention from the sidewalks, for the pedestrians, intent on their own affairs could not see what went on in the roadway. It may be that a number of persons in passing conveyances saw a part of it, but they comprehended not and cared not. So when, a few seconds later, a number of men came rushing excitedly up from the Grand Central station, such information as they could gain by hurried inquiry sent them speeding, some on foot, some in cabs, down West Forty-fourth street.

So soon as the coupe was in motion, the man turned to Mrs. Getty with a deprecatory smile, in which there was a gleam of satisfaction, and said:

"I am truly sorry to intrude on you in this unmannerly way, madam, but there's room for two here, and you'll have to endure my company for a bit."

"I can easily attract the attention of my coachman," said Mrs. Getty, resolutely, "and have him put you out and into the hands of the police."

"As she finished speaking she raised a hand to rap on the window.

"Don't madam," exclaimed the man, appealingly, and he help up a hand too, not in threat, but as a gesture of entreaty.

At sight of it Mrs. Getty sank again into her corner and stared at him, once again, with speechless horror. Around the wrist he held up was a steel band, and from it depended a fragment of chain.

"I told you I should have to shock you again," he said quietly, "but you know the worst now. Yes, I am a convict. Ten minutes ago I was on my way to Sing Sing. You may not know that convicts are always taken up on the train that leaves the Grand Central at five minutes past two. The train has gone and I am here. With your assistance I shall be a free man within an hour."

"No! No!" she protested, faintly, "you shall not make me a party to your crime." And again she made as if she would rap on the glass.

"One moment, madam," he interposed, a little sternly, and as he displayed once more that steel band and the broken chain, her resolution gave way to helpless terror. "I have committed no crime," he continued, impressively. "My life has been venturesome, colored with many an episode that I regret, but before heaven I am innocent of the charge upon which I have been convicted and sentenced. I can prove my innocence if I can be free but a few days. To go to prison now would mean the destruction of my only hope of clearing my name, unless that might happen after I had rotted for years in a cell. You are listening, madam, and I will be brief, for time is pressing. Convict though I am in the eyes of the law, I have faithful friends who know my innocence. They have helped me thus far on my escape. One of them managed to supply me with a pair of super-hardened steel pincers. Another thrust money into my hand during the moment of confusion at the railroad station. I was manacled in the usual way to a deputy sheriff. When we were about to board the train I nipped the chain that bound me to my guard and broke away. My friends made a diversion that gave me a slight start, and here I am. Now you know everything except my plans for establishing my innocence. Those I have not time to tell you, and you might not understand them. Liberty I must have. You will not give me up. Pity me, madam, and save me from the unmerited degradation of a felon's life."

"What do you expect me to do?" she asked.

"Have your man drive to the Twenty-third street ferry," he replied coolly, "and cross the river. I shall then be not only in the Pennsylvania railroad station but in another State, and those facts together will give me all the time I need."

"I cannot do it," she said. "It is not right for me to interfere with the law. In a moment my man will stop. You may then go out, and I will not ask him to summon an officer. That is all I can do, and it is more than I ought."

Even then the coupe was driven to the curb preparatory to stopping.

"Madam," said the convict, hopelessly, "it shall be as you say, and within ten minutes from the time you leave me I shall again be a prisoner."

If he had used threats or shown desperation, the outcome might have been different. To this day Mrs. Getty is puzzled to explain her course to her own complete satisfaction. When the coachman opened the coupe door he started a little at sight of a stranger but, like a well-bred servant, said nothing.

"Wilson," said Mrs. Getty, with astonishing calmness, "my friend is in a hurry to catch a train at the Pennsylvania station. Go over by the Twenty-third street ferry as quickly as possible."

Wilson bowed and closed the door.

"You are an angel!" whispered the convict.

He said nothing more for a time, but busied himself in winding a handkerchief around his manacled wrist.

"Unfortunately," he remarked at length, "I lost my pincers in the scuffle and so can't get rid of this just at present. May I ask one more favor of you? Fasten this bandage with a pin, please, and it will then appear that I have injured my wrist and the sign of my disgrace will not be visible."

He held his hand toward her, and Mrs. Getty, wondering if she were under a hypnotic spell, complied with his request. He thanked her and remained silent until the coupe was driven from the ferryboat to the platform of the railroad station on the New Jersey side of the river.

"Thank you once again," he said then, as he alighted. "If I might know who has assisted——"

"No," she interrupted; "I never want to know more than this."

"You are probably quite right," he responded. "Good-bye," and lifting his hat he went rapidly toward the ticket office.

In the next day's papers Mrs. Getty read long accounts of the sensational escape of a noted forger on his way to Sing Sing prison. There was a lot of detail about the pursuit of an empty hansom cab, but not a word about the coupe in which there proved to be ample room for two.

A Feeling of Resentment.

"Did you do anything to celebrate Shakespeare's birthday this week?"

"I should say not," answered the man with the big diamond and the fierce mustache. "A man who wrote those box office frosts like 'Macbeth' and 'King Lear' ought to be glad he's livin' without askin' for any celebrations."—Washington Star.

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right. I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for Indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am [illegible] years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder disease, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 493 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

On such roads teams can draw three or four times as many logs in a load as they can on the ordinary snow road, hence there is a great saving in the cost of delivering lumber at the "dump." Sweetest songs but tell of Saddest Thoughts

Dear Ladies:

What to you has been for many months the saddest, yet sweetest hour of the day? Surely that when in silence, alone, or in sweet communion with relatives or friends, you have let your thoughts dwell on the dear absent ones in Africa. Your hopes and fears, your prayers and tears have gone forth to them. And was not that hour the afternoon tea?

Your soldiers' comrades — the British planters—make the delicious GREEN teas of Ceylon and India. This alone should incline you to try these teas. Japans have no such claim on you, and are, besides, of inferior qualities. Monsoon, Salada, and Blue Ribbon teas are all good.—Colonist.

A Progressive Paper.

With its characteristic enterprise, the Chicago Sunday Chronicle, easily the best and brightest of the Sunday papers of the west, has completed arrangements for a series of masterly review of progress in various lines during the nineteenth century. The first article, on "Evolution," appeared in the issue of last Sunday, and is from the pen of Alfred Russell Wallace, the eminent British philosopher. Following this will appear an essay on "Chemistry," by Professor William Ramsey, of the University College of London. Other equally interesting subjects will be treated in the series, which will continue throughout the winter season. Another extremely interesting and valuable innovation is the beautiful music supplement, the first of which accompanied last ment, the first of which accompanied last Sunday's issue. The Chronicle has always maintained its reputation of doing well everything it undertakes, and we are satisfied that its new departures will not prove an exception.

JOTTINGS ABOUT TOWN

—Mary had a little lamb,
A regular little glutton;
It ate so fast, it ate so much,
It soon became a mutton.

—If the Council has any friends in Peterborough they should stand up and be counted.

—The Girls' Auxiliary of St. John's church will hold a special meeting this evening at 7.30 in the school house.

—The Times is indebted to the Dominion Brewery Co., Toronto, for a very neat Reference Annual for 1901.

Salt rheum, with its burning, stinging sensation, is due to poor blood and is cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

—Lameness in the muscles and joints indicates rheumatism. Don't daily with it a minute. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla and and cure it.

—Mr. J. H. Scriver has retired from the management of the Hastings Star. The paper will henceforth be conducted by his son, Mr. T. E. Scriver —Many people think that Ald. Dawson made a bad break at the meeting on Wednesday night, but he should remember that it's never too late to mend.

—"What is the difference between one yard and two yards?" asked the teacher of a small pupil at the Central school. "A fence," was the prompt reply.

—Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons deserve much credit for the manner in which they decorated George street in front of their establishment in honor of the arrival home of Private LeBar.

We call your attention to the advertisement of the Macfarlane Wilson Co. Limited, wherein they offer the balance of the stock contained in their temporary store 388 George Street at cost price and under for the remainder of this week, when they vacate the little store for good.

—"It's impossible for you to lift yourself up by your bootstraps, isn't it, Johnny? asked the teacher of a small pupil at the Central school. "Yes'm," answered Johnny. "Now," continued the teacher, "can you tell me why it's impossible?" "I guess it's because I wear shoes," was the logical reply.

With one accord throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion readers of all classes of newspapers unite in saying that if there is one paper which should be in every household, it is the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal. Subscriptions are pouring into their office in Montreal at a tremendous rate. Canadians without the Family Herald and this season's pictures do not know the treat they are missing.

Lindsay Post:—A Kent-st., boy had hot turkey for dinner yesterday, and "a cold duck" for lunch in the afternoon. The hole made in the ice on the river was near the railway bridge. A hockey-stock and the boy's younger brother prevented a drowning accident. The wet boy thought that "there was no place like home," and went there in a hurry after getting out of the watter. The incident is considered in ice Christmas joke.

COONSOLIDATION OF OFFICES, &C.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—Peterborough has too many public servants—that's as plain as the nose on your face, and as everybody now has a theory to reduce them. I venture to offer the following suggestion to the powers that be:

Why could not the offices of Clerk and Treasurer be united? Mr. Armstrong, our present efficient Clerk, gets $1,200. Give him $200 more, and make him Treasurer. He then could employ a Clerk to his liking.

If this was not practicable I would have the taxes payable directly to the Town Treasurer, and thus save a Collector's salary.

I would dispense with the office of Town Engineer, and substitute a thoroughly competent and experienced road maker. When a bridge is to be built, or some other big undertaking is on, I would employ an engineer. A man like Mr. E. Wade, for instance, who is accustomed to handling men, and who thoroughly understands road making and laying granolithic walks should be engaged as street inspector. He would save the town thousands of dollars every year.

I would reduce the police force by at least one man. There is no sense in having four men loafing around the station.

I would add to Engineer English's duties by having him answer the police telephone calls, and save keeping a policeman lying around the station. This could be done very easily and very simply.

I would have two assessors instead of four, thus saving the salary of two men.

I would let all street work possible, by contract, to the lowest bidder.

I would make the street watering contractor and the snow plow contractors live up to their contracts. At present they do not do so, and the Town Engineer appears to be entirely oblivious as to whether they do or not.

I would instruct the assessors to reduce the assessment to something near what it should be.

I would put an end as far as possible to the way the stocks in the stores are assessed. It would astonish the citizens if they knew how utterly rotten the present system is.

I would purchase the Electric Light and Water Works at valuation.

I would also purchase the street railway and operate it. In this connection, did any ratepayer ever consider that if we lost $5,000 a year in running the street railway, the $5,000 would be kept in town, as it would go to the men who work the road?

I would call a meeting of all parties interested in a railway to the north, and start an agitation, in order if possible to head off the Norwood-Apsley line.

I would, in fact, endeavor to make Peterborough the bon ton town of Canada, as well as the lowest taxed one.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, etc.,
PROGRESS.

MUNICIPAL LIGHTING.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I see the Times is in favor of municipal ownership of our waterworks and electric lighting. I think that this is the proper thing, and hope you will advocate the purchase of the water company's property as well as the electric light plant by the town. I see by the 14th labor report of the Washington Commissioner of 1899, that almost invariably electric light is furnished cheaper by municipal plants than by private plants. On page 554 will be found the following table showing the average price per 2,000 c.p. lamp per year of arc lighting by hours of service rendered:

Hours of service. per year		Charge per lamp per year. Private plant	Municipal plant
Under	500	$11 25
"	750	72 00	$18 10
"	1,000	37 50	62 32
"	1,250	58 13	27 49
"	1,500	90 78	65 78
"	1,750	71 66	38 20
"	2,000	67 76	37 61
"	2,250	81 61	39 73
"	2,500	86 77	52 67
"	2,750	85 05	57 17
"	3,000	74 90	43 76
"	3,250	105 80	45 76
"	3,500	94 13	34 66
"	3,750	93 99	54 71
"	4,000	100 60	63 57
Over	4,000	100 97	58 56

This table shows that in every instance except one the advantage is with the municipal plant. The difference between $105.80 and $45.76 is enough to encourage the advocates of municipal lighting.

The new council should take this matter up without delay, (when the new year opens.

A RATEPAYER

HOW WOULD THIS DO?

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—I am pleased to see the interest Rev. Mr. Davidson is taking in municipal matters, and hope that he will continue the good work. There is no reason, that I can see, why ministers should not enter the Council, and in this way show that they "regard the franchise as a sacred trust."

I would therefore suggest a Council to commence the new century, as follows:

Mayor, Rev. J. C. Davidson
Chairman of Finance Committee, Rev. Mr. Crossley.
Chairman of Board of Works, Ven. Archdeacon Casey.
Chairman of Water Committee, Rev. Jonathan Bastow.
Chairman of Light Committee, Rev. J. G. Potter.
Chairman Charity Committee, Rev. Dr. Torrance.
Chairman of "Joint" Committee, Rev. Mr. Wilson.
Chairman Band Committee, Rev. Mr. Armitage.
Chairman of the Committee on Licenses, Rev. Mr. Elliott.
Chairman of the Committee on Dark Spots, Rev. Pastor Zimmerman.

Trusting this suggestion may not be treated lightly, but that these gentlemen will respond to the call of duty, and contribute their services for at least one term, for the common good, I am, yours, etc.

Dear Sir,—At the close of this, your third term as our teacher, we desire to express to you in some way, though feebly, our grateful appreciation of your patient zealous efforts for our mental advancement.

If we have sometimes seemed dull and unappreciative, perhaps often irritating, we ask you to forgive us.

We thank you for the moral, precept and example you have always placed before us. Both we and our parents are glad to learn that you are to be with us for another year. We ask you to accept these fur gauntlets and fountain pen, and regard them, not for their intrinsic value but as a slight token of the esteem in whi ch we hold you.

Dear Teacher:—We your pupils take this opportunity of presenting you with this small token of our esteem and affection. We feel that we have improved greatly under your care, both morally and intellectualy, and we trust that you may forget how often we have tried your patience, and hope in after years when you may look upon our little offering, that you may value it, not for its intrinsic worth, but for the love which prompted your pupils to make the presentation. REPORTS THAT DE WET HAS BEEN CAPTURED

Persistent Reports in Circulation in London and on the Continent that He has Been Captured.

London, Dec. 28.

Lieut. Coldspragg, who commanded the Yeomanry at Lindley has resigned. Several other resignations have been gazetted, among them being that of Mr. Guest, M.P. a captain of Yeomanry.

Johannesburg, Dec. 28

The Boers damaged the new Klienfontein and Chinese Batteries yesterday.

HAS DEWET BEEN CAPTURED?

London, Dec. 28—Persistent reports are in circulation in London and on the continent that Gen. Dewet has been captured.

The British Chartered South African company received this information from a source in which it is accustomed to place implicit confidence. The War Office, however, is without any confirmation of the report.

Windsor, Dec. 28 — A number of Windsor men have made application to join Baden-Powell's Constabulary in South Africa. Col. Guillet received the applications, but refuses to divulge the names. Some of the returned soldiers of the first contingent have expressed willingness to join the ranks again in South Africa. Among the names mentioned as applicants are David Cheyne, Corp. McKee, R. Bowden, H. Stricker, Bugler Dolman and Private Gell.

CONTINGENT AT VERDE.

Ottawa, Dec. 28—Following despatch received at Militia Department,—

St. Vincent, Cape Verde, Dec. 28—Roslyn, Halifax, about 6th; 45 officers, 7 nurses, 778 men of all ranks.

Signed, DRURY.

JOURNEY ON LAKE CHAMPLAIN.

Ottawa, Dec. 28—The Militia Department to-day received reports from Col. Otter describing the receptions given to the men under his command in England and the trip across the Atlantic in the Lake Champlain. The report says that the Lake Champlain proved a most comfortable and steady ship. In the matter of accommodation, both quartering and messing was everything that could be desired. Many extras were supplied and the ship's officers left nothing undone to make the passage most comfortable. All ranks of the regiment on board received Imperial pay and allowances up to the 31st inst. On December 21st, when the details were being paid, Pte. McGregor, B Squadron, 1st Canadian Mounted Rifles, reported himself for the first time, stating that he had been ill ever since embarking at Liverpool. During the trip across two non-commissioned officers and two privates were tried by court-martial for offenses committed on duty and the line of march. The two latter belonged to the permanent corps and had previously given much trouble. Col. Otter's report dealing with the honors accorded the contingent in England is voluminous and contains a copy of the sermon preached to the Royal Canadians in Westminster Abbey by Canon Wilberforce.

ON THE CARTHAGINIAN.

Ottawa, Dec. 27—The Militia Department received the following cablegram from Lord Strathcona to-day,—

"London, Dec. 27 — The following men belonging to the Canadian contingent sailed on the Carthaginian on the 22nd—810, Kennedy; 38, Doust; 206, Wigle; 78, Doolan; 291, Stevens; 318, Taylor; 46, Birch; 132, Clarkson; 202, Miles; 2,491, Lauder; Dickey artificer; 605, McDougall; 160, Yule; 5100 Wight, Strathcona's Horse.

London, Dec. 27—It is reported that the Queen will shortly institute a new order of knighthood for services in the South African War. It will probably be called the Star of Africa, and will be analogous to the Star of India.

TROOPER KILLED.

Ottawa, Dec. 28—Under date of Cape Town, December 26, Sir Alfred Milner cables as follows to the Governor-General,—"Ingram killed; Corp. McDonell wounded, December 23rd." Pte Ingram comes from Grand prairie, B.C. and Corp. McDonell belongs to Kingston.

OUT OF FIGHTING ZONE.

Cape Town, Dec 27—Gen. Kitchener is informing the officers who brought their families and established homes in the Orange River and Vaal River colonies that they are still in active service, and that their families must not be stationed within the fighting zone.

BOERS HELD UP A TRAIN.

London, Dec. 27—Lord Kitchener telegraphs that the Boers held up a train three miles west of Pan station, below Kimberley, yesterday. Reinforcements arrived and the Boers were driven off. They lost one killed and seven wounded. Our loss was one killed and four wounded.

YEOMANRY RELEASED.

London, Dec. 27—The Evening Standard to-day says it understands that the squadron of Yeomanry which was entrapped and captured by the Boers, whom they were following from Britstown, were released after the men had been relieved of their horses and other equipment. Ten of the Yeomanry, the paper adds, were wounded.

GEN. COLVILLE TOLD TO GO

War Office Begins Army Reform by Dismissing a Prominent General

London, Dec. 27.—The War Office has begun the promised reform of the army in a sensational manner. It has demanded the resignation of Major General Sir Henry Colville, commanding an infantry brigade at Gibraltar, and recently commanding the 9th division of the South African field force. Gen. Colville refuses to resign and he is now on his way to England. The news is all the more startling as the question of Gen. Colville's responsibility for the Yeomanry disaster at Lindley, last May, was fully investigated by the authorities when Gen. Colville returned from South Africa last summer. After the enquiry Gen. Colville was reinstated in his command at Gibraltar in September last. The attitude of the War Office indicates that the new regime in Pall Mall will reverse the decision of Lord Lansdowne and Lord Wolseley in regard to some of the recent commanders in South Africa. Gen. Colville, like Gen. Methuen, has always been a great social personage in London and a prominent club man. He has had a most distinguished military career, has been repeatedly mentioned in despatches, and is familiarly known as "Odgers." He is also a well-known author, and on the occasion of his marriage created a stir by going on his honeymoon in a balloon.

HARSH TERMS.

Washington, Dec. 28

The Chinese Embassy here is without information on the reports that Emperor Kwang Su does not approve the demands submitted by the powers; for some days, however, the view has prevailed in Chinese quarters that the terms were so harsh that it would be difficult to secure their acceptance.

34 MEN LOST.

London, Dec. 28.

A hurricane prevails at Queenstown, where the observers say it is the fiercest storm in years. The mails are delayed.

The bark Primrose Hall went on the Penhros rocks, three miles off South Stack, not far from Holyhood. She broke in two and went to pieces in a few minutes. One man out of the crew of 35 men was saved by a life boat.

Persons suffering from stomach troubles find it hard to secure a food of easy assimilation that contains enough nourishment. A number who have been suffering from serious forms of stomach disorders have tried Grape-Nuts, the pre-digested food, and obtained a food rich in nourishment and easily digested. Food experts say there is as much nourishment in one pound of Grape-Nuts as ten of meat.

It is a food for athletes, brain workers and invalids. Made by the Postum Cereal Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Grocers sell Grape-Nuts.

Kidnapped in Ingersoll

Ingersoll, Dec. 28.—The chief of police of Ingersoll has written to the Brantford police department asking them to try and find a woman aged about 45 years, medium size, light hair and dark eyes, supposed to have married a man named James Sickles, who is thought to be living on Main street, Brantford. She has a child in her possession which is about five years of age, with dark eyes and fair hair. The child has been with her from infancy, but was in September returned to its real mother, who resides in Beachville. The mother had the pleasure of the child's company for about three weeks, when it was suddenly taken away by this woman, the supposed Mrs. Sickles. The mother is most anxious to get the child back again. The woman went by the name of Meigher previous to her supposed marriage.

Lepers in the Philippines

Washington, Dec. 27—An appended report to General MacArthur's review of the civil affairs of the Philippines for the last fiscal year gives some rather startling facts regarding the introduction and prevalence of leprosy in the islands.

According to the estimates of the Fransiscan fathers, says Major Guy L. Edie, writer of the report, there are thirty thousand lepers in the archipelago, the major portion of these being in the Visayas. Leprosy was introduced in 1633, when the Emperor of Japan sent a ship with 150 lepers on board to the Philippines, as a present to be cared for by the Catholic priests.

Thus the seed was planted, and as no practical methods have been adopted to eradicate the disease or prevent its spread, it has taken firm root. A house to house inspection, begun last January, found more than a hundred lepers concealed in dwellings. These were sent to San Lazaro Hospital, in Manila, but many others escaped into the surrounding country. A commission is now engaged in the work of selecting a suitable island or islands for isolating all the lepers in the archipelago.

Quality

It is the high quality of Royal Baking Powder that has established its great and world-wide reputation.

Every housewife knows she can rely upon it; that it makes the bread and biscuit more delicious and wholesome—always the finest that can be baked.

It is economy and every way better to use the Royal, whose work is always certain, never experimental.

Never experiment with so important an article as the human food

There are many imitation baking powders, made from alum. They may cost less per pound, but their use is at the cost of health.

MORE VIOLENT GALES OFF BRITISH COAST

British Bark Pegasus Founders and Only One Man is Rescued.

London, Dec. 28.—There have been more storms and violent gales in the channel and considerable damage has been wrought ashore. The telegraph lines are down in many places.

The British bark Pegasus, from San Francisco, for Queenstown, foundered off Innarth roads. One man of the crew was landed at Cardiff. The fate of the rest is unknown.

While the British bark Queen of Cambria was being towed into Falmouth her tow line parted, and she was blown across the bows of the British bark Crown of India, damaging the latter's head. The Queen of Cambria was cut down to the water's edge. She was beached and is leaking.

TWO RAILWAY ACCIDENTS

Broken Wheel Caused a Blockade near Omemee

A "double-header" freight train, made up of grain cars, left Lindsay yard Thursday morning about ten o'clock for Belleville. When a short distance this side of Omemee the front wheels of one of the cars went to pieces. The auxiliary train was ordered out and it took about three hours to raise the blockade. The express from Toronto was sent down the old line to Millbrook, where connection was made for Peterborough.

The Lindsay railway authorities received word about noon yesterday to send the auxiliary train at fast speed to Severn, Muskoka, near which point the North Bay express had met with a serious accident. No definite details could be secured by our reporter, but it was whispered that six or seven coaches had been ditched and that some passengers had been injured.

TORONTO AND MONTREAL

The Canadian Pacific RailWay has Made Many Changes

During the past season the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has made extensive improvements to its short line between Montreal and Toronto with a view to shortening up their time schedules on the runs east and west.

When the line was constructed there were some heavy curves and steep gradients on the Havelock section between Havelock station and Montreal. These curves have been greatly reduced and the gradient made lighter.

The old seventy-two pound rails for some twenty-two miles have been replaced by new eighty-pound rails. The entire section has been reballasted and some sixty-five miles of the Toronto section.

The crossing sidings at every station, except Mountain Grove, Kaladar and Peterboro, have been extended to accomodate the longest trains. New crossing sidings have been put in at Zealand, Olden, Kennebec, Addington Butler, Peterson, Tiffin, Otonabee Kendry, Sanbank, Brady and Dagmar.

The siding accommodation at Smith's Falls has been increased by about 90000 feet, and rearranged for the more convenient handling of traffic. Two stand pipes have been provided, and a cinder hoisting and engine washing-out plant put in. A new two story office building and a large tea warehouse have been erected.

At Havelock additional siding accommodation has been provided, new coal chutes, cinder and sand-hoisting plants put in, and a new steel turntable put in working order.

New 40,000 gallon water tanks have been built on stone foundations at Locust Hill and Perth, and new stand points put in at Myrtle and Locust Hill stations.

BRITAIN DOES NOT OBJECT TO FORTIFYING

Germany Awaiting a Chance to Gain Control of the Philipine Islands.

New York, Dec. 28.—Alfred C. Harmsworth, the editor and owner of the London Daily Mail, who has just arrived here, said in an interview:

"There is no adverse criticism, on the part of the English, of amendments to the Hay-Pauncefote treaty so far as I have ascertained. You are going to build the canal, pay for it, and why should you not control it? If we dug a canal we should certainly expect to control it, and I think America looks at the matter in much the same light light." Referring to the insurrection in the Philippines, he said: "The Germans are watching the course events are taking, thinking that America will finally give up the job as a bad proposition, and then they expect to come in and finish matters. France is also watching closely the trend of affairs over there."

The Absent Minded Beggar

Now returneth the season when "the absent-minded beggar"
Goeth forth in the morning, and forgetteth
His rubbers. And soon he cometh
To a slippery place in the pavement (such as that
By the Post Office corner) and his feet
Slip from under him, his head meeting the pavement,
And his friends facetiously ask him
"Where laidst thou last?" But to him
There is no laughter; for his mind is lost
In contemplation of the new constellations
That have suddenly appeared within his gaze.
And when his mind returneth to terrestrial things
He feebly riseth and goeth to Dickson Davidson's apothecary's shop
And anointeth his occiput with arnica there purchased.
And all that day he is ill at ease
And smelleth vilely till at last he goes
Home, and he findeth consolation there.

ANOTHER LARGE INDUSTRY

The Singer Sewing Machine Company to Locate in Peterborough

For some time past negotiations have been quietly going on between the new Cereal Company, Hon. Senator Cox and the Singer Sewing Machine Company, for the erection of their proposed Canadian works in Peterborough.

The Company has not had a factory in Canada, being content to pay duty on their machines, or parts of machines, which are sent over and put together in Toronto.

The new works, it is said, will employ several hundred skilled mechanics. An idea of the wealth of the concern may be learned from the fact that the stockholders voted recently to increase the capital stock from $10,000,000 to $300,000,000 and distribute the 2000 per cent. of new stock to new holders. Sales of stock were made at 725. The company was originally capitalized at $1,000,000. Its output last year was 1,000,000 machines.

The people of Peterborough owe much to Senator Cox for what he has done and is still doing, and the Times would suggest the propriety at this season of presenting him with the thanks of the citizens, through the Council and Board of Trade, in the shape of an engrossed address. It would, at least, show that Peterborough is not ungrateful.

Christmas Aftermath

There is a large stock of beautiful novelties still on hand at the Times Bookstore, which will be disposed of at cost and under. It is worth your while to call and price some of our goods.

We Have Them in Peterborough

Collingwood Bulletin:—A glibtongued stranger can always find some victims for any kind of fake advertising scheme he may be working. We are informed that on business men are now being worked with a write-up in a so-called advertising journal or directory to purchase one or two hundred copies of the sheet. Nine times out of ten when these papers are delivered they are thrown under the counter and remain there until consigned to the rubbish pile, as the purchaser has no means of circulating them. The agent's interest in the matter ceases as soon as he collects his fee, and he is seen no more.

New Years Gifts

Friends overlooked may be remembered with swell New Year's gifts at H LeBrun & Co.'s. On account of the great Christmas trade Mr. LeBrun had to make a flying visit to the wholesale houses to stock up for New Year's with more holiday furnishings for gentlemen. Just opened up to-day the latest up-to-date styles in rich quilted mufflers, silk and satin scarfs, silk braces, silk handkerchiefs, brand new; handsome neckwear in flowing ends, four-in-hands, Oxfords, bows, etc. Now's your chance to "get back" at your friends who so unexpectedly surprised you at Christmas.

Wishing our many friends a Happy New Year.

A New Note Issue

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—The Department of Finance is about to issue a new four dollar note which has just been turned out by the Government contractors, the American Bank Note Company of Ottawa, and which is regarded as one of the most artistic bits of work of its class ever produced for the Government. The face of the note is adorned with excellent portraits of His Excellency the Governor-General and the Countess of Minto, the Governor-General wearing the uniform of a brigadier-general of volunteers, which rank he held before coming to Canada. In the centre of the note is depicted a scene on the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, a large steamer being in the act of passing through the locks. On the back of the note is a view of the Parliament Buildings and Ottawa River taken from Major's Hill, showing the hill, which the whole of the the library and House of Parliament.

Wife's Aid in Vain

Buffalo, Dec. 28.—James Cuthbertson, watchman on the steamer Australia which is lying in Colt Slip at the New York Central dock, left the boat about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on an errand for his wife.

As he was about to step off on the dock he slipped on the gangplank which was covered with snow and fell into the harbor. His heavy winter clothing quickly dragged him under. His wife attracted by the shouts for help, ran to the side of the steamer and threw a line to him, but Cuthbertson did not see it and he was drowned.

The body was recovered about an hour later and made fast to the dock. The police endeavored to summon one of the Coroners, but both were away from home and the body remained half submerged in the slip until long after dark, with the dead man's wife watching it from the deck of the steamer. Cuthbertson was 56 years old.

Winston Churchill M P

At Harrow Winston Churchill, who lectures in the opera house on Tuesday evening, showed a precocious love of politics as much as tactics; and with the Spanish forces in Cuba he put his theories into practice well enough to win a first-class order of Spanish Merit. Then he saw service in India, and having earned a medal and honorable mention, became Sir William Lockhart's orderly officer during the Tirah expedition. He earned yet another medal at Kartoum, and wrote a capital book on "The River War." Now he is lately back from South Africa, whither he went for the Morning Post, which he served well with a series of admirable letters that have made another book that it will be hard to beat in its kind. He saw much in Boerland and did something and got caught; but being quick witted, lithe, active and perhaps lucky, he was able to escape from Pretoria in a manner which caused some sensation and made him the hero of the hour. He is a clever person, who has the courage of his opinions; yet he thinks the Boer is not so black as he is painted. He can write and he can fight, and he believes that army reform must engross more of the next Parliament's thoughts than any other subject. For himself he has hankered after politics since he was a small boy, and it is probable that his every effort, military or literary, has been made with political bent; so that if consternation be worth anything he should now reap some reward at Oldham.

CONTRACT LET FOR CANADIAN CRUISERS

One for the Mouth of the Frazer River, the Other for Pacific Coast Fishing Protection.

Ottawa, Dec. 28—Sir Louis Davies awarded contracts to-day for two cruisers for the Province of British Columbia. Tenders were asked some time ago for these cruisers. One of the boats is to be used at the mouths of Fraser River, and the other for fishery protection service in the Pacific Ocean.

The contract for the large cruiser, which is to be used on the Pacific coast has been awarded to A. Wallace, Vancouver, B.C. This steamer is to be 136 feet long overall, breadth 24 feet, hold 10 feet, depth moulded 11 feet, three-masted, and classed 11 years "A" at Lloyds. It will carry 150 tons of coal. There will be three officers, three engineers and fifteen seamen. the price is to be between $60,000 and $70,000.

The small cruiser is to be 60 feet long, 11 broad, and 6 feet depth. The contract goes to the Albion Iron Works, Victoria, B.C. The price is between $7,000 and $8,000.

A condition of the contract is that a fair wage resolution will be embodied in it.

DR. COULTER'S SUES FOR $100,000

He Wants Money from Dr. Oronhyatekha—Major McGillivray's Statement.

New York, Dec. 28.—A motion of great interest to the Independent Order of Foresters has just been argued before Judge Blanchard in the Supreme Court special term, in an action brought by Dr. Charles L. Coulter against the Foresters.

Dr. Coulter alleges that he recently brought suit for $100,000 against Supreme Chief Ranger Oronhyatekha and Supreme Secretary McGillivray for the use and manufacture of a medical instrument of which he was the patentee and owner, and that they took advantage of their official position to cause Dr. Coulter to be dropped from membership and to cancel his life insurance policies without notice. It is asserted by Dr. Coulter that they have also threatened his attorneys and witnesses with expulsion from the order and cancellation of their insurance policies, and he asks for an injunction to restrain the order and its officers from this alleged intimation and cancellation.

In the motion papers it is alleged further that the order is managed by a number of Canadians, headed by Oronhyatekha, in an arbitrary and extravagant manner. Affidavits from various Canadian members of the Executive Council were read by Council denying all the allegations in the plaintiff's affidavits.

Behind all the litigation, say the Canadian members, is a scheme to remove the Executive Council, composed of Canadians, and substitute in their places residents of the United States; also to remove its headquarters from Toronto to this city.

In reference to the foregoing, Major McGillivray was questioned. He said: "The matter is not of great interest to the Foresters; it is, in fact, of very little moment. The amount involved is only $150, and the suit is against Dr. Oronhyatekha and myself, as members of a company called the Coulter Vaporizer Manufacturing Company, but not as Foresters. The charges named in the despatch are altogether false. It is a personal matter entirely; in fact, I have not yet been served with the writ, although it was served on Dr. Oronhyatekha some time ago, as he was leaving for the Old Country. We are charged by Dr. Coulter, who is a member of the Vaporizer Company, with breach of contract. He says that we have not been pushing the sale of the article as we ought. Dr. Coulter is an officer of the Foresters, and was formerly of Lindsay and Toronto.

"Regarding the last inuendo, I know of no such attempt by anyone in the States to change the officers or the headquarters in Canada."

A POST OF VAST POWER

Grave Responsibility That Rests on the British Premier.

London, Dec. 28.—The man who keep the British empire in line with the rest of the civilized nations stands paramount among the world's statesmen. On him, more than any other man, perhaps, depends the peace of millions. In his keeping are the interests of one-quarter of human race. No empire has so many vulnerable points as his; no man's acts so nearly affect the empire's safety. The words he speaks, the things he does, may rebound for good or evil long after he is gone and his name is forgotten.

It is, indeed, hardly an exageration to say that the British foreign office is the guardian of the peace of the world. An indiscreet word, a careless act, and there is not a corner of the earth, however remote, where some powder magazine might not explode. It is not a thing to be lightly talked of, this guiding of the great British machine, which may set every fourth man in the world at war against his three neighbors.

Only twelve men have held it since the Queen came to the throne, and only two of them, let it be said to the credit of England, have stood at the helm while England was at war with a civilized power. The other, Lord Roseberry, had risked the greatest war of all—a war with France over a boundary in Siam; but the touch of the statesman in a grave crisis averted the catastrophe.

It speaks volumes for the genius and patience of the Foreign Ministers that they have steered the empire through the crisis of the longest reign in history with only twice dipping the sword in the blood of a civilized race.

PERILOUSLY NEAR WAR.

How near war often is the public rarely knows. Years, perhaps, may pass, before it is known whether it is true that Lord Rosebery's government, on the day that Mr. Brodrick's cordite motion overthrew it, had resolved to send an ultimatum to the Sultan, but it is known how Lord Salisbury at Downing street and Lord Cromer in Egypt gave Europe to understand that the British guns were ready when wanted.

When Spain took in coal at Port Said for use against America Lord Cromer reminded Spain that the Suez canal is neutral, and forbade the shipment of coal. If the Spanish cruisers wanted coal they must get it beyond the three-mile limit. Spain protested, and everybody knew that secretly the continent supported Spain. That made it a question for the foreign office, and the foreign office stood behind Lord Cromer.

What might have happened with a weaker man in Downing street is obvious, but it is a well-understood rule in foreign politics that it pays to be firm whatever the peril.

The world knows little of its real rulers, and England knows almost nothing of the men who will drive the machine behind Lord Lansdowne. The foreign office is the one place in England where change hardly ever comes. Changes of government rarely affect the tone and action of the foreign office.

There is one curious exception to this rule, according to the permanent official—in the case of the Turks. At the foreign office the feeling is that Turkey ought to be a good deal considered, as they could hurt England at many points, and are splendid fighters, but the relations with Turkey is the one foreign question which has hitherto sharply divided the political parties, and a new regime in Downing street is generally "felt" at Constaninople. But to the rest of the world it matters little who is Foreign Minister.

Whoever he is, he has enough to do. He must receive the representatives of forty-four kingdoms and republics who call on him in London, and he must deal with documents stored away in dusty archives going back for generations. He must deal with hundreds of despatches arriving every day, by post and telegraph, from all over the world.

DISCLOSURES MADE AT HAZING ENQUIRY

Witness Testifies that a Man was Exercised Until he had to be Revived With Stimulants.

West Point, N.Y., Dec. 28—For the first time since the military court of inquiry began its investigation of the hazing practiced at the West Point Military Academy, during the last three years, Cadet witnesses testified yestedray that they had seen a man "exercised" to the limit of endurance, and that he had to be revived with stimulants. The man was former Cadet John Breth, of Altoona, Pa., who died some 18 months ago from typhoid pneumonia, superinduced, it is alleged, by the rough hazing which he received while at the West Point post in 1897.

Cadet Harry B. Jordan, of Washington, of the present first-class, was the first witness called to-day. His testimony was brief and uninteresting.

Cadet Elliott J. Dent, of Pennsylvania, said that he had been hazed when a fourth-class man, but had not had to go to the hospital in consequence.

Cadet Ernest O. Peck, of Wisconsin, swore that he had known Cadet Booz and was sure he had not been hazed. He had been rather left alone.

ROUND THE WORLD ON FOOT

Soldier Journalist from Servia Has Already Gone 14,000 Miles

London, Dec. 28.—There is now in Liverpool, a Servian soldier-journalist by name Michael Milovanowitch, who is engaged on a foot tour round the world, of which he has already accomplished a distance of 14,000 miles. He started from his home in Belgrade, on the 5th of April, 1899, and he expects to be back again in two years from the time he started. He goes from Liverpool, if he can find a ship, to Lisbon. In dress and appearance, Milovanowitch is a typical specimen of his native race, tall, slim, with beard and hair inclined to the loveliest auburn hair; he looks a fine specimen of the human family, and would be a credit to any nation. He is partly attired in the picturesque costume of his countrymen, but a goodly portion of it is hidden under an ordinary black-lustre European overcoat. He speaks none of the Latin derivative tongues, and is therefore at a considerable disadvantage in England, and especially in the north. He was tried with the Irish and Celtic, with dead Latin, and residual phases of it in French, Italian and Spanish, but the attempts to connect a lingual hawser with the apparently stranded soldier-journalist were unavailing. Probably in no civilized country in the world would a man of his nationality be so much at sea as in England, except with a few foreign stragglers or professional interpreters. Milovanowitch has encountered many startling adventures in extricating himself from suspicion of being a Russian spy. He is not encumbered with any superfluity of baggage, and virtually carries with him, like Diogenes, his tub, and lives in it. Only the tub is no good at sea, and he is, therefore, appealing to some local shipowner to be his Charon to Lisbon on a liner. He is writing up his experiences for some Belgrade newspapers.

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 29, 1900

THE PATRIOTIC FUND

The report of the Canadian Patriotic Fund Association, which was submitted in Ottawa the other day, showed that 324 dependents of soldiers had been assisted; and 108 invalided soldiers had also re-steamer. Cuthbertson was 56 years old ceived assistance, to whom payments amounting to $25,837 and $2,237 respectively had been made. There was, therefore, $28,790 expended on relief, leaving a balance for distribution of $306,818.

Wiring on these facts, the editor of Saturday Night, says:—

It was supposed that able-bodied men without incumbrances were to be received by the officers enrolling the contingents, that relief or money forced upon relatives of the volunteers would simply pauperize or offend those who were not in actual need. But it was the fashion to collect for other funds, and now when the Imperial and Canadian Governments are both in a position to take care of the men and the families of those who are sick, or the relatives of those who are dead, we find a balance of $306,818. What is to be done with the money? The Committee says it "has kept in view the fact that the large part of the fund will be required for distribution at the close of the war, to widows or dependents of deceased soldiers, and also to provide for soldiers who have been permanently or temporarily disabled while on service." Of course the money can be used to supplement Government assistance but it was not raised for that purpose, and the whole affair seems to be born of the spirit that actuated municipal councils to present medals, money and all sorts of things to the returning soldiers. The worst feature of this report is the effect that it will have upon subscribers from a distance. If my memory serves me right, money was raised in Great Britain and accepted by the committee as if we were unable to attend to the wants of our own people. Last week it was pointed out on this page that in the Old Country a very sharp demand had been made for an explanation of the disposition of the Hull Fire Relief Fund, and so far I have heard no explanation offered. Now we have a parallel instance. Even if the fund is disposed of, as the committee claims that it will, what right have we as Canadians to accept a dollar from Old Country sources for the pensioning of our soldiers or their widows, or for assistance to be given to dependents? It is a false and humiliating position, and should be a lesson to Canada in the future. This country should promptly return with thanks any donations which are offered for similar purposes, and those people who are everlasting getting up funds and pushing them forward as if they were a business enterprise, might well devote their charity to the needy who are nearer home.

TURKEY AND THE EASTERN QUESTION

There is likely to be a revival of the Eastern Question, which, like the sea serpent, periodically rears its head above the troubled waters of European diplomacy. For the Turks we read are recurring to their old habit of torturing and killing the Christians. Macedonia, a province to the north, is now the seat of the trouble; and the Turks are said to have put to death several hundreds, including women and children, and to have carried away other hundreds from their homes. This, not to mention crucifixion, outrage and other customary accessories, all this, very much resembles the beginning of the Bulgarian atrocities of some years ago, the ultimate issue of which was the Turco-Russian war. The unfortunate thing about these massacres is that the Sultan's Government either cannot or will not stop them. Not that the Christians are always free from blame. They are a hard people to govern, the Armenians and other Christians of the Turkish Empire, moreover, being largely the money lenders of the country, they often play the part of extortioners to the less sophisticated Turkish peasantry, who are, if left to themselves, quite as honest and good-hearted as are the Christians. But the Turkish government is irretrievably bad. It can fight, however. Greece and Russia both found that out. And so no power likes to step in; for it will have to reckon with an army of about 700,000 men—good men, too, as far as fighting is concerned. But a new complication has arisen. The Kurds, who have attained a bad pre-eminence in connection with the Armenian massacres and who had hitherto been staunch supporters of the Ottoman Rule, now are inclined to be restless. They want their independence. they say along with that of their dear kinsmen, the Armenians. If they ever got it they would make short work of the Armenians, whom they despise as not being able to defend themselves.

The poor Sultan has a difficult role to fill, and he ought not to be too severely judged. When the Americans find it impossible to uphold the law in the south, we must not blame the Sultan if he cannot control the Kurdish freebooters in the mountains more than a thousand miles from his capital, especially when they have the old Highland belief that raiding and cattle-lifting are not only pleasant, but perfectly legitimate occupations.

TO THE ELECTORS

OF THE

Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

"The Smith

A mighty man is he," but he is not mighty enough to defy disease. It is a pitiful thing to see the strong man brought low, his muscles melting away until he can no more swing the heavy sledge to shape the glowing iron.

"I was troubled with malarial fever of about three years' standing and was under doctors' care for quite a time," writes Mr. J. R. Kidd, of Parmleysville, Wayne Co., Ky. "They had almost given me up, and my suffering was very great. My pulse was very weak, breath short and I had severe pains in the back, head and legs. Had palpitation of heart, and from June 1st, 1895, to May 1st, 1898, I was not able to do a day's work. I purchased five bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and before I had finished taking the first two bottles I was very much better. I continued taking the medicine, and by the time the fifth bottle was gone I was a well man."

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cleanses the blood of the poisons which feed disease, cures diseases of the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the proper assimilation of food. It is a flesh forming, muscle making medicine, making sound flesh and not flabby fat. It contains no whisky nor alcohol in any form.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. MESSRS. J. S. HAMILTON & Co., Brantford Ont., Canada:

Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

CHAT WITH A PAWNBROKER

The Oddest Thing Ever Offered to Him—The Business Not All Profit.

"The oddest thing I ever had offered to me," said a pawnbroker, "was a skeleton; and I didn't take it. I hadn't any doubt that it was all right, that the man that offered it owned it and had a right to sell it. I suppose he was a medical student who wanted money just then more than he wanted the skeleton. But I didn't know anything about the value of skeletons, and how much to advance on it, and so I didn't take it. But that will give you some sort of an idea of the variety of things that the pawnbroker has offered to him.

"Of course, you understand that not all pawnbrokers take everything; there are men who advance money on nothing but watches and jewelry and diamonds and pictures and that sort of thing and who wouldn't give anything on the handsomest satin-lined overcoat that ever was, because it isn't in their line. They have no place to put such things; no conveniences for taking care of them. And then there are pawnbrokers doing a general business who take all sorts of things, watches and banjos, boxing gloves and silver spoons, practically anything and every thing that offers. They might occasionally run across something that they wouldn't take, as I did with the skeleton, but not often; there's practically nothing but what they will take, and practically nothing but what is offered at one time and another.

"On some things the amount advanced is very small; but still I've got things in safe that I never should get my money back on if I had to sell them. You'd suppose it would be easy for the pawnbroker to give on a thing no more than he could get for it if he had to sell it, and so it would be; but as a matter of fact he may give more than he could get back. He would be governed by circumstances, and by his judgment of the person offering the goods.

"I might have a customer bring in a diamond ring that I would lend so much on, whatever it was, and that would be a safe loan; the ring would be good for it if it was never reclaimed. But may be the next week the same customer, hard up and needing money, would bring in a pair of trousers, spotted and worn; not worth much if you had to sell them. And very likely I would lend more on those trousers than I could ever get for them; lending that because he's a customer and I want to accommodate him, and want to keep him as a customer, and because the chances are that he'll take the trousers out again; but if he doesn't why then I'm out.

"The question of whether a man who wants a loan is likely to redeem what he offers is often taken into account. It is a common thing for the pawnbroker to look at the man, maybe a stranger, and lend on his judgment of the man as well as on his knowledge of the value of the thing the man puts down on the counter. Of course, he makes mistakes in this, but he takes the chances, and I suppose he oftener gets it right than not. There might come in here you, or anybody, needing money, with an old-fashioned key-winding watch that I could not get $1! for, and want to borrow $15, and very likely I'd lend it though I know I never could get my money back if the watch wasn't redeemed. But I know, or I think I know, at a glance, whether he will redeem the watch or not, what sort of a man he is, and how much he values the watch for its associations; and I go according to my judgment.

"No doubt as a general proposition the pawnbroker sets out to lend on things no more than he could sell them for; there are times when instead of making money he loses it; what he tries to do is to get a profit as the net result."

A Big Luminous Tree.

Every one has heard of luminous plants and shrubs, but comparatively few people are aware of the existence in Nevada of a luminous tree of large proportions. The Indians have always entertained a wholesome dread of this tree, and have a number of legends connected with it, some of which are clearly founded on the Biblical story of Moses and the burning bush. As a result of their superstition the tree has come to be known as the "witch tree," and is quite a source of interest among people for miles around. It is a valuable landmark at night, as it can be seen half a mile away, and the phosphorous substance which exudes from it is so powerful that it is possible to read a few words of print held close to it. Several botanists and tree scientists have made journeys to inspect and report on the tree, but we have never seen a really intelligent explanation of what seems to be quite a unique phenomenon.

Sleeping to Death.

One of the most curious and fatal diseases on record is termed "the sleeping sickness of West Africa." The malady has never been known to attack anyone except negroes. As the disease progresses the victim sleeps constantly and finally dies from starvation. The first symptoms are shown when the victim gradually gives way to a feeling of listlessness, which becomes at last a profound and lethargic sleep, the first noticeable signs of which are a visible and persistent drooping of the eyelids in the daytime and while at work. In spite of all efforts to arouse him, the patient lapses into slumber. The periods of sleep increase in number and the intervals between them lessen. Soon the negro appears to be always asleep. Death occurs at the end of from six to twelve months. —New York Sun.

OUR SAVIOUR IN ART.

Cost nearly $100,000 to produce. Contains nearly 100 full-page engravings of our Saviour and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Contains description of the paintings, biography of the painters, the names and locations of the galleries in Europe where the original may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book, matchless in its purity and beauty, appeals to every mother's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE, GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

I. A. HOPKINS.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 63 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 308 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1,000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

NEXT YEAR'S COUNCIL.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,—With feelings of deep interest I read the report of the meeting of ratepayers on Wednesday evening. The speakers all show how deeply the interest of the town is in their hearts. Now is the time when every ratepayers can help the town by casting his or her vote for some of its best men. No doubt we have had more or less good men in our past Councils, but they have come more by good luck than by good guiding. I think we should, when choosing our Councilors select from citizens who have been successful in building up a business for themselves—such men as Messrs. A. McDonald, R. C. Braund, H. Long, J. D. Tully, W. A. Sanderson, G. Carton, R. B. McKee, F. Matthews, P. Hamilton, J. J. Turner, J. Belcher, P. Campbell, G. W. Hatton, E. F. Mason, and others. It may be that few of the above able men could spare their time, but if some could I believe we might have an excellent Council to begin the century.

JOHN BELL.

December, 28th, 1900.

Editor Morning Times

Sir,— During the last few weeks, being on the road, and spending the Sabbath in the town where the week ends, the ministers at several different places have referred to the subject of the nineteenth century as passing out with the last day of this month, which as a matter of fact, is incorrect, and it makes a man "feel tired" to hear our supposedly thinking and learned clergymen make such erroneous statements before a public audience.

Now sir the fact is an important one to us for more than one reason, and can easily be established, beyond a doubt, that the nineteenth century has been completed, and is a period of the past, months ago, and we are positively living in the twentieth, and have been since the first of January last. I am prepared to meet any gentleman in a public debate, and hereby challenge those holding the opposite view, who are willing to take their chances on what they think they know, on this subject, before a public audience. The fact should be known, and in order that I may contribute my part in setting this much debated question right, I will be pleased to pay my railroad fare to any reasonable distance, on condition that my expenses be refunded if I succeed in proving what I affirm, the Bible to be used as a guide in computing time.

Yours, etc.,
A. H. BRINTNELL.

HOW WOULD THIS DO?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Under the above caption "Municipal Reformer" suggests that the Rev. Mr. Davidson be made Mayor and the rest of the local ministers be Aldermen for the incoming year. I doubt the practicability of the scheme, for this reason, that while they are trained to preach, it might not be so easy for them to practice. Allow me to suggest a better plan and one which is practicable and economical. As Mr. Davidson's church is the established one of the mother country, and until recently, of this country, I would concede to him the right of nominating the Mayor, while the others would each have the right of nominating an Alderman. The most desirable mode of procedure might be in this manner: Let Mr. Davidson nominate his Church Warden each year, and as it is said that he nominates the one who has made the largest contribution at the Easter Offertory, the presumption is that such a one is a man of means, and has a real stake in the town, which would be the means of shutting out all undesirable, poor candidates; and as the same privilege would be accorded to the other denominations, no exception could be taken to it. We would then have a Mayor and nine Aldermen representing the following ten denominations, which comprise all the religions of the town, viz—Episcopalian, Methodist, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Baptist, Christian Alliance, Christian Science, Seventh Day Adventists, Plymouth Brethren and Salvation Army. By this means we could avail ourselves of the only chance of re-electing Alderman Sawers, who has been our economical Chairman of the Charity Committee. Of course such an arrangement would exclude Aldermen Dawson and Denne from the Mayor's chair, but as the former was choked off at the meeting on Wednesday night, and the latter an impossibility, they would have nothing to complain of.

HOW MAUD VOTED

A Timely Warning to the Ladies of Peterborough

Ladies who will vote for Denne,
Must follow the steps of the artful men.

On January 7, the Miss and Madam,
Must sin like Eve or vote like Adam.

For all such maidens,—a warning note,
I proclaim for women who intend to vote.

For saint or sinner—preacher or what?
Must cast a vote, for sure, why not?

Maud Muller rose on election morn
As proud as a kid with a new tin horn.

For she was to cast a vote, and she
Was filled with angelic ecstasy!

She felt that men were common clay
As she, on that glorious woman's day!

That she was the equal before the law
Of any old female she ever saw!

She could almost feel the dress of the hims,
In tubular form on her nether 1—be!

She dressed herself with unusual care
From her dainty feet to her fluffy hair.

In a party carriage she would not ride;
She'd walk to the polls in her mannish pride!

She started forth with a dashing swing,

A milliner's window caught her eye,
And you know she could never pass that by!

Stepped into the waiting spider's net
To try on a hat; it was early yet.

She spent an hour 'mid the fairy show,
Then happened to think she would better go.

Some gowns in a window lay in wait
For girls who would bite at such a bait.

She glued her nose to the polished pane
And studied the styles again and again.

She wondered how she would look if she
Were dressed in such dreams of finery!

She entered the store and for half the day,
Inspected the goods in a crazy way!

As the day was waning she stook before
The flashing germs in a jewelry store.

Passed on to the window filled with hoes,
And nighties and other sacred clothes!

She met a friend on the street, and they
Swapped talk till an hour had passed away.

Then again she hastened in graceful flight
To make a shy at her sacred right.

But alas— as you no doubt have supposed
She found that the mean old polls had closed!

They might have known the condemned old set
Of men, that she hadn't voted yet—
They did it on purpose— It wasn't fair!

They were perfectly horrid old things!
So there!

"Better the Feet Slip Than the Tongue."

Slips of any kind are to be deplored, but there is one slip Nature never forgives. It is the carelessness of ignoring the signal that the body is in danger of wreck. It may be that the kidneys or the stomach or the head gives the warning sign. But remember, the blood feeds every organ of the body.

Make no slip, but first tone up the system through the blood, and health will surely follow. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best preparation man has devised to make pure, life-giving blood. It never disappoints.

Swellings—"I had a swelling on my chest. It caused me great pain and many sleepless nights. Physicians advised an operation but my daughter urged that I take Hood's Sarsaparilla instead. I did so and after using six bottles, the swelling went away and I have not had any more pains." MRS. J. W. CRONKWRIGHT, 432 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

BOER INVASION ENDS IN FAILURE

Invading Forces are Both in a Sorry Plight and May be Captured

London, Dec. 29.—While Knox and several other alert British generals are successfully holding General De Wet at arms length lest perchance he should reach the Orange River and lend a helping hand to the invading commandos these latter are in sorry plight and are scarcely likely to again reach the Orange River Colony. Delisle is following the body of Boers which is moving towards Prieska and has already struck a severe blow at the enemy while Gen. Grenfell has effectually stopped the advence of the body which moved south from Venterstadt and has in fact forced it to retreat upon the border. The invasion has completely failed, for, as was predicted in this despatch, the Afrikanders of Cape Colony were not fools enough to join a losing cause. The Boer forlorn hope has collapsed and the two forces which attempted it are practically fugitives and likely to be dispersed or captured at any moment. Kitchener has certainly justified his reputation as a relentless pursuer, and his energy in dealing with the invaders in compendable.

BOER INVADERS CRUSHED.

Naauwpoort, Dec. 29.—Gen. Delisle has severely defeated Hertzog's commando eighteen miles west of De Aar, and has driven them towards Prieska. He captured a number of waggons, and released the Cape police who were captured at Philipstown.

Gen. Grenfell has turned back Kritzinger's commando toward Venterstad.

Both sections of the raiders are in a desperate plight, and it is possible that they will never be able to return to the Orange Colonies.

They have received little accession in strength from colonial Dutch. The invasion will probably be a complete failure. It is held here that the rapid movement of British forces, which has brought about this result reflects the greatest credit on the army.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT.

Cape Town Dec. 28.—The Government has issued a report stating that the two Boer columns which invaded the Cape Colony have not met with success. The eastern column has not succeeded in getting further south, and Gen Grenfell has pushed them back a considerable distance in the direction of Orange River. The western column has almost entirely abandoned the Phillipstown district. About 15 of the Yeomanry who were captured were disarmed and almost immediately released. It is believed that this column has been divided into two parts, and that they are being followed by the British force which relieved Britstown. No considerable number of colonists have joined the invaders. There is is still considerable unrest along the Bechuanaland border between Fourteen Streams and Vryburg.

GENERAL DE WET SURROUNDED.

London, Dec. 29.—Gen. De Wet is again surrounded, and his capture within a few days is certain.

General De Wet's attempt to break through to the south has been frustrated, and he is now reported to be at Senekal with a large commando, holding the enemy between Ficksburg, Senekal and Winburg.

General Knox is holding the country between Ladybrand and Winburg.

The following despatch from Smithfield, Orange River Colony, dated Dec. 14, is significant in view of the above;

"Lord Kitchener is sparing no pains to put an end to De Wet's Odyssey. He is being ably seconded by General Hunter at Bloemfontein and General Hector Macdonald at Alikal North.

"It would be indiscreet to give a list of the various British columns in the field, but De Wet will have a very difficult task to escape.

"It is an open secret that Lord Kitchener is firmly determined to crush De Wet once for all. No effort will be spared, and within three weeks or a month we may look for the termination of what the soldiers call the De Wet manoeuvres."

THANKS OF QUEEN VICTORIA.

London, Dec. 29.—Following is the text of the Queen's message of thanks to her troops recently issued. Her Majesty the Queen commands the Adjutant-General to convey to the militia, Yeomanry, Volunteers, and Colonial troops who have served during the past year in South Africa, the Mediterranean and elsewhere, her greatful appreciation of their signal services. Her Majesty has been glad to observe the testimony borne by general officers to the admirable spirit by which all ranks have been animated, as well as to the zeal and discipline which they have displayed. The Queen deeply regrets the sickness and loss of life which have occurred, and highly values the sacrifices made by soldiers of all ranks in these branches of the service in the cause of the Empire, despite personal inconvenience and pecuniary loss. Her Majesty relies on those still employed abroad to continue to use their best efforts in aid of her regular army, and trusts that the day may not be far distant when she may welcome their return home. Evelyn Wood, Adjutant-General.

ROBERTS REACHES GIBRALTAR

Gibraltar, Dec. 29.—General Lord Roberts, who is returning to England from South Africa on the transport Canada, arrived here to-day. He landed and was given an enthusiastic reception. He made a speech, in which he paid a tribute to Gen. Sir George White, Governor of Gibraltar, for his defence of Ladysmith, against the Boers, the siege of that town having lasted 119 days before the British succeeded in driving the besiegers off.

ANOTHER MILITARY SET.

London, Dec. 28.—There were a dozen military sets already in the West End, each with its pets and grievances, and now there is another in a formative stage. Sir Henry Colvile, who has been ordered to resign his military post, presumably on account of his responsibility for the disasters at Lindley and Sanna's Post, has been too active a soldier since he joined the Grenadiers thirty years ago to become a carpet knight and the fashionable favorite of west end drawing-rooms, but he stands for the Guards, and that privileged corps of the British army never lacks social support. Already Mr. Brodrick is critizied for enforcing the new principle of army discipline and bringing on a scandal worse than the publication of the Spion Kop despatches. The smart sets were convinced months ago that the cemetery of military reputations, South Africa, was overstocked, and that the gates must be closed and no fresh interments allowed. They disapproved of the action taken in the case of General Colville. Military men explain it as an indication that a large mass of official correspondence is on file in the War Office, and that Mr. Brodrick is getting ready to publish it by taking measures for ordering a court-martial of official investigation in cases where reputations are compromised.

OFFICERS ARE RESIGNING.

London, Dec. 29.—Some officers have resigned from almost all the fifteen battalions of the Yeomanry, Captain Lord Alwyne Frederick Compton among them. This raises a doubt as to whether the resignations are connected with the Londley affair or not merely in the line or routine retirement, especially as a fortnight ago the Secretary of State for War announced in Parliament that the court-martial inquiry had "entirely exonerated from blame Lieut.-Colonel Spragge and his regiment."

WHAT YOUNG MR. BOTHA THINKS

Rome, Dec. 29.—Major Grover Botha, brother of Commandant Botha, has arrived in Rome on his way to The Hague. He carries despatches for Mr. Kruger.

In the course of an interview here to-day he said the war in South Africa would last for years, that Mr. Steyn had planned the invasion of Cape Colony and that the revolt of the Afrikanders was certain.

LATEST FROM KITCHENER.

London, Dec. 29.—General Kitchener telegraphing from Pretoria under date of Friday, December 28, sends a summary of the number of attacks made by the Boers at various points. The only important incident was an attack on a baggage column near Greylingstad. A company with a pompon made sortie from Greylingstad and drove off the Boers. Captains Radclyffe and Harvest were wounded, eight men were killed, 27 were wounded, and 20 were reported missing.

SPEEDY DEATH FOR SOLDIER TRAITOR.

Led Filipinos in Skirmish in Which Several Jersey Volunteers Were Killed.

Atlantic City, Dec. 31.—A thrilling story of the fight between a small detachment of the Twenty-eighth Volunteer Infantry in which several Atlantic City boys are serving Uncle Sam, and a large force of Filipinos is told in a letter written by Private George F. Walsh, of Company F. of that regiment, stationed at Manila.

The fight took place at Loco on October 23. Two Americans were killed and several badly wounded. Seventy-two Filipinos were killed and many were wounded. There were twenty volunteers in the engagement against over three hundred of the enemy, who led the Americans into a trap. Captain Beigler, who led the detachment, was wounded, as were Privates Raymond and Sweeney, of Newark. Private McBride, of Philadelphia, was shot through the heart, and Private O'Hara, of Company H, was killed by a bullet through the head.

The fight lasted four hours, and the Americans finally fought their way out of the ambush. They carried their wounded with them, but were compelled to leave their dead comrades behind.

Next day they found that the enemy had buried McBride's body. He wore a small cross on a string around his neck, and the Filipinos finding that, buried him decently. But poor O'Hara had no such protection, and his body was frightfully mutilated.

The Filipinos were commanded by an American soldier who had deserted his own regiment and taken a command in the enemy's forces as a major. The Americans came across him while fighting their way through the enemy.

"My God, boys," he exclaimed, "don't, for heaven's sake kill me. I am an American. Have mercy."

He got three Krag bullets through his heart for playing the traitor.

Raymond Sweeney was shot with a Mauser through his left arm, part of the left breast being torn away by the bullet. He kept on firing his Krag with his right hand, until he was too weak to stand up any longer. Then he was forced to stop; but he would not go to the rear, as the captain wanted him to.

Private Mokalec was hit in the thigh, the bullet going clear through, so that he could feel it under the skin on the other side. Mokalec scratched at the skin with his fingers, dug the bullet out and handed it to the hospital steward. While he was laughing over the matter another Mauser hit him on the knee.

Private Walsh writes that the soldiers now in service, in the Philippines do not expect to get back to the States very soon, as considerable fighting is looked for.

THIRTY MINERS ESCAPE DEATH

Workmen Nearly Overcome by Noxious Fumes of Mine Gas.

Pittston, Dec. 31.—Thirty miners of the Pennsylvania Coal Company narrowly escaped death in the Ravine mines last night.

Three days ago a cave-in in the abandoned portion of the workings affected the surface of a large section of the city. The officials of the company made every effort to reach that portion of the mines, but were prevented by volumes of water which blocked the passages and was forced up the main shaft for forty feet.

The first attempt almost resulted in a fatality. Last night the water was pumped out and about thirty men entered the affected section. The miners had been in the mines but a few hours when the workings began to fill with gas.

Their passage to the shaft was blocked, and for a time there was the greatest consternation among the men. They wandered about and would have been overcome with the deadly fumes only for a secret gangway which they found leading into the No. 10 colliery. They finally succeeded in escaping. The cave-in continued, and to-day the surface continued to settle.

Shooting Mystery

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 27. — Wm. H. Smythe, Grand Secretary of the Masonic Order of Indiana, was shot and probably fatally wounded at noon to-day in his office in the Masonic Temple. The shooting is a mystery. The story told by Mr. Smythe, who retained consciousness for several minutes after the shooting, is that a blond woman entered his office and asked to be allowed to use the telephone. As he was busy, he told her he could not be bothered at the time. Without further words, he declares, the woman drew a revolver and fired at him. He felt the sting of the bullet, but did not realize what happened until after the woman had escaped.

The police quickly reached the scene and threw a line of patrolmen and detectives about the Masonic temple, but no trace of the mysterious woman was found. Lewis A. Coleman, an attorney who had gone to the Masonic Temple to transact business, discovered Smythe, who, he says, was lying on the floor half way between his desk and the door of his office, in a pool of blood. An examination showed that three shots had been fired, each taking effect in Smythe's head. It is not thought Smythe can recover.

ENGLISH SHIPPING SUFFERS DISASTER

The Storm Plays Havoc all Along the Channel Coast

London, Dec. 29.—Later reports concerning the Primrose Hill wreck show that before she struck she dropped her anchor, but mountainous seas were running. No sooner had the ill-fated ship touched the rocks than the three aftermasts went overboard, and she broke in twain, leaving only the foremast standing. Three minutes later this went also. The vessel was soon smashed up. The crew was huddled on the poop, when a huge sea dashed over the vessel, washing all away save one sailor, who was finally hurled against the rocks, sustaining terrible injuries.

Incessant reports of innumerable shipping casualties show that the gale was one of the worst known in many years. Probably several days will elapse before the full extent of the damage becomes known.

In addition to some vessels not yet identified which have been wrecked or placed in great danger, the fate of some of the cross-Channel mail steamers is in doubt. For instance, the Great Western Railway's steamer plying between Milford and Waterford is twelve hours overdue, and no tidings of her have yet been received. It would be impossible to enumerate all the minor casualties.

In response to rockets from Eddystone Light, Plymouth sent a dockyard tug, with a lifeboat, to assist what was reported to be a large steamer in distress in the Channel.

A terrible accident tookp lace near Taunton. The breakwater at Watchet Harbor yielded to the force of the gale, and became a wreck, permitting a tremendous sea to have full play against the shipping in the harbor. Several vessels broke adrift, two foundered, and five others were driven into a hopeless tangle in a corner, between a pier and a wharf, where they lay, grinding each other. Their masts and bulwarks speedily went, and their hulls were greatly bettered. The damage will reach many thousands of pounds.

PETRIFIED CEMETRY.

Bodies Turned to Stone with Flesh Tints Still Remaining.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 31.—For two weeks past the strange work has been going on near St. Paul of digging up petrified bodies. A whole graveyard full of them has been found at Ely, an old cemetery near this city.

When the first petrified bodies were found it was thought that some peculiarly effective embalming fluid had been used on the bodies. But as the work progressed, in moving the bodies from the abandoned burying ground it was found that nearly all the bodies were in a more or less advanced state of petrifaction.

The first graves opened were those of Henry Polkington and Adam Penglase, who died nearly ten years ago. The coffins were in an excellent state of preservation, and not a worm hole was to be found in them.

When the lids were raised, however, in the investigation as to why the coffins could not be lifted out by the men engaged in the work it was found the bodies had turned to stone. The flesh tints still remained and the clothing until exposed to the air, when it crumbled to pieces, looked as bright and fresh as it did on the day of the funeral. So heavy were the bodies that it took the combined strength of five men to move them.

Up to the present time only about twenty bodies have been transferred from the old cemetry to the new, and of this number half have been found to be fully petrified, the remainder having become practically dust.

The case is a peculiar one, owing to the fact that alongside of a petrified body will be found the remnants of a body that has returned to its original dust, showing that the petrifying properties of the soil exist only in spots.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

This Preparation Makes Cures Because it Acts Agter Nature's Fashion.

A representative of The World had a very interesting and instructive interview with Mr. E. W. Goulding, the manager of the Ozone Company of Toronto, Limited. The offices at 48 Colborne-street presented a very busy scene, and The World's young man was informed that this month's business had been most remarkable. "We had anticipated a rather slack month," said Mr. Goulding, "because every business not directly connected with the holiday trade is pretty nearly sure to be adversely affected. It must be that the people are becoming acquainted with the wonderful value of Powley's Liquified Ozone as a curative agent, however, as we have had a splendid month."

"Does Powley's Liquified Ozone kill the desease germs by direct application?" enquired the reporter.

"Not exactly," said Mr. Goulding. "Our preparation destroys the germs of desease by producing a healthy condition of the system. The germs are then prevented from entering into a chemical combination with the animal cells of the body, and are starved.

"It is most interesting to follow out the discoveries in chemical science from the olden days, when alchemists endeavored to discover the philosopher's stone and the panacea of all ills, to the present age of wonderfully erudite research. The aim has constantly been to get at a preparation or element that would cure all desease. The alchemists would undoubtedly have found this power if they rightly known the cause of desease.

"Now that it is positively demonstrated that germs are the cause of all desease, and that Powley's Liquified Ozone, through the oxygen, which is its principle, will destroy the germs, we have gotten at this very elusive quantity, which caused the sages of old so many hard hours of study and headaches trying to find out. Thus, after all, we are simply using nature's means. Nature is the best physician, you know, and she supplied oxygen in unlimited quantities. It looks very natural, does it not? Yet because of its very simplicity and naturalness Powley's Liquified Ozone is making astounding cures."

The World's representative was aware of this fact, however, and, thanks to his talk with the Ozone Company's manager, began to understand why it was.—Toronto World, Dec. 19th, 1900.

CHINESE ACCEPT NOTE.

Paris, Dec. 30.

The Havas Agency has received this despatch from Pekin:—Prince Ching and Li Hung Chang have communicated to the foreign envoys an imperial edict, in which the Emperor declares that China accepts the Joint Note. The Emperor's instructions are to agree fully to the note, but to endeavor to get the best terms possible, particularly in the matter of limiting the legation guards, and also as to the places where these are to be located. The plenipotentiaries are instructed to endeavor to limit the number of army posts along the line of railway to as few as possible, and finally to request the powers not to destroy the forts, but merely to disarm them.

200 MORE BRITISH CAPTURED BY BOERS

The Enemy Take Helvetia, Our Losses Being 50 Killed and Wounded, 200 Prisoners

London, Dec. 31.

The War Office has received the following despatch from Lord Kitchener: "Pretoria, Dec. 30.—General Littleton reports that our post at Helvetia was captured yesterday morning by the Boers. About 50 were killed and wounded and 200 taken prisoners. Col. Kitchener reports that he is following with a small force in the track of the enemy. Helvetia being re-occupied by Reeves, who has been reinforced from Belfact. Helvetia was a very strong position on the Machadodorp Lydenburg railway, and was held by a detachment of the Liverpool Regiment.

KITCHENER DESIRES COLONIALS.

London, Dec. 30.

"It is understood that Lord Kitchener cannot ask the Colonies officially to send troops" says a Durban despatch, dated Dec. 29, "but he desires it to be known in Australia and Canada that Australians and Canadians arriving in Natal will be eligible for immediate enlistment in an irregular corps, which is proceeding to Johannesburg for five months' service."

BOERS BLOW UP RAILROAD.

London, Dec. 31.—Lord Kitchener wiring from Pretoria Saturday, Dec. 29, says there is no much change in the situation in Cape Colony. The eastern force of the enemy appeared to have broken up into small parties at Utrecht, and to be moving about rapidly in the same district, evidently waiting for support from the north. The last report states that the western force is moving to Carnarvon. Delisle and Thoneycroft are in close pursuit. French has occupied Ventersdorp. Clements reports that he is opposed on the road to Rustenburg. The eastern line was blown up near Pan, and a train was held up this morning on the Standerton line near Vaal station. White's column has arrived at Seneka. Knox's column and Boys brigade are holding Dewet from breaking South.

AN EXODUS FROM THE YEOMANRY

Officers Resigning by Wholasale—Not Due to Lindley Affair

London, Dec. 29.—Some officers have resigned from almost all the fifteen battalions of the Yeomanry, Captain Lord Alwyne Frederick Crompton among them. This raises a doubt as to whether the resignations are connected with the Lindley affair, or are merely in the line of routine retirement, especially as a fortnight ago the Secretary of State for War announced in Parliament that the court-martial inquiry had "entirely exonerated from blame Lieut.-Col. Spragge and his regiment."

COUNTY UNION CONVENTION.

The C. E. and S. S. will Meet Simultaneously.

The annual union convention of the C. E. Societies and the S. S. Associations of Victoria county will be held on Thursday and Friday, Jan. 24th and 25th, 1901, at Cambridge-st. Methodist church, Lindsay. Good speakers have been secured and interesting subjects will be dealt with. Mr. S. J. Duncan-Clarke, of Toronto, prominently associated C. E. work in the Dominion will be present and give an address on "The C. E. Society of the Twentieth Century." As the convention is held a month earlier than usual, owing to the prevailing storms in February, a very large delegation is expected, and the societies should appoint their delegates at the earliest possible moment.

NOMINATIONS TO-DAY

of Candidates for Mayor, Aldermen and School Trustees.

Nominations for Mayor will be accepted this morning at ten o'clock, and for Aldermen and School Trustees at twelve o'clock, noon. The nominations will take place in the Council Chamber.

The members of the Board of Education whose terms expire this year are:—Ward No. One, Mr. J. J. McBain; Ward No. Two, Mrs W. H. Wrighton; Ward No. Three, Dr. Burnham; Ward No. Four, Mr. James Edgcumbe. All three gentlemen will probably seek re-election.

At last Wednesday's public meeting the following gentlemen were nominated for Aldermen.—Jno. Corkery. Henry Best, Henry Stabler, Harry Rush, G. M. Roger, C. B. Robertson, R. Clinkscale, A. C. McCallum and E. H. D. Hall. Of these Messrs. McCallum and Stabler have published their refusal to accept of nomination, while a very desirable candidate in the person of Mr. Geo. S. Matthews has been prevailed upon to allow his name to be placed in nomination.

For Mayor, it certainly looks at present as though Ald. Denne will be unopposed; still there is a possibility of one or two strong candidates being brought forward at ten o'clock this morning, and in some quarters Ald. Dawson's retirement is not taken seriously.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Mr. Robert Telford Presented With an Address and Foresters' Pen and Inkstand.

At the annual meeting of Court Bridgenorth, Canadian Order of Foresters, Mr. Robert Telford, one of the charter members of the Court, was given a pleasant surprise in being presented with a Foresters' pin, and an inkstand, accompanied by the following address:

Bridgenorth, Dec. 28, 1900.

Bro. Robert Telford.—

Dear Sir and Brother,—We, the members of Court Bridgenorth, No. 315, C.O.F., realize that you have acted in the capacity of treasurer of this court for a number of years without any recompense whatever, and for your continued services we desire to take this opportunity to present you with a Foresters' Pin, accompanied with an inkstand and pen. In asking you to accept the same, it is not for the value of them, but in a way to appreciate your valued services as treasurer for this coutr.

Trusting you may long be spared to use your services in this court for the good of Forestry in L.B.C.

Signed on behalf of Bridgenorth Court, No. 315.

B. HURD, C.R.
J. N. TELFORD, Deputy.

The New Century

On New Year's Day the Young Women's Christian Association will hold their annual "At Home."

The junior members will be received in the morning. This particularly includes all the members of the sewing school. Come and enjoy your coffee and cake before twelve o'clock.

The young women of the town are invited for the afternoon and evening.

We ask all to come and make this New Year's Day of the new century, the "Happiest time of all the glad New Year."

THE LATE MRS. MACDONALD.

Grandmother of Dr. Andrew Scott, of Peterborough

The Galt Reformer has the following to say concerning the late Mrs. McDonald, mother of Mrs. James McDonald, of Ashburnham.

The late Mrs. Kenneth McDonald, of Branchton, who died on Wednesday evening, had resided near the village for 63 years, and was in her 73rd year. She was born in Scotland, her maiden name being Elizabeth McCrae and good and gracious was her kindly, charitable Scottish nature. She was married 54 years since, eleven children resulting. Two are dead. Those living are Charles McDonald, of Calumont, Mich.; William and Malcolm, of Glenmorris; Lachlan, Donald and Alex. McDonald, of Branchton; Mary (Mrs.) Reid, and Harriett (Mrs. Ellis) of Branchton, and Jas. McDonald, of Peterborough.

Deceased was the grandmother of Dr. Andrew Scott, of town, who is in Galt attending the funeral.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC.

The special Christmas services were continued yesterday evening in St. Luke's Church. A number of beautiful carols were sung. Mr. Parker, Miss Burnham, Miss Meade and Messrs. Parker, Edwards and Turner were the soloists. Rev. H. Symonds preached on "Christianity at the end of the 19th century."

The excellent Christmas music was repeated in All Saints' Church at both services yesterday. "The Unchanging Christ" was the subject of a very eloquent and appropriate sermon delivered in the evening by Rev. W. L. Armitage.

New Years Gifts

Friends overlooked may be remembered with swell New Year's gifts at H LeBrun & Co.'s. On account of the great Christmas trade Mr. LeBrun had to make a flying visit to the wholesale houses to stock up for New Year's with more holiday furnishings for gentlemen. Just opened up to-day the latest up-to-date styles in rich quilted mufflers, silk and satin scarfs, silk braces, silk handkerchiefs, brand new; handsome neckwear in flowing ends, four-in-hands, Oxfords, bows, etc. Now's your chance to "get back" at your friends who so unexpectedly surprised you at Christmas.

Wishing our many friends a Happy New Year.

H. LeBRUN & CO.

Lindsay Winter Races.

Lindsay Post.—The races promise to be a great success on New Year's Day. Secretary E. Weese has at this early date six entries for the three minute class and five for the free-for-all, and according to enquiries coming in, there will be as many more in each race as entries do not close until Saturday night, December 29th. Most of the famous old veteran ice campaigners will be here. The track is in first class condition and a notch is expected to be taken off the record. The races will take place rain or shine. One fare only on all railroads. Ladies free; children with parents free; gentlemen 25 cents. The Queen's Own Band will be in attendance. First race at 1.30 sharp. With or without snow the track will be perfect.

Wolves Getting Scarce

Reports received by the Chief Game Warden indicate that the wolves are becoming less numerous or are being driven further north. Evidence as to this is furnished by the fact that the deer were further away this year than ever before; and deer and wolves are not usually found in the same locality. Mr. Tinsley says he has not yet noticed any appreciable increase in the slaughter of wolves since the bounty was raised from $10 to $15.

Y. M. C. A. Reception

The Social Committee of the Y.M.C.A. have completed arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. reception on New Year's Day. The morning will be given over to the boys. A good time has been arranged and all boys over ten years old are welcome. The afternoon will be reserved for men.

Basket Ball.

Five men will be elected from the following to do battle for Peterborough in the Y.M.C.A., on the New Year's night against Toronto's West End Basket Ball team,—Hall, E. L. Payne Dunsford, Goldy, E. Hall, McPherson, Merrill and Small.

PETERBOROUGH, DECEMBER 31, 1900

BRITISH (COLUMBIA) JUSTICE

The steamer Alpha, which went down in Union Bay, B.C., with many of its passengers and crew, did not leave Victoria on its last fatal voyage without protests from the engineer and fireman, says the Toronto Telegram.

Engineer Gordon, of the Alpha, was accused of opening the bilge cocks so as to compel the captain of the Alpha to put back to Victoria. When the vessel reached the dock Gordon deserted and was arrested for refusing to continue the voyage. The proceedings in the Police Court developed the usual line of bullyragging on the part of the prosecuting attorney, and the usual homilies from the magistrate, who gave Gordon six weeks at hard labour for refusing to go down to death in an unseaworthy ship.

There should be rigid enquiry as to why there was no responsible authority in Victoria to test the statements of the engineer, who declared that the Alpha was unseaworthy. The man protested in open court that the Alpha was a floating coffin. He was bullied by the prosecutor and lectured by the magistrate, and got six weeks' hard labour when he should have got a medal for entering a protest which might have saved scores of lives if the authorities had backed up Gordon and tied up the Alpha.

What a commentary on our boasted British freedom is the spectacle of Gordon breaking stones in a British Columbia jail yard for the crime of refusing to stay on an unseaworthy ship, which was allowed to carry so many of its passengers and crew down to death. The Minister of Justice should not let Engineer Gordon stay in jail another hour. It will be a disgrace to the Laurier Government, which pretends to be such a friend to labour, if Mr. Gordon is allowed to serve out the term to which he was doomed for the crime of trying to save the lives of himself and his unfortunate comrades in the crew of the Alpha.

JOHN BULL AND HIS COMPETITORS

The Frankfurteer Zeitung says that one of the most important facts of the last twelve months has been the growing influence of the United States upon the economic situation of Europe; and points out how the German market has been demoralised by the mere fear of being flooded with American manufacturers. Thee London Times anxiously asks, "How much of the world's expansion will America take from us How much will she leave for us to struggle over with other manufacturing nations?" The fact that Carnegie has obtained a contract to deliver steel rails to the Great Eastern Railway of England is also said to be setting the English people thinking. It is much better than they should do their thinking about the possibilities of American competition now than when it is too late. It may possibly occur to them that the iron and steel industries of America and Germany are being built up as their own were built under a system of protection, and that the protected manufacurers of the Uniteed States and Germany are petted proteges of that beautiful British institution, the Cobden Club. That England will make any very radical departure from its free trade policy for some years to come is not to be expected; but the more thinking the Old Country people do on the subject of the American and German competition the sooner they will abandon the superstitious worship of the Free Trade fetich. There are lots of people in England already who do not think it wicked to speculate upon the results of a protective tariff; who do not see anything essentially virtuous in lop-sided Free Trade or anything essentially vicious in Protection. This marks a considerable advance in public opinion; and before the new century has worn the gloss of its newness we may find quite a lot of British statesmen prepared to discuss the tariff question solely from the point of view as to how it practically affects British commerce and industry. One thing is sure and that is that John Bull is not is much betteer that theey should do cause somebody else has gone into it. The period of expansion through which the world has been passing for the last four years has led to a great development in the iron industries of the United States and Germany. The period of depression which must inevitably follow may lead to conditions which will upset many cherished economic dogmas in the Old Country.

THE SULTAN IN TROUBLE

Our friend the Sultan of Turkey has been tripped up, they say, in his ingenious little scheme of paying the claims of the United States on the sly. He told the U.S. agent that he would be delighted to settle Uncle Sam's account, but he had so many debts that if it were known that he was paying any of them all the other creditors would be down on him. So he proposed to buy a ship at Philadelphia, and the Cramps could then put the American claims in the bill and and they could be paid without anybody knowing.

If this really was the Turkish plan, it is plain that secrecy was essential. The very fact that it was published threw doubt on its authenticity. However this might be, Germany is now said to have served notice on the Sultan that he must pay for his Krupp guns before he buys any more ships, and so the fat is in the fire.

The new diplomacy, which has no secrets, may have some advantages but it is not well adapted to a private deal. This stroy, however, may well have come from Turkish sources. The Turk is always ready and anxious to pay, but how can he when restrained by superior force? The only thing the Turk is always able to do without assistance is to owe.

He Felt Funny.

One of the men on board the Olympia, at Manila, tells of the preparations to enter the bay and brave the dangers of the mines and shore batteries:

"About 7 o'clock I took a pillow," he writes, "and lay down on the soft side of a plank to take a nap. All the men slept at their guns. At 9:30 we were quietly called. No bugle sounded. Everything was done quietly. I jumped up and went on the bridge. I felt nervous for awhile; I did not know where we were, and it was as dark as hades. All one could hear was the orders given by the officers and the click of the breech blocks as they were closed. We could see the shape of a big island ahead of us, and we were told that it was the fort. It is about 600 feet above the level of the sea. We could not elevate our guns enough to bear on it, so they fired at us without receiving an answer in return. Our nerves were highly strung now from waiting in suspense. About 12 o'clock we were directly under the guns of the first fort, and when they started to signal and fired a rocket every man braced himself. On we went, not knowing what minute a torpedo or submarine mine would send us all to eternity."

"Speaking of the battle he says: "For a while I thought I was a gone goose. The shells were falling around us thick as hail. We could see the big ones pass over our heads, and the smoke and saltpeter were suffocating. One shell passed about two feet over my head, cutting the signal halyard I was holding. 'Jump up there and get that end,' said the officer. While I was up on the back stay I felt funny, I can tell you."

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00 Write to day for a dozen and make money. Dear Sirs,—In accordance with your wishes I have had both the red and white wines and the champagne tested by several connoisseurs, French and English. All of these expressed surprise that an article of such merit was produced in Canada, and even manufacturers admit that the brand "L'Empereur" is of excellent quality.

This opinion from critics who are by no means easy to please should be very satisfactory to you, and it gives me pleasure to congratulate you upon it. Yours faithfully,

RETIRED.

The strong tide breaks upon the narrow pier,
The ships go by; and one who knew them well
Sits at the close of day, and sits alone

Captain no more! But he remembers yet
The little town in dear old Maryland,
Where first he learned by star and wind and tide
The track of the ocean, and the way of war,
Upon the wave that smote his native land.

Now all is done: a warship rides the bay,
With shining hull and blackened funnels high,
And his old heart leaps at its prisoned side,
For that his boy is there! He minds the time
When little arms were twined upon his neck,
And ears bent low to hear the thrilling tale
Of ships that fought in battles long ago.

He thinks of her who stood beside him then
With shining eyes—the light-house of his heart—
And outward passed, like to a little sail,
That, rocking in the mist, returns no more.

So comes the dusk; he hears the booming gun,
He sees the lowered flag, the night-lamps set;
And watching on the pier he falls asleep,
And dreams of golden anchors far away.

—John J. Meehan, in Leslie's Weekly.

MY DOUBLE DILEMMA.

Thoroughly tired of the pier, the esplanade, and the tennis-court, one afternoon, during my stay at the seaside, I took a solitary ramble round the coast.

With the tall cliffs on one side of me and a vast expanse of ocean on the other, I made my way over sand and shingle, careless of everything save the appearance of my immaculate flannel trousers, until the town of Brinybay was hidden by a chalk promontory, and I found myself alone, or apparently alone, with Nature.

As, however, I approached an irregular mass of rock lying together at the foot of the cliff, a scarlet object appearing above them attracted my attention, and, on nearing the spot, I discovered it was a parasol shading one of the most bewitching girls I had ever beheld in my life—and I have seen a good many.

Comfortably seated on a mossy boulder and deep in the perusal of a yellow-backed volume, she was becomingly attired in a dress of pale pink, and as I passed her I fancied she peeped at me from beneath her shady straw hat; but young men always think that girls notice them, especially when like myself, they are Oxford undergraduates with their college arms emblazoned on the breast of their blue serge jackets.

I had not left this siren very far behind when my progress was suddenly brought to a stop by the sea, which had covered the beach and was lashing the base of the cliff. I at once realised the unpleasant fact that the tide was flowing, and that if I did not speedily retrace my steps, my return to Brinybay would be prevented in the same manner as my advance.

Hastening back, and passing the maiden in pink, who was reading as unconcernedly as ever, I again found my path barred by a sheet of water several yards in width. I was completely shut off from the mainland.

To scale the cliff was utterly impossible, and although I might have resumed my homeward course after wading through the water, I could not have deserted the fair girl near me, who was evidently unconscious of her critical situation. The waves were rapidly advancing towards the rocks among which she was seated, and the seaweed clinging to them told me that at high waser they were totally submerged.

Approaching the parasol, I coughed.

"Excuse me," I said, "but the tide is coming in very fast, and, I am afraid, will soon be up here."

"Oh, dear!" she exclaimed, blushing, and hurriedly looking around her. "Oh, dear, how very stupid of me not to notice it; whatever shall I do?"

"The only possible way of getting back," I remarked, as she slowly closed her book and left her seat, "is across this piece of water, but it is rather deep."

In silence she followed me to the spot, and after gazing upon the fast-widening barrier, looked up at me and smiled.

"I think I know how we can overcome the difficulty," I said, "but I hope you won't be offended at my suggestion."

"Oh, no, no," she exclaimed, with a little laugh; "anything as long as I can get out of this horrid fix."

"Then, I believe I could manage to carry you across, if you wouldn't object," I said, after some hesitation.

Another smile illumined her fair countenance, and she replied in tones of the deepest sincerity—

"Oh, thank you, thank you; I should feel so grateful if you would, so very much obliged."

Throwing off my shoes and socks, and tucking up my immaculate ones, I put the yellow-covered book into one of my capacious pockets, deposited my stick with the scarlet parasol on the beach and gently lifting its fair owner in my arms, in another moment had forded the water and deposited her on terra firma.

She returned with me to Brinybay. Her thanks were overwhelming, and ere long we were chatting together like a couple of old friends.

A proposal I made for taking her mother for a sail in my yacht pleased her more than ever, and when I parted with her near the pier—though ignorant of her name and connection—I thought she was the most charming girl I had met with for a long time.

On arriving at my apartments I found that the yellow-covered volume which she had entrusted to my care was still in my pocket. I opened it and found on the title-page the following: "Bessie Cragg, Sea View Villa, Brinybay."

Not displeased at my discovery, I penned a polite little note to "Miss Cragg"—who was evidently the bewitching possessor of the scarlet parasol—in which, after briefly referring to her book, I had the boldness to fix a day for the proposed yatching expedition.

Neatly enclosing the epistle with the volume, I left the parcel that evening at Sea View Villa.

Next morning I was told that a gentleman desired to speak to me in private. I ordered my landlady to show the visitor in, and forthwith a black-looking man, of middle age, entered my parlor.

"Mr. Lyon, I presume?" he began, eyeing me unpleasantly.

"I am Mr. Lyon; what is it?" I said, annoyed at the stranger's manner.

"What is it?" he sneered; "what is it, indeed young man! What do you mean by sending my wife such stuff as this, and by asking her to accompany you in a yacht, etc., you impertinent fellow?" and he threw my little note to Bessie Cragg on to the table.

"Your wife?" I exclaimed in confusion, "your wife, sir? I think you are in error; I think that you have made a mistake, sir."

"Mistake!" cried the stranger fiercely; "mistake—fiddlesticks. I am Mr. Joseph Cragg, young man, and if ever I catch you insulting my wife with another such billet doux it's ten to one you won't have a chance of repeating the offense!"

With this terrible threat, my visitor left the house.

I threw myself into a chair and groaned aloud—a pretty ending, forsooth, to the romantic incident of the preceding day.

During the next week I had little bliss; it made me miserable to think that fair and frolicsome Bessie was bound for life to such a wolfish monster as Joseph Cragg.

On reflection, I wondered why she hadn't informed her husband of her adventure by the seaside (for I presumed he was unaware of it,) and why, when she was with me, she had appeared so eager to accept my invitation.

I met Mrs. Cragg several times alone in the town and on the pier, but always passed her without any token of recognition. On one occasion I fancied she smiled faintly at me, but taking no notice of her familiarity, I thought, for a married person, that her behaviour was extremely improper.

Just a week after my eventful ramble round the coast, while strolling listlessly on the esplande, I was surprised on being accosted by a pleasant-looking old lady who, grasping my hand, exclaimed—

"Are you the gentleman that saved my dear little Marie from being drowned when almost caught by the tide some days ago?"

I was absolutely bewildered, nor was it until I was seated in the gushing old lady's drawing-room conversing with her and her fair grand-daughter Marie—the identical possessor of the scarlet parasol—that an explanation of the whole affair took place.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cragg was a friend of Marie's and had lent her the yellow-backed volume which, on being returned to its original owner, had fallen into the hands of Mr. Cragg.

Without showing either the book or the note to his wife, this gentleman had opened the letter with the above recorded unpleasant result.

It may interest the reader to know that Marie and I took our yachting trip as proposed, and thoroughly enjoyed it, too; but beyond the information contained in the appending newspaper cutting, I cannot furnish further particulars of the consequences of my eventful ramble when, although I eluded the clutches of Neptune, I fell a victim to the snares of Cupid.

Lyon—Brading.—August 4, at St. Old's, Brinybay, by the Rector, the Rev. P. Prosy, M. A., Charles Lyon, eldest son of John Lyon, Esq., of Harrowfield, Hants, to Maria, daughter of Colonel John Brading, Royal Slashers.

How to Read the Tongue.

The perfect tongue is clean, moist, lies loosely in the mouth, is round at the edge and has no prominent papilae.

The tongue may be furred from local cause or from sympathy with the stomach, intestines or liver.

The dry tongue occurs most frequently in fever and indicates a nervous prostration or depression.

A white tongue is diagnostic simply of the feverish condition, with perhaps a sour stomach. When it is moist and yellowish brown it shows disordered digestion. Dry and brown indicates a low state of the system, possibly typhoid.

When the tongue is dry and red and smooth, look out for inflammation, gastic or intestinal.

When the papilae on the end of the tongue are raised and very red it is called a strawberry tongue, and that means scarlet fever.

Sharp pointed red tongue will hint of brain irritation or inflammation, and a yellow coating indicates liver derangement.

The world contains an oversupply of average man.

The gold handled by adentists always at a premium.

Scrofula the Cause.

Eczema, catarrh, hip disease, white swelling, and even consumption have their origin in scrofulous conditions. With the slightest taint of scrofula in the blood, there is no safety. The remedy for this disease in all its forms is Hood's Sarsaparilla, which goes to the root of the trouble and expels all impurities and disease germs from the blood.

The best family cathartic is Hood's Pills.

A WONDERFUL
KIDNEY and Bladder CURE

The Honorable Chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, tells how ALKAVIS cured him after Doctors and all other Remedies had Failed

I. A. HOPKINS.

BRIGHT'S DISEASE,
GRAVEL, DROPSY,
And Rheumatism Mastered at Last.

One of the most remarkable medical discoveries of the century is the Kava-Kava Shrub, found on the Ganges River, East India, which has a wonderful action on the kidneys and bladder. Since its introduction into this country its fame has quickly spread, because of its seemingly impossible cures. Prominent men and women have testified to its great curative powers, and hospital tests prove its infallibility even in advanced stages of Bright's Disease. Among the more recent recoveries is that of Hon. I. A. Hopkins, Chairman Board of County Commissioners, Ellsworth, Kansas, who says:

GENTLEMEN:—I will say that I believe and know that I owe my life to Alkavis. I had been troubled with Kidney and Bladder Trouble for years. Two years ago I was sick for six weeks with Malarial Fever which left me in a bad condition. My limbs were swollen with Rheumatism so that I could hardly walk; I was troubled with Indigestion from taking Medicine for my Urinary troubles which had become very much worse. I had to get up every hour of the night to urinate. I passed great quantities of blood on account of hemorrhage of the Kidneys and Bladder. I tried and had been trying everything in the shape of Medicine for Kidney Trouble that I could think of or that the Doctors recommended, but nothing helped me for I kept getting worse. I suffered great pain continually in my Kidneys. I made up my mind unless I could get relief that I only had a short time to live. About this time my attention was called to an advertisement of Alkavis. As a drowning man will grasp at a straw, I was ready to try anything for relief. I sent to you for three bottles. I began to take it, and before I had taken it one week I began to feel the good effects of Alkavis. My Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism were soon gone, my digestion became all right, I found myself in better health than for ten years and I am in good health now. I know that Alkavis saved my life. What more can anyone say for a medicine? Unlike most medicines it is good for indigestion. It gives the person taking it a good appetite. I have recommended Alkavis to a great many people and all have been benefited by its use. I am 53 years of age, and am very grateful for what Alkavis has done for me.

Respectfully yours, I. A. HOPKINS.

Rev. W. B. Moore, D. D., Washington, D. C., Editor Religious World, writes that after trying all known medicines for kidney and rheumatic diseases he was permanently cured by Alkavis. Mrs. Wm. H. Hardy, East Rush, Pa., writes that Alkavis cured her after six doctors failed. Rev. J. W. Hickman, Collyer, Trego Co., Kansas, cured of liver, kidney and bladder trouble, of many years' standing, from which he could only get temporary relief and had given up all hope of a cure. Thus the grand work goes on. A new book, entitled "A Thousand Living Witnesses," sent with the free case of medicine, tells of the wonderful cures performed in every state.

Not only does this great discovery—Alkavis (the Kava-Kava Compound)—cure all forms of kidney and bladder diseases, but by expelling from the blood all poisonous deposits, excess of lime, uric acid, urates and lithiates, it banishes gravel, torpid liver, rheumatism, pains in back, difficult and too frequent urination, etc. The cure is complete. No phase is neglected, and the stomach, heart and nerves are toned and invigorated. No other medicine in the world will perform the work of Alkavis. To enable sufferers to get well and spread the glad tidings we have arranged to send a Large Case of Alkavis FREE by mail to all who write us. The case goes entirely FREE.

If you are a sufferer, write to-day and secure at once a Free Case of Alkavis and Book of "A Thousand Living Witnesses." Address The Church Kidney Cure Co., No. 418 Fourth Ave., New York. Please mention this paper.

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY

LOCATION OF OUR MINES

THE COLORADO COPPER MINING COMPANY is fortunate in being the possessor of five splendid showing properties in the great Salida copper belt, the principal copper producing region of this portion of the rockies. All of our claims have been more or less developed and it is our purpose to put the same on a paying basis at once.

Our Company owns, clear of incumbrances the following claims,—The Sedalia Extension, the Sedalia Extension No. 2, which property adjoins the great Sedalia mine, which has been a big producer for upwards of seventeen years; the Copper King of Colorado, which immediately adjoins the above; the Copper Queen of Salida, a very promising property, only a few steps from the depot in Salida. This claim occupies an imposing position on a mountain just north of the city; and last, but by no means least, the Sunshine, located two miles east of Salida at Cleora station, on the main Trunk line of the great Denver and Rio Grande Railroad, also on the Arkansas river, which in length is one of America's greatest streams.

THE WONDERLY GOLD MINING COMPANY, Limited.

CAPITAL $1,000,000, Divided into Shares of $1.00 each.

Incorporated under Ontario Laws. Non-assessable.

This Company was formed for the purpose of purchasing and working seven gold claims on the Saskatchewan river, near Edmonton.

These claims have been worked some, and in the summer of 1900 D. F. Loveland, the former owner and president of the Company, had a dredge at work, and although only able to handle 200 yards of earth per day, there was from $30.00 to $50.00 of gold taken from that amount of earth daily, and thus demonstrating beyond doubt the great value of these claims.

The Company proposes to purchase one of the Risdon dredges, with a capacity of 2 500 cubic yds. a day.

The expense of running such dredge will be about $175.00 per week, and even if the dredge handles only 1.000 cubic yards a day, in six days, there will be taken out $1,500.00 worth of gold, with a profit of $1,325.00 in one week.

Sufficient stock will be sold at 25 cents per share to raise money to purchase the necessary dredge, after which the books will be closed and no more stock will be offered for sale.

There is no gold proposition on the market to-day equal to this one.

Application for stock can be made to any of the Directors, or to the Secretary, or to W. T. McNeil, broker, St. Catharines.

THE NEW WAY TO TREAT DISEASE

Powley's Liquified Ozone

The Most Remarkable Preparation Known to Science.

Ever since the remarkable cures of Mr. W. G. McCarthy and Mr. Francis, attention has been drawn to Powley's Liquified Ozone. The marvellous nature of the recovery of both these gentlemen stamped Ozone as being a treatment which was fairly marvellous in its health giving power. Hundreds of testimonials have been received since then; each testimonial can be verified. Read what R. E. Fleming says. "Some fifteen months ago a friend spoke to me about Ozone and I have truly thanked him ever since. I have suffered all my life from indigestion, weak stomach, billious headaches, and poor, thin, watery blood. Some years ago, in fact when a young boy, I had billious headaches once or twice a week, and later on in life always had two severe attacks a month. I despaired of ever getting any relief or permanent cure. Fifteen months ago I had a severe attack of Kidney Trouble, suffering with pains in my back, my blood being in a miserable condition. I was weak, had a poor appetite and found it hard to get a good night's rest, had no pleasure in attending to my daily business, in fact, getting up in the morning was no pleasure; always wanted to lie in bed. So I began taking Ozone four times and after using a few bottles I found a decided improvement, but always thought that I would suffer with billious headaches and weak stomach for the rest of my natural life. After using four bottles of Ozone I was entirely cured of Kidney Troubles, and after using a few more bottles I found my stomach strong and that my billious headaches were leaving me, and my blood was pure. I can faithfully say that at the present moment I am permanently cured and gaining solid flesh and muscles rapidly. I take the liberty of presenting to you this, my testimonial, that others may see and profit thereby if suffering as I was. Believe me, very truly yours. Signed.

R. E. FLEMING, 227 George St., Toronto

A RIGHTEOUS QUEST.

Daughters of Eve in Search of the Noble Band of Town Builders.

Editor Morning Times.

Dear Sir,—Your report of the Rev. J. C. Davidson's utterances on woman, as given in his letter and address of last week reads like a bit of Thackeray. We recognize the type at once The clinging, tearful, sweetly dependent, with her spiritual face almost hidden in a wealth of golden ringlets, the abnormally long, wasp-like waist and the drooping apologetic figure, with its clinging wonderful garments make up a pretty portrait. Mr. Davidson has vividly completed the picture for us. See the sweet creature with downcast eyes eagerly listening to the eloquent words of the manly form beside her. With what sweet deference does she hang upon his every utterance. See her hands nervously clasp and unclasp—how hurriedly she breathes, the delicate pink coming and going on her oval cheeks betrays the intensity of her feelings. How her "tender sympathies are aroused."!! "How his intense anxiety stirs the 'pity of her sweet nature."!! He bends forward, takes her hand and beseeches her to give him her——vote. Does she hesitate? Nay, without a moment's hesitation, she falls on his manly shoulder and murmurs tearfully "Not my vote only, but 'my heart, my all.'"

Now, Mr. Editor, this is a very pretty picture from ancient history but — the type has changed. Had Mr. Davidson stopped to think before he made such positive assertions about woman's unfitness for rational judgment in the matter of the municipal franchise he surely would have remembered that this sacred trust has only been committed to the sex a little over a quarter of a century. He charges us with our inability to say "No." Does he not know that all the traditions of the past are opposed to a woman's "No"? We have never been taught to say the word. Indeed, literature and art, precept and commandment as given to us by the nobler (?) sex, all eulogize the sweet, lisping "Yes." Our mothers taught us that we should always spring up with a cheerful "Yes" when our brothers asked us to render them the innumerable little services that their love prompted them to demand. Preacher and teacher have emphasized the same doctrine. Hymenologists never wrote "Have courage My Girl to say "No," and even our S. S. books warned us that we must not say "No" to any man, lest the terrible word should send him into bad ways. And then, just as a child learns by imitation to talk and walk, so we too in this new business of the ballot have so far been imitators. We thought we could not do better than follow the example of our fathers and brothers, who for many centuries have had the ballot, and so we have been watching them and following their methods until we should be strong enough to walk alone. Just give us a little more time and we will promise to say "No" to any naughty man who is wicked enough to ask us to vote for him. Yes, we will say "No," even though he shows us a two dollar bill or tells us about the big fat contract he will give our brother. Do you know, I believe we will be strong enough to say "No" to a lovely sealskin jacket or a duck of a hat if they should represent the price of the vote. We are so glad to have been put on our guard against those naughty Councillors who have been taking advantage of our "weak heads and warm hearts" for so long. Really, we penitently confess that we deserve to have the franchise taken from us and to be put back among the disqualified classes — imbeciles, &c., &c.

But, Mr. Editor, perhaps the poor men who resorted to such mean tricks thought they were not doing anything so very wicked. They may have read somewhere "Ask and ye shall receive; Seek and ye shall find," and concluded that the words applied as well to Municipal matters as to so many other departments where they seemed to work all right. Even ministers seemed to regard them as Scriptural and sometimes even put them in practice to satisfy their ambitions. So we must not condemn them too strongly; they were only conforming to the spirit of the age. I am sure they sinned through ignorance. They do not seem to have realized, any more than we poor ignorant women did, that there was in our midst a band of noble devoted "Town Builders;" men whose hearts were yearning over the sad condition it had fallen into men who were longing to bring into the municipal arena their great, broad-minded, generous, successful executive abilities, and make of this great desert a regained Paradise. In short, to use the words of our Police Magistrate, that "Men of position, integrity and judgment; men who feel it not only a pleasure, but a duty to look after the public interests," were, like the Roman youth, waiting to spring into the chasm. And can it be possible, dear Mr. Editor, that we have allowed the aforesaid naughty Councillors to make use of our imbecility to keep themselves in office and to keep these great "Town Builders" out, and that, in consequence, we women are largely responsible for the huge graveyard the town has become. Oh, do ask Mr. Davidson and Mr. Dumble to tell us where these great Master Builders may be found, and we will hasten to atone. We will go five hundred strong if we may but find them. The quest of the Holy Grail will sink into insignificance before our earnest search. Indeed, we have already begun the righteous quest. We have looked all through the golf links, but, alas! 'tis Winter, and they are not there. We know they were not at prayer meeting—we were there and found only weak women. Shall we go to the curling rink? To the Club? Whither shall our footsteps turn? We await our mission.

Persons suffering from stomach troubles find it hard to secure a food of easy assimilation that contains enough nourishment. A number who have been suffering from serious forms of stomach disorders have tried Grape-Nuts, the pre-digested food, and obtained a food rich in nourishment and easily digested. WEDNESDAY NIGHT'S FIZZLE.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I attended that meeting on Wednesday night, which was called, as I was led to believe, for the purpose of nominating a fit and proper person to represent us for Mayor in the first year of the new Century. Instead of what was offering, when to my astonishment the subject was passed over in silence, and in lieu thereof the promoters of the meeting came with cut and dried resolutions and speeches inveighing against past Councillors only, and expressing a sense of duty to elect in their stead hereafter men of superior calibre. But leaving out the humorous side of it, how did they do it? The list which one gentleman pulled out of his pocket, prepared in some hole and corner previously, contained mostly names of past Councillors, the very ones they had been condemning, and as to the remainder of the list, can any one tell me wherein their superiority lies over and above hundreds of other citizens that one may meet on all sides? Or can any one tell me why Mr. Weir's name was shut out when he was duly proposed and seconded, and received a show of hands, when the chairman declared his inability to decide whether it was carried or lost, without ascertaining the fact in the usual way? Being centrally located in business, an old esteemed resident and in touch with the general public, and by reason of his economy and probity, Mr. Weir is pre-eminently fitted for Alderman, and if he allows himself to be placed in nomination he is a sure winner. The principal speaker admitted the past Council's honesty and economy, but it did not appear plain for what they wanted to barter these qualities. It looked to me as if the moving spirit behind the scenes did not appear upon the stage or take part in the play.

While the list contains a few good names, it behooves every ratepayer to be up and doing, and see to it that on nomination day it be supplemented by other names, so that the little coterie, may not carry its ticket in toto.

As to the Mayoralty, Alderman Dawson simply killed himself at the meeting and is now out of the race. Alderman Denne, while displaying better judgment, was not frank with his audience in not declaring unequivocally whether he was in favor of acquiring the water works, &c., and while taking credit for the comparatively low rate of taxation, concealed the fact that our town was assessed higher than any other town in the whole Dominion, and higher than half a dozen cities at least that I could name off hand, which fact conceals the true rate of taxation when compared with other towns and cities. I consider Mr. Denne's election an impossibility. It would therefore be well for the ratepayers to nominate some fit and proper person in opposition to Mr. Denne or to the "dark horse" of the aforesaid coterie, or to both if necessary.

ONLOOKER.

SATURDAY'S DUST AND STREETS WATERING

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In consequence of the clouds of dust on Saturday, owing to the absence of the watering cart I am to-day laid up with an acute sore throat. The management of this department is rotten. It is my intention to vote against every member of that committee, and I hope others will help in the riddance, and clean out the incompetents. SUFFERER.

Dec. 30th., 1900.

HOW WOULD THIS DO?

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I take exception to the suggestions of both "Municipal Reformer" and "Citizen" who write under the above caption. In lieu of both proposals I would suggest that the rich men of the town be our duly accredited representatives at the Council board for the first year of the new century, for who can have more at stake, than they, and therefore more likely to guard our interests zealously? With that in view I would suggest the following: Senator Cox for Mayor; and for Aldermen, Messrs. Waddell, Landy, Bradburn, Winch, Morrow, Hatton, McGill, Hall and [illegible]. Hoping this will commend itself to the intelligence of the ratepayers, I am, yours, etc.,

TENANT.

'A Cheerful Look Makes a Dish a Feast."

"Cheerful looks" depend just as much upon physical well-being as upon natural disposition and temperament. If the blood is disordered, the brain is starved, and no "dish is a feast," for the reason that the vitalising elements do not reach the proper spot.

A step in the right direction is to purify the body by the use of a natural remedy. Hood's Sarsaparilla is Nature's remedy. It acts upon the blood, and whether the seat of the disorder is brain, stomach, liver or kidneys, the purifying process of this medicine is equally sure and successful. It never disappoints.

Back Ache—"My mother had severe pains in her side and back. She was obliged to give up work. A friend persuaded her to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and soon she was able to do her work, free from pain and had a good appetite." MAGGIE MORGAN, Nasonworth, N. B.

Nerve Food—"My wife was stricken with nervous prostration. She suffered from headaches. She became weak, low-spirited and her appetite was poor. I am glad to state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has completely cured her of all her ailments." G. BELLAMY, 321 Hannah St., Hamilton, Ont.

THE MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Will you permit me to make a suggestion as to how we shall be represented next year at the Council board. I think that the different vocations should be represented as nearly as possible, and accordingly I would make this proposal: As the name of the Rev. Dr. Torrence has been favorably mentioned, let him be Mayor, which would add to the dignity of the office and act as ballast to the erratic body over which he would be called upon to preside. Then for the law I would propose D. W. Dumble; for medicine, Dr. Bingham, for civil engineerings, Salmuel Belcher; for the merchants, J. C. Turnbull; for insurance, George K. Martin; for the dentists, W. H. Manning; for the labor union, John Cronin; for the barbers, Charley Legros, and top it all off with our local poet, John Bell. This would be truly a representative body to which no unprejudiced mind could take exception. VOTER.

HOW CLEMENTS SAVED THE GUNS

Story of Disaster to the British at Magaliesberg--Surrounded by Death

London, Dec. 29—The story of the disaster which befel the Northumberland Fusiliers has been received, and is as follows:—

General Clements' force, which was handled so roughly by Delarey on December 13th, was on its way from Krugersdorp, and had camped at Nooitgedacht, at the western end of the Magaliesberg range.

Four companies of Northumberland Fusiliers held a plateau on the heights commanding a kloof of semi-circular shape, which was approached by a footpath. The surface was seamed with dongas, and bush and rocks were all round.

General Clements' camp was pitched below the heights, and the force under Colonel Legge, consisting of Kitchener's Horse, and the Fife, Devon, and Sussex Yeomanry, was about 1,000 yds. away. The total force was about 1,200 strong.

The attacking Boers, who numbered between 3,000 and 4,000, approached the camp during the early morning. The advance was led by a body of men dressed in khaki, who got within a stone's throw of Col. Legge's camp just as dawn broke, and engaged the pickets.

The firing aroused the sleeping camp, and Colonel Legge hurried up with reinforcements to support the pickets. Simultaneously the guns opened with shrapnel and lyddite on the advancing Boers, who were repulsed with heavy loss.

OFICERS FELL FAST.

By the time General Clements arrived on the scene the battle was in full swing. The Boers poured in a destructive fire, and the officers fell fast. Colonel Legge was shot dead by a bullet through the eye; Captain McBean, the brigade-major, was also killed, and several other officers were wounded or captured. Surgeon Engelbach, of the Imperial Yeomanry, was killed while attending to the wounded.

General Clements, who moved about careless of danger, had some marvelous escapes. Captain Carr was the only member of the staff who was unscathed.

Meanwhile another fight was raging in the hights above, held by the Northumberlands. A large body of Boers attacked the hill on every side, keeping up a continual fire. By half-past four the defenders' position had become desperate, and they heliographed for aid, stating that the enemy was in overwhelming strength and only a few yards away.

General Clements, who had believed the infantry position impregnable, sent all the men he could spare, but he himself was being fiercely attacked, and had his hands full guarding his camp and guns.

Shortly after the despatch of the reinforcements a hail of bullets from the hill into the camp announced that the Boers had gained the summit. The Northumberlands, who had no artillery, fought on until their ammunition was exhausted.

Part of the Boer plan of battle was to rush the Northumberlands over a precipice. Accordingly they attacked the plateau on three sides, the fourth being a sheer drop of some hundred feet.

The enemy approached taking cover among the rocks, nevertheless, many British bullets got home.

DEATH ON ALL SIDES.

The Fusiliers, firing very rapidly, soon exhausted their ammunition, and being subjected to a murderous Mauser fire at less than a hundred yards range from three sides with a precipice at their backs, sullenly surrendered just as the Yeomanry sent to their assistance got under the precipice and, covered by a thousand Mausers, shared the fate of the Fusiliers.

Realizing that he was opposed by overwhelming numbers General Clements ordered a retirement, which was carried out under an incessant fusilade from the Boers crowning the captured infantry position. The draft cattle were shot by dozens, and the drivers for the most part bolted, panic-stricken.

The general worked heroically to save the guns and supplies. The former were brought off successfully, but a good deal of transport had to be abandoned, and the general lost his own personal effects. The guns covered the retreat in magnificent style, but the teams were decimated and some of the cannon had to be hauled away by hand.

When the retiring force reached a hill a stand was made, and the onrush of the triumphant Boers effectually checked. The enemy now fired a few rounds from a big gun and a pom-pom, but were sparing of their ammunition, probably because they had little left. The troops reached Rietfontein in the afternoon and were met by reinforcements from Krugersdorp.

The Boers who attacked Legge's camp were led by General Beyers, and dressed like Australian troops. The enemy admit having lost heavily. Many of the Northumberlands fought like demons.

It was a costly victory for the Boers, who took away nine wagon loads of dead and wounded. The youngest son of the late General Joubert was among the slain.

Delarey subsequently released all his prisoners and sent them into Rustenburg. A portion of the Boer force has gone northward.

RETURNED IN A GALE

Str. Lake Megantic Turned After Traveling 400 Miles.

STEARING GEAR DISORDERED.

Put Back to Queenstown After Making a Noble Effort Her Officers and Men Were Exhausted — The Rockcliffe Also Badly Battered — Twenty Primrose Hill Bodies Washed Ashore.

Queenstown, Dec. 31.—The British steamer Lake Megantic, Capt. Taylor, from Liverpool Dec. 25 and Queenstown Dec. 26, for St. John, returned to Queenstown harbor yesterday (Sunday) morning, after a terrible experience in the gale. She left Queenstown Wednesday, carrying the Canadian mails, 45 saloon and second-cabin passengers and about 500 steerage passengers, principally foreigners, with many Jews among them. She reached a point about 400 miles west on Thursday night, when she encountered a merciless gale. Behaving splendidly, she would have got through had not the steering gear become damaged badly, placing her in a dangerous position. The crew worked bravely and rigged hand gear, and the vessel was again brought under control. Unfortunately, the hand gear became damaged.

The deck hands had an awful time. The gale lasted 20 hours, and an immense sea broke over the vessel, smashing the booby hatch and flooding her between decks, where the steerage passengers were located. It also washed away a greater portion of the fittings and did considerable deck damage. Three lifeboats were smashed. Some of the crew were seriously injured and one seaman was killed on deck.

When the storm moderated Capt. Taylor decided to return to Queenstown. It was difficult work to steer the big ship, but she managed to reach here without assistance. Her officers and men were exhausted.

The British steamer Rockcliffe, Captain Scantlebury, from Barry for Philadelphia, which put back to Queenstown Dec. 12, leaking in her forepeak, and proceeded for her destination Dec. 26, returned to this port Saturday in a badly damaged condition. She encountered a hurricane Dec. 27, 300 miles west of Queenstown, during which her decks were washed by tremendous seas, and her bridge, bulwarks, stanchions, boats and wheel were washed away.

Capt. Scantlebury and five of the crew were injured. After being hove to for several hours, the storm moderated, and the steamer put back.

Twenty Bodies Washed Ashore.

Holyhead, Dec. 31.—The bodies of 20 members of the crew of the British barque Primrose Hill, Captain Wilson, from Liverpool, for Vancouver, which went on the rocks three miles off South Stack during the gale and broke up, have been washed ashore.

Wreckage of Unknown Disasters.

London, Dec. 31.—Quantities of wreckage have been thrown up on the different coasts, pointing to disasters from the gale not yet reported.

Nine fish boats have been stranded near Dunkirk and three of them will prove total wrecks. Their crews were seen clinging to the rigging, but the majority of them were beyond the reach of the rockets. A lifeboat rescued many of the fishermen, but ten of them perished.

The Beaver Company directed Capt. Taylor to take the Lake Megantic to Liverpool and she proceeded this evening with all passengers and mails, to be transferred to the Lake Superior, which will leave the Mersey Tuesday.

Drowned by Hundreds.

Victoria, B. C., Dec. 31.—Great loss of life has been occasioned by shipwrecks in Japan. One of the ships lost was the Japanese training ship Tsukianima in which 121 officers, cadets and sailors perished.

The steamship Inuishma foundered after striking a rock in Arshi Bay, and of her crew of 23 but one was rescued. The barque Katokoukogawa was wrecked off Tosa Province and 11 men perished. The ship Kamiji Maru was dismasted and swamped. Maru was dismasted and swamped. Her crew of 16 escaped after being four days in open boats without food.

GEN. COLVILE'S STATMENT.

Obeyed to the Letter Lord Roberts' Order, as He Feared to Endanger Success of the Grand Movement.

London, Dec. 31 — Major-Gen. Sir Henry Colvile, whose resignation has been demanded by the War Office, but who refused to resign and came to England from Gibraltar, arrived at Plymouth on Saturday, to demand a trial by court martial to establish the responsibility for the Yeomanry disaster at Lindley last May, has made a counter-strike at the War Office in a three-thousand word statement, which he has given to the press. He says he has come home to demand a free inquiry, and does not intend to be made a scapegoat for the sake of the staff. He avers that the Lindley disaster could never have happened had he been informed of Lord Roberts' intention. The primary cause of the surrender, he says, was the insufficient information given by the headquarters staff to Col. Spragge and himself, and he declines to accept the blame. He lays out the facts and blames others.

Gen. Colvile and his influential friends in and out of the army are thus beginning a campaign against the new Secretary of State for War, William St. John Brodrick, Lord Roberts and General Kitchener. It is expected to be fought out with some ferocity in Parliament.

When he returned from South Africa, Gen. Colvile says he fully acquainted the War Office with the facts. After some time he was informed by Gen. Sir Evelyn Wood, the Adjutant-General, that Lord Lansdowne, then Secretary of State for War, had directed him to say that Lord Wolseley, the Commander-in-Chief, approved of Gen. Colvile's resuming his Gibraltar command. He learned unofficially that an army board of five of the highest officials of the War Office had considered his statements and Lord Roberts' despatches on the subject. His reappointment was the result of the enquiry. To his intense surprise, Adjutant-General Wood, on Dec. 21, notified him that Mr. William St. John Brodrick, the newly-appointed Secretary of State for War, held him responsible for the loss of the Yeomanry, and ordered him to quit his command immediately, and hand over his resignation.

Gen. Colvile, going into official details, says he was ordered to concentrate his division at Heilbron on May 29, and names the various dispositions of the other divisions, which extended across the Orange Free State. He assumed that Lord Roberts intended to advance, sweeping all before him. His orders were absolute, and he had to carry them out. Hence he could not go to the relief of the 500 Yeomanry, without risking the success of the grand operation. Under any circumstances, he says he considered it his duty to push on, even if he were sure it would entail the loss of the Yeomanry. Besides, he had only food enough for two days. He pushed on, and the Yeomanry surrendered.

Lord Roberts broke up Gen. Colvile's division, and expressed his dissatisfaction. "On my pointing out that I had obeyed his orders to the letter," declared Gen. Colvile, "he said his orders were only intended as a guide."

Gen. Colvile alludes to some of the Yeomanry being millionaires, and quotes Lord Roberts as saying it was his duty to sacrifice his force for the Yeomanry.

"It will be remembered," Gen. Colvile says, "that the corps in the elite numbered 500, and my force nearly eight times that number."

Gen. Colville cites two examples of what he considers Lord Kitchener's "defective staff work."

COLONIALS ACCEPTABLE.

Eligible For an Irregular Corps For Five Months Service.

London, Dec. 31.—"It is understood that Lord Kitchener cannot ask the colonies officially to send troops," says a Durban despatch, dated Dec. 29, but he desires it to be known in Australasia and Canada that Australians and Canadians arriving in Natal will be eligible for immediate enlistment in an irregular corps which is proceeding to Johannesburg for five months' service."

Ottawa, Ont., Dec. 31.—Lord Milner has cabled Lord Minto that Sergt. Wood, of Canadian Scouts, was severely wounded on Dec. 19 at Kekroot.

Gratuity For Lieut. Mason.

Ottawa, Dec. 31.—The War Office has awarded Lieut. J. C. Cooper Mason, 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, a gratuity of five months pay, amounting to £49, in consideration of the wound which he received at Paardeberg.

They Come on With Otter.

Quebec, Dec. 31.—For some reason or other the 12 men of the first Canadian contingent who were to be added to the strength of the R. C. R. I. at the depot on arrival from Halifax, failed to receive notice of the change of quarters, and proceeded direct to Toronto with Col. Otter. However, it is stated that it will be but a question of a few days when the force here will be strengthened, as already arranged.

The wheeled vehicle of the Royal Canadian Dragoons and Mounted Rifles, with the guns, carriages and stores of the Royal Canadian Artillery returning from South Africa on the steamship Roslyn Castle, will be sent to the artillery workshops in this city.

ASHBURNHAM NOMINATIONS.

Nominations for reeve, councillors and school trustees for the village of Ashburnham were held yesterday between twelve and one o'clock, before the clerk, Mr. J. Wood. The following nominations were made:—

The reeve, Mr. Adams, who, being the only nominee, was elected by acclamation.

For councillors—Messrs. Robt. Sheridan, W. J. Johnson, Robt. Pollock, J. H. Smith, and Alex. Rutherford. All of these save W. J. Johnson, are members of the council of 1900. One withdrawal will mean election by acclamation.

For school trustees—Messrs. R. B. Rogers, W. Pakenham, F. Adams J. Agnew and Jas Fowler. The two first named are new men, and from the present condition of the list it is expected that a poll will be demanded.

At the conclusion of the nominations, Reeve Adams expressed his appreciation of the honor done him in having been elected by acclamation. He also gave a brief synopsis of the year's business.

Mr. John Smith struck a responsive cord when he advocated no canvassing on the part of the councillors or school trustees. So unanimous did the meeting appear in this particular that a by-law prohibiting canvassing altogether will probably be a culminating coup.

Mr. R. B. Rogers asked for information in regard to the action that had been taken towards the union of Ashburnham and Peterborough.

The Reeve gave it as his opinion that the fault rested with the Peterborough Council that nothing had been heard of the matter. The committee appointed by the Town Council, he thought, had pronounced views against the scheme. Ashburnham's objection had dissolved since waterworks had been laid in the village.

Ashburnham, from all indications, intends to show Peterborough a thing or two in the progressive line the coming year.

BIG BLAZE AT WEST LORNE.

The Village Was Almost Wiped Out by Fire Sunday Night—Loss Estimated at $100,000.

West Lorne, Dec. 31.—This village was visited last night by the most disastrous fire in its history, the principal portion of the business part of the town being wiped out. The fire started in the grocery store of McColl Bros., on the east side of Graham street, at 7.30 o'clock. The origin is unknown. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The grocery store of McColl Bros., H. J. Hales' butcher shop, J. Keifer's bakery, Mrs. Alton's millinery, the Postoffice, the telephone office, P. J. Lindenman's general store, Shippey Bros.' tailor shop, Harvey & Jamieson's drug store, Duncan McKillop's residence, E. Cahill's carriage shop, and Hugh McCallum's residence were totally destroyed, with the contents. Very little was saved from the burned buildings, and loss of life was narrowly averted. It is not known just what amount of insurance was carried by the sufferers, but a number of families were left almost destitute. The St. Thomas and Ridgetown fire companies were telegraphed for. The former arrived by special train on the M. C. R., but too late to be of much assistance, the fire having been got under control by the citizens, who worked heroically with their meagre means for fighting fire. There is no organized fire company in the village.

FIRE NOW UNDER CONTROL.

Mine at Stellarton, N.S., Out of Danger—The Miners' Strike.

New Glasgow, N. S., Dec. 31.—The fire in McGregor's pit at Stellarton is now considered under control and all danger past.

When the fire was discovered all the men were ordered out of the mine, and the force set to work walling off the place where the fire was showing, the idea being to shut the air off, and by this means extinguishing the fire. Origin unknown, but supposed to be spontaneous combustion.

The strike situation is still unchanged, and the miners standing out for their demands of 12 per cent increase from Jan. 1, and 10 per cent on May 1. The first advance has been offered the men, but the managers refuse to guarantee the advance in May.

MARVELOUS NINETEENTH CENTURY

Wonderful Events Which Have Transpired During the 100 Years.

An eventful century truly has been this Nineteenth Century of the Christian era, now closed. From whatever standpoint it is regarded its history is marvelous. In the knowledge we have gained during its progress, of our own globe, it stands unparalleled. There has been wonderful progress also in science, in education and in the adaptation of natural forces to human purposes. Political and territorial changes, too, have made this a very different world from that of 1800. It is not possible in small space to even mention the events which make the century memorable, but it may be interesting to recall a hundred, which, if not the most important, are those that have had the greatest influence in shaping and developing the condition of the nations.

HOW GEN. DEWET CROSSED THE CALEDON

Details of the Abortive Boer Attack Upon Commissie Bridge.

English papers just received tell of the attack by General De Wet upon the Commissie Bridge, which was pluckily defended, whereupon the Boer guerilla was compelled to cross the Caledon river at some other point. The story runs:

In a stern chase which never relaxed for an hour, General Knox has tracked De Wet with a wonderful pertinacity, which can hardly have failed to render the Boer general's position extremely uncomfortable. After the famous crossing of the Caledon at Kareeport, General Knox moved quickly in pursuit of the retreating Boers. He found traces of them opposite Odendal, on the Orange River, and then continued to chase to Kroomdraai, fifteen miles northwest of Aliwal North. Early next morning the force marched towards Rouxville, where for the first time it lost track of the enemy. De Wet had apparently separated his force into two columns, but while General Knox was hesitating, he heard that a portion of the enemy had attempted to capture the garrison at Commissie Bridge, between Rouxville and Smithfield. The garrison consisted of about 40 Highland Light Infantry, under Sub-Lieut. Blair. In the evening of the 6th inst. Boers were observed crossing a level stretch of country south of the river. The garrison promptly fired several volleys, and forced them to retire. Soon afterwards a parlementaire with a white flag arrived. On being blindfolded and brought into the British lines he produced a note from the Boer commandant, calling upon the garrison to surrender within ten minutes. A sarcastic answer was returned that ten minutes would not be sufficient. The Boers attacked next morning (the 7th), when two guns were mounted on some rising ground south and southwest of the river, and twenty seven shells from our captured 15-pounder were sent into the works on either side of the bridge. The enemy also attempted to attack the post by working up and down the river, but the reception they met with from the little garrison was too warm, and they desisted from attack. They made another attempt, however, getting behind a rise 300 yards off; but again our fire was too hot, and they retired. The Boer casualties were two killed and five wounded while ours were nil. It was a creditable performance on the part of the little garrison to stop 2,000 Boers for twenty-four hours. De Wet, foiled at the bridge, determined to make an attempt to cross the river by a drift some miles to the eastward. Luckily for him, the river had fallen considerably and he accomplished his object.

Marvelous Machinery.

People can be happy and can realize their wishes if they will use good reason in their daily habits of food and drink. We take pains with our animals to see that the food is carefully selected yet we are likely to seriously maltreat that bit of machinery said to be made in the likeness and image of Him who planned it all. A ten days' change from coffee to Postum has been worth more than gold to many. The true remedy for a generally run down condition is to abandon coffee drinking and take on Postum Cereal Food Coffee, which goes directly to work to rebuild broken down nerve tissues throughout the human body.

PETERBOROUGH, JANUARY 1, 1901

THE NEW ELIXIR

Professors Loeb and Lingle of the University of Chicago are said to have discovered that common salt furnishes the force which makes the heart beat. It will be remembered that Professor Loeb some time ago announced a process for creating life in unfertilized eggs by the use of salt water. It now appears, according to the learned professor, that life is also sustained by the electro-chemical force existing in ordinary salt, which causes the heart to beat. When a man's heart stops beating, therefore, it will be necessary to inject only the right solution of sodium of chloride into his veins in order to start the organ to going again and restore activity and life.

There is one excellent feature about the new elixir of life—it is cheap. This is a great improvement upon the common run of elixirs. Since the days of medieval alchemists and their drinkable gold and other sure preventives of death this element of prohibitive cost has always stood in the way of their general use. Occasionally some patent elixir has done a good turn in making its inventor rich, but there has been no noticeable decline in the death rate of the race. The Chicago elixir of life is the first one within the reach of everybody. In spite of the salt trust and high freight rates, common salt is still cheap enough to be had by any man or woman with enough energy to beg a nickel. There is no room to complain that the rich man is the only one who can keep his heart beating perpetually. If mankind must have an elixir of life, by all means let it be a cheap one, such as Professor Loeb is said to have discovered. It is only fair to say that he himself does not pretend to have discovered an elixir.

The attempts of scientists to discover a chemical explanation of the secret of life are in accord with the materialistic spirit of the age. In so far as they result in discoveries of new scientific facts they deserve to bring honor and fame to the investigators, but the scientific world itself is today less credulous of any chemical theory of life than it was a couple of decades ago. Elixirs of life, now as always, should be taken with a grain of salt.

or
OUR SAVIOUR IN ART.

Cost nearly $100,000 to produce. Contains nearly 100 full-page engravings of our Saviour and His Mother by the world's greatest painters. True copies of the greatest Masterpieces in the art galleries of Europe. Every picture is as beautiful as a sunrise over the hilltops. Contains description of the paintings, biography of the painters, the names and locations of the galleries in Europe where the original may be seen. Also contains a Child's Department, including a Child's Story of Christ and His Mother, beautifully written, to fit each picture. This wonderful book, matchless in its purity and beauty, appeals to every mother's heart, and in every Christian home where there are children the book sells itself. Christian men and women are making money rapidly taking orders. A christian man or woman can in this community soon make $1,000 taking orders for Christmas presents. Mrs. Waite, our agent in Massachusetts, has sold over $3,000 worth of the books in a very short time. Mrs. Sackett, our agent in New York, has sold over $1,500 worth of the books in a very short time. The book is printed on velvet-finished paper, beautifully bound in Cardinal Red and gold, and adorned with Golden Roses and Lilies. It is, without doubt, the most beautiful book of this century. Write for terms quickly and get the management of that territory. You can work on salary or commission, and when you prove your success we will promote you to the position of Manager and correspondent, at a permanent salary, to devote your time to attending to agents and the correspondence. Wanted also a State Manager to have charge of office in Leading City of the State and manage all the business of the State. Send for terms. Address—

Y. M. C. A. Reception

The Social Committee of the Y.M.C.A. have completed arrangements for the Y.M.C.A. reception on New Year's Day. The morning will be given over to the boys. A good time has been arranged and all boys over ten years old are welcome. The afternoon will be reserved for men.

FOOLED THE SOLDIER BOY.

Not Used to Feminine Ways That Are Dark and Tricky.

One of the soldier boys swung along in the parade with a heart far heavier than his gun, and as he passed a balcony on the avenue and saw a pretty girl and a repulsively well-dressed man there, he scowled fiercely. Last fall it was far otherwise. He smiled whenever he saw the girl, and the repulsively well-dressed man hadn't dawned yet. Last spring the soldier sacrificed two buttons from his blouse and had them made into hatpins for that girl. Two weeks ago he sat near her at the theatre, and when she removed her hat he saw that it had been pinned on with a turquoise fleur de lis and an enameled violet. The military buttons were not there. The girl had promised to wear them forever and ever.

The soldier boy went home and wrote her the witheringest note you can imagine. He told her that as she no longer cared for him she could no longer value the button hatpins, and that he'd like them back again. Of course he put in a number of other remarks, some of them general, referring to the sex, and others specific and referring to her and to her conduct. She's a nice girl and an amiable girl, but that note was too much for her to endure. She sent a man servant with her answer:

"My Dear Mr. Skaggs: I would be very glad to return the hatpins you ask for, but I cannot tell which ones they are. They are all so alike that I am not at all sure which ones you gave me, but I send you what I have, and you can pick out yours. Very sincerely. FRANCES."

And that's why the soldier boy scowled. Being a mere man, he didn't even dream that six of the hatpins were borrowed.—Washington Post.

AN EXPIRIMENT IN LOVE.

It Cost the Bachelor a Wedding Present, but He Was Satisfied.

Themoirs lifted his chin from his chest and his eyes from the toe of his shoe and sighed dolefully.

"I don't believe she'll have me," he said for the some dozenth time.

I smoked on.

"Why should she?" he asked, argumentatively.

"Why?" I asked, reflectively.

Tremoirs glanced at me. "What can she see in me?" he demanded.

"True," I replied; "what?"

Tremoirs regarded me doubtfully. "It's crass presumption in me to dare to love her," he asserted.

I nodded an enthusiastic assent.

Tremoirs glared at me for a full minute. "She is so lovely and pure and—and beautiful, that for a rough, crabbed, worldly fellow like me to marry her seems like an insult," he said.

"It is," I agreed.

"Confound you!" cried Tremoirs, hotly. "I'm as good as you are."

"Undoubtedly," I observed, in as sarcastic a tone as I could manage.

"And I'll propose to her this very night, if you do think I'm too big a scoundrel to," Tremoirs announced, bitterly, as he hastily departed.

Well, I suppose I'm out a wedding present, but I've proved my theory, which is that the self-abnegation lovers indulge in is simply unconscious hypocrisy.—Puck.

TO THE ELECTORS
OF THE
Town of Peterborough

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN,—At the request of a large number of ratepayers of the town, I am a candidate for the position of Mayor of the Town of Peterborough for the year 1901. I have been a member of the Town Council for six years, and the experience I have gained in that time would, I believe, be of service to the town if I am elected. I believe in a progressive policy for the town, and for that reason a liberal policy with respect to manufacturing industries, so long as advancement may be obtained without any sacrifice of the interests of the ratepayers and I would endeavor to secure the best service on the streets and in other ways at as little cost as is consistant with good work.

I shall not be able to see you all personally, and I therefore in this way respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

I have the honor to be,

Your obedient servant,

T. H. G. DENNE

THE WAY IT BEGINS

Just a chance meeting in the rain and so many things to talk about. That means wet feet and a neglected cold. Then comes the hacking, lingering cough, and the doctor looks serious and talks of pine woods or mountain air.

That is the time when Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery proves its value. It has cured hundreds of cases of "weak lungs," obstinate, lingering cough, bronchitis, spitting of blood, and other forms of disease, which if neglected or unskillfully treated lead to consumption.

"About eight years ago I had a dreadful cough and hoarseness," writes Mrs. Ida F. Edwards, of Sterling, Sanpete Co., Utah. "I tried several kinds of medicine but without any effect; at last I tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, of which I have taken four bottles, and my cough is entirely cured."

Sick people are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

ATTACK of ROYAL CANADIANS at Paardeberg

The present is a time when war pictures are in greater demand than ever. The conduct of the British soldiers on the battlefield has won the plaudits of admiring nations. We have at great expense published four large, beautiful pictures, size 20x24, on heavy, superfine calendered paper. A picture that will commend itself and send a thrill to the heart of every true Canadian is the one called Attack of Royal Canadians at Paardeberg, there are literally hundreds of figures on this picture, the mountains or kopjes stretching out into the distance are swarming with men, while here and there a prostrate figure speaks only too well of the Boer rifleman. It was on this battlefield the gallant Major Arnold met death unflinchingly. Indeed, it is only too true that many of those gallant hearts that beat so high when the cheering thousands bade them Godspeed as they sailed from Canada's shores now lie still forever in lonely graves on the other side of the world under African skies. To every Canadian heart, to every Canadian home, the deeds of their brave soldier boys speak with an irresistible thrill of patriotism and pride. Gordon Highlanders at the Battle of Belmont, Charging the Boer Guns at Elandslaagte and the Charge of Gen. French's Cavalry on the Retreating Gen. Cronje's Army. These are all stirring pictures and cannot fail to commend themselves to anyone who will examine them. They are RED HOT SELLERS! Agents coin money. Big profits. Enormous success. One agent sold 68 in one day. Sample and terms 25 cts (none free); four for 80 cts; $1.75 per dozen; 25 for $3.25; 50 for $6.00; 100 for $11.00. Write to day for a dozen and make money.
